CONDUCT DUTCH MARKET

Dishes Peculiar to Holland Served by Young Women in Dutch Costume.

AT TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH

Large Patronage Accorded Last Night and Prospects Are Good for Tonight When the Market Will Close.

Judging by the attendance last night, the Dutch Market held in the Sunday school rooms of Trinity Reformed church under the auspices of the Young Women's Mission Band is going to prove an immense success. The cordiality of the reception accorded vistors, the tempting viands which one must purchase to satisfy the appetite; the quaint costumes of the saleswomen and waitresses; the decorations, in fact everything connected with the affair is so inviting and comfortable that it is not to be wondered at, that all one hears is praise for the managers of the enterprise and satisfaction manifested in smacking lips over the wholesome provender.

Upward of 250 people bought their suppers during the evening and this is how they did it: On entering they bought an empty plate and paper napkin from the Misses Helen Woolley and Madoline Strader, near the door. Next they visited the counter where bread and butter and cold meats were being sold by Mrs H. C. VanEmburgh and Mrs. Will F. Williams. Just alongside this stall Mrs. Harry MacDonald, Mrs. A. B. Davis and Mrs. Ada Krymer dispensed salads and hard boiled eggs. Following came a booth presided over by Mrs. Charles M. Dolliver, Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. W. F. Oliver, where baked beans and various kinds of cheese were sold, in portions to suit any hearty eater.

At another booth coffee and tea were poured by Mrs. Lorenzo Townley, Miss Celia Anderson, Mrs. C. W. Higgins and Miss J. Hockeridge.

In the rear center "hot dogs" and sauerkraut kept Miss S. Etta Raybert and Miss Edna Oliver busy and in the very center of the room the famous tulip bed was presided over by Mrs. George Mantz, Miss May Van Fleet and Miss Helen Roberts.

The candy counter came in for a large share of patronage and Mrs. Harvey Cook, Miss Helen Smith and Miss Margaret Van Deventer had their hands full attending to their customers' wants. Besides these sweets there was a cake and pie booth in charge of Mrs. F. S. Cutter and Mrs. Arthur B. Cole and an ice cream saloon charmingly cared for by Miss Edna Dilts, Miss Edna Cole and Miss Gertrude Schleif.

The costumes, all Dutch in character, presented all the familiar tints of the tulips. The skirts were Dutch, worn with broad girdles, caps and aprons and an occasional pair of "Kloompen" (wooden shoes) were seen. The decorations of the booths were simple and effective. The artists whose posters appeared in various drug stores in town are the Misses Edna Cole, Edna Dilts and Emma Ryno. These posters will probably be on hand tonight and offered for sale to swell the receipts.

The following are the committees having the market in charge: Reception, Mrs. L. S. Smith, Mrs F. E. Woodruff, Mrs. Zeisz, Miss W. Vroom. General committee, Miss Mabel Wilson, chairman; Miss S. Etta Raybert, Miss Lillian A. Force, Mrs. A. B. Cole, Mrs. George Mantz, Mrs. Lorenzo Townley, Mrs. F. S. Cutter, Mrs. Corra Ryno and Miss Edna Dilts.

The waitresses were: The Misses Edith Richards, Edna Burd, Ida Hummel, Helen Crane, Rosemond Rogers, Gertrude Enander, Emma Ryno, Helen Woodruff, Mary Bennett and Ethel Vail.

The market will be continued tonight and no one ought to miss attending it.

Performance Cancelled.

Disappointment await those who have purchased tickets for the presentation of the "Goddess of Liberty" at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow matinee and night. Mr. Howard, one of the leading members in the musical comedy, was taken suddenly ill after the performance at Easton last night, and the engagment of the company has been canceled in consequence. Manager Sanderson regrets the occurrence and hopes to have the company here some time during the next two weeks.

Dryest March in 23 Years.

According to the official figures March was the dryest month in twenty-three years. Not an inch of rain fell in this vicinity for thirty-one days.

SHEPHERD DOG SAVES BOY FROM DROWNING

"Laddie," a shepherd dog belonging to Harold Firstbrook, of Grant avenue, proved itself a hero of the juvenile story book class yesterday afternoon, by jumping into Stony Brook, on Washington Rock road, and rescuing Sterling Boos, a playmate of young Firstbrook, from drowning.

The boys were standing on the bridge amusing themselves by throwing stones and sticks in the stream and watching the dog dive into the water and bring the sticks and stones to land. While this fun was going on young Boos stepped out on the wooden girder of the bridge. In trying to grab hold of an iron bar he lost his balance and fell backward in the water.

A loud splash attracted the attention of the dog. Evidently believing it was another stone for him to chase, "Laddie" leaped into the brook where the Boos boy dropped, grabbed the youngster by the trousers, and brought him ashore. The pool in which Boos fell is about ten to twelve feet deep.

INDIAN EXTRAVAGANZA HERE JUNE 20 TO 27

The Knights of Columbus carnival committee at a meeting last night completed arrangements for the appearance here of Major Gordon's conclave of Indian Chiefs and Historical Extravaganza as the star attraction at the annual carnival of the organization which will be opened on June 20 and continue until June 27.

The show is one of the largest of its kind doing business in the United States. Five hundred people, men, women and children, all in Indian regalia take part in the extravaganza. The equipment consists of five carloads of special scenery and paraphernalia.

The carnival will be conducted on the site of last year's fete, corner of West Front street and Grant avenue. According to Theodore Shirley, chairman of the committee of arrangements the extravaganza is an object lesson in American history not to be gleaned from books and an entirely new departure in outdoor amusements. It is one of the biggest spectacular and scenic productions ever presented under canvas.

DOUGLAS IS CAPTAIN OF THE SOCCER TEAM.

The Plainfield Association Football Club held its annual meeting last night and elected these officers for the coming year, following a discussion of plans for the season:

Douglas; vice-president, John Donaldson; secretary, Robert Baillie; treasurer, John Craig; financial secretary, Thomas Cross; auditors, Alexander Campbell, Albert Stevenson, James Brown; captain, James Henderson; vice-captain, William Spalding; manager, Samuel McNeice; property-man, Bernard Eglinton; chairman ground committee, Bernard Eglinton; chairman house committee, William Braidwood; vice-chairman house committee, John McNeice; selection committee, Allan Anderson John George, Alexander Campbell and Albert Stevenson; trustees, James Brown and John Donaldson.

Who Dropped This Letter?

Some thoughtless person dropped a special delivery letter without an address in one of the city mail boxes Wednesday night. The envelope, which bears a two cent stamp as well as a special delivery one is a plain one and Postmaster Bird is unable to tell to whom the letter goes or by whom it was mailed. If the person who dropped it will call at the postoffice and prove his property the accommodating postmaster will be pleased to forward the letter.

April Dates for Hunt Club.

During the month of April, the hounds of the Watchung Hunt Club will meet every Saturday afternoon, with an occasional "bye day;" time and place of meeting to be announced on the day previous. Tomorrow afternoon at 3:45, the hounds will meet at the New Market pond, and it is expected that a number of hunters will be out for the chase. Lewis E. Waring, as master of the hounds, will be in charge, with Chris. Cumins riding as whip.

—M. Abrams, of West Front street, is having a special sale of shoes, Oxfords and pumps today and tomorrow. You will miss some rare bargains if you fail to attend this sale. ***

DUST NUISANCE PROBLEM

Union County Board of Freeholders Decides to Use Oil on Roads.

MANY PREPARATIONS TRIED.

This Summer the Freeholders Committee Will Spread Oil Thinly But Often on All County Highways.

The road committee of the Union County Board of Freeholders, following a tour of inspection in different parts of the State and more recently in South Jersey, met at Elizabeth, yesterday to discuss ways and means for the improvement of roads in Union county during the year. Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur, of this city, who is a member of the committee, in conversation with a reporter for The Daily Press, stated that the problem is an exeeedingly difficult one to solve.

The committee is especially anxious to find a way of preserving the county roads and at the same time eliminating the dust nuisance. There are countless varieties of oil preparations for making roads dustless, a new one being put on the market every little while, but the question of getting the right material is said to be a difficult one. Some are put on hot, some are used cold, some are prepared at the factor ready for use, while still others are shipped to points for improvements, where the preparation is mixed and put on by a special process.

All of these preparations have an asphaltic base, as the active principle, the theory being that it serves to bind and preserve the macadam, but the question of what proportion to use is one that perplexes officials. The committee has already started the work of spreading oil on the county roads, the plan decided upon being to spread it thin and often. Last season the oil was spread heavily on the roads, but in the opinion of the committee this method did not give general satisfaction.

The committee considers itself fortunate in having the benefit of the experience of Robert A. Meeker, of this city, the State supervisor of roads. The State department is constantly studying road problems with a view to obtaining the best possible results and severe tests are made of the patent preparations just as fast as they are put on the market. Plainfield also receives the benefit of these experiments.

SOME CHURCH ITEMS OF THE SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS

Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor, will preach at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, tomorrow morning at 10:30, his theme being, "The Christian Standard of Sufficiency. What do ye More Than Others?" The Sabbath school will meet after this service. The union meeting of the Senior and Junior Endeavor Societies will be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, led by the juniors. This will be a consecration service with the roll call of both societies. At 4 o'clock the Salvation Army will conduct a service in the church.

The annual meeting of the church and the society will be held in the afternoon and evening, supper being served between the afternoon and evening services by the women of the church. J. Frank Burke, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey, will speak in the church on April 9.

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight and Saturday; light north winds, becoming variable Saturday.

Maximum, 55; minimum, 36.

Mission Workers Here Tonight.

Under the direction of the Plainfield Rescue Mission, an old fashioned Water Street Mission meeting will be held at the Y. M. C. A., tonight at 7:45 o'clock. John Weyburn, superintendent of the Old Jerry McAuley Mission, New York, and six converts, will be present, to speak and there will be special music.

Dr. Groszmann to Lead Conference.

Dr. M. P. E. Groszmann, of this city, will take part in a conference to be held on April 21-22, when the topic of "The Problem of the Exceptional Child," will be considered. Prominent educators from all parts of the country are expected to take part in the conference to be held at the Groszmann School.

NOTED LABOR LEADERS TO ADDRESS PATTERNMAKERS

An open meeting of the Patternmakers' Association, of this city, will be held tomorrow night, at 8 o'clock, at Trades Council Hall, at which time there will be a smoker. All pattern-makers of the city are invited to the meeting, after which there will be a smoker and entertainment.

Among the speakers will be John Watt, of Brooklyn, president of the Patternmakers' Association, of New York; James McKnight, of Brooklyn, secretary of the American Federation of labor; Arnold B. MacStay, business agent and recording secretary, and John Munholland, assistant business agent and financial secretary of the New York association.

PRICE OF COAL IS NOW SIX DOLLARS A TON

According to the annual custom, the local coal dealers today announced a reduction of fifty cents a ton on coal, egg, stove and chestnut sizes, and twentyfive cents a ton on pea coal. This is the lowest reduction made by the dealers during the year and is for the month of April only. After that time the price is advanced at the rate of ten cents per ton per month, until September, when the fall and winter price of $6.50 per ton is made.

The local dealers are always anxious to take orders during April for summer delivery, when the rush is not on and the lowest prices at the mines prevail. The April price for pea coal is $4.75 per ton. All of the local dealers are now well stocked with coal of all sizes and are able to make prompt deliveries.

JOHN FRITTS HANGS UP A NEW RECORD.

John Fritts, increased his lead in the Y. M. C. A. all-around championships last night by winning the 220 yard potato race and the high jump from the springboard. In the former event Fritt's time was 32 1-5 seconds, eliminating the mark of 53 seconds made by C. D. Burgess in 1908.

Trout Season Opened Today.

The trout season opened today and a number of local fishermen made an exodus to streams in Hunterdon and Warren counties. Many are spending the days at spring streams between Westfield and Springfield, while other journeyed to the vicinity of White House and Pottersville. All of the streams were stocked by the State Game and Fish Association and disciples of Isaac Walton are looking forward to big catches.

Speakers for Banquet.

George H. Davey, secretary of the Men's Club of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, whose banquet occurs Tuesday, April 12, at Truell Hall, has announced the following speakers for the evening: Judge Frederick E. Crane, of Brooklyn; Samuel S. Swackhamer, E. E. Parvin, and E. A. Stevenson, Dr. Ellis W. Hedges will be the toastmaster.

Funeral of Charles R. Maltby.

The funeral services of Charles R. Maltby were held at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the late home, 1203 Putnam avenue, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. A. C. Nickerson, pastor of All Souls church, officiated, and the burial was in Hillside cemetery.

Elizabeth Man Commits Suicide.

Frank Podger, aged 70 years, of 191 First street, Elizabeth, committed suicide at his home this morning. The act was due to insomnia and worry over his wife's death. Podger was an Odd Fellow and a patternmaker by trade.

Joseph Chiallo Weaker.

Joseph Chiallo, the five-eyar-old boy, who was seriously burned at his home on Plainfield avenue, Wednesday afternoon, shows no sign of improvement at the hospital, in fact it is believed that his condition is weaker.

Strike is Still On.

The Watchung Silk mill is still idle owing to the strike of the weavers. Neither side has displayed a disposition to give in and the prospects are that the mill will remain closed indefinitely.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Selter after several years residence at No. 7 Rockview terrace, have removed to New York.

PUBLICITY ON ELECTION

Protective Association in Advertising Campaign on the Water Question.

TO STIR THE PUBLIC'S INTEREST

Civic Body to Carry Double Column Notices in Local Papers Each Day Until the Special Election.

A campaign of publicity has been inaugurated by the Plainfield Protective Association, which is the first of the civic bodies to take up the question of the local water question with the vigor which the subject demands. This organization has such faith in the common sense of the people that the advertising columns of both the local newspapers will be used freely to stimulate the activity of residents who are vitally interested in the subject and encourage those who are not.

It is a matter of common observation and criticism and one which ought, according to the Protective Association, to command the attention of every man in the city for personal as well as general reasons and enlist the co-operation of the taxpayers and voters to the extent of making the subject general in its scope and effectiveness.

The matter as discussed last night by the Protective Association brings forward the questions of water supply when fire threatens and when, as in recent cases, actually occurs. It has been the experience of the firemen, it is alleged, that the water pressure has been inadequate and that losses resulted in consequence. This has been the case for the past two years, it is alleged, and the only reason advanced is that water which properly beyongs to this city has been diverted into other channels, Westfield and Cranford reaping the benefit of the extra supply.

The impending election on the subject is one which will occupy the attention of those who believe that Plainfield ought to own its water supply regardless of other municipalities and to forward this idea and make the result commensurate with the exigencies of the occasion those property owners who think that a change is necessary will do well to take notice of the campaign of the Protective Association and interest others in the subject.

Three names were added to the membership of the association last night as follows: Harry Williams, Howard H. Williams and Otis E. Hovey.

THE GROSZMANN SCHOOL WILL OBSERVE TENTH ANNIVERSARY.

The tenth anniversary of the Groszmann School on Watchung Crest, will be appropriately observed tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Today there was the planting of the anniversary tree on the school grounds. Tomorrow afternoon there will be special exercises, including the presentation of the dramatized version of "The Sleeping Beauty," by the pupils and teachers.

There will be addresses by representatives of the association, of the parents and of the pupils. Ely Bernays, a member of the New York Produce Exchange, will speak, as will also Dr. Groszmann and Judge William Newcorn. Admission to the exercises will be by ticket and they can be obtained of the secretary of the school free.

Case Takes Oath.

Clarence E. Case, one of the youngest jurists in the State, was sworn in to his office today. Judge Case has the distinction of having special legislation enacted in his behalf and will take his seat with the approval of many who have watched his career with interest. Judge Case was the private secretary of Senator Frelinghuysen, president of the Senate. He succeeds Judge Lewis P. Schenck.

For U. S. Supreme Court.

According to despatches received this morning it is practically certain that Lloyd Bowers, a former resident of Elizabeth, is about to receive the appointment as an associate justice of the United States Supreme Court to succeed the late Justice Brewer. It is said in judicial circles at the Capitol that only the obsequies of Mr. Brewer are detaining the announcement by the President.

"Our Men" Protest.

At a meeting of the society of "Our Men," held in the Berkeley lyceum last night, a resolution was introduced condemning the communications recently sent by W. F. Johnson to newspapers relating to the actions of certain of the politicians who participated in the recent school election in New Providence township.

MISS KENNEDY WEDDED IN NEWARK CATHEDRAL

Miss Margaret R. Kennedy, formerly of this city but now of Newark, was married yesterday to Joseph B. Robinson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Robinson, of 744 West Third street. The ceremony was performed in St. Paul's Cathedral, Newark, at 5 o'clock, the officiating clergyman being Father Brennan. The nuptials were witnessed by relatives of the couple and many friends.

Miss Alice Kenney, of Newark, a niece of the bride, was maid of honor, and Arthur Robinson, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. P. J. Kenney, of Peshine avenue, Newark. After the celebration Mr. and Mrs. Robinson departed for Atlantic City, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will make their home at Newark. Both are well known and popular in a large circle of friends in this city. Mr. Robinson is a traveling salesman, being employed by Park and Tilford, New York.

MEFFORD RUNYON ESTATE WORTH HALF MILLION

The will of the late Mefford Runyon, of Stelton, has been proven by Surrogate Daly, in the Middlesex County Court, and divided among the children and grandchildren of the decedent an estate which is reputed to be worth something around half a million.

Mr. Runyon, after providing for the payment of any obligations that might rest upon him at the time of his death, also funeral expenses, bequeathed to his son, Frank L. Runyon, all the farming implements on the Runyon farm. To his daughter, Gertrude, he left his Stelton residence. The residue of the property is directed to be sold and divided equally between his children, Jeptha D. Runyon, Frank Runyon, Charles Runyon, Mary Drake and Gertrude Runyon, one equal part each, also an equal part to be divided among the heirs of a deceased daughter, Louisa Giles. The last named share is to be held in trust until the Giles heirs reach the age of 21, and is subject to a change of $2,000.

The four sons are named as executors. The will was made Feb. 10, 1898, and was witnessed by Lafferd Totten and Charles H. Runyon, of New Brunswick.

Surprise for Misses Boylan.

The Misses Beulah and Gussie Boylan, of Regent street, were given a surprise last night by about forty of their friends and the ensuing hours were delightfully spent in dancing, games and music. Prizes were awarded to the winners of games and April Fool favors were distributed. The music was furnished by the Misses Beulah Van Winkle and Fanny Mundy. Refreshments were served shortly after midnight. The committee of arrangements was Miss Florence Wilson and Miss Beulah VanWinkle.

Mrs. George Gromisch.

The death of Mrs. George Gromisch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Perry, of 7 Harrison avenue, occurred at 7 o'clock this morning at the State Hospital in Trenton. Mrs. Gromisch was taken to the insitution about four weeks ago. At that time physicians declared her case was hopeless. She was thirty-one years of age and is survived by a husband and two children. The funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Fire Department Helped Out.

The local fire department was called upon to help out at the factory of the Rushmore Dynamo Works this morning, not to extinguish a blaze, but to help in the water supply. The machinery was not crippled as was at first reported, and the work of the establishment was proceeding as usual after a sufficient quantity of water was supplied.

Nonpariel's Ball a Success.

The ball conducted at Saengerbund hall last night under the auspices of the Nonpariel Social Club (colored) was largely attended. The committee in charge was C. J. Mackey, R. Thames, J. A. Miller, R. E. Lee, W. J. Daniels, William Kates and R. Stevens.

Tea for Mrs. Davis.

Mrs. Henry Elliott Bowen gave a very attractive tea this afternoon at her home on Watchung avenue in honor of her daughter, Miss Archibald Deming Davis, of Lakewood. The floral decorations were suggestive of Easter.

BETHROTHAL ANNOUNCED

Miss Mabel B. Hooley, of Maybrook, Engaged to Brown Rolston.

DAUGHTER OF E. S. HOOLEY.

Mrs. Hooley Makes Announcement at Tulip Luncheon Given Today in Honor of the Bride-elect.

Probably the most charming function of Easter week was the tulip luncheon given today by Mrs. Edwin S. Hooley at Maybrook, North Plainfield, to announce the engagement of Miss Mabel B. Hooley, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Hooley, to Brown Rolston, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Rolston, of No. 47 West Forty-eighth street, New York City. Miss Hooley's father is the senior member of the banking house of Hooley, Learnard & Company, of the Waldorf Astoria and 15 Broad street, New York. He is the president of the Watchung Hunt club and is one of the most public spirited men in this section. Mr. Rolston is a grandson of R. G. Rolston who was best known as the president of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, probably the richest banking institution in this country at least.

Miss Hooley, who is a great favorite in society, is a member of the Watchung Hunt Club and is an expert rider. Her horses are among the best show horses in the East and they have been blue ribbon winners in all the more important horse show exhibitions in the East. Her string of blue ribbons are the envy of the exhibitors who have seen them. Mr. Rolston is a Princeton man. He is a senior at Old Nassau and at the present time is president of the famous Triangle Club at that famous seat of learning. He is also a member of its noted Cottage Club.

The guests at the luncheon today included Mrs. William F. Wilson, Miss Jean Rolston, Miss Florence Stewart, Miss Dorothy Howard, Miss Marjorie Howard, Miss Susan H. Seymour, all of New York; Mrs. J. Hartley Mellick, Miss Gladys Peck, Miss Ethel Mosl, Miss Helen Timpson, Miss Katherine McCutcheon, Miss Louise Saunders, Miss Marion Hall, Miss Anna Garriques and Miss Hooley.

MISS NATALIE BRADLEY TO WED CHAS. F. NORTON.

At the Scotch Plains Baptist church tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock Miss Natalie Bradley will be married to Charles Frederick Norton, of Brooklyn. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Norton, of Fanwood. Two hundred invitations have been issued for the nuptials.

Miss Bradley will be attended by a maid of honor and four bridesmaids. The maid of honor will be Miss Dorothy Taylor, of Westerly, R. I., and the bridesmaids will be Miss Jennie Gould, Miss Ann Budd Chapman, Miss Bessie Wilson, of Brooklyn, and Miss Ninna Sennell, of New York. The best man will be Edwin H. Ahlesend, of Brooklyn.

Death of Prott Child a Mystery.

County Physician F. W. Westcott will probably request Prosecutor Swift to investigate the circumstances leading up to the death of Harold Prott, aged 5 years, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Prott, of 24 Prescott street, Elizabeth, who died yesterday at the General Hospital, that city. An inquest was conducted this morning, but the physicians have thus far refused to tell the result. The grandparents are now under bail awaiting a hearing in the City Criminal Court on a charge of being cruel and failing to provide proper food and clothing for the child.

Assisted at East Orange Reception.

Among the large number who assisted at the reception given on Wednesday at East Orange by Miss Alice Pettit, daughter of James C. Pettit, of Munn avenue, was Miss Francis Cahoone, of this city. The entertainment was given in honor of Mrs Henry Dane, of Brookline, Mass., mother of William Henry Dane, the fiance of Miss Pettit.

Peddling Without a License.

Abe Freeman, a New York peddler, was arrested by Special Officer John Barrets in the borough yesterday for exchanging tinware for old clothing. Freeman was fined one dollar by Recorder Dolliver.

Another Chimney Fire.

Hose Company No. 3 responded to a chimney fire alarm from 1442 West Front street at 12:45 o'clock this afternoon. The blaze was extinguished without damage.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Dunellen is experiencing a healthy building boom and when the sewer question is definitely settled and the borough decides to join with North Plainfield in the proposed system, Dunellen will certainly take a big leap to the front. In anticipation of sewerage, prices of real estate have advanced considerably and everything is looking up. Last year about fifty new dwellings aggregating a valuation of $175,000 were erected and this year it is expected that the number of new dwellings will reach seventy-five. The purchasers of the Sanford tract are making preparations to develop that section and it is also reported that the property located at the foot of the mountains will also be laid out in building lots.

Joseph Penrose, Jr., and Charles Boghe, the two New Market boys charged with stealing cash and checks from Clark T. Rogers, as well as figuring in other robberies, and who entered pleas of non vult in the Middlesex County Court, escaped punishment because the losses of Mr. Rogers were made good. The boys were placed on probation for three years.

Manager Lewis Churchill is completing his schedule with first class teams. Four games will be played on the local grounds with the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. aggregation. The D. A. C. players will be out for practice tomorrow afternoon.

The building and fire ordinance committee will confer with Borough Attorney Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., tonight in reference to drawing up the proposed ordinance, which will be introduced at the Council meeting on Monday night.

Services will be held as usual in the Seventh-Day Baptist church tomorrow. On Sunday afternoon the annual congregational meeting will be held. A trustee will be elected to succeed A. E. Curtis whose term expires.

Insurance Talks

No. 6

Insurance is not worth the paper it is written upon if adjustment of your losses cannot be effected satisfactorily.

A satisfactory adjustment is not only one which meets the full amount of your loss, but one which is accomplished without difficulty and annoyance.

When settlement upon a policy becomes necessary, it is immensely desirable that such settlements shall be effected promptly and easily.

A New York adjuster settles your claim.

The adjustment will be most satisfactorily accomplished if your policy is written and your claim is handled by a New York Broker.

For this reason:

The bulk of our business is transacted in New York city, in the field which the large companies are most anxious to cover. Consequently we are constantly in close touch with the best insurance companies, whose appreciation of our demands is measured by our value to them as operators in the metropolitan district.

We make your claims our claims.

George Nelson has returned from a short visit to Jutland.

Miss Margaret Wallace is visiting at Berwick, Penn.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The Bachelors' Club outdid all previous efforts to entertain their friends when they held the first of the club's after Lent dances, which was held in the hall last night. The long Lenten season had put every one on edge to enjoy a dance, and the result was the club's friends were in force, tripping the waltz and two-step to the strains of Suhr's orchestra. The hall was prettily trimmed with greens and bunting, which made a happy contrast with the faces and gowns of the women friends of the club. The club expects to run several more dances before the summer weather opens, the next being scheduled during the middle of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Robison and child, who have been visiting Mr. Robison's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Robison, of Forest avenue, have returned to their home in Roselle.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Nicholl, of Mountain avenue, who have been making their home in Plainfield during the past winter, will return to town shortly.

A number of young people from Fanwood and Plainfield are arranging to hold a dance in the borough fire house, Tuesday night, April 5.

There was very little moving among the residents here today. This is accounted for by the fact that empty houses are scarce.

Miss Evelyn Buckley has returned from a visit of several days with Miss Leora Henry, of Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gilloti, of Forest avenue, are entertaining relatives from Brooklyn.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The South Plainfield Baseball Club will hold its first grand dance in Washington hall this evening. The affair promises to be very successful. The proceeds will be used for purchasing of new uniforms. The following Baseball clubs will be represented: Puritan B. B. C., of Perth Amboy, Elcid A. C., of Rahway; Climax A. C., of Potters, and St. Mary's B. B. C., of Stony Hill.

The Plainfield Auto 'Bus Company is on the bum. No cars have been run by the company during the past week.

The South Plainfield F. C. will turn out for practice at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Harry Moss, of this place, visited New York yesterday on business.

Robert Horn is improving his property on Lehigh avenue.

WESTFIELD.

The Union County Live Stock Breeders' Association has purchased a percheron breeding stallion from a dealer in Pennsylvania. The animal will be in charge of H. Freeman, of Clark Township.

Fires on the mountain were got under control yesterday after nearly one thousand acres had been burned over.

The Mountainside borough hall will be thrown open to the inspection of the public this evening.

Up to Wednesday forty dogs had been killed by the Westfield dog warden.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark S. Perrine returned from Florida Wednesday.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. Dr. William A. Holiday, of Park avenue, will occupy the pulpit of Bethel chapel Sunday morning.

The Circle of Earnest Workers of Bethel chapel will hold a meeting at the chapel tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

The Young Women's Mission Band, of Trinity Reformed church, will meet on Friday afternoon, April 8.

Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tonight and initiate several candidates. Applications for membership will also be received.

SPORTS

NEWS AND NOTES

BY GEORGE E. FIRSTBROOK

"DEACON JIM" M'GUIRE IS FULL OF PEPPER

This is how "Deacon Jim" McGuire coaches the Naps at New Orleans when he is batting grounders for infield practice:

"Heads up, the ball's hit."

"Here's where I send one through those shortstops."

"That's the way to handle 'em. Right back at you."

"Here she goes; handle it fast and make it a double."

"Don't mind that, old boy, you'll get him yet. Hurry, hurry."

And here is "Gingery Jim" in the catcher's box, catching and coaching his young pitchers.

"Two and two on him, and here is where he dies."

"Take it easy now, and get this man."

"Watch the runner on second."

And the shouts of the ginger magnate in the coacher's box sound something like this:

"All right, Joe, old boy, make him pitch 'em to you. Get on this time. Lots of pep, now."

"That's he way to hit 'em. Turn the bag, turn the bag; watch out, now."

"Get a lead, get a lead. Make the pitcher waste a few. Now, up on your toes; go, go. Pretty slide, Joe, old boy; had the base a mile. Now everybody. Lots of the old pep, you know."

The basketball season at the local Y. M. C. A. will wind up next Monday night when the final game will be played in the Sunday School Athletic League. Scotch Plains has the title honors cinched with a record of 11 victories and one solitary defeat. The closest opponents of the Plainers are the First Presbyterians with 10 wins and 3 defeats. Physical Director Listman announced this morning the final standings in the other basketball championships.

Plainfield will be represented in the annual athletic games of the First Regiment N. J. N. G. which will be held in the First Regiment armory in Newark on Wednesday night, April 6.

The Sunday school aquatic meet is scheduled for Monday night, April 18, at the Y. M. C. A. The program includes 23, 46 and 80 yard races and a swimming contest under water. For boys under 110 pounds there will be a 23-yard race.

The Booster Boy's meeting which is scheduled for Friday night, April 8, at the Y. M. C. A., is creating unusual interest among local youths. Entries are coming in daily to C. William Bingeman, director of boys work.

The annual Y. M. C. A. gymnastic championships are posted for Thursday night, April 7.

The Y. M. C. A. baseball candidates are showing up fast in the practice sessions. Thus far Manager Listman has been directing his efforts to batting and fielding, but signal work and team play will be taken up on Saturday afternoon. Twenty athletes are striving for places on the nine.

A score of Y. M. C. A. boys will go on a "hike" tomorrow morning to the "deserted village" at Glenside Park. The youthful pedestrians will be accompanied by C. William Bingeman and Secretary Barker.

Captain Hart O. K.

Edward J. Hart, the sophomore captain of Princeton's 1910 football eleven, will captain the team and be able to play himself in spite of the rumors that he has a broken neck.

KEELER TO PLAY HERE

"Wee Willie" Will Manage and Captain Plainfield Team This Season.

TO BUILD NEW BALL PARK.

Exhibition Games to Be Arranged With Major League and College Teams—News a Big Surprise.

"Wee Willie" Keeler is to manage and captain the Plainfield ball team this season. That's the dope that came over the wires today. This news will set at rest all rumors of Keeler playing league ball this season and there is no reason to believe that local fandom will rejoice at the news of "Wee Willie's" decision to ostracise professional company to become pilot of the local aggregation.

While it had been rumored in certain circles that there was a probability of Keeler becoming the owner and captain of the local team little credence was placed in the reports. Last night Keeler and Manager Dorflinger had a conference with the aforesaid result.

Keeler is expected to arrive in town on Monday and anounce his arrangements for the season. It is Keeler's intention to erect an up-to-date ball park which will include a steel grand stand to accommodate several thousand spectators. It is said that he has selected an available site in the West End for the Park.

According to present plans the Plainfield team will play three games a week, Wednesday and Saturdays at home and Sundays on the road. With Keeler at the helm it is more than likely that a number of big league attractions will engage in battle with the locals before the snowflakes fly again.

While Keeler has paid little consideration to the probable makeup of the team it is known that he has signed Linderman and Farmer as a battery. Linderman is well known among old fans as a member of the old Equitables and Ridgewood nines, while Al Farmer caught here when George Johnson managed the team about six years ago. With a battery of the Linderman-Farmer caliber it is readily seen that Keeler intends to establish a crackerjack team, and give Plainfield a first class grade of baseball.

This New Brunswick will have nothing on us. In addition to the big league teams appearing here games will be booked with the Philadelphia Giants, the Havana stars and other high class colored teams. Several of the big college teams will also be booked for Wednesday afternoon contests.

Owing to the Merchants' Association action in closing their stores on Thursday afternoon during August games will be played on that day instead of Wednesday during that month. Fans don't forget this is April 1.

RUSHMORES TAKE ODD GAME FROM THE SHAMROCKS.

The Plainfield auto 'bus will furnish transportation leaving Rowley's Drug store at 7:30, 8, and 8:30 o'clock. The committee of arrangements have endeavored in every way to make the affair successful, and they expect to have a large crowd. The proceeds will go toward the purchasing of new uniforms.

Park Matter to Be Discussed.

The Borough Council will meet tonight. It is expected that the proposed borough park matter will come before the body in definite shape for consideration.

THE FORUM.

Cause of Garage Fire

Editor, The Daily Press:

In your account of the Brokaw garage fire published in your paper last Monday evening, you gave the statement of the night man in charge at the time, as to how the fire started, in which he stated that he first noticed that the Arrowsmith machine was on fire, etc. As the impression seems to prevail that I was careless or negligent in leaving the machine as I did, and having since heard remarks passed that I was the man whose machine caused the fire, I will thank you in justice to me to publish my statement as to the facts.

When I took the machine into the garage, I personally extinguished all the lamps and turned off the gasoline, and disconnected the storage battery at the battery itself, which is always my custom when leaving a machine in a garage and this I did in the presence of witnesses.

The condition of my car after the fire seems to show conclusively that my machine could not have originated the fire, as the top only was burned and the gasoline was turned off just as I had left it. There was gasoline in the carburetor and no leak in the gasoline line. The wiring on the motor was still intact and the motor started with little effort. The chassis was practically unharmed, the body being the only part burned. This was the condition of my car after the fire, which I went over in the presence of witnesses, who can testify to these facts.

"So he impressed you as different from the rest?"

"Yes," answered the sentimental yet observing girl. "He is decidedly original. He has written me ever so many letters without once quoting from 'Omar Khayyam.'"—Washington Evening Star.

A GARDEN IN THE PARLOR.

A few years ago the possibilities of gardening in one's living apartments were restricted to the raising of mustard and cress on a piece of old flannel, an art usually studied with messy results by the young hopeful of the family.

Now, however, there are any number of horticultural operations that a lady may perform in the course of her morning's household duties, and without soiling her hands into the bargain.

Bulbs are obviously the most suitable subjects for parlor gardening, and these wrapped-up plants are now obtainable so cheaply, and the bulbs are so reliable, that flowers brought on in this manner not only make bright table decorations, but inexpensive ones as well.

The newer and more popular plan is to plant the bulbs in pretty vases that are quite undrained, and this has been made possible by the concoction of a suitable compost, made of two parts cocoanut fibre, one part broken charcoal, and one part crushed shell. Mixtures of this character can be bought ready for use, and you would be well advised to buy a ready-made compost rather than mix it yourself, or you will probably find that the ingredients are out of proportion.

Roman and Dutch hyacinths, crocuses, daffodils, narcissis and tulips are the most suitable bulbs to plant in undrained vases, though the last is the most tricky to deal with, as, if for a quarter of an hour the compost is allowed to become dry, the roots will shrivel, and the bulb will be useless. In buying the bulbs, explain that you want them for indoor culture, and the nurseryman will supply you with specially suitable varieties.

Having obtained the bulbs, the vase and the compost, commence operations by placing at the base of the vase or bowl a thin layer of charcoal. Then put a layer of the compost, and on this place the bulb. The addition of a little water—rain-water for preference, on account of its plant-feeding qualities — will cause the compost to swell, when more of the fibre may be added till the vessel is filled.

In the case of hyacinths, they should not be planted deeply, and the top of the bulbs may show through the fibre, but the other subjects are better covered completely over.

Do not pack in the compost loosely, nor yet tightly, and see that any lumps are broken up. As much water as the fibre will easily soak up may be given at the time of planting, and then the bowls or vases should be placed in a darkened, airy cupboard or cellar for several weeks—in fact, till the green shoots are discernible above the bulbs, when they may be brought to the light.

In the early stages a weekly watering is advisable, but too much water will cause the bulb to rot.

Lillies of the valey also thrive well in this compost, and a bowl of these delightful blooms will add grace to any dining table. The crowns to buy are those that have been retarded—viz., kept in a refrigerating room—and such crowns will blossom within a month of planting if kept in a warm temperature.

The growing of bulbs over water is an art that is being revived after going out of fashion for a time. Hyacinths, crocuses and daffodils all do well over water.

Among the newer forms of parlor gardening is the growing of bulbs in pebbles. Bulb dealers stock both pebbles and bowls, and all that is necessary is to set the bulbs in the pebbles and keep them fairly moist.

A SATIN VEST.

The vest provides that extra touch of wramth needed by the wearer of the low-cut coat for the early winter weather, and it is just as necessary for added comfort with heavier coats during colder winter days.

The amateur will find all patterns for the high-cut vest without a collar, or a very low straight collar, altogether simple to construct. There is a perfect model made with two fronts, one back and two underarm pieces, and another with two fronts and two backs.

Black satin, or, indeed, gold colored, according to the requirements of the wearer, may be lined with white or cream satin, and every seam should be turned in toward the other, so that there is no appearance of unneatness. Raw edges may be left around the entire garment, because a binding of inch-wide gilt braid will hold them together, while it finishes.

Should the satin resist the effort toward the perfect buttonhole, a gilt cord may be fastened to a button on the right side and slipped over a button on the left, all the way down the front.

Dry Cleaning Talk

Gentlemen's clothes cleaned by a Cleanery with the ability and equipments to produce first-class work, will stay clean longer, as when done by an ordinary suit presser who only brushes the surface dust off and removes the most prominent spots from the surface.

With our process the garments are thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, the linings are cleaned and spots that are removed will stay removed and do not appear again the first time the garments are exposed to the dust and grim of the street.

In the beginning it may cost a little more, but will pay at the end, as the clothes don't have to be at the cleaners every two weeks.

METHODIST CONFERENCE KEEPS BUSY AT NEWARK

Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, of this city, superintendent of the Elizabeth district, submitted his annual report for the past year at yesterday's session of the Newark Conference in Central M. E. church, Newark. It showed the affairs of the district to be in a prosperous condition. During 1909 the salaries of eighteen ministers were advanced, and in 1910 twenty-one were advanced, with promise of further increase next year.

The report, in this connection, contained comment upon the practice in some cases of letting the pastor's salary remain unpaid for from one to four months at a time, thereby, in effect, obliging the minister to loan the unpaid salary to his congregation and carry the church deficit himself. In the matter of the payment of church debt the report set forth that there had been reductions in twenty-four cases, and thirty-four instances were cited where improvements had been made, the total amount involved aggregating $17,500.

Benevolences would show an increase over the previous year, but not so large as hoped for under the Laymen's Missionary Movement, said Dr. Randolph.

Fourteen Methodist Brotherhoods have been formed in the district, the largest in Westfield, with 152 members. The Sunday schools are flourishing, Dr. Randolph added and the work is supplemented by forty Junior Epworth Leagues. Conversions were reported as exceeding 500.

Two anniversary observances were held last night. The anniversary of the Boards of Conference, Claimants and Education being held in Central church, while in the Roseville church services commemorative of the anniversary of the Methodist Federation for Social service were held. Rev. Dr. Edwin L. Earp, formerly of Grace M. E. church, now professor of Christian Sociology in Drew Theological Seminary, was the principal speaker in the Roseville church. He dwelt mainly upon the social condition that is confronting the church at the present day. By removing these conditions he believed that many people could be induced to enter the church. Figures to illustrate that the union hodcarrier who receives $900 a year, receives a larger salary than the average minister, were introduced by James W. Pearsall, speaking for the Conference Claimants in Central church.

Rev. Dr. Thomas Nicholson, speaking for the Board of Education, said that while Carnegie and Rockefeller were not college graduates, but a close observer would find, he said, that they are dependent with the great industries upon armies of college trained men.

The anniversary of the Women's Home Missionary Society was held yesterday afternoon, when the work of the past year was reviewed by Mrs. Charles S. Woodruff, president. The anniversary address was made by Bishop Anderson. Rev. Dr. Charles S. Woodruff read the report of the Deaconess work, showing that excellent work had been accomplished. Bishop Anderson, in his remarks, said that the work in the South had divided itself into two parts, the white and the colored, and presented a problem which will not be easy to solve. To his mind, he said there was only one solution, a Christian education and the christianizing of the negro.

This morning's session of the conference opened at 8:30 with an address by Bishop Anderson on "Life's Great Reality," followed at 9 o'clock with a business session. At 10 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church, the annual meeting of the Laymen's Association was held.

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon there will be addresses of work being done. At 7:45 this evening the anniversary of the Board of Sunday-schools will be held in Central church and at the same hour in Halsey Street church, the anniversary of the Conference Epworth League will be held.

That Bishop Anderson is rushing the business of the conference is conceded by all. This was shown yesterday when the reports of the district superintendents were received, at least two days ahead of the usual time. The conference will close probably on Monday with the appointments.

At Proctor's.

Fields & Hanson, the clever black face musical comedians, who are making a big hit at Proctor's theatre, gave a new version of "The Anvil Chorus," last night. They are both a great cure for the blues. Lauder & Mortland in sketch "Detained on Business," are exceptionally good, while Short & Miller are a pair of good singers and dancers. Arthur Browning and his dog, Spot, are clever entertainers. He is a good dancer and sings witty songs, while Spot is a wise canine.

Hudson's County Clerk Sworn in.

Jersey City, April 1.—Judge Blair Wednesday administered the oath of office to Hudson County Clerk-elect John F. Crosby and Register-elect John J. McMahon, who takes office on April 1. Each supplied bonds in the sum of $50,000.

ODD LEGACY TAX CASE TO BE ARGUED MONDAY.

Washington, April 1.—Oddly enough, the very first case the seven justices left at active work in the Supreme Court of the United States will take up after the Easter recess will be one resulting from a vacancy on the bench when the court rendered a decision in a similar case about four years ago.

The case is that of Collector of Internal Revenue Hertz, of Chicago, against the executors of the estate of David C. Woodman, of the same city, and involves the interpretation of the Spanish War stamp tax legislation. The outcome of the case affects the payment of over $3,000,000 of taxes to the government.

Under the war revenue acts of 1898 and 1901 a tax was laid on legacies to become "due and payable one year after the death of the testator," and "to be a lien on the property taxed." James T. Woodman died March 16, 1902. On April 12, 1902, an act was passed repealing the tax, to take effect on July 1, 1902, but providing that all taxes "imposed" by the law prior to July 1, 1902, should constitute a lien and be collected.

Under these circumstances the question soon arose as to whether the tax was "imposed on legacies, where the testator died in the year preceding July 1, 1902. The government claimed that it did, and it collected more than $1,100,000 on legacies left by persons who died in the year in question. Other executors declined to pay and suits involving nearly two million dollars more are pending in the courts.

The case will be argued next Monday.

FOUR WILLS PROBATED.

New Brunswick, April 1.—Dr. E L. Loblein, of this city, who died last week, left no will. His son, E. Leon Loblein, Jr., has been made administrator. The personal estate amounts to $2,500.

Peter R. Bergen, late of Granbury, and a justice of the peace in this county for many years, in his will divides his estate among his children and grandchildren. The estate is to be sold and half of the proceeds to go to his daughter, Mrs. Luella C. Farr, and the other half to the children of his deceased daughter, Mrs. Florence L. Willis.

Mrs. Anton J. Dittmar, late of this city, leaves her share in the property at 159 Albany street, to her three sisters, Annie M., Frances H., and May R. Byrne, and the rest of the estate to her husband, who is a New York lawyer.

Mefford Runyon, late of Stelton, leaves his property to his daughter, Gertrude F. Runyon, and farming implements to his son Frank.

A JERSEY CONCERN MAY BID ON TURKISH NAVY.

Washington, April 1.—American shipbuilders may yet have a chance to build the new Turkish navy, according to dispatches received at the State Department yesterday from the American charge at Constantinople, H. L. Janes. He says that representatives of the eBthlehem Steel Company, the Cramps Shipbuilding Company and the New York Shipbuilding Company of Camden, N. J., have arrived at Constantinople. Upon assurances that the bidding for the $25,000,000 contract would be an open one they left for Turkey, but while on the way it was announced that the Ottoman Empire had given the order to British shipbuilders. It is now reported that the matter is not yet closed and there is still hope that the American firms will be given an opportunity to compete.

PRESENTATION READY TO COLD STORAGE MATTER.

Jersey City, April 1.—The Hudson County Grand Jury, which has been investigating the question of cold storage and food monopoly in New Jersey, will meet for the last time today and will then hand to the court a presentment, now ready, detailing recommendations for the regulation of the cold storage business. Its discharge will probably follow.

A new grand jury will be announced tomorrow and will be sworn in and begin work on Tuesday. Prosecutor Garven will immediately start the new grand jury on a further investigation of the meat packers.

Tribute to Late Judge Barkalow.

Paterson, April 1.—Nearly fifty members of the Passaic County Bar Association Wednesday afternoon passed resolutions on the death of their late member, Judge John Swartwout Barkalow. Judge William I. Lewis, of the District Court, presided, and in opening the meeting he spoke of the great loss the Bar Association had sustained in the death of their associate.

Judge Vail Home from Trip.

Elizabeth, April 1.—Circuit Court Judge Benjamin A. Vail, of this city, returned Wednesday to his home after a trip through South America and Bermuda. He is well tanned by the sun, and in excellent health.

State Nurses' Meeting.

Passaic, April 1.—The eighth annual meeting of the New Jersey State Nurses' Association will be held in Willard Hall, Bloomfield avenue, on Tuesday, April 5, at 2 o'clock.

Was Taking No Chances.

An epileptic dropped in a fit on the streets of Boston not long ago, and was taken to a hospital. Upon removing his coat there was found pinned to his waistcoat a slip of paper on which was written: "This is to inform the surgeon that this is just a case of plain fit, not appendicitis. My appendix has already been taken out twice."

From a Greek Idyl.

I fell in love with thee, maiden, I, on the day when first thou camest, with my mother, and didst wish to pluck the hyacinths from the hill, and I was thy guide on the way. But to leave loving thee, when one I had seen thee, neither afterward, nor now at all, have I the strength, even from that hour.—Theocritus.

Safety from Lightning.

On the approach of a thunderstorm French peasants often make up a very smoky fire, in the belief that safety from lightning is thus assured. How some this is deemed a superstition, but the custom is based on reason, inasmuch as the smoke acts as a good conductor for carrying away the electricity.

Luncheon Injunctions.

A Milwaukee woman has raised a novel point by suing for damages for attempts to drive her out of society. The next thing courts will be asked for injunctions preventing exclusive hostesses from shutting out aspirants to society from their luncheons and teas.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

There is a great scarcity of farm help in Gloucester county.

Many shad are being caught in Maurice river, near Yawp Shore.

A number of English pheasants and Hungarian partridges have been liberated near Medford by the State Game Commission.

John R. Downer, of Williamstown, has been called to the superintendency of the Men's church, Atlantic City, which was founded by Rev. Sydney Goodman.

Thirty of the "snapping-up" boys at the Whitney Glass Works, Glassboro, quit work Wednesday to work on nearby farms, throwing a number of blowers out of work.

Circuit Court Judge A. B. Endicott laid the corner-stone of the handsome stone edifice being erected by the First Presbyterian congregation, at Pacific and Pennsylvania avenues, Atlantic City, yesterday.

Parishioners of Christ P. E. church, Millville, are very anxious for the health of Rev. E. K. Tullidge, the rector, whose condition is reported to be alarming. The rector has been ill since a fall on the ice last winter.

Surveyors yesterday made an inspection of the Thompson property, at Gloucester City, where the new immigrant station is to be built. It is said that title to the property will pass to the government this week.

George Bolles, a prominent farmer of Vineland, surprised his friends by announcing his marriage to Miss Alice Donnell, of Philadelphia. When the ceremony took place or by whom it was pefromed they refuse to tell.

Claiming that he was badly injured in being thrown against the controller box of a trolley car, William L. Carter, of Woodbury, Wednesday started suit against the Public Service Railway Company to recover $10,000 damages.

Arrested on suspicion of stealing leather hides, Morris Swartz, fifty-eight years old, was peremptorily discharged from the Camden police court Wednesday, because it was learned that a contagious disease existed at the man's home.

The Kelly Hotel, at Atlantic and Michigan avenues, Atlantic City, is to give way to a modern office building, to be erected by the Atlantic City Gas Company. The property twelve years ago was bought for $18,000, and sold yesterday for $65,600.

Suit to recover $15,000 damages from the West Jersey and Seashore Railroad Company was instituted in Camden Wednesday for alleged injuries sustained by Elmer S. Corson, a milk dealer of Ocean City, when his team was struck by a train.

Without giving any reason for his action, Edward Hartman Wednesday tendered his resignation as a sergeant of police in the First district, Camden, to take effect at once, and Mayor Ellis promoted Policeman John Golden, of the Fourth ward, to fill the vacancy.

Probably the First Baptist Sunday-school of Woodbury can produce officials longer in service than any church or Sunday-school in this State. M. Ware Scott has just been re-elected superintendent for the thirty-ninth consecutive year, and Mrs. R. C. W. Pratt, superintendent of the primary department, for the thirtieth year.

"I just love to ride on cars," is the only explanation Ethel Scott, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Ella Scott, will make of her disappearance from home in East Millville last Friday. The police traced her to Woodbury and then to Pedricktown, where she was caught Tuesday night by City Marshal Biggs. The girl denies that she had seen the middle-aged man whom her mother believed had enticed her away.

In addition to various other expenses incurred by reason of a stray cur going mad in Moorestown about six weeks ago it cost Chester Township $303 this week for two bills presented by Mrs. James L. Young and Walter S. French for damages caused by the same dog. Mrs. Young's bill was for $48 for expenses incurred at the Pasteur Institute, New York, while undergoing treatment, for the animal's bite, and French's was for $155 for his eight-year-old daughter Esther.

GOLF.

In a plea for the professional which appears as the leading article in the current issue of "The Golfers' Magazine," a new method of scoring in the open championship tournament has been suggested. It is proposed to have the national amateur and open tournaments awarded to the same club and held in conjunction, on the Australian plan.

Briefly, this is to have seventy-two holes of medal play to decide the open championship, with the thirty-two or sixteen leading amateurs at the end of that period qualifying to fight it out at match play for the amateur title. So as to finish the tournament in a week's time, the match rounds could be decided as follows:

Wednesday morning, 18 holes; Thursday, 36 holes; Friday, 36 holes and Saturday, the final round, at 36 holes. In case only sixteen should qualify, the match play rounds could be at 36 holes.

One argument advanced in favor of this combination tournament is that a single preparation would practically do for both and because of the concentration the expense and effort would be less for each. Attention also is called to the fact that the open championship goes begging year after year.

On the other hand, it is doubtful if the amateurs would take kindly to the seventy holes of stroke play, for as it is now they cannot get to the match play part of the program any too quickly to suit them. It must also be taken into consideration that a combination tournament such as suggested would mean increasing the number of starters to more than two hundred, an unwieldy field and entirely too large to permit of being handled with comfort.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS BILL HELD BACK IN HOUSE.

Washington, April 1.—What has become of the bill to compel publicity of campaign contributions in elections within ten days before elections? This is the question that many Democrats and insurgents are hurling at Representative Gaines (Rep., W. Va.) chairman of the House Committee on Elections. The bill was ordered reported by the committee three weeks ago, and Gaines has not yet made a report to the House or put the bill on the calendar.

The measure was reported at a meeting of the committee, at which all the Democratic members were present and very few Republicans. The Democrats got one Republican vote, and directed Gaines to report the bill favorably.

Representative Sulzer (Dem., N. Y.), declares that the Republican members of the committee are trying to recall the bill and rescind the vote by which it was reported. Gaines is silent. Sulzer says he will ask some pertinent questions on the floor of the House in a few days unless the bill appears on the House calendar in the meantime.

Newark Cycle Races.

Iver Lawson, the Salt Lake City sprinter, known as the "Terrible Swede," will compete in the opening meet at the Newark elodrome track Sunday. With the addition of Lawson the field in the $500 Velodrome handicap at one mile, the feature event of the day, will be one of the classiest gotten together at the local track.

Although all of the professional contingent is entered in the race, the fight for premier honors will probably narrow down to National Champion Frank L. Kramer, Lawson and Paddy O'Sullivan Hehir, the Australian.

Spring Suits & Overcoats

For Men and Young Men

This week we have been having the sort of weather which suggests the necessity of Spring Clothing.

If unusual style, attractive patterns and permanent shapeliness appeal to you, then you must choose here.

Our clothes for men occupy a position of prominence gained by untiring effort toward betterment. They're distinguished by originality—by cleverness of finish—by all the characteristics which appeal to discriminating men.

Our clothes for young men are NOT reduced models of men's clothes. They're distinctively young men's models, designed to please the younger ideas—to satisfy the desire for individuality.

The new spring fabrics in suits and overcoats embrace numerous clever efforts, gray predominating with blue a close second.

Why not select your Spring Suit now and get the full season's good out of it? You'll need a light weight overcoat, too, for the chilly nights and mornings.

SUITS, $12 to $30 OVERCOATS, $12 to $38

CLOTHING TO ORDER 206 WEST FRONT STREET

BUCKWHEATS VERSUS PIE

By BELLE MANIATES

Bertha awaited the coming of her caller without much animation.

"He won't come many times," she said to her mother. "The other girls will get to inviting him and they will feed him with layer cakes and pies and ice cream. The boys say it's just like a poorhouse here. We never give them a thing to eat."

"Well, if that's all they come for, I'd be mighty glad to have them stay away. Pie and cake and ice cream is unhealthy stuff and I ain't going to have any in my house. This is no eating house."

Mrs. Willets snapped out this declaration and went upstairs to bed at her usual early hour. She relented enough to caution the two young biys, Richard and Bert, not to go into the sitting room.

"Bertha's going to have a beau," she informed, "and you can sit in the kitchen and study your lessons."

They obediently went to the kitchen, but did not study.

"Who's coming to see Bertha?" asked Bert.

"Red Raymond. He's been out west for four years, you know. Been a cowboy and shot Indians."

"Oh, I hope Bertha keeps him for a steady."

"She won't," replied Richard, who had been eavesdropping, "because ma won't let her make any pies and cake and stuff for him to eat."

"Huh!" commented Bert. "'Tain't likely he's anything like these farmers around here. He won't care for pie and cake."

"Bertha don't seem to keep a fellow long," lamented Richard. "Ned Price only kept company a month. He says he likes fat girls with red cheeks. Bertha's pale and thin, you know."

"That's not a cowboy's style," remarked Bert, who had taken to drawing books from a circulating library. "They like the delicate kind."

The boys immediately set to work and when things were ready they marched into the sitting room, where Bertha, distrait from her mortification at not being able to offer Red cake and pie, was ill at ease and inattentive. She welcomed the diversion of the entrance of the boys.

"Say," said Bert, "Richard and I got hungry and we are going to have a spread in the kitchen. Don't you folks want to come out?"

"Sure we do," responded Red, promptly, rising from his chair with alacrity and following the boys.

Bertha obeyed with some trepidation.

"Oh, Lord!" ejaculated Red when he came into the big, warm kitchen and smelled the coffee. I do believe that's a stack of buckwheats. I used to dream about them when I was down in New Mexico."

Bertha's spirits rose. The boys had set the table nicely. The coffee smelled promising. There were a pitcher of cream and a jug of syrup on the table.

"Sit down," urged Bert. "I'll bake the cakes and Rich will serve you. Pour the coffee, Bertha."

"Say," inquired Richard, as he laid a golden-brown cake on Red's plate, "what did you call these? A what of buckwheats?"

"Stack," said Red, pouring about a pint of syrup over the cakes. "That's what they call them out west. Wheat cakes is a stack of whites. Poached eggs on toast is Adam and Eve on a raft—"

"Go on, tell more!" applauded Bert, waving a pancake turner excitedly in the air.

Red laughed and between cakes he related western tales to the boys' content.

"Is he coming again to-morrow night, Bertha?" whispered Richard from his room as his sister came upstairs at a late hour.

"Yes," she answered, happily. "It was just lovely of you, boys, to think of the cakes. He's going to bring you each a present to-morrow."

The next night the little brothers again ushered themselves into the sitting room.

"We've got some Adams and Eves on rafts," grinned Richard.

"Well, you are the best chefs I know," said Red, approvingly, "and you bet you'll get a tip." He handed them each an Indian bow and arrows.

The next night, as sister's beau came up the lane, he was met by Bert. "Say," said the boy, doggedly, "before you come in there's something I want to tell you."

"All right, my boy. Fire away."

"You see there ain't anything to eat to-night and we've run out of coffee and I thought it only fair to tell you before you came in, so you could turn back if you wanted to. But it ain't Bertha's fault. It's ma that's stingy."

Red stared a moment and then burst into a hearty laugh.

"See here, Bert! You didn't think I came to your house to eat, did you? I came because I love your sister."

"Oh, Gee!" said the boy.

"The first time I set eyes on her I said, 'There's the girl for me.' When I called that first night she was so quiet I thought she didn't like me. I was clean discouraged till you boys broke the ice with your stack of buckwheats."

"Does Bertha know?"

"Well, I reckon she does unless she's a mighty poor guesser, but I am going to ask her plumb out to-night and I hope I'll be too happy to eat."

HE HATED TO WASTE ANYTHING.

Fetzer (in street car)—See that man sitting at the other end—the big fat fellow who takes up so much room?

Wallman—Yes.

Fetzer—Do you know why he doesn't give up his seat to that little thin woman standing in front of him?

Wallman—That's easy; he's too selfish.

Fetzer—No, you're mistaken. That's Millionaire Grippes. He made all his money by practicing economy, and the habit of wasting nothing is so strong in him that he would feel guilty if he gave his seat to a woman who was not large enough to fill it.

Such Is Fame.

When the news that Tom Johnson was defeated for mayor was received in the office of the Denver Times there was not time to do more than run a scare head, "Johnson Defeated!"

The papers were on the street in a few minutes, and a freckled Irish "newsie" started off yelling joyously: "Jeff wins!"

Mrs. Candor.

Country Woman—I've been expecting a packet of medicine by post for a week, and haven't received it yet.

Postoffice Clerk—Yes, madam. Kindly fill in this form and state the nature of your complaint.

Country Woman—Well, if you really must know, it's indigestion.

The Kind.

With another kind of boat he might have beat us,
So says Tom Lipton of his last disaster.
And he is right, he could have beat us with,
Another kind—a kind a whole lot faster.

IF NOT WANTED.

He—All I can offer you for Christmas is myself.

She—But, George, you know a girl always likes to receive Christmas presents which she can exchange later.

Agricultural Note.

Little drops of water
On the garden seeds,
Mixed with April sunshine
Make a lot weeds.

Rather Frigid.

"The Bloobluds are considered the cream of society here, are they not?" queried the stranger within the gates.

"Yes," replied the native, "and if you try to get into their set you'll find they are the cold cream of society."

Work for Police.

Patrice—Why, they help to make the police earn their pay.—Yonkers Statesman.

Just So.

"Well, how do you like your job?" queried the inkwell to the new blotter.

Giving Pa Away.

Ma—So pa took advantage of my absence and searched the bureau where I keep my diary?

Ostend—Yes, ma; and pa said that was what he called a "bureau of information."

Very Much One.

"That musician is a regular paradox."

"How so?"

"He plays rounds on a square piano."

The Natural Ones.

"Pop, I know the kind of ships they have dog watches on."

"Indeed do you?"

"Yep; they're barks."

Easy Mark.

"What is your son doing now, Mr. Smart?"

"Oh, everybody he can."

Another Nature Faker.

WANTED—Situation as dairyman; can milk or drive wagon. Dairyman, care Georgian.—Atlanta Georgian.

An Odd Lot of Forty Dresses To Be Sold Tomorrow at $24.50

These are broken lots and include many styles and qualities of dresses—handsome chiffon serge and broadcloth dresses, full braided or strictly tailored, in black and a variety of the fashionable shades; nicely made dresses that would be easy to sell had we the full range of sizes; but because there are only a few this and a few of that kind we are going to sell these $39.75 dresses for only $24.50

Smart Dresses for Women and Misses—of Chambray, Novelty Ginghams and Lingerie; low or square neck styles; self-colored lace or net yoke and collar to match; some with full braided bodices, others tucked and lace trimmed; tunic or plaited skirts; all wanted colors; dresses that we value at $9; special priced $5.98

Skirts of fine Panama in navy, gray or black; strictly tailored; full plaited; value $5.98; Saturday at $2.98

Second Floor.

The Coats We Sell at $10.50

There are no more popular models, no better liked materials than we present in these 56 in. long Blue Serge Coats. They are lined with satin to the waist and are trimmed with black moire and natural rajah collar and cuffs. Doubtful if there is a coat in town equal to them under $14.50; we are making a feature of this line this season $10.50

Black Broadcloth Panama and French Serge Coats in 31-in. length, lined thruout with satin; trimmed with moire and braid; regular and between sizes; also at $10.50

Black Broadcloth Coats, 32-in. length, fitted and semi-fitted styles; some specially cut for short waisted women; specially low priced tomorrow at $5.98

32-in. Black Broadcloth and Serge Coats, lined thruout with black or gray satin; prettily trimmed with moire or silk; single or double breasted models; special at $8.50

Women's and Misses' Tan Covert Coats, 32-in. and 34-in. lengths; satin lined; finished with tailored straps and buttons, specially priced $5.98, $10.50 and $12.50

Tomorrow we offer Three-Piece Suits for Girls in intermediate sizes, made of fine quality serge in tan, navy, Copenhagen, green and shepherd checks in black and white, tan and gray; the waists neatly trimmed with braid of contrasting colors; skirts full plaited; the coats are made in smartest styles, satin lined; sizes 11, 13 and 15; skirt lengths 26, 28 and 30; regular value $22.50; priced for Saturday $15.00

Coats for Girls of 5 to 8 years; made of shepherd check, packa cloth, and red, tan, green and blue, and fancy striped materials, all more or less trimmed, with silk collar and cuffs; specially priced $2.98, $3.98, $5.00.

Pretty Lawn Dresses—Dainty and sheer, in many exclusive styles, trimmed with the neatest of imported embroideries and laces; a very large variety to choose from, $2.98, $3.98, $5.00, $7.50 and on up to $18.50.

Dresses of beautiful, sheer Crossbar and Lawn, embroidery trimmed; very special at $2.25 and $2.98.

Second Floor.

Trimmed Hats at $4.75

Many women who come here for hats often expecting to pay a great deal more money, settle their choice upon one of the prettily trimmed hats we sell at $4.75. A good many others, instead of paying $10 for one hat, buy two of the $4.75 kind, giving them a change for different dresses or giving them one for every-day wear and one for dressier occasions. Most women are astonished at the originality of design and the beauty of the color effects obtained in these moderately priced hats. Of course, they are not naturally $4.75 hats. They ought to fetch more money, and they do in many stores. We know of lots of stores selling hats no better at double the money. $8 would be a fair price for almost any of them, and a good many would readily sell at $10 had we a mind to ask it.

Tomorrow there will be a fresh lot of these beautiful hats, hundreds of them ready for you at $4.75

Smartly Trimmed Hats—The product of our own skilled milliners, everyone different, an immense variety of shapes and color combinations; worth from $8.75 to $10.50, will be sold Saturday at $6.50

Ready-to-Wear Turbans and Tailored Hats in the most up-to-date shapes and colors; a goodly variety to choose from; regular $4 values, Saturday at $2.95

New Fancy Braid Hats—Many new and attractive shapes and colors; regular $1.75 value, Saturday at $1.25

PERSONAL.

Mrs. N. Dalson, of Fairview avenue, is visiting relatives at Ithaca, N. Y.

Charles Staats, of Brooklyn, who has been visiting here, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fogarty, of Watchung avenue, have removed to Cameron avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Mara, of Rockview avenue, are spending two weeks in Bermuda.

Miss Florence Greenwood, of Westfield, has been visiting at the home of Miss Clara Scott, Jersey City.

Mrs. Howard A. Colby and Mrs. John Tenney, of Evergreen avenue, left yesterday for Texas, where they will remain for a month.

Miss Minnie Hossinger has resigned her position as saleswoman at "The White Store," and will remain at home for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frank, of New York, have returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Goldsmith, of Evergreen avenue.

The Misses Jennie and May Sexton, of Hoboken, have returned home after spending a few days with Mrs. H. Berkhan, of Watchung avenue.

Miss Elizabeth Guinee, who has been employed as a saleswoman at "The White Store," for many years, has resigned to take a similar position with Greenhut's in New York.

HERE AND THERE.

Frank W. Remsen, of East Millstone, while in town yesterday took pleasure in showing a handsome solid gold badge, presented to him by Carl Fleischman, for winning the Somerset county championship, at a clay pigeon shoot at East Millstone on March 19. Mr. Remsen also won a cup at the same time, which he is privileged to hold for one year, when it must be competed for again. At the recent shoot, Mr. Remsen was opposed by all the crack shots of the county.

A flagrant violation of the ordinance which prohibits the riding of bicycles on the sidewalks of the city was seen yesterday shortly after 5 o'clock on East Front street. The wheelman rode on the walk from Westervelt avenue to Sandford avenue and down the latter street some distance where he entered a yard. His impudnce was magnified by the manner in which he warned pedestrians ahead of him. A horn, a small edition of an automobile horn, he used as though the sidewalks were his own personal property. Three women on East Front street had to make room for him while on Sandford avenue a woman and two children had to give him the right of way. Some day a patrolman will nab this fellow and Judge Runyon will make it interesting for him.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"The Upstart," a new three-act comedy, by Tom Barry, will be presented at the Plainfield Theatre on Thursday and Friday nights, April 7 and 8, by an exceedingly strong cast. This comedy is full of original situations and brilliant lines and in the hands of the very capable company which will present it here is sure to prove a very enjoyable evening's entertainment. The cast consists of such well known artists as Ralph Stuart, James Lackaye, Miss Charlotte Ives, John Westley, Frank Gilmore and Walter S. Howard. Bertram Harrison has also provided a magnificent scenic equipment.

ARTISTIC DINNER GOWN.

Mme. Paquin is noted in Paris for the originality and artistic values of her costumes. When her famous husband was alive it was she who wore his greatest creations for the first time. When a whisper went around Paris and Madam Paquin had worn a gown bordered with a wall of Troy at the races that trimming was used the world over.

Now that her husband is dead, and she is the head of the house, her clothes are even more important. There is the black velvet turban, which we now see on the heads of the fashionable women, as it was worn by her at the late races in August. It is very high at the back, slopes toward the front and has as its only trimming a Byzantine ornament of wrought silver in the centre.

In the light of these things it is interesting to know what she wore at the beginning of the season in her own home. Her frock was of white chiffon cloth slightly gathered at the waist and falling in even roundness on the floor. It had a border of black velvet ribbon and a lining of white messaline without fullness.

The blouse was slightly full, with a girdle draped to a slight point in front and a fichu of the cloth edged with lace draped around a slightly low neck. There was a touch of black maline in the front and sleeves that turned the elbow finished with black velvet ribbon and lace. With this costume she wore a short string of pearls.

CHANGES IN RULES A HELP TO BASEBALL

In a very few weeks the baseball fans of the country will have a chance to see how the several changes in the playing rules work out in a regular game, says Umpire Billy Evans. During the winter the rule makers put through a number of reforms and it looks as if every one of them would improve the game. Some of them may seem a trifle strange and a bit puzzling for a time, but the baseball fan is a mighty apt pupil in all things pertaining to the great national game.

Umpires the country over hailed with delight the rule which made any thrown or pitched ball in play, should it strike the person or clothing of the umpire while on foul territory. The clause covering this play is covered in section 7 of rule 54 and reads as follows:

"If a thrown or pitched ball strike the person or clothing of an umpire on foul ground, the ball shall be considered in play and the base runner or runners shall be entitled to all the bases they can make."

Under the rules previous to the code of 1910 the ball was dead just as soon as it struck the person or clothing of the umpire on foul territory. This rule stood the test of time for years, but it was a manifestly unfair clause. The umpire was forced to advance all base runners a base, although often the ball would not roll more than four or five feet and had the baseman tried to advance at his own peril he would have been an easy out.

Nothing could have possibly been more disgusting to a baseball fan in bygone years than to see some game decided in just such a way. I recall a game of several years ago that went fifteen innings without a score only to have such a great contest end in a very disappointing manner. In the last half of the fifteenth, with two down and a runner on third, the catcher allowed a fast shoot to trickle through his fingers. It didn't roll more than three feet, yet despite the efforts of the umpire, the ball just touched his trouser leg. That the ball had hit him was apparent and he was forced to score the runner from third with the run that won the game.

Despite the fact that the home team won, I don't believe there was a single person at the game who desired to see the contest decided in such a way. It was far too weak and unsatisfactory an ending to a remarkable game that simply sparkled with brilliant plays. Time after time pitchers and fielders, by some seemingly impossible feat, had prevented imminent defeat, yet the enthusiasts were forced to see the winning run canter over the plate, the opposition having been rendered powerless because of the unfortunate little accident.

Personally I know of no play that ever made me as sore as the one related above. Naturally, to lose a game in such a way always brings down a lot of condemnation on the arbitrator's head, and, believe me, no one regrets the affair more than he. Sometimes the umpire is to blame for being flatfooted on the play, but often, no matter how quickly he may move, it just seems impossible to avoid the ball.

In the past the possibility of such a play turning up always kept the umpire on edge, because invariably the result proved fatal to the chances of one of the teams. Of course, all umpires who take a personal pride in their work will continue in their efforts to avoid having the ball hit them, but they will not work under so severe a strain, as they will realize that the result cannot be so costly.

In the future the base runner will advance at his peril. No longer will he be able to take an extra sack at the umpire's expense. It will also do away with a lot of argument, as it had become customary for players in a pinch to always insist that a short passed ball touched some part of the umpire's person or clothing. Such kicks will now be futile. The umpires have reason to give many thanks for this rule.

Another thing that the fans will miss this year will be the promiscuous throwing of the player's hat or glove at a batted ball hit out of reach. It has been sort of traditional in baseball for players to hurl a glove or bat at the ball they could not field, sometimes in a spirit of anger, but oftener simply as a joke pure and simple.

Under the old ruling the batsman was entitled to a base should the player stop the ball by hurling his glove or cap at it. While the cases have not ben numerous, I have seen a player turn a possible home run into a single by stopping the ball with his glove.

It's questionable if baseball will ever again see a player throw a glove or hat at a ball or drive, unless he realizes that it will have no effect upon the game. The penalty for such action under the new rules is entirely too severe for the players to take a chance. Section 6 of rule 54 covers this feature of the game and is as follows:

"If a fielder stop or catch a batted ball with his cap, glove or any part of his uniform, while detached from its proper place on his person, the runner or runners shall be entitled to three bases."

The third annual dance of the North Plainfield Baseball Club will be held at Saengerbund Hall, Friday night, April 8. Prof. Heinemeyer, of Elizabeth, will furnish music.

Hal Chase, first baseman of the New York Americans, will cover second base for the New Brunswick team in its opening game on Sunday afternoon against Springfield. Chase broke training at Athens a week ago to return home for the purpose of receiving a visit from the stork.

First Game of Ball Tomorrow.

A real game of baseball will be played on Crescent Oval tomorrow afternoon between an all-Plainfield aggregation captained by Jack Martin and an all-star newspaper combination which will be piloted by "Chicago" Bill Cass. The pen and pencil brigade will select their players from the following roster: "Nicodemus" Banghart, James Niles, "Wee Willie" Dunn, C. Francoitis Francisco, "Terrible Bob" Scott, Ed Koechlein, "Mike" Win Cram, "Wilkesbarre Jack" Nicol, "Chicago Bill" Cass, G. E. Firstbrook, Percy Wellington Vail and "Tornado" John Townsend. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock. Cliff Randolph will pitch for the All-Plainfields.

Will Play Elizabeth United.

The Plainfield Association Football Club will play the Elizabeth United on the Clinton avenue grounds tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The Elizabeth club has played the locals this season and realize that they will have to play a fast game to win. They will bring their strongest line-up to this city. The Plainfield boys are playing in great form at present and a great game is promised for tomorrow.

Water Fowl Season.

Among the bills passed by the Senate last night was an act by Senator Mills, which makes the open season for water fowl from October 15 to January 1, in the counties of Passaic, Sussex, Morris, Warren, Essex, Hudson, Somerset, Hunterdon, Union and Bergen. It provides a penalty of $20 for each offense.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Selections from the Easter program will be represented by the choir at the First Baptist church on Sunday evening.

The vested choir of the First M. E. church, under the direction of J Edmund Skiff, organist, will render a special musical program at the church Sunday night.

The Pastors' Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church, met at the church yesterday to discuss plans for a supper. It was decided to postpone the affair to a later date, and the time will be announced in the near future.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Rev. and Mrs. F. St. John Fitch have removed from Montclair to 916 Park avenue. Mr. Fitch is a Baptist minister and recently supplied the pulpit at the Park Avenue Baptist church. Mrs. Fitch was formerly Miss Green, of West Eighth street.

—Hugh B. Sweeny, registrat of the Plainfield Business College, has been detained at his home on Liberty street, with a severe attack of grip, verging on pneumonia. He has been under the care of a physician who successfully brought him through the crisis.

Wrong Switch.

"Little boy," said the big electrician, as he unpacked his tool kit, "your mother sent for me to fix her switch. Where will I find it?"

The little boys' eyes grew round

"'Sh!" he whispered cautiously, "Mamma doesn't want everybody to know she wears a switch, but I guess you'll find it either on the bureau or on her head."

And ten minutes later the sounds that emanated from the woodshed told that there are other kinds of switches besides electrical and hair. —Chicago News.

A WHITE SERGE SUIT.

Of course, it is perishable, but that does not preclude the possibility of its adaptation, for white serge is the sturdy material that can withstand admirably the wear of a visit to the cleaner's. There is a certain niche that the white serge suit fills, and wise is she who can plan to add one to the wardrobe for the coming season.

In the first place do not make the mistake of selecting a skirt too heavily pleated, for the weight will be unbearable, but choose rather the pattern which has the straight panel at the front and the introduction of pleats at the side.

In the jacket, which, to be strictly up-to-date, must be hip length, the suggestion of black is always excellent. A narrow band of silk is effective when outlining the cuffs or collars, and many models are showing the use of heavy silk braid and cord of white.

If you decide upon revers they must be long, the first fastening at the waist line or just a little above.

The sleeves have very little fullness and the buttons are extremely large.

Frequently a square, pointed or rounded tab of the material is folded up over the lower edge of the jacket and again on the sleeves. This can be embroidered, braided or plain, with a buttonhole and button.

And when lining this select a soft silk with an allover design in cashmere colors. It is the latest thing.

BATTLING TUBERCULOSIS

What Plainfield is Doing in the Fight Against the White Plague.

MODEL CAMP IS CONDUCTED.

Through Generosity of Citizens Noble Work Is Being Done to Save Lives of the Sufferers.

The Anti-Tuberculosis League, of Plainfield, is responsible for the establishment of a model sanatorium for women patients in this city where excellent results are being accomplished in the fight against the great "white plague." What Plainfield is accomplishing other cities have accomplished in the same manner. As a general thing, where the fight against tuberculosis is being carried on, the warfare has been inaugurated by the town, city or county, or by private enterprise, which in the last named case means that a few citizens have interested themselves in the work.

In Plainfield the city and county have had nothing to do with the work, and instead of a few citizens interesting themselves in the battle, 700 have banded themselves together in the Anti-Tuberculosis League and the subscriptions have ranged all the way from one to several hundred dollars. It costs $300 a month to carry on this good work at the present time and the league so far has had no difficulty in meeting its expenses.

Aside from the voluntary subscriptions which are received, entertainments are given at intervals when more money is needed, and the King's Daughters, of Plainfield, have been especially active in assisting the league in carrying on its work.

Modest Cottage Being Used.

The building in which the Anti-Tuberculosis League is at present caring for tubercular patients is a modest little cottage that has its counterpart at every seaside resort in the country. Its only unusual feature, perhaps, is in the open bedrooms, two on either side of the building, opening on to the veranda.

The verandas are really a part of the bedrooms, although if the severity of the weather requires, there are heavy curtains that may be dropped from the ceiling inside the veranda, serving as a partition between the bedrooms proper and the porch.

The outside of the building is shingled and finished in a dark green stain. The sashes and casings of the large double window, which flood the rooms with light, are painted white, as are the veranda posts and rails. Altogether the little building presents a very attractive appearance.

The interior is without lath and plaster, but the roof beams and the joists have been planed and stained a dark green. Much of the space on the wall between the posts is utilized by cabinets and cupboards that have been built in and contain medicines and other articles. The central part of the building is used both as a living room and as a dining-room. This room is 18 by 20 feet, and here, too, the physician makes his examinations. Around two sides of the room is a wide seat tastefully decorated. This seat is really a series of boxes, the top of the seat being hinged, and in these boxes are kept the table linen, bedding and the other accessories.

Besides a large table and chairs the room contains a small writing desk and scales, on which the weight of the patients is carefully recorded at their first examination, and weekly thereafter during their stay at the camp. This room also contains a large heater which supplies heat for the bathroom and the kitchen, and is used as an incineration plant to destroy the sputum cups which are used by the patients. The bedrooms are without heat.

At the rear of the living-room is the bathroom and locker room. The last-named room contains eight separate lockers, one for each patient, this being the capacity of the camp. The lockers are of metal, with wide-mesh screen doors. They extend from the floor to the ceiling and are about twenty inches wide by three feet deep. Each patient is required to keep her belongings in her locker.

Every Convenience in Kitchen.

The kitchen is at the rear of the building. This room is about eight by twelve feet in size, and contains a gas stove on which the food for the patients is cooked, and every convenience of a modern kitchen. The kitchen is kept spotlessly clean, and no garbage or other refuse is kept within the room to attract flies, vermin or insects. The kitchen also contains an instantaneous water heater, which supplies the bathroom. The building is lighted by electricity furnished from the Muhlenberg Hospital, near by. The patients' bedding and underclothing are first throughly boiled and cleaned at the camp, and are then taken to the Muhlenberg Hospital, where they are laundered.

While the Anti-Tuberculisis League of Plainfield stands sponsor for the camp and foots its bills, the camp is directly managed by the superintendent of the Muhlenberg Hospital. Dr. F. J. Hughes is the physician of the camp, and there are two nurses, one on duty during the day, and the other at night. Miss Helen White, the day nurse, has charge of the camp. Miss White is a graduate of Mt. Sinai Graduate Nurses' College of New York, and came to Plainfield from Trudeau Hospital at Saranac, N. Y. Miss Bessie Baggett, the night nurse, has also had experience in the treatment of tuberculosis patients. The camp also employs a cook and an orderly.

For the present the camp is open only to women and children of both sexes, but it is the desire of the Anti-Tuberculosis League to increase the facilities so that male patients may be admitted.

Another Camp Being Planned.

The league is now planning so that within a year, it is hoped, it may be in a position to erect another camp. At the present time there are four women and four children, two of the latter being girls and two boys. Upon entrance to the camp the patient is first given a bath and her temperature is then taken. She is then told of the routine that she may expect to follow each day during her stay.

The patients arise at 7 o'clock. Breakfast is served at 8 o'clock. It is of interest to note that fresh meat is served at each meal. Following breakfast the patients rest, occupying reclining chairs on the veranda. More nourishment, usually milk, is given at 10:30 o'clock and they are then allowed such exercise as has been prescribed by Dr. Hughes.

Dinner is served at 1 o'clock, but the patients are required to have at least a half hour's rest before dinner. From 2 to 3:30 o'clock is another rest period and during this time the patients are required to keep absolutely quiet, though they does not necessarily mean that they must feign sleep. Nourishment is again given the patients at 4 o'clock and is usually followed by some light form of exercise. Supper is served at 6 o'clock and, as with dinner, a rest is first taken.

After supper the patients may pass the time until 8:30 o'clock quite as they see fit in the camp living room. Each may choose for herself her own amusement. The camp is provided with a phonograph and this form of entertainment seems to be greatly enjoyed by the patients. The patients are required to be in their beds at 9 o'clock at which time all lights are extinguished. Except for the roof over them the patients sleep practically in the open air, the front of the camp being, of course open, as are also the large windows at the sides and rear.

Plenty of Warm Covering.

Plenty of warm covering is supplied and the blankets are tucked about the patients so that their appearance when lying in bed is much the same as that of the people of the far north in their sleeping bags. Like every health sanatorium the camp has its southern exposure.

The camp at Plainfield was seriously objected to by some families living in the neighborhood, although, curiously enough, no objection was made by these families to the contagious disease hospital or, as it is commonly called, pesthouse, located in a direct line and not more than two hundred feet from the camp. The league, to overcome the objection as much as possible, erected a lattice work frame about ten feet high and extending a little beyond either side of the camp at its southerly exposure.

The camp was erected during the fall of last year at a cost of about $400 and was opened on December 1, 1909. While only intended for the treatment of incipient cases of tuberculosis, it was found expedient when the camp was first opened to take two patients who were suffering from the disease in an advanced stage. These patients and the others have all steadily improved during the short time that the camp has been open. While the camp is not intended to be thought of as a charitable institution, in the sense that an almshouse is, patients are not required or expected to pay unless it is known that they can easily afford to.

The cost of maintaining the camp with eight patients is a trifle more than $300 a month, which includes every item of expense. This is at the rate of $1.25 per patient per day. The most expensive articles of diet are meat and milk and it has been ascertained that it costs twenty cents for meat for each patient every day. Milk is given the patients six times each day and if they desire they may drink more of it between the prescribed times.

Cleanliness is an absolute essential in a camp of this kind and every care and precaution is taken by the nurses to see that these requirements are lived up to. East patient is provided with a cardboard sputum cup. These cups are placed within a tin receiver of the same shape as the cup, being flat on the bottom, so that the patient may put down her cup when reading or sewing.

Another style of cup which is used by the patients when exercising folds like a pocketbook. These cups are always destroyed at the close of the day, being consumed by the fire in the heater.

The business of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield is managed by a board of fifteen trustees, including the officers of the league. The Rev. E. V. Stevenson is the president of the league; William Dutcher is first vice-president, Dr. W. H. Murray second vice-president, F. E. DuBois, of North Plainfield, secretary, and J. P. Murray treasurer.

EASTER music, grand opera, the compositions of Grieg, Chaminade and Tschaikowsky, as well as popular songs of the day—all are at your command when you have a player-piano.

The fact that you may be absolutely ignorant of music does not debar you from playing the most intricate and inspiring pieces just as their composers have played them.

And all this unending pleasure can be yours to enjoy—in your own home—for the nominal amount of $10 per month until the instrument is paid for.

There is no better value in the world than the 88-note

Lexington Player-Piano at $495 (Club Price)

(Easy Payments, $10 a Month and Up)

You'll say so when you see it—and we want you to stop in and play it yourself. You'll not be urged to buy.

You will notice that the levers controlling the tempo and volume of sound are remarkably easy to understand and operate. You will notice how very little effort is needed for pumping—a decided relief if you've been "taking violent exercise" on other player-pianos.

The "rest-shelf" saves the wrist. The player mechanism is at once concealed, whenever you wish to do all the playing yourself.

The moderate price—$495—is due to the Hallet & Davis Piano Company's years' experience, vast manufacturing facilities and resources, and efficient selling organization—we sell direct to you.

$10 a month and up—and we take your old piano in exchange. Why not talk it over with us?

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Festivals of Song.

Public interest in the school song festivals which are to be held in Union county next month will probably become more and more aroused as the musical events approach. It is alwas safe to assume that parents and friends will be interested in that which pleases and benefits the children. But there is a special reason why interest should be taken in the Plainfield festival, which is to take place on April 28 and 29, since it is both an unusual and a notably ambitious event of the kind for this section of New Jersey. Before the Plainfield competition takes place, however, the local supervisor of music, Mr. Wilson, has planned to give the public a very definite idea of what the pupils of Elizabeth schools are doing in music. This will be accomplished, as has already been announced in the Journal, by a gathering in Westminster church, on April 15.

It is believed that these song festivals will open the eyes of not a few of our people to the value of the work in music which is being done in the public schools. The character of songs which the pupils of the schools are ot render shows the taste which is being cultivated. In fact, it is common knowledge in local school circles in Elizabeth that the children now prefer the productions of the masters to the lighter creations, which they admire more at the very outset of their training, and that they call for the works of Beethoven, Bach, Haydn and other composers of this high class when they are given a chance to choose for themselves. Not the least interesting feature of the local song festival will be the competitive sight reading tests. Pleasant surprises will be in store for the public in this connection.

As far as Elizabeth is concerned there is hardly a doubt that the musical events mentioned will be given hearty support. It is believed that the love of music is very strong in this city. Our churches encourage it; in few cities do the churches give more intelligent attention to encouraging a love for inspiring music of the highest character than in Elizabeth. Our German population has goven exceptional impetus to the love of music, spreading the appreciation of the work of the best composers among people in general who have had the pleasure of hearing the justly famous German singing societies.

Finally there is the admirable work which is being done today in our public schools. There is no better foundation than this for a thorough appreciation of the best in music.

There is no reason why Elizabethans should not become noted as a music-loving people. We have already good foundation for the upbuilding of such a reputation. With the constructive work which is being done in our schools such a thought is certainly becoming less and less of a dream, as will be clearly demonstrated to those who will take the trouble to attend Union county's song festivals next month.—Elizabeth Journal.

IRISH CROCHET BUTTONS.

Instead of pearl buttons we will use Irish crochet ones on blouses and tailored linen waists. These come in varied sizes, and one not only sees them at the front fastening and on the cuffs but also down the shoulder seams. There is a return to trimming on the shoulders, and while it is not becoming, it may be continued as a fashion.

Buttons are always ugly on the shoulder, although the new method of flat braiding in close circles to represent buttons is rather pretty.

This is a Russian idea and is gaining in popularity each week. The flatness of the braid and the skillful manner in which it is applied keep the line of the shoulder flat and graceful.

The Irish lace buttons soil very easily, but they can be quickly cleaned. A nail brush and soap and water will do wonders, so will gasoline and a sponge.

It must be admitted that these lace buttons are more effective on a smart fine blouse than any pearl button, no matter how good the quality. When a blouse of sheer batiste, with beading at seams, with slightly full sleeves and a plisse frill down the front, any addition of baby lace is effective.

The turn-over cuff should be edged with it and held in tightly to the hand by homemade link buttons of the crochet. There should be a turn-over collar of crochet and the frill should be edged with an eighth of an inch of it, and a line of buttons on the other side.

Such a blouse would be preferred by a fastidious woman to any other kind, no matter how costly, which is covered with an intricate design of embroidery, lace and tucks.

The Fichu Again.

As an outgrowth of the tendency toward the lines of Marie Antoinette and her times, the fichu is here in combination with the voluminous folds of the skirt. Voile, mousseline de soie and chiffon are used over satin foundations with the picturesque effect that costumes of the draped usually attain. A single rose of satin or tulle, or the artificial flower, is used to hold the ends of the fichu at the girdle.

PATENTED

that saves fuel and dollars and will heat the whole of a house. In every great engine and under every big boiler, you'll find a square fire box. Ever noticed it? Well—we have adapted that principle to our furnaces. A square pot gives a clean, hot, clinkerless fire without waste of fuel. It requires the least attention and responds instantly. BOYNTON furnaces only have square fire-pots. It is our patent. There are other improvements. A square ash pit that improves the draft and makes removal of ashes easier. A pure air supply—for health's sake. A dust flue that saves the rooms above.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for Steam or Hot Water. Also Ranges.

THE BOYNTON FURNACE COMPANY,
106 West 37th Street, New York.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning April 3, 1910.

The world has had many great teachers, but it is generally conceded that Jesus Christ is the greatest teacher of all times. A delegation sent by the Pharisees to arrest Him came back without Him and gave as their excuse for their failure, "Never man spake as this man." They so wondered at His teaching that they were afraid or personally disinclined to fulfill the mission upon which they had been sent. No greater testimony as to the convincing power of Christ's teaching ability can be found than this testimony of His enemies. But it is also proved by the character and source of Christ's teachings. "He taught as one having authority and not as the scribes and Pharisees." The Jews' leaders taught upon the authority of Moses and the prophets. They said, "Thus saith the law and prophets." Jesus, teaching upon his own authority, began His teachings by saying, "But I say unto you." He appealed to no one except the Father and Himself, who were one and the same.

As a teacher Christ possessed divine and therefore perfect knowledge. He also had the ability of attractively imparting His knowledge to others. Mere possession of knowledge does not make a teacher. There must also be possessed the ability to impart that knowledge to others and to inspire them with an enthusiastic desire to study the subject in hand. Some men are walking enclycopedias of knowledge, yet would fail to be good teachers because they have no power of the impartation of knowledge. In selecting teachers for our Sabbath schools those known to possess great knowledge are often chosen, yet they may be absolutely void of the first principles of teaching. On the other hand, one who possesses half the knowledge that they do may be most successful teachers because they have the instinct of holding the scholar's attention and of imparting to them as much as they know. Jesus possessed as no other human being all the qualifications of a teacher. He knew what to teach. His method of teaching by parables the great divine truths when man could not grasp them if abstractly presented has never been improved upon, and this method may well be imitated by all religious teachers. Following Christ as a teacher, be fully prepared upon the subject, teach the word of God in such a way that it will be grasped by those who are taught, and to this end use the natural as a mirror to set forth the spiritual. If these methods be followed truth will be imparted, souls will be converted and built up in their faith and made eager to "search the Scriptures" and to lead others into the truth.

What Christ taught is of vast importance. In this last part of the twelfth chapter of John the apostle sums up some of these teachings not by using his own words, but by quoting the words of Christ, used at various times. The Jews have manifested their unbelief. Jesus has withdrawn from them. The time of His death is near. In this summary of Christ's teachings Christ does not speak, but John represents Him as speaking what He had on different occasions spoken before. "And Jesus cried and said." According to John, what had He said and what does He still say to us?

First.—He teaches that faith in Him is faith in God, and seeing Him is seeing God. "He that believeth on Me believeth not on Me, but on Him that sent Me. And he that beholdeth Me beholdeth Him that sent Me." Great truths. Faith in Him is the only true saving faith in God. Seeing Him is seeing God, thus declaring that He Himself is God.

Second.—He teaches that He is the Light of the World—its spiritual light. Faith in Him is elimination of darkness.

Third.—He teaches His relation to the world. He came not to judge those who disobeyed His commandments, but to save them. But the day will come when Christ's teachings will judge us if we persist in the rejection of Christ.

Fourth.—He teaches that His commandment is from God and that obedience to it will be rewarded by eternal life.

BIBLE READINGS.

Matt. v, 38-48; vii, 1-5; vii, 24-29; Luke xi, 1-13; John i, 1-12; iii, 16-21; viii, 12, 28-30; Acts i, 1-8; Rev. i, 10.

Australia's New C. E. President.

J. B. Spencer, who recently assumed office as president of the New South Wales Christian Endeavor union, has been "a burning and shining light" in Christian Endeavor ever since its advent to New South Wales in 1891. He has been the honored state treasurer since 1893 and Australasian treasurer since 1903. Mr. Spencer is the first layman to be elected to the presidential chair in New South Wales.

Contributions to a Convention.

A Christian of India rescued from drink through the Christian Endeavor society sent a gold ring to the Agra convention to be sold for the benefit of the work. The ring was a token of the third anniversary of his deliverance. A lady sent a box of artistic articles made with her own hands as her contribution to the convention.

International C. E. Convention Badge.

The badge of the International Christian Endeavor convention, held at St. Paul, Minn., was a handsome pendant supported by a red and white ribbon suspended from an ornamental pin. The state flower of Minnesota, the moccasin flower, gophers and the capitol made up the decorations in relief.

The Man in Lower Ten

By Mary Roberts Rinehart
Author of The Circular Staircase

Illustrations by M. J. KETTNER

(Copyright, by Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

The porter went to the next berth and I could hear his softly insinuating voice. "Time to get up, sir. Are you awake? Time to get up."

There was no response from number nine. I guessed that he had opened the curtains and was looking in. Then he came back.

"Number nine's empty," he said.

"Empty! Do you mean my clothes aren't there?" I demanded. "My valise? Why don't you answer me?"

"You doan' give me time," he retorted. "There ain't nothin' there. But it's been slept in."

The disappointment was the greater for my few moments of hope. I sat up in a white fury and put on the clothes that had been left me. Then, still raging, I sat on the edge of the berth and put on the obnoxious tan shoes. The porter, called to his duties, made little excursions back to me, to offer assistance and to chuckle at my discomfiture. He stood by, outwardly decorous, but with little irritating grins of amusement around his mouth, when I finally emerged with the red tie in my hand.

"But the owner of those clothes did not become them any more than you do," he said, as he plied the ubiquitous whisk broom.

"When I get the owner of these clothes," I retorted grimly, "he will need a shroud. Where's the conductor?"

The conductor was coming, he assured me; also that there was no bag answering the description of mine on the car. I slammed my way to the dressing room, washed, choked my fifteen and a half neck into a fifteen collar, and was back again in less than five minutes. The car, as well as its occupants, was gradually taking on a daylight appearance. I hobbled in, for one of the shoes was abominably tight, and found myself facing a young woman in blue with an unforgetable face. ("Three women already," McKnight says; "That's going some, even if you don't count the Gilmore nurse.") She stood, half-turned toward me, one hand idly drooping, the other steadying her as she gazed out at the flying landscape. I had an instant impression that I had met her somewhere, under different circumstances, more cheerful ones, I thought, for the girl's dejection now was evident. Beside her, sitting down, a small dark woman, considerably older, was talking in a rapid undertone. The girl nodded indifferently now and then. I fancied, although I was not sure, that my appearance brought a startled look into the young woman's face. I sat down, and, hands thrust deep into the other man's pockets, stared ruefully at the other man's shoes.

The stage was set. In a moment the curtain was going up on the first act of the play. And for a while we would all say our little speeches and sing our little songs, and I, the villain, would hold center stage while the gallery hissed.

The porter was standing beside lower ten. He had reached in and was knocking valiantly. But his efforts met with no response. He winked at me over his shoulder; then he unfastened the curtains and bent forward. Behind him, I saw him stiffen, heard his muttered exclamation, saw the bluish pallor that spread over his face and neck. As he retreated a step the interior of lower ten lay open to the day.

The man in it was on his back, the early morning sun striking full on his upturned face. But the light did not disturb him. A small stain of red dyed the front of his night clothes and trailed across the sheet: his half-open eyes were fixed, without seeing, on the shining wood above.

I grasped the porter's shaking shoulders and stared down to where the train imparted to the body a grisly suggestion of motion. "Good Lord," I gasped, "the man's been murdered!"

CHAPTER IV.

Numbers Seven and Nine.

Afterward, when I tried to recall our discovery of the body in lower ten, I found that my most vivid impression was not that made by the revelation of the opened curtain. I had an instantaneous picture of a slender blue-gowned girl who seemed to sense my words rather than hear them, of two small hands that clutched desperately at the seat beside them. The girl in the aisle stood, bent toward us, perplexity and alarm fighting in her face.

With twitching hands the porter attempted to draw the curtains together. Then in a paralysis of shock, he collapsed on the edge of my berth and sat there swaying. In my excitement I shook him.

"For heaven's sake, keep your nerve, man," I said bruskly. "You'll have every woman in the car in hysterics. And if you do, you'll wish you could change places with the man in there." He rolled his eyes.

A man near, who had been reading last night's paper, dropped it quickly and tiptoed toward us. He peered between the partly open curtains, closed them quietly and went back, ostentatiously solemn, to his seat. The very crackle with which he opened his paper added to the bursting curosity of the car. For the passengers knew that something was amiss: I was conscious of a sudden tension.

With the curtains closed the porter was more himself; he wiped his lips with a handkerchief and stood erect.

"It's my last trip in this car," he remarked heavily. "There's something wrong with that berth. Last trip the woman in it took an overdose of some sleeping stuff, and we found her, jes' like that, dead! And it ain't more'n three months now since there was twins born in that very spot. No sir, it ain't natural."

At that moment a thin man with prominent eyes and a spare grayish goatee creaked up the aisle and paused beside me.

"Porter sick?" he inquired, taking in with a professional eye the porter's horror-struck face, my own excitement and the slightly gaping curtains of lower ten. He reached for the darky's pulse and pulled out an old-fashioned gold watch.

"Hm! Only fifty! What's the matter? Had a shock?" he asked shrewdly.

"Yes," I answered for the porter. "We've both had one. If you are a doctor, I wish you would look at the man in the berth across, lower ten.

"The Man's Been Murdered!"

I'm afraid it's too late, but I'm not experienced in such matters."

Together we opened the curtains, and the doctor, bending down, gave a comprehensive glance that took in the rolling head, the relaxed jaw, the ugly stain on the sheet. The examination needed only a moment. Death was written in the clear white of the nostrils, the colorless lips, the smoothing away of the sinister lines of the night before. With its new dignity the face was not unhandsome; the gray hair was still plentiful, the features strong and well cut.

The doctor straightened himself and turned to me. "Dead for some time," he said, running a professional finger over the stains. "These are dry and darkened, you see, and rigor mortis is well established. A friend of yours?"

"I don't know him at all," I replied. "Never saw him but once before."

"Then you don't know if he is traveling alone?"

"No, he was not—that is, I don't know anything about him," I corrected myself. It was my first blunder; the doctor glanced up at me quickly and then turned his attention again to the body. Like a flash there had come to me the vision of the woman with the bronze hair and the tragic face, whom I had surprised in the vestibule between the cars, somewhere in the small hours of the morning. I had acted on my first impulse—the masculine one of shielding a woman.

The doctor had unfastened the coat of the striped pajamas and exposed the dead man's chest. On the left side was a small punctured wound of insignificant size.

"Very neatly done," the doctor said with appreciation. "Couldn't have done it better myself. Right through the intercostal space; no time even to grunt."

"Isn't the heart around there somewhere?" I asked. The medical man turned toward me and smiled austerely.

"That's where it belongs, just under that puncture, when it isn't gadding around in a man's throat or his boots."

I had a new respect for the doctor, for any one indeed who could crack even a feeble joke under such circumstances, or who could run an impersonal finger over that wound and those stains. Odd how a healthy, normal man holds the medical profession in half contemptuous regard until he gets sick, or an emergency like this arises, and then turns meekly to the man who knows the ins and outs of his mortal tenement, takes his pills or his patronage, ties to him like a rudderless ship in a gale.

"Suicide, is it, doctor?" I asked.

He stood erect, after drawing the bed-clothing over the face, and, taking off his glasses, he wiped them slowly.

"No, it is not suicide," he announced decisively. "It is murder."

Of course, I had expected that, but the word itself brought a shiver. I was just a bit dizzy. Curious faces through the car were turned toward us, and I could hear the porter behind me breathing audibly. A stout woman in negligee came down the aisle and querulously confronted the porter. She wore a pink dressing-jacket and carried portions of her clothing.

LITERARY

"Success Magazine" for April commences with a charming story by Rupert Hughes, entitled "Tth! Tth! Tth!" The "B-Flat Trombone," is the first of a series of absorbing detective stories by Samuel Hopkins Adams. There is a delightful funny short story by Hugh Pendexter, entitled, "Going Home to Mother's", and an interesting tale of an international love affair by Mary Heaton Vorse, called "The Well-Beloved." The great serial romance, "The Shears of Destiny," by Leroy Scott, is continued in an exciting installment. Charles N. Crewdson has another tale of the road to tell under the name of "The Helping Hand."

Scribner's Magazine for April contains some beautiful color printing, the frontispiece being a reproduction of a painting by Charles A. Winter. The reproductions of Mr. Linson's pictures are also very attractive. Mr. Roosevelt's seventh article, "Hunting the Sotik," contains some very striking pictures of live game by Kermit. He succeeded in getting photographs of giraffe, a family of rhinos, several bunches of wildebeeste fighting, a wounded lioness about to charge, and a huge rhino "coming on." This article, as has been notable in all that Mr. Roosevelt has written, is filled with information about the plant life; the readers get a perfect picture of the landscape, the rich flora, the bird life and the small animal life, as well as the big-game hunting. These articles are the best and most complete picture of Africa that has been produced.

WHITE WILL NOT BE IN FIRST STYLE!

Women no longer allow themselves to be purturbed when radical changes in fashion are predicted, for experience has shown that changes are made but slowly, and the French tendency to go back to the desirable fashion is one of the strongest bars to the passing into oblivion of any.

It is a far cry from the heavy tailored coat and skirt to the clinging one-piece frocks. There are many models between them. Even the tailored frock need not be awkwardly heavy or thick in order to be warm and lasting, and the thin frock need not be transparent or fragile in order to be cool or graceful in its lines.

It is as difficult to find new fabrics as new fashions, for the so-called new gown materials are old ones, slightly altered it may sometimes be in weave or finish or weight, under new names.

So far it would appear nothing actually new in colors has been or is to be brought out for the spring gowns and those for early summer. Changes in tone are about the only thing that can now be produced, and the fancy for brilliant cerise, blue, green and purplish tones seems to be past.

These colors, while still much worn, are soft and dull in tones and will be throughout the coming spring and summer.

White will not be so much worn this summer, and the French modists are by no means featuring white frocks for any sort of wear, although they are making them to a certain extent.

The Parisian relegating of white to the background will have little effect here, for too many frocks are made this side of the sea, and the American woman has always been partial to white, as well as she may be, for in its various tones or some shades of it—for white has as many shades as most other colors—may be found becoming to any one.

It is practical, too, because easily cleaned, and it can be procured in any material, and it looks cool, a decided advantage for summer wear.

The mere fact that one looks cool is itself cooling, and the effect on the imagination of the beholder is equally good.

Those who like white frocks need not be deterred by rumors as to its not being fashionable, for it will be worn, although it is possible that not so much of it will be seen here as last year.

There are "white" summers and summers when little of it is seen, but the fashion never goes directly from one extreme to the other.

CHILDREN'S STOCKINGS.

It is amazing how many small toes and heels resent being covered, and how quickly they work their way into the outer world. A great deal of time and trouble is saved, and the lives of the stockings doubled, if the toes and heels are run with mending silk, or even with cotton, before they are worn. Silk will not shrink as mending wool does, and it is not nearly so bulky.

Washing, too, has a great deal to do with the wear of stockings. They should first of all be well shaken in order to remove any dust, and then soaked for fifteen minutes in a lather of warm water and soap to which a little ammonia has been added. Next make a fresh lather of soap and water, and squeeze the stockings in this. Rinse in two lots of warm water, dry and press with a moderately hot iron before they are quite dry. Never use soda for socks or stockings, it injures the color.

For the Woman That's Fat

A Detroit physician says that the cheapest and safest mixture a fat woman who wants to get thin can use is ½ ounce Marmola (get it in the original ½-ounce package), ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 2½ ounces Peppermint Water. The proper amount to take is a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

These ingredients may be obtained from any druggist at small cost, and make a combination that is not only excellent as a fat reducer, being able, is is claimed, to take off a pound a day without causing wrinkles, but is also a splendid help to the system as a whole, regulating the stomach and bowels (where the fat person's troubles begin), and clearing the skin of pimples and blotches. No exercise is required to help the remedy in its work and, best of all, no dieting is necessary while taking it—you can eat what you like.

PERFUME AND SCENT.

It is now an accepted fact that the dainty woman has one perfume to which she adheres. Just as firmly does she hold to the habit of sprinkling it sparingly on her possessions.

"My Lady Dainty" considers it positively vulgar to overscent her little accessories, and she is none too pleased if she is made the recipient of the much-scented article. She would far rather have the frivolous coat hanger which you have made for her devoid of sweetness than reeking with it.

Remember the Peterkin family and their salted coffee? It is difficult indeed to take out the superfluous ingredients, but so very easy and simple to put it in.

Fragranec may be tucked in through a ripped opening on a cotton wad.

Have you ever heard of baking the cotton wadding on which you have sprinkled some scent powder.

The least bit of the powder is placed between layers of wadding, which is then baked slightly in a quick oven to "secure" it. It is thus made more permanent. This is an English trick, and the little stay-at-home English girl is a good fancy worker on whose ideas to model your own.

Lavender leaves are a pleasing relief among scents. Orris is one of the delights of the dressing table. A faint suggestion of the sandalwood fragrance is nicer than the usual sachet, and many of the oriental odors are a relief, but should be used most sparingly, because they are heavy.

Coat hanger need almost no scent, althought it must be remembered that their metal frames are very wearing on coat linings, and that it is advisable to stuff and cover them, if only with soft lawn.

Bureau drawers need, as a bottom covering, a pad of delicate silk, wadded and touched with fragrance. Closet shelves are often treated in a like careful manner, but their covers should be thumbtacked to the back edge of the wooden shelf to prevent their pulling out. Either of these soft pads may be made of silk muslin or even of pretty silkaline, tufted with ribbon or with embroidery floss.

The veil case, whether of silk or wide ribbon, whether a roll or a book-shaped folder, is one of the little niceties for the careful woman, and its wadded interior can be made more useful by just a pleasant amount of fragrance. The same rule applies to the handkerchief case. And then there are the countless little cambric envelopes to be slipped within the folds of the undermuslins reposing in bureau drawers or among the blouses in the shirtwaist box. These envelopes are buttoned shut, to contain without mishap the powder, which is first wrapped in white tissue paper.

Larger scent pillows are made for the linen closet, and here, too, an added precaution is necessary. The slightest possible scent is a delight when it goes out from the fresh linen sheet and pillow case, or when it is shaken out from the folds of a fair linen towel, but an excess of it is odiuos.

There are housekeepers who much prefer an odor suggestive of the cedar chest for blankets and linens, and this is gotiby the use of bags filled with cedar shavings.

The question of scent is a large one, and could well be touched on occasionally with the approval of the popular woman, whose friends are legion. She it is who suffers most from an excess of sweetness.

COAT FASTENINGS.

A bewildering number of changes will be rung upon the way in which the new short coat is fastened. It is not surprising that the new favorite will be treated to innovations that will differentiate it from the long coats of the winter.

In some cases there is a double-breasted effect, the revers extremely long and the buttons few in number. Then again, a plastron is added. Another highly favored fastening is the invisible one, giving the impression of a poured in and moulded to the figure style.

Points are also used, crossing and lapping at the side under braid and ornaments.

The buttons are gorgeous, depending upon enamel, jewels and brilliant color effects for their beauty.

FOR HOSPITAL'S BENEFIT

Talented Men and Women to Present "Trelawney of the Wells" in May.

THE CAST A NOTABLE ONE.

Mrs. L. W. Serrell, Miss Louise Saunders, W. R. Cock, W. N. Runyon and W. L. Saunders and Others.

Two capacity houses of society folk are expected at the Plainfield theatre early in May when talented fashionable men and women will present Mr. Alfred Pinero's "Trelawney of the Wells" for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital. At the earnest solicitation of the women's auxiliary of the institution, Mr. William L. Saunders, one of the board of governors, a former mayor and the president of the biggest drill manufacturing company in the world, consented to provide an entertainment that would reap a rich financial harvest for the institution.

Deeply interested in the hospital, which is voluntarily supported by the people in all stations of life, Mayor Saunders gathered together a cast of amateur thespians who had displayed their ability before the footlights before local audiences of the smart set on many notable occasions. After much discussion Mr. Pinero's celebrated play was decided upon. It was decided to give the performance on two succesive nights. Probably there will be matinee performances as well for already it appears that the house will have the "S. R. O." sign out both nights.

Many of the members of the cast as selected are members of the exclusive Park Comedy Club while others are equally well known for their histrionic cleverness. Among them is the veteran, Colonel William R. Cock, a warden of Grace Episcopal church and a governor of the hospital, who has delighted his audiences on many occasions. The colonel has been giving his time for the last quarter of a century in theatrical productions for the cause of local charity and despite the fact that he is somewhat the senior in age of his colleagues in the cast he is considered more than their peer in the art.

Another notable member of the cast is Mrs. Lemuel W. Serrell. It is expected that this talented and charming woman will share the honor with Colonel Cock from the standpoint of curtain calls for that has been the invariable rule in the past when the two have appeared together in plays given for noble undertakings. During the last sojourn abroad Mrs. Serrell passed the examination for the Comedie Francaise, but of course took no part in performances, though the honor is a high one. Judge William N. Runyon, a Scroll and Keys man of Yale, who is known as the local DeWolf Hopper and who has probably conducted more burlesque and minstrel shows than any other amateur producer in New Jersey, will take an important part in the show. In tragedy and in comedy, the judge, the most popular man in Union county, is alike at ease. Many flattering offers from New York managers who have heard of his ability have been refused by this brilliant young lawyer and politician who devotes his life to the cause of humanity. Of his calibre is Mr. Charles H. Lyman, another member. He reminds one of "Tom" Wise and it always falls to him to cause sixty laughs in sixty seconds.

Miss Louise Saunders, who inherits her histrionic talent from her saintly and gifted mother, will take a leading role. Mrs. Saunders was a great favorite among the society folk and she distinguished herself on various occasions in classical plays given for "sweet charity." Her daughter has written several plays that have been published both here and abroad by French and other prominent publishers. The Park Comedy Club is also represented by Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Laurens H. Van Buren, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. McGee, Mrs. Henry C. White and Messrs. T. W. Pelletier, Hugh S. Jarvis and Miss Louise Curtis, all of whom have done some clever work. Mr. Berney Pettingrue is also a member of the cast.

Here is the entire cast:

Tom Wrench, Judge William N. Runyon; Ferdinand Gadd, A. M. Abbott; James Telfer, William L. Saunders; Augustus Colpoys, Laurens H. Van Buren; Rose Trelawney, Miss Louise Saunders; Avonia Bunn, Mrs. A. M. Abbott; Mrs. Telfer, Mrs. Henry C. White; Imogen Parrott, Mrs. Lemuel W. Serrell; O'Duyer, T. W. Pelletier; Vice-Chancellor, Sir William Gower, Kt., Charles H. Lyman; Arthur Gower, Berney Pettigrue; Clara De Foenix, Miss Louise Curtis; Miss Trafalgar Gower, Mrs. Harry L. McGee; Captain De Foenix, Harry L. McGee; Mrs. Mossop, Mrs. Laurens H. Van Buren; Mr. Abbett,

CITY MARKET CROWDED AT ITS FORMAL OPENING

The City Market was a lively place this morning when the formal opening took place. Hundreds of people took advantage of the opportunity to inspect the new enterprise and enjoy the music provided by the management.

Suhr's orchestra played from 3 until 6 o'clock this afternoon while visitors from the city and surrounding towns inspected the offerings of the marketmen.

The new tea room under the management of W. C. Dunham, was added to the attractions of the place. The stalls are all occupied or spoken for and business has started with a rush.

RECEPTION AT HOME OF MRS. R. H. M'CREADY

A reception was given this afternoon by Mrs. Lewis J. Geary, Mrs. Robert H. McCready and Miss Frances W. Cahoone at the home of Mrs. McCready. Miss Elsie Miller, of Sparkill, N. Y., assisted in receiving. Mrs. John Eckert, of Brooklyn, and Mrs. George A. Warner, of North Plainfield, presided in the dining room. Those assisting were the Misses Betty Pettit, Alice Pettit, Helen Stall, Sarah Phillips, Janet Vivash and Ida Shields, from out of town, and the Misses Eudora Sullivant, Catherine Knox, Florence Cahonne, Katherine Curtis, Leslie Curtis and Olive Koons, of Plainfield.

The dining room was decorated with pink roses and smilax, green and white being used throughout the rest of the house. The music was furnished by Charles M. Suhr. After the reception Miss Frances W. Cahoone entertained the assisting party with an informal supper and dance.

JACOB O. FIELD DIES IN FIFTY-NINTH YEAR

Jacob O. Field, aged fifty-eight years, a well-known resident of this city for thirty-one years, died last night at his apartments in the New Madison, following a five weeks' illness, of nueralgia of the heart. Mr. Field was a native of Brooklyn and at the age of seven years, with his parents removed to Bound Brook. At the latter place he attended the public schools and later entered Princeton University from which institution he was graduated.

Mr. Field then took a position with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, in the civil engineering department, which he held for three years. His work at that time was chiefly in and near Everett, Pa., and while at that place he met and married Miss Mary Elizabeth Snell. Soon afterward he removed to Plainfield, where he continued to reside to the time of his death.

After coming to this city Mr. Field, who was an expert at figures, took a position as bookkeeper with the New York banking firm of Henry Clews & Co., and he continued in the employ of that concern for thirty years, being still active up to five weeks ago when he was taken ill.

Mr. Field was a brother to Dr. Chauncey M. Field, who for many years was Plainfield's leading physician and surgeon, and whose brilliant work was known throughout the State. He performed many wonderful cures and people came from all parts of New Jersey to be treated by Dr. Field.

Mr. Field is survived by a wife, a daughter, Miss Florence M. Field, a son, Richard C. Field; also two brothers, who reside in the south.

The funeral services will be held from the late home in the New Madison, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The burial will be in Bound Brook.

Firemen as Preachers.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, will preach tomorrow evening on the subject, "Sermons the Firemen Preach," illustrated with incidents of the two serious fires of the past week. In the morning the theme will be "Great Things Rooted in the Insignificant."

Approaching Wedding.

Invitations have been issued by Mrs. M. Louise VanWinkle, of Martinsville, to the marriage of her daughter, Miss Doris K. VanWinkle, to Fred C. Bartle, also of Martinsville. The ceremony will be performed Thursday, April 21, at 12 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother.

CAPTAIN R. P. HOBSON AT NEWARK CONFERENCE

Rev. Dr. E. S. Lewis, editor of The Classmate, was the principal speaker in the Central M. E. church, Newark, last night, when the Board of Sunday-school of the Newark Conference convened. At the same time, Rev. Don S. Colt, of Brooklyn, told of what is being accomplished by the Epworth League, in the Halsey Street M. E. church. Both subjects were fully covered and proved encouraging to the large number present.

Captain Richmond P. Hobson, the hero of Santiago, delivered an address in the interest of the Anti-Saloon League before members of the Laymen's Association of the conference at the afternoon session in the First Presbyterian church. He cautioned his hearers that America, like all of the big empires of the past ages, must and will fall if the liquor traffic rules its destinies.

If all the churches will co-operate with one another in fighting the evil more will be accomplished, the speaker said, than has been done for centuries past. Scientific investigation of the question, the Captain said, has shown that there are 87 per cent. of the people of this country and 96 per cent. of the people of other lands who use alcoholic beverages in one form or another and believed it to be beneficial.

Instead of being a benefit, the speaker classed it as a poison which contains no food values. He pictured homes in which the parents are total abstainers.

The main part of the session was consumed in the presentation of papers and reports from the various districts treating all phases of the work. Among the officers elected by the Laymen's Association were Samuel Bingeman, of this city, as a superintendent for the Elizabeth district, and James R. Joy, of the borough, as chairman of the executive committee. Morris S. Daniels, of Roseville, was elected president.

During the morning session considerable time was taken up in a discussion of the question as to the salaries ministers should receive. C. M. Van Aiken, who broached the subject, said that there was no excuse for the ministers being poorly paid and called upon the laymen to remedy the trouble.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, this city, was elected a trustee for three years and Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, of Sandford avenue, was chosen trustee for one year.

The conference will not transact much business today but tomorrow there will be a number of services held throughout the city of Newark, and the business will be resumed again Monday morning.

Three Permits Granted.

Building Inspector Doane today granted three permits, as follows: L. C. Van Nest, to erect a concrete extension to factory at 218-220 East Fourth street; Emma R. Naylor, to erect a barn at 120 Plainfield avenue; Samuel Sabocher, to erect an addition to house on Rahway road.

Executor Files Account.

Walter G. Runyon, of Dunellen, executor of the will of the late A. R. Bush, of that place, filed his accounts in the Middlesex County Court yesterday. It shows charges of $2,555.62 and credits of $660.10, leaving a balance for distribution of $1,895.52.

Piscataway War Veteran Dead.

Benjamin Dudling, aged 73 years, a veteran of the Civil War, died at his home near Piscataway yesterday morning. He had been ill for some time. He is survived by a wife. Mr. Dudling was a member of the New Brunswick G. A. R.

Timely Subject for Sermon.

Rev. Ernest O. Brown, pastor of the Dunellen Presbyterian church will preach a sermon tomorrow night on "Choosing a Husband." The sermon is especially for the young women, but the young men folks are urged to attend.

No W. C. T. U. Meeting.

There will be no meeting at the W. C. T. U. tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, the members having accepted an invitation to attend the Salvation Army service in the First Baptist church at that hour.

Firemen Called Out Again.

A fence and brush fire at 916 Putnam avenue brought the firemen out this morning. Five extinguishers and a line of hose were put in commission. The damage was about $25.

A Young Fire Fighter.

Martin Connaughton, of fire headquarters, is receiving congratulations today over the arrival of a young son who made his advent yesterday.

PARK SCHEME HELD UP

Park Associates Refuse to Sign Agreement as Submitted by the Borough.

STREETS TO BE IMPROVED.

Three Building Permits Are Granted —Other Miscellaneous Business—President Woolston in the Chair.

North Plainfield's hope for a borough park received a rude jar last night when Councilman George T. Rogers informed the Council that the Park associates had refused to sign the agreement as presented to them by the Park Commission. The cause leading to the refusal of the development company to sign the document is because the provisios regarding the restriction of property, a demand by the Park Commission, and the property owners who had agreed to donate abutting property along Greenbrook for the purpose was unsatisfactory.

Mr. Rogers said that the document was drawn up by S. St. John McCutchen following a joint meeting of the Park Associates, the commission and interested property owners last Friday night. At that session the Park Associates it is said, presented a memoranda of their intentions and understanding, which was referred to Mr. McCutchen. Mr. McCutchen, in drawing up an agreement for the borough, changed the phraseology slightly, and when the revised agreement was forwarded to the Park Associates, the document was returned unsigned.

The matter is now at a standstill and is not likely to be revived unless the Park Associates take the initiative.

The street committee on the recommendation of Councilman Waldron was authorized to improve Willow avenue, Mercer avenue, Rockview avenue, Greenbrook road, Brook avenue, Chatham street and a portion of De Lacy avenue. The committee was also empowered to purchase oil to use on the streets this summer.

Three building permits were granted: John H. Kitchen to erect a dwelling on Regent street; Dr. J. H. Cooley, to erect an auto garage on Somerset street, and A. N. Stine to erect a hencoop on Grandview avenue.

Recorder Dolliver's report for March registered 29 arrests and $29 collected in fines. Councilman Stahl reported the expenditures of the fire committee were $234.07. Bills amounting to $3,562.24 were ordered paid.

President L. B. Woolston presided in the absence of Mayor N. B. Smalley. Council adjourned to meet again on Friday, April 15.

WARNED FOR SHOOTING WITHIN CITY'S LIMITS

Because they were impertinent to George A. Moorehouse and likewise because they had fractured a city ordinance in shooting an air rifle within the city limits, John Uhler, seventeen, of Denmark road, and Louis Strong, of Belvidere avenue, were lectured this morning by City Judge William N. Runyon and given some fatherly advice about what respect is and what it means to be called before a magistrate in a court.

Judge Runyon explained to the two youths the value of character and what an asset it is later on in life and explained that the attitude assumed by them toward Mr. Moorehouse, who was doing his duty as a citizen when he warned them against shooting within the city limits, was not strictly gentlemanly and advised the boys to be more careful in future.

Cantor's Second Hearing.

The second hearing in the bankruptcy proceedings of A. B. Contor before Referee Atwood L. De Costa, was held in Newark yesterday in the Supreme Court chambers. Cantor was put on the stand for two hours and questioned as to his assets. The case was continued until Tuesday, April 19. Judge William Newcorn is counsel for Cantor, while Martin B. Stutsman is looking after the interests of the creditors.

Wedding on April 16.

The wedding of Miss Natalie Bradley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Norton, of Fanwood, to Charles Frederick Norton was announced in this place as taking place tonight. The happy event is to occur on Saturday, April 16.

Schools Reopen on Monday.

All of the city and borough schools will reopen on Monday morning following the annual Easter vacation.

NATIONAL STAFF BAND IS VISITING PLAINFIELD

The National Staff Band of the Salvation Army, accompanied by Col. W. A. McIntyre, Brigadier A. E. Kimball and Major Frank Lyon, arrived this afternoon from New York. They are to conduct a series of special meetings in the churches today and tomorrow. The first meeting was held in the Seventh-Day Baptist church this afternoon at 4 o'clock. There were vocal and instrumental selections by the band and Colonel McIntyre delivered the address.

This evening a concert will be given at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium at 8 o'clock, some of the special features of the concert will be a cornet solo by Captain John Allan, euphonium solo by Captain Darby, also a vocal solo in Swedish by Staff Captain Berg and a bass solo by Captain Fowler.

Tomorrow morning at 10:30 the service will be held at Trinity Reformed church. Colonel McIntyre will preach and there will be special music by the band and band choir.

At 4 o'clock there will be a rally held at the First Baptist church, when several of the local pastors and representatives of different Christian organizations will be present. Col. McIntyre will preside and will be assisted by Brigadier Kimball, Major Lyon, Captain Hewitt, Adjutant and Mrs. Jackson. The band will render some of its choicest music, both vocal and instrumental. In the evening Major Lyon will conduct a special service at the Army hall, East Second street, but the band and colonel will be at the Presbyterian church at Westfield.

The band is composed of twenty-two musicians, all devout Christian men, who give their extra time and weeks ends at the national headquarters, New York, and at surrounding towns playing without any extra compensation.

Carting Under Peddler's Licence.

Hyman Semer, of 902 West Third street, a peddler, who, it is alleged, has been doing carting under his peddler's license, was arraigned this morning before City Judge Runyon and the case was postponed until Monday to allow Semer to bring witnesses to the effect that he was doing the carting work free for his uncle, Jacob Steinberg, of Plainfield avenue.

Letson Will Account filed.

In the Middlesex County Court yesterday the account of Peter R. Letson, administrator of the estate of Robert S. Letson, of Stelton, was approved. The account charges the estate with $50,091.10 and shows payments of $38,314.16. Commissions of 5 per cent. were allowed by the court, with a $100 counsel fee for the attorney, Charles H. Runyon.

Grace Organ Recital.

The twenty-seventh of the series of Sunday afternoon organ recitals will be given at Grace P. E. church tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock by S. Frederick Smith, the organist and choirmaster. LITTLE GIRL, TERRIBLY BURNED, MAY RECOVER

Minnie Seidler, the two-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seidler, of 36 Clinton avenue, was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital in the ambulance this morning suffering from a severe scalding.

The little girl was playing about a pail of boiling water in the kitchen of the parents' home, when the pail was accidentally upset, supposedly by the child, and scalded the little one about the lower part of the body, the hands and arms. Dr. W. C. Boone was summoned and after giving temporary treatment, called the ambulance and had the child taken to the hospital. The chances for recovery are fairly good.

PUT ON PROBATION FOR FIGHTING; USED BRICK

A boyish scrap which ended in a broken head for one of the participants came up before City Judge Runyon this morning for a hearing with the result that Allen Grant, Walter Franklyn and Melvin Franklyn, all colored boys averaging 11 years old, were put under the care of Probation Officer Hamilton. Frank Winston was the complainant. He is also a colored boy about 11 years old.

On Thursday afternoon the two Franklyn boys and Grant got into a general fight and during the fracas Melvin Franklyn, it was alleged, struck the Winston boy twice on the head with a piece of brick. The wounds bled freely and stained the boy's clothing which was exhibit A shown by Counselor J. Henry Crane, who appeared for the Winston boy and his mother. The clothing looked as though a great slaughter had been done. All the boys live on South Second street.

BAPTIST MINISTERS CONFER HERE MONDAY

The Ministers' Conference of the East New Jersey Baptist Association will be held at the First Baptist church, Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when officers will be elected for the coming year. This conference which comprises all the Baptist ministers in the East association, is held at stated times during the year and this will be the first time that it has convened in this city. Besides the election, a paper will be presented by one of the members and luncheon will be served at noon by the women of the church.

Rev. S. J. Skevington, of the Clinton Avenue church, Newark, is president, and Rev. W. T. Dorward, formerly of Stelton, the vice-president, while Rev. J. W. Musson, of the Temple Baptist church, is secretary. In the absence of Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the entertaining church, who will be in the south, Mr. Musson will take his place. The removal of Mr. Dorward to Milwaukee, necessitates the election of a new vice-president.

Dutch Market a Success.

The Dutch Market, which was conducted by the Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church Thursday and last nights, was very successful from every standpoint. $100 was realized for the treasury of the band. The attendance last night was nearly equal to that of Thursday night apparently everybody had an enjoyable time. The members are to be congratulated upon their work.

Fanwood Township Meeting.

At the meeting of the Fanwood Township Committee held last night the matter of the Glazer rendering establishment came up for consideration and was postponed for a final hearing until next Friday night. The matter of permitting the telephone company to erect poles anywhere within the township's limits was also deferred until a joint hearing on the same night.

Horse Slipped and Fell.

A horse attached to a delivery wagon belonging to Dayton and Nischwitz slipped and fell while turning into Park avenue from East Second street this morning. Through the assistance of Patrolman William Messler the animal arose and the driver was enabled to continue on its journey. The animal sustained no injuries.

Found Doors Open.

Patrolman Richard Birmingham found the doors of the City Market open at a late hour last night and notified Clarence Murphy, who afterwards secured the doors.

RUNAWAYS DISAPPOINTED

THE BRIDE IS A BEAUTY.

Took 10:59 Train for New York and They Are Probably Married Now.

Disappointed in their attempt to be married this morning John Trevena, twenty-eight, of Nesquehoning, Pa., and Miss Rose Adams, twenty-four, of East Mauch Chunk, boarded the 10:59 train for New York city this morning and by this time ought to be held hard and fast in Hymen's bonds. The couple arrived in town on an early train this morning and applied at police headquarters for information as to the best way to go about being married. Chief Kiely advised them to await the conclusion of the morning session of court and Judge Runyon would advise them.

Judge Runyon upon learning of the wishes of the couple asked the usual questions and reluctantly told them that the law requires a residence of five days in the State before the ceremony could be legally performed. This rather staggered the would be groom for he certainly was anxious to enter the ranks of the benedicks, but Miss Adams was not a bit feazed. "We can find another place where they will marry us," she said and forthwith took a walk out Park avenue way evidently with the intention of steering her lover on the right track, but she had to give it up finally and both became discouraged.

A good Samaritan learning of the predicament of the elopers told them that within an hour they could obtain a license in New York and probably have the ceremony promptly performed and the way they hustled for a train to the metropolis was a caution.

Miss Adams is a blonde of the kind that one is bound to look at twice and even oftener. She has a pink and white complexion, dainty features and would be called beautiful by even her own sex. The young woman was attired in a traveling suit of cream colored cheviot and wore diamond ornaments. The groom wore a business suit and while not particularly natty in his appearance appeared to be a man of sense and determination.

Mr. Trevena before getting on the train declared that he thought Jersey was a pretty poor specimen of a State if it threw such obstacles and temptations in the way of honest people who really wanted to get married. As the train pulled out he shouted: "I'll give Jersey a wide berth in the future, and won't let any of my friends come here when they want to elope." The bride to be was smiling as she tried to pull Trevena into the open door of the coach.

Recommended by Miss Hellwig.

Mrs. C. V. Jourdan and Miss Agnes McCaskill, the latter a personal friend of Miss Clara Hellwig, who is well known to Plainfielders, have arranged to take small select parties to the performances of the Passion Play in 1910 at Oberammergau. Arrangements have also been made for those visitors who desire to do so, to visit the romantic castles of King Ludwig II. of Bavaria. Miss Hellwig, who formerly resided on East Fifth street, recommends Miss McCaskill to those planning the trip. The rooms engaged are in the house of Anton Lang-the "Christus" of 1900-1910.

Editor Jewish Paper to Speak.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association has planned an attractive entertainment to be held in the hall on Grove street tomorrow night. A sketch will be presented by members of the New York Y. M. H. The house of T. T. Honeyman, on Mercer street, has been sold to Charles Conover.

Miss Hamill, of Blawenburg, is entertaining her sisters, of Bala, Pa.

RARITAN.

The old Fleischmann distillery at East Millstone, which has been idle for a number of years, has been sold to Abram Marcus, of New Brunswick. The property is a valuable one, it having cost its former owners nearly $200,000. The price paid, or the uses to which it will be put, have not yet been made public, but manufacturing plans will soon be in operation.

Thomas Hickey has returned to Lehigh University, after spending his Easter vacation with his mother, Mrs. Hickey, in Raritan.

The bans for the marriage of Miss Catherine McQuirk and John J. Dorgan were read in St. Bernard's church on Sunday.

Mrs. Parsels, of the W. C. T. U., will deliver an address in the chapel of the Third Reformed church on Monday evening.

Roy Anderson, of New York, has been a guest this week of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Smith.

Dr. Seaman has moved to the Richards property on Doughty street.

Miss Alma Smith has returned from Easton, where she spent Easter.

Mrs. Augustus Tillman is in Somerset Hospital, undergoing treatment.

Miss Lizzie Cary has removed to Dover, where she is employed.

WESTFIELD.

A grass fire nearly destroyed the bridge over the railroad at Hetfield avenue Thursday. The section gang managed to get the fire out before the bridge was damaged to any extent.

Funeral services of Anton Schneiper were held Thursday at his late home on Mountain avenue. Rev. W. I. Steans, of the Presbyterian church conducted the services.

Postmaster L. M. Whitaker returned from the South Thursday. Mr. Whitaker has improved and will take up his work at the postoffice again next week.

The election of the alumni association of the High School has been postponed until later in the season, on account of the absence of many members.

Westfield Woman's Club has arranged for a series of ten lectures to be given next fall, the first of the series to be given in October.

Bruguier's FRENCH ANTISEPTIC TOOTH POWDER

PRONOUNCED "BROOGEERS"

Here's a powder that will make your teeth like pearls.
It is pure, contains no grit, no acid, no enamel destroying elements.
It has a delicate, lingering Wintergreen flavor that has never been made so cool, so pleasant, so distinctive as this French chemist knows how to make it.
Removes the unpleasant "before breakfast" taste and destroys the germs without injuring the delicate, tooth enamel.

POLICE REORGANIZED BY JERSEY CITY BOARD.

Jersey City, April 2.—The Jersey City Police Board met Wednesday night and decided to divide the city into two police districts, the first to take in the First, Fourth, Fifth and Seventh precincts, in command of Inspector Philip Leonard, and the second to include the Second, Third and Sixth precincts, in charge of Acting Inspector John Kelly. Chief Monohan is prevented from transacting any police business in the inspectors' districts unless he receives notice of such matters from the inspectors. James F. Larkin, captain of the detectives, was made inspector of detectives. The change is complete and takes effect at once.

All derelictions in the various precincts are to be reported to the chief of police, and a copy of the report shall be filed with the commission. The various captains will be held accountable to the inspectors. Two of the changes adopted read as follows:

"The inspectors shall have absolute jurisdiction over the precincts in their districts and shall keep complete police records.

"No business shall be transacted by the chief of police in the police districts unless the same goes through the office of the district inspectors."

The last regulation is taken as another slap at Chief Monahan, who is not in favor with the present commission. He has frequently been asked to resign, but he is protected by the police tenure of office act and refuses to get out.

Chief Monahan sent an order Wednesday to the seven Jersey City police captains, giving notice that any policeman detected entering a saloon in uniform will be suspended and tried before the Police Board. Roundsmen delinquent in reporting such cases will be treated the same way.

President Job Lippincott, of the Police Board, has information that policemen are frequenting saloons when on duty.

THREE HORSES BURNED IN BERNARDSVILLE FIRE.

Bernardsville, April 2.—Three horses belonging to the Standard Oil Company were burned in a fire which early Thursday morning destroyed the company's barn and an adjoining barn belonging to Austin Wright. For a time a number of other buildings near by were threatened, but the firemen managed to keep the flames from spreading further.

A call for help was sent to Basking Ridge but by the time the Basking Ridge volunteers arrived the fire was under control. The cause of the fire is unknown.

TO WAR ON THE FLY.

State-wide Campaign Is to Open in Cranford.

Cranford, April 2.—War on the house and stable fly is to be begun by the Village Improvement Association of this place, at a meeting to be held in the Presbyterian chapel, Thursday, April 14.

It is hoped to make the war State-wide. The meeting will be addressed by prominent speakers, and there will be stereopticon illustrations.

Business Women
Depend on Telephone Service

EVERY good dressmaker, milliner, hair-dresser, nurse, is a telephone subscriber, otherwise she is inconveniencing many of her best patrons.

This is the telephone age.

Those who cater to the business of ladies should bear this in mind, i. e., that ladies are shopping and arranging their business affairs by telephone just as men are.

A business establishment of any distinction without a telephone loses valuable trade.

NEWS AND NOTES
BY GEORGE E. FIRSTBROOK

SECRETARY PARKER ON "FOXEY" MR. GRIFFITH

Herbert E. Parker, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., is a baseball enthusiast of the "Cleveland, Ohio," type. Mr. Parker permits himself to be lured into fanning bees occasionally and most of his reminiscences extend back to the time when he was stationed at Cleveland. In those days Mr. Parker was a "regular" and seldom missed a game when the Naps were performing at home.

It was in one of those games that Mr. Parker saw Clark Griffith perform in the box for the Chicago White Sox against Cleveland. "That fellow Griffith," said Mr. Parker, "I believe was the foxiest pitcher who ever shot a curve across the plate. Chicago was in a tight hole when his stategy saved the game for the White Sox one day. Cleveland had the bases occupied, and Gochnauer, the Naps' heavy hitting shortstop, was up at the bat. 'Goch' was due for a hit, but Griffith unnerved him by his delaying antics. Grif would rub the ball, then turn around to second base. These delays would be interpersed by spitting on the ball, rubbering over at the runner on first base; pulling down his cap, shrugging of the shoulders, and a thousand other different things. By the time the ball was released on its journey to the plate, Gochnauer had lost his nerve and the result was that Grif fanned him, and saved the day for Chicago."

"Yes, siree," emphasized Mr. Parker, "I believe Foxey Grif was the master of all players when strategy was needed to win a game."

Amateur baseball managers are invited to send their challenges, results of games, and news concerning their clubs during the ball season to The Daily Press. Score cards will be furnished to club managers, free of charge, on application to the Sporting Editor. To insure publication of games on day after being played all scores must be delivered at office not later than 8:30 a. m.

GOLF.

According to James Donaldson, the recently arrived golf professional, who succeeds Lawrence Auchterlonie at Glen View, George Duncan has by no means given up the idea of visiting this country. It will be remembered that the redoubtable Duncan came within an ace of making a tour of America last summer, and those who were interested with him in the project had gone so far as to arrange a number of exhibition matches.

With the posible exception of James Braid, it is doubtful if there is any "pro" who would be more welcome over here than the brilliant Duncan. Because of exceptional work against the leaders in the golf world this Scot has forced himself into the public eye, and he possesses a style that will always command attention from the gallery. While Duncan has covered himself with glory on many occasions, perhaps his winning of the big tournament at North Berwick last year marks his best performance. Here is the way a foreign critic describes the golfer in question:

George Duncan is a spare, meagre Scot. He is nearly as mournful as Braid. He is as melancholy as a Scotch mist. He would make an ideal mute. His face is a dead white, and its features are a set of razors set at angles to each other. He has what Mr. Meredith would call an adventurous nose, and his thin lips are shut viperously tight. I suppose he has nerves, but I do not know where he keeps them. Tarquin did not cut off the heads of the tall poppies with a more negligent air than Duncan's. His carelessness is almost impudent. He lounges up to the ball, glances idly down the course, and swish! it is gone. He scorns the ritual of addressing and waggling. He flicks the ball as if it were a fly to be brushed off his cheek. His airy recklessness terrifies you. It is a kind of profanity, a sort of blasphemy against the gods of golf.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church will hold its monthly consecration service tomorrow night at 6:45, the topic being, "Christ Our Teacher." The leader will be chosen later. The society will hold a business meeting Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss will have charge of the communion service at the First Baptist church, tomorrow morning, when a large number of new members will receive the right-hand-of-fellowship. In the evening the choir will repeat the entire Easter program, and Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, of Scotch Plains, will make a short address.

NEW JERSEY ELKS TO ORGANIZE A LEAGUE

New Jersey Elks are going to have a State baseball league if the ideas of Marcus Hoyt materialize. Mr. Hoyt announced yesterday that he is making efforts to organize a circuit to consist of Plainfield, Somerville, Bound Brook, New Brunswick, Easton, Bayonne, Elizabeth, Jersey City and Newark. Mr. Hoyt yesterday forwarded communications to secretaries of all of the lodges in the above named cities and the organization ball will be started rolling soon as possible.

Up to date it is understood that Jersey City, New Brunswick, Somerville and Easton are willing to join, while local Elks are enthusiastic over the project. Mr. Hoyt has Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur slated for manager; Tom Hanna, assistant manager, and David J. Carney as treasurer and transportation agent.

The matter of putting a nine on the field and the organization of the proposed league will be considered at next week's meeting of the local lodge. About twenty names of players have been enrolled by Mr. Hoyt for tryouts. Here are some of the candidates and the positions they are striving for:

Pitchers—Jasper Cadmus, Marcus Hoyt and George Dupee.

Catchers — Walter McNaughton and Charles Woolston.

First base—Harry Blimm and John Cose.

Second base—"Panty" Bennett.

Third base—John Todd.

Shortstop—Jack Nicol.

Outfielders—Van Arsdale, Nischwitz, L. Marshall and G. Stevens.

PLAINFIELD GIRLS SHOW TRENTONIANS THE WAY

Can Plainfield girls play basketball? Well I guess. Just look at the score. Plainfield Y. W. C. A. 20, Trenton Y. W. C. A. 4. Now are there any doubting Thomases in our midst?

Nearly 200 enthusiasts, including a delegation of sixteen young women from the Capital City witnessed the contest at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night. It was almost as good as a ball game—but alas one thing was lacking, and that was—scrapping with the umpires.

In this respect the battle went off without a ruffle. After the game volleys of praise were scattered about Charles Line, assistant physical director of the Y. M. C. A., and Miss Cuyler, of Trenton, for their impartial work. Both officials played an errorless game.

It was Mr. Lines' first experience as arbiter in a young women's basketball contest. In justice to him it must be said that he stuck to his post with the courage of a Tim Hurst—without a tremor of fear—or the least sign of bashfulness either. In addition to being a target for all the verbal bouquets hurled at him by the gentle sex Mr. Lines also came in for repeated cheers from the brigade of men folk in the gallery. His decisions suited everybody and not a kick was registered.

Plainfield had a rosy path all the way and Trenton was frozen out with little trouble. The score was 12 to 2 at the end of the first half and the locals continued their splendid work in the final session.

Superior teamwork counted in Plainfield's favor. Ida Engelhardy and Helen Southard brought forth much applause by their artistic goal shooting while Ethel Jacoby was the star for the visitors. This young woman made Trenton's solitary pair of goals, and they were Jim-Dandy shots at that.

After the battle was over the visitors were entertained at a supper in the rooms of the local association. Everybody had a bully good time and long before the feasting was completed it was evident that the sting of defeat was forgotten by the visiting athletes. Among the visitors were Mrs. Cook, president of the Trenton association.

The entertainment of the visiting team was carried out under the supervision of the physical committee which consisted of Mrs. William Taliaferro, Mrs. Harry Runyon, Mrs. Dr. Karns, Mrs. Currie and Miss Minnie Line. The athletes arrayed themselves in battle array as follows:

Plainfield.	Trenton.
Reba Kline	Mildred Anderson
Edna Schnedeker	Bessie Condict
Ida Englehardt	Ethel Jacoby
Helen Southard	Lelia Slack
Lona Becker	Elizabeth Culp

Officials—C. H. Line, referee; Miss Cuyler, umpire.

Plain Field Notes and Queeries

By Druid

Colonel Roosevelt, of Africa and America, has startled Europe by his robustious harangue to the people of Egypt, bidding them drop their Declaration of Independence and thank God for the blessing of British rule. Something to the same effect was his advice to the stalwart Boers while they were struggling to free themselves from the descendant of the King George Washington wailoped. At least he did not volunteer to help his brother republicans in Africa as he did to aid the rebels in Cuba. Perhaps he is going to return and lead a volunteer rough rider squad to save the British from Egyptian repetitions of the Boer victories. While preaching on the art and science of governing men and slaughtering beasts he may announce his views on the line he proposes to take in heading a brigade for repressing wholesale and retail crimes of violence in his own native land. And foreshadow his statesman policy when he comes to uproot corruption in places high and low. An object lesson gives solidity to platitudes.

What a shock awaits His Excellency when he comes home to find that baseball is now classed among the brutalities. One friend got a smashed nose and damaged eye when peacefully watching a game, and another got a whack on the skull that sent him silly—possibly for life. Now that so semi-sacred a personage as a Captain of the Yale team has the honor of having been lamed with a broken ankle, and a precious catcher of the same team is glorified by a fractured hand, we shall hear more about the little perils of the noble game. "It seems worse than a gladiatorial contest when a lot of men are exposed to the continual flight of a cannon ball, to the cheers of a mob." There will be a rousing howl when this feeble cry for reform reaches the "bleachers." What do the thousands of spectators pay for but just a gladiatorial fight? The era of games and sports is past. We retain the names though the spirit has departed. They used to be played for honor, now it is for dollars; it used to be play, now it is battle. We play less, and pay to see play more than ever. When we scorn to do our own field sports, athletics indoors, and home games unless "there's money in it," good bye to manlike recreation.

A new preacher has come to town. Welcome news if he is made of the stuff on which parson M. A. Matthews of Seattle does his vigorous work. They say, up in that far corner of this big land, that he has built up the largest congregation of any Presbyterian "in the world," and has the second largest membership of any denomination "in Christendom," which appears up there to be either greater or less than the world. Bigness is not everything, anyway. Spurgeon preached twice a Sunday for twenty-eight years to seated congregations of six thousand, but his glory grew from his goodness. The Seattle preacher has three thousand hearers, often an extra thousand in the mornings. He gave last year 134 sermons, 74 addresses, 63 lectures, 57 speeches, married 20 couples, baptized 170 infants, 80 adults, funerals not stated.

He visited 1,209 of his flock, got 500 to join, and of course allures everybody to hear and see the Sunday services. So far, good, but—this D. D. is a qualified Doctor of Medince too, and an attorney at law, which seems too-tooy, not to mention that he is also Past Eminent Commander of Seattle Commandery in the Masonic order. More still, he is the working head of a church which has five libraries, a swimming pool, a gymnasium and running track, fifty telephones, several ranges to cook for five hundred eaters; small gas ranges are scattered all over the church for the use of women's tea meetings, baths and bathrooms are everywhere. It costs $35,000 to run this church. In the pastor's office are three typewriters, six telephones, a graphophone used in dictating sermons. Can he be tempted to wire a few live sample sermons through a megaphone in some local ecclesiastical edifice? But the dollar test is of course the one that tells. The salaries of Dr. Matthews and his two pulpit helpers are not stated, but the loose basket collections net $12,000 a year, the pledges $13,000, and the musical offering $2,000. Verily there is room for a Matthews in—say Hackensack.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont has at last attained to a pinnacle of regal magnificence which must endear her to our new nobility. Behind the awe inspired front door (too common a word) which shields the thrice blessed denizens of her spick and span new palace from the vulgar herd of American citizens in the street called Madison avenue, there stands a Being of superhuman breed, if tailoring has a meaning. It (He is It) is Agar the Egyption, descended from the Khedives whose ancestors are the granite deities of the desert. From fez to sandals the gorgeous creature is a blaze of color and precious stones. A fire-eating visage, a moving waxwork dignity, that flicks their Paris fal de rals off the princesses and suffragettes of high degree with the grace of a born floorwalker and the military precision of the wonderful performing monkeys whose drill feats take the shine out of colored drum majors. Was it not in a Newport hall of fame that an African baboon was the dinner table guest of honor? If this does not win troops of suffrage Amazonettes to the cause, what can? Perhaps some envious rival will equip a cowboy expedition to lasso a Congo King to serve in crown and chains as fly flicker at state functions and the six-horsed coach of her ladyship be tooled by the Ram Jam of Timbuctoo.

WAGE AND PRICE GAINS.

Philadelphia, April 2.—The Pennsylvania Railroad has issued a statement, which says:

"While to the Pennsylvania the cost of labor has increased about thirty-three per cent. over what it was eight years ago, the increase in the cost of material has been far more marked, some supplies costing today as high as sixty and seventy per cent. more than in 1902. So far this combined increase in the railroad's 'cost of living' has been met to a large degree by increasing the efficiency of operation and without the railroad making increases in the cost of transportation."

Dry Cleaning Talk
Gentlemen's clothes cleaned by a Cleanery with the ability nad equipments to produce first-class work, will stay clean longer, as when done by an ordinary suit presser who only brushes the surface dust off and removes the most prominent spots from the surface.
With our process the garments are thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, the linings are cleaned and spots that are removed will stay removed and do not appear again the first time the garments are exposed to the dust and grim of the street.
In the beginning it may cost a little more, but will pay at the end, as the clothes don't have to be at the cleaners every two weeks.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY PRESS

AIMS AND PURPOSES OF CHARITY ORGANIZATION

Editor, The Plainfield Press:

On account of a very prevalent misunderstanding in regard to the nature and work of the Charity Organization Society, may I ask you to give publicity to the following:

In the first place, we should like very frankly to admit that as a model employment office we are an out and out failure. To be sure we frequently know of many women and a few men who need and will take day's work, and we are very grateful to our friends for opportunities to give such people employment. But it is in the nature of our position that most of our applicants are neither general houseworkers without families nor reliable chauffeurs with excellent references. If they were these very desirable but infrequent phenomena it is not likely, is it, that they would be applicants for charitable assistance?

Well, then, what is the office at 544 West Front street for if it is not, as we confess, a satisfactory intelligence office? We might perhaps describe its uses as two-fold: first, it aims to be a source of information in regard to any charitable work or any needy persons in this community. Secondly, it hopes that those in need of assistance find it a place where the help which they should receive may be obtained. That the office fulfills this two-fold ambition to some extent is proven by the fact that during the past winter 135 persons consulted the agents about questions of relief and 78 applicants presented themselves for aid of various sorts. In order to answer the former to the best of our ability and assist the latter, the agents made during the winter 414 calls by telephone or in person, and wrote 141 letters, receiving 104 in return. These investigations revealed circumstances which called for an expenditure of about $200 in rent, clothing, groceries, etc. While milk was obtained daily for 11 families. Ten prescriptions were filled and 2 pairs of glasses were procured. For those women who could not find outside work, sewing was provided in nine cases and two men were given work in the society's wood-yard. In all 113 cases were in charge. Of these thirteen had tuberculosis, twelve others were sent to the clinic, and twelve were referred to the Muhlenberg Hospital for investigation.

These are some of the things that keep two agents and a superintendent busy. But the work could not be done as it is unless many men and women volunteered their time and service on committees and as visitors among the poor. Of the friendly visitors there are, however, never enough for the demand and if any reader of this letter has an hour a week to spare, and an interest in assisting the unfortunate, the society would be glad to hear from her. Another way to help is by sending us word when you have cast-off clothing or household furniture to dispose of. A fortnightly sale which is largely patronized by the most trrifty, cannot be maintained unless many contribute. Finally, and especially, do we urge the need of the children. The society has pledged itself to the Board of Education that all children insufficiently clad, under-nourished or neglected will be provided for. The time of one agent is given to these cases and a constant supply of clothing is needed.

Thanking you for many favors in the past, I am.

Yours very sincerely,
M. C. PHILLIPS, Agent.

FOR HOSPITAL'F BENEFIT

Hugh S. Jarvis; Charles, William R. Cock.

The women's auxiliary to the board of governors of the hospital has announced a list of one hundred patronesses for the entertainment. The boxes will be sold by auction and Mayor Charles J. Fisk, president of the State Excise Commission and until recently president of the board of governors, will act as auctioneer. Mr. Fisk, who is a New banker, has conducted many benefits for the institution and he predicts that Mr. Saunders' entertainment will prove a record breaker so far as net receipts are concerned for the institution.

The hospital was started many years ago by the Venerable Dean Erskine M. Rodman, rector-emeritus of Grace church, who passed away several years ago. At first it was under the direction of the Episcopal church but long since became a non-sectarian charity. Its plant in the southern part of the city is rated as among the finest in the State and is worth more than half a million. It is supported solely by local citizens.

Staggered Against Auto.

An accident which may be attributed to the intoxication of the person who was injured, occurred yesterday afternoon at fifteen minutes after 4 o'clock at the corner of Park avenue and Front street. Mrs. Laura De Hart, colored staggered up against an automobile driven by W. S. Briggs and received an abrasion of the right elbow. Mrs. De Hart fell to the pavement and was taken to the office of Dr. Pittis. Mr. Briggs afterwards took her to her home.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

At the Plainfield Rescue Mission Sunday evening at 7:45 the Bethany Rescue Circle will speak and sing. All are welcome.

A vesper service will be held at the Y. W. C. A. rooms tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Miss Lucy Ayers, of New York, will give a talk on "Power for Service," and Miss Etta Raybert will sing.

There will be communion and reception of thirty new members at the Temple Baptist church tomorrow morning. The children's choir will sing a both services and in the evening the Easter services will be repeated under the direction of Organist W. A. Conger.

The Men's Bible Class will meet at the West End Tabernacle Monday night and the cottage prayer meeting will be held Tuesday evening at the home of Frank Platts, 310 Lyman place at 7:30 o'clock. Thursday afternoon the Junior C. E. Society will meet at 3:30 o'clock and the usual prayer service will be held in the evening at 8 o'clock.

PERSONAL.

Christian Hove, of Mountain avenue, is detained at home with an attack of blood poisoning.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Duschenee, of upper Somerset street, have as their week-end guest, Miss Loretta Nolen, of Trenton.

Harold Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hudson, of 257 Somerset street, is enjoying a months' vacation from business.

Miss Adele Demarest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Demarest, Somerset street, is resting easily after an operation performed yesterday for the removal of adenoids.

Mrs. Noel, of Asbury Park, a recent visitor to this city, has become so infatuated with Plainfield that she has decided to live here. She has leased through J. T. Vail, the real estate broker, the property at 705 West Fourth street and will remove there on Monday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Judge Smith has his suspicions who the boys are who take the boats from their moorings and if caught and found guilty will be dealt with to the extreme penalty of the law He has offered a reward, and is determined to break up this reckless gang who have destroyed almost every boat on the lake.

Charles R. Moltby, who recently lived near here on Plainfield avenue, was buried in Hillside cemetery yesterday, beside his wife, who died a number of years ago.

Jr. O. U. A. M. Activity.

Somerset Council Jr. O. U. A. M., initiated seven new members last night and acted upon the applications of three others. Visitors were present from other lodges in the State, including those from Benevolent and Franklin Councils of this city. The regular business of the council was not concluded until after midnight.

S. S. Swackhamer Spoke.

Among the speakers at a meeting held by the local option leaders of the State at the Y. M. C. A. building in Trenton, yesterday afternoon, was S. S. Swackhamer, of this city. Plans for the coming fall election were formulated at the conference and Captain Richmond P. Hobson delivered a stirring address.

STRIKERS ARE GRANTED INCREASE IN WAGES

Elizabeth, April 2.—So serious did the situation in the strike of the 600 employes of the Liebig & Willams and the Clark Fertilizer Works in Roosevelt, Middlesex county, become yesterday afternoon that the companies decided, in order to prevent further trouble, to increase the wages of the men from $1.65 to $1.80 per day for a period of thirty days, when a conference will again be held and future action considered.

This step was taken after the first outbreak of rioting. An Italian came to Roosevelt yesterday afternoon and wanted to go to work. He was beaten, and has not been seen since.

Yesterday afternoon a young man who was standing near the strikers, who had congregated about a block from the Roosevelt depot, made some disparaging remarks about the strike. Some of the younger men who heard him closed in on him and he was badly beaten. He, too disappeared, evidently fleeing in fright. The men who set on him ran away.

Sheriff Quackenbush was summoned from New Brunswick. He came by auto with deputies. Things had quieted down, however, and a conference was arraigned between the concern and the strikers.

Some of the men who had quit work went through the plants ordering firemen, engineers and others to quit work.

At the end of thirty days this agreement becomes void, but it is thought that a permanent settlement will be reached in the meantime. The companies, however, are not disposed toward making a three-year contract on the wage scale that the men demand.

STATE COST TO BE $5,547,294.

Trenton, April 2.—Showing an increase of $600,345.45, the regular appropriation bill for the year beginning November 1 next, will be introduced in the Legislature Monday. As it now stands it will carry $4,845,362.77. The supplemental bill provides expenditures of $701,931.74, which is $370,157.50 more than last year. Thus the increase in both will be $970,502.95 over last year, and the total allowance $5,547,294.51.

The figures were given out by Senator Bradley, chairman of the joint committee late yesterday. He let it be known that additions might be made to both bills. At present it contains nothing for continuing the work of revaluing the railroads nor anything for the proposed Palisades Park work. The latter appropriation, it was said, if made, would be conditional.

"With the exception of a few more items," said Mr. Bradley, "the bill is complete and will be ready for introduction. We have had a great many requests made on us, and we have tried to be fair about responding. We have given increased appropriations for a number of the State's charitable institutions."

Appropriations are to be made for improvements at the State Village of Epileptics and for the Home for Feeble Minded. The Vineland Soldiers' Home will also be aided. One of the large increases is for roads. Commissioner Gilkyson will have $300,000 to spend instead of $200,000 this year. The National Guard is to get $238,600, an increase of $15,000.

OPPOSES NOISE.

Morristown, April 2.—Chief of the Fire Department J. Fred Runyon, in his report to the Board of Aldermen last night, urged upon that body the necessity of passing immediately an ordinance regulating the sale of fireworks and gun powder, that Morristown might have a "safe and sane" Fourth of July celebration.

Senator Edward K. Mills, town counsel, submitted such an ordinance and it was formally introduced by Alderman R. Rallston Reed. It provides that the storage and sale of gun powder and ammunition shall be only by permit from the chief of the fire department, such permit to cost $5, and to be in force one year. No gun powder is to be used on the Fourth, no paper balloons containing excelsior or other inflammable substances, no blank cartridges, no cannon crackers larger than six inches in length and seven-eighths of an inch in diameter, no fireworks containing dynamite, nor any blank cartridge pistols, shall be kept in stock or sold. No pistol or other firearm shall be sold to anyone under 15 years of age; no fireworks shall be exposed for sale on stands outside of a building, nor shall any be sold prior to July 1. A penalty of $10 and the revocation of the permit is included in the ordinance.

CAN LOAD A SHIP OF COAL IN 45 MINUTES.

South Amboy, April 2.—The new coal dumper to be operated by the Eastern Coal Dock Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, was tried Wednesday afternoon. The clamps did not work well in the first car, and instead of emptying itself and returning to the tracks in about two minutes, it took ten minutes for the job. The second car was more of a success, and the third car got off the track and prevented further trials for the afternoon.

Prior to these attempts "empties" had been raised from the track, overturned, and returned to the track in forty seconds.

The introduction of this system will revolutionize the handling of coal. A vessel carrying eight hundred tons of coal will be able to receive its cargo in about forty-five minutes. The amount of shipping can be materially increased, and the facility with which the business can be handled will enhance the value of these piers as shipping points.

Another machine is to be built as soon as this one has demonstrated its success.

The Misses Madelyn McWilliams and Irene Corcoran, of Raritan, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flynn, of this city.

EASTER music, grand opera, the compositions of Grieg, Chaminade and Tschaikowsky, as well as popular songs of the day—all are at your command when you have a player-piano.

The fact that you may be absolutely ignorant of music does not debar you from playing the most intricate and inspiring pieces just as their composers have played them.

And all this unending pleasure can be yours to enjoy—in your own home—for the nominal amount of $10 per month until the instrument is paid for.

There is no better value in the world than the 88-note

Lexington Player-Piano at $495 (Club Price)

(Easy Payments, $10 a Month and Up)

You'll say so when you see it—and we want you to stop in and play it yourself. You'll not be urged to buy.

You will notice that the levers controlling the tempo and volume of sound are remarkably easy to understand and operate. You will notice how very little effort is needed for pumping—a decided relief if you've been "taking violent exercise" on other player-pianos.

The "rest-shelf" saves the wrist. The player mechanism is at once concealed, whenever you wish to do all the playing yourself.

The moderate price—$495—is due to the Hallet & Davis Piano Company's years' experience, vast manufacturing facilities and resources, and efficient selling organization—we sell direct to you.

$10 a month and up—and we take your old piano in exchange. Why not talk it over with us?

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"The Upstart," to open the New Ziegfeld Theatre in Chicago. Out of the number of plays submitted Mr. Ziegfeld has selected "The Upstart," to open his magnificent new theatre, and he has certainly shown good judgment, as it has been pronounced by all who have seen it, as being one of the best comedies produced this season. As for the cast, that alone should insure an all summers run, as it is seldom we see a cast equal go that which Mr. Harrison has provided, every member of which will be remembered as either being starred or featured in some of the best high class attractions of the past few seasons. Mr. Charlotte Ives recently resigned from the cast of "The Turning Point," at the Hacket Theatre, New York, to become leading woman in "The Upstart." Mr. Ralph Stuart has starred for the past two seasons in "Strongheart" under the management of Henry B. Harris. James Lackaye has a five-years' contract to star under the management of William A. Brady, but has secured a temporary release, which will make it possible for him to play the part of "The Judge," in the "Upstart" for the remainder of this season. Mr. Frank Ilmore, recently leading man for Elsie Ferguson, "In Such a Little Queen," will play the part of the clergyman. John Westley was last seen in the Henry Miller production, "The Family." Previously he supported Carlotta Neilson. Walter S. Howard is well known through his appearance with Joseph Jefferson, Otis Skinner and Ada Rehan. He also appeared in the original production of "The Great Ruby."

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

Francis Wilson is a golf enthusiast. He keeps a driver in his dressing room at The Criterion theatre and when he gets time between the acts of "The Bachelors' Baby" he drives an imaginary ball. He says it is only for exercise, but his best friends say that with every swat at the incorporeal air he proudly imagines that he is on the links, making a two hundred and thirty yard drive. The other evening one of these "best friends," a novelist, was on his way behind the scenes and passed as he saw the star in his shirt sleeves violently swinging. "Awfull, awfully, awfully rotten!" said the friend presently, disclosing his presence with this cheering remark. "You'r better give it up." Without stopping his swings or relaxing the earnestness suitable to a golf exercise, Mr Wilson began as if talking to himself: "Such is gratitude; I have read this man's book for fifteen years and have never told him the truth."

Even before the dramatic critics of New York city had seen "The City," Clyde Fitch's last play, at the Lyric theatre, and had unanimously hailed it as one of the few most sensational dramatic productions ever offered in this or any other country, Prof. William Lyon Phelps, professor of English and dramatic literature at Yale University, made an extraordinary public statement of his approbation both of the play and the production. In an open letter to the editor of the Hartford Courant and dated Yale College, December 14, Professor Phelps wrote: "I should like to say a word (unsolicited) about the performance of Clyde Fitch's play 'The City,' which is to be given in Hartford this week. It is, in my judgment, one of the best plays that Mr. Fitch ever wrote, and one of the most powerful dramas ever composed by an American. The second act is thrilling. Furthermore, it is a drama that has as its driving force a great idea; it is a play full of excitement and full of celebration. The company is admirable; the acting is always adequate to the situations and thoroughly intelligent.

SON WILL CONTEST DR. STROBRIDGE'S WILL.

Asbury Park, April 2.—A caveat has been filed by Robert Strobridge, of New York, a son, objecting to the probate of the will of his father, Rev. George E. Strobridge, of Ocean Grove, whose death from a stroke of apoplexy occurred in Ocean Grove a few weeks ago. No reason for the objection is stated.

The will has not yet been filed. It is understood that Mrs. Strobridge, the widow, who was married to Rev. Mr. Strobridge last November, is the chief beneficiary of the will. The amount of the estate is not known.

The Man in Lower Ten

By Mary Roberts Rinehart
Author of The Circular Staircase

Illustrations by M. J. KETTNER

(Copyright, by Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

"Porter," she began, in the voice of the lady who had "dangled," "is there a rule of this company that will allow a woman to occupy the dressing-room for one hour and curl her hair with an alcohol lamp while respectable people haven't a place where they can hook their—"

She stopped suddenly and stared into lower ten. Her shining pink cheeks grew pasty, her jaw fell. I remember trying to think of something to say, and of saying nothing at all. Then—she had buried her eyes in the nondescript garments that hung from her arm and tottered back the way she had come. Slowly a little knot of men gathered around us, silent for the most part. The doctor was making a search of the berth when the conductor elbowed his way through, followed by the inquisitive man, who had evidently summoned him. I had lost sight, for a time, of the girl in blue.

"Do it himself?" the conductor queried after a business-like glance at the body.

"No, he didn't," the doctor asserted. "There's no weapon here, and the window is closed. He couldn't have thrown it out, and he didn't swallow it. What on earth are you looking for, man?"

Some one was on the floor at our feet, face down, head peering under the berth. Now he got up without apology, revealing the man who had summoned the conductor. He was dusty, alert, cheerful, and he dragged up with him the dead man's suit-case. The sight of it brought back to me at once my own predicament.

"I don't know whether there's any connection or not, conductor," I said, "but I am a victim, too, in less degree; I've been robbed of everything I possess, except a red and yellow bath-robe. I happened to be wearing the bath-robe, which was probably the reason the thief overlooked it."

There was a fresh murmur in the crowd. Somebody laughed nervously. The conductor was irritated.

"I can't bother with that now," he snarled. "The railroad company is responsible for transportation, not for clothes, jewelry and morals. If people want to be stabbed and robbed in the company's cars, it's their affair. Why didn't you sleep in your clothes? I do."

I took an angry step forward. Then somebody touched my arm, and I unclenched my fist. I could understand the conductor's position, and beside, in the law, I had been guilty myself of contributory negligence.

"I'm not trying to make you responsible," I protested, as amiably as I could, "and I believe the clothes the thief left are as good as my own. They are certainly newer. But my valise contained valuable papers, and it is to your interest as well as mine to find the man who stole it."

"Why, of course," the doctor said shrewdly. "Find the man who skipped out with this gentleman's clothes, and you've probably got the murderer."

"I went to bed in lower nine," I said, my mind full again of my lost papers, "and I wakened in number seven. I was up in the night prowling around, as I was unable to sleep, and I must have gone back to the wrong berth. Anyhow, until the porter wakened me this morning I knew nothing of my mistake. In the interval the thief—murderer, too, perhaps—must have come back, discovered my error, and taken advantage of it to further his escape."

The inquisitive man looked at me from between narrowed eyelids, ferret-like.

"Did anyone on the train suspect you of having valuable papers?" he inquired. The crowd was listening intently.

"No one," I answered promptly and positively.

The doctor was investigating the murdered man's effects. The pockets of his trousers contained the usual miscellany of keys and small change, while in his hip pocket was found a small pearl-handled revolver of the type women usually keep around. A gold watch with a Masonic charm had slid down between the mattress and the window, while a showy diamond stud was still fastened in the bosom of his shirt. Taken as a whole, the personal belongings were those of a man of some means, but without any particular degree of breeding. The doctor heaped them together.

"Either robbery was not the motive," he reflected, "or the thief overlooked these things in his hurry."

The latter hypothesis seemed the more tenable, when, after a thorough search, we found no pocketbook and less than a dollar in small change.

The suit-case gave no clew. It contained one empty leather-covered flask and a pint bottle, also empty, a change of linen and some collars with the laundry mark, S. H. In the leather tag on the handle was a card with the name Simon Harrington, Pittsburg.

The conductor sat down on my un-

Lots of local endorsement to prove this.

Mrs. John Driscoll, 753 West Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says:

"The public statement I gave several years ago concerning my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills was correct and still holds good. I suffered from a dull pain across my back which clung to me incessantly. Hard work increased my misery and at times I also had headaches and dizzy spells. I tried plasters and remedies of various kinds but without relief. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I finally procered at Randolph's Pharmacy relieved me and for that reason I heartily recommend them."

"Did Anyone Suspect You of Having Valuable Papers?"

mace berth, across, and made an entry of the name and address. Then, on an old envelope, he wrote a few words and gave it to the porter, who disappeared.

"I guess that's all I can do," he said. "I've had enough trouble this trip to last for a year. They don't need a conductor on these trains any more; what they ought to have is a sheriff and a posse."

The porter from the next car came in and whispered to him. The conductor rose unhappily.

"Next car's caught the disease," he grumbled. "Doctor, a woman back there has got mumps or bubonic plague, or something. Will you come back?"

The strange porter stood aside.

"Lady about the middle of the car," he said, "in black, sir, with queer-looking hair—sort of copper color, I think, sir."

CHAPTER V.

The Woman in the Next Car.

With the departure of the conductor and the doctor, the group around lower ten broke up, to re-form in smaller knots through the car. The porter remained on guard. With something of relief I sank into a seat. I wanted to think, to try to remember the details of the previous night. But my inquisitive acquaintance had other intentions. He came up and sat down beside me. Like the conductor, he had taken notes of the dead man's belongings, his name, address, clothing and the general circumstances of the crime. Now with his little notebook open before him, he prepared to enjoy the minor sensation of the robbery.

"And now for the second victim," he began cheerfully. "What is your name and address, please?"

I eyed him with suspicion.

"I have lost everything but my name and address," I parried. "What do you want them for? Publication?"

"Oh, no; dear, no!" he said, shocked at my misapprehension. "Merely for my own enlightenment. I like to gather data of this kind and draw my own conclusions. Most interesting and engrossing. Once or twice I have forestalled the results of police investigation—but entirely for my own amusement."

I nodded tolerantly. Most of us have hobbies; I knew a man once who carried his handkerchief up his sleeve and had a mania for old colored prints cut out of Godey's Lady Book.

"I use that inductive method originated by Poe and followed since with such success by Conan Doyle. Have you ever read Gaboriau? Ah, you have missed a treat, indeed. And now, to get down to business, what is the name of our escaped thief and probable murderer?"

"How on earth do I know?" I demanded impatiently. "He didn't write it in blood anywhere, did he?"

The little man looked hurt and disappointed.

"Do you mean to say," he asked, "that the pockets of those clothes are entirely empty?"

The pockets! In the excitement I had forgotten entirely the sealskin grip which the porter now sat at my feet, and I had not investigated the pockets at all. With the inquisitive man's pencil taking note of everything that I found, I emptied them on the opposite seat.

Upper left-hand waist-coat, two lead pencils and a fountain pen; lower right waist-coat, matchbox and a small stamp book; right-hand pocket coat, pair of gray suede gloves, new, size seven and a half; left-hand pocket, gun-metal cigarette case studded with pearls, half-full of Egyptian cigarettes. The trousers pockets contained a gold penknife, a small amount of money in bills and change, and a handkerchief with the initial "S" on it.

Further search through the coat discovered a card-case with cards bearing the name Henry Pinckney Sullivan, and a leather flask with gold mountings, filled with what seemed to be very fair whisky, and monogrammed H. P. S.

"His name evidently is Henry Pinckney Sullivan," said the cheerful follower of Poe, as he wrote it down. "Address as yet unknown. Blonde, probably. Have you noticed that it is almost always the blonde men who affect a very light gray, with a touch of red in the scarf? Fact, I assure you. I kept a record once of the summer attire of men, and 90 per cent. followed my rule. Dark men like you affect navy blue, or brown.

P. H. S. NINE BEATEN IN FIRST CONTEST

Somerville High defeated P. H. S. in the first scholastic baseball contest of the season on Crescent Oval this morning by the score of 2 to 1. The defeat of the locals was largely due to the effective pitching of Henderson, the visiting twirler, who held the local schoolboys to four bingles. Loose fielding also contributed to Plainfield's setback. In the absence of Van Zandt Herbert Terry was in the box for the locals. He pitched a fine article of ball but the errors behind him were of a costly nature. Terry fanned eleven Somervillians.

P. H. S.—Terry, pitcher; Lidgate, catcher; Nash, first base; Bristol, second base; Zerega, shortstop; Clark, third base; R. Runyon, right field; Doane, centre field; Riffert, left field.

MR. WILSON TICKLED OVER KEELER DOPE

George D. Wilson, 426 Madison avenue, is a ball fan of the live wire variety. Mr. Wilson scans the sporting columns of The Daily Press every day and last night he did not miss the "Wee Willie Keeler April 1 scoop." Here is Mr. Wilson's comments:-

"I read tonight in The Press about 'Wee Willie" Keeler, who is going to manage a baseball team here this summer and what he intended to do; as I read it, the thought entered my head, why wouldn't it be a good idea for the Plainfield newspapers to print in the sporting news each night a little coupon worded like this—'Are you a baseball fan?' If so fill out the space and send it to the sporting editor, etc.

"The reason I thought of it was that for a town of Plainfield's size I never saw so few live baseball fans as there is here. I think it is about time we woke up and showed our national spirit. I am a baseball fan who is tickled to death over the idea that we are going to have a good ball team here this summer and that Keeler will be the manager. I hope you will give this communication attention."

N. B.—We suggest to Mr. Wilson that he read carefully the last paragraph in the "Willie Keeler scoop."

Jack Martin will be in the New Brunswick lineup this afternoon and tomorrow. He will cover shortstop

Along with Martin will be Dalton and Driscoll, former local favorites.

George Mallen, known as the "Old Hoss," is gingery as a two-year-old. George is the playing manager of the Hoboken nine.

Owing to a misunderstanding the game scheduled for this afternoon between the local newspapermen's nine and Jack Martin's all Plainfield aggregation has been postponed to some afternoon next week. Manager Listman will have his Y. M. C. A. candidates on the field for practise.

Park Golf Club Opens April 9.

The clubhouse and course of the Park Golf Club will be opened for the season on Saturday, April 9. Most of the putting greens will be ready for use, but a few temporary greens may be necessary. The regular club competitions will start later in the month. Everything points to a successful season.

BALL PLAYERS TO BE BANQUETED TONIGHT

Cliff Randolph, Jack Martin and Jim Emery, the trio of local boys, who will leave town next week for their respective minor league camps, will be tendered a farewell banquet by Manager Ernest Dorflinger and members of the Plainfield Baseball Club tonight at the Iroquois Hotel. All three players are graduates of local sand lots, and Plainfield fans should be proud in having three native sons, striving for honors in baseball's hall of fame.

Randolph returns to Binghamton, where he made an excellent record last season; Jack Martin returns to Worcester, and Emery makes his debut as a leaguer at Reading. The latter was picked up for the Pennsylvania club by Manager Dorflinger, who is scout for the Tri-State Leaguers. Should Emery make good Dorflinger will come in for a nice slice of coin.

Tonight's celebration will begin promptly at 8 o'clock, which is the hour Mr. Dorflinger requests all members of the club to be present

HEAR THEIR NEW PASTOR

Two Large Congregations Listen to Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire.

AT THE PARK AVENUE BAPTIST.

He Makes a Marked Impression—An Informal Reception for Pas- and Wife Follows the Morning Service.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, the new pastor of the Park avenue Baptist church, preached yesterday much to the delight and edification of two large congregations. He has a commanding appearance in the pulpit and gives one the impression that he has a message and knows how to tell it.

In the morning the regular communion service was held and prior to that Mr. Maguire preached a strong sermon, taking his text from the eighteenth verse of the second chapter of Nehemiah: "So they strengthened their hands for this work." In the evening his text was taken from John 3:16, and he spoke on what he called "The Four Great P's," pity, perishing, providing and possession.

At the morning service Mr. Maguire in referring to the restoration of the Holy City said that the people first built the temple, then the walls and then established the work of God under Nehemiah. The preacher laid great emphasis on the fact that Nehemiah spent a whole winter in prayer, and that he went alone to talk with God. Every great work, declared Mr. Maguire, begins in one heart. Illustrating this point he referred to the words of John Knox, who in his prayer to God said: "Give me Scotland or I'll Die," and his prayer was answered, and to the earnest prayers of David Livingston, who pleaded with God for the salvation of the heathen in Africa. He also told how God had blessed Jacob of old, and more recently Charles Spurgeon, Dwight L. Moody and other great evangelists, who were men of prayer.

"God wants us all to pray," said Mr. Maguire. "You can have what you want if you will pray the price and meet the conditions. I am so glad that God is no respecter of persons. Nehemiah was never alone, a child of God is never alone. True greatness is not to be found in rank, but in character. God wants us to see his hand and the gates of hell shall never prevail against His great work.

"In Nehemiah's work there was co-operation, all were with one accord and one heart, each one doing his own part. Today God wants his preachers to preach the word. He wants his deacons and trustees to do their work. He wants the choir to sing for His glory and the sexton to clean the church for His glory. It is not for the deacons to dictate to the minister for he is a messenger of God, neither is it the place of the minister to dictate to the deacons what they shall do. All should work in harmony.

"The person who is looking for the easy way generally amounts to nothing. We must be up and doing. The answer to the question how to reach the masses is found in the divine injunctions, 'Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel,' and 'Go ye into the highways and hedges.' Philip got the Eunich by going after him, so must we go after the lost ones. We'll storm the fort, not hold it and thus accomplish great things for God."

The earnest words of Pastor Maguire seemed to encourage his hearers who agreed that there are great blessings in store for the church. He impressed all with his earnestness and determination to meet all obstacles and his people seem to be ready and willing to stand by him in his plans for a success. After the service all remained to meet the new pastor and his family.

Ida May, the fourteen year old daughter of Mrs. Fannie Scott, of 514 West Fourth street, died yesterday afternoon. The funeral service will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Church of God and Saint of Jesus Christ.

Mr. Smith's Recital.

A large audience enjoyed the organ recital given by S. Frederick Smith, organist of the church, in Grace P. E. church yesterday afternoon.

HOD CARRIERS RIOT; COLOR LINE IS DRAWN

James Fee, James Canary, Michael Flatley and Mike Dombola, all members of the Hod Carriers' Union, attended the council meeting of that body yesterday afternoon in Trades' Council hall, and after the business meeting engaged in a fierce debate as to eligibility of their negro co-laborers for membership in the union. The ensuing argument aided and abetted by an over indulgence in beer started a fight which took the combined efforts of Patrolmen Messler and Dobson to quell.

From the stories told in court this morning to City Judge William N. Runyon there must have been almost a riot before the policemen got the belligerants into the patrol wagon and safely incarcerated at headquarters. Flatley and Fee were a sight with discolored faces and eyes, and bloodstained clothing and both admitted having been indiscreet as well as drunk. Canary claimed to have tried to act the part of peacemaker, but his story was not borne out by the testimony of the patrolmen. All four men were fined five dollars with the alternative of spending twenty days in the county jail. They paid up.

REV. DR. JOHN H. RAVEN AT NETHERWOOD REFORMED

The congregation of the Netherwood Reformed church, of which Rev. Royal A. Stout is pastor, had as preacher yesterday Rev. Dr. John Howard Raven, Professor of the Old Testament Languages and Exegises at the New Brunswick Theological Seminary at both morning and evening services. Dr. Raven delivered two impressive and instructive sermons.

Next Sunday the pulpit will be occupied by Rev. T. C. Easton, D. D., pastor of the Highland Park Reformed church. It is hoped that all the members will attend these services during the absence of Mr. Stout as they are of a character of interest to all the members and well calculated to inspire the worshippers at this church with the truth and value of the service of God. Speakers of famous ability will occupy the pulpit of the Netherwood church during the month of April which all the members should hear.

MISS JENNIE V. HARRIOTT, A TEACHER, PASSES AWAY

Miss Varian Harriott, aged about 40 years, died yesterday morning at the home of her mother, Mrs. Randolph F. Harriott 713 Watchung avenue, following an illness of several months with a complication of diseases. She was a teacher in an Episcopal school on Long Island for several years and prior to that taught here in private schools, always with great success.

She is survived by a mother, two sisters, the Misses Ida and Belle Harriott; also a brother, Randolph Harriott. The funeral will be held from the late home tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and will be in charge of Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

RABBI BRINGS A SUIT AGAINST EXPRESS CO.

Rabbi Moses Rattman has instituted a suit in the District Court against the U. S. Express Company for $100 on contract. Papers in the case were served on Wilson Frederick, the local agent, this morning by Clerk Horace G. Adams. The trial is set down for Thrusday, April 14. Francis J. Blatz is attorney for Rabbi Rattman.

The basis of the suit is a consignment of meat which was received here in January for V. Valinsky, a local Jewish butcher. Valinsky, for some reason or other, did not receive the meat and according to the general rules of the company covering perishable goods, the consignment was sold. Now Rabbi Rattman, who acts as agent for local Jewish butchers, seeks to recover damages from the express company. The consignor was a Philadelphia wholesale house.

Lewis' Case Postponed.

The case of Frederick Lewis, held here awaiting extradition papers, on a charge of embezzlement, was brought to the attention of Governor Fort this morning and at the solicitation of Craig L. Marsh, counsel for Mr. Lewis, the hearing was postponed until after the adjournment of the Legislature on Friday next.

SALVATION ARMY ACTIVE

National Staff Officers Speak and Provide Music at Services.

ON SATURDAY AND SUNDAY.

Col. McIntyre Tells of Army's Record—Capt. Fowler Sings Bass Solos—Band Music Excellent.

The Salvation Army Staff Band had charge of the services at Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning and with the thrilling music both instrumental and vocal, interested the large congregation in the work of the Army. Pastor John Y. Broek made a short opening speech in which he bespoke the earnest attention of the congregation to Colonel McIntyre, to whom was given entire charge of the services.

The opening hymn "Stand Up For Jesus," was sung by the congregation accompanied by the band, which was followed by a prayer by Rev. Mr. Broek. After the prayer the morning collection for the church was taken while the band played a selection after which Captain Fowler rendered a bass solo, "Beautiful Jesus." This was sung with magnificent expression and feeling. Captain Fowler's voice is a deep bass of power and sweetness.

Colonel McIntyre then addressed the audience thanking the church officers on behalf of Captain and Mrs. Hewitt for the use of the church and the privileges afforded the Army to tell of its special work among the unfortunate. Col. McIntyre took for a text Numbers; 14:24, and contrasted Caleb with his contemporaries and then with the men of today. He said that men in all walks today are thinking only of the material advantages of present day business and that so absorbing a theme diverted their thoughts into the narrow channels of secular business rather than into the ways of the Lord, whom all men should serve with their whole hearts and souls. Men should look toward and work for God.

Colonel McIntyre then gave a short history of the work of the Army which has made forty years of history. During that time 200,000 drunkards have been saved and among them some who are now among the most successful business men in the communities in which they live. An average of five thousand unfortunate women are rescued by the Army during a year and ninety per cent. of these are satisfactory rescues. Several stories of individuals thus brought to a useful life were told and impressed the congregation.

At the close of the sermon at the suggestion of Pastor Broek an offering was received for the band and Army.

Large audiences greeted the musicians at their appearances in the Seventh-Day and First Baptist churches. Yesterday afternoon, prior to playing at the Baptist church, they attracted large crowds on the downtown streets, where they rendered a number of sacred selections. Last night they played in the Presbyterian church at Westfield.

AUTOMOBILE CRASHES INTO FINCH PONY CART.

Henry L. Finch, a son of E. L. Finch, of 1006 Park avenue, just after arriving in front of the home last evening at 8:30 in a two-wheeled pony cart which he had been driving, was run into by an automobile, number 14162, and both the vehicles were badly damaged, but fortunately no one was hurt.

It was ascertained later that the automobile numbered 14162 is registered under the name of Isaac Schwed. Milton Mendel reported this fact to the police.

Funeral of Mrs. Gromisch.

The funeral service of Mrs. George Gromisch was conducted yesterday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Perry, on Harrison avenue, in the presence of a large gathering of friends. The service was in charge of the Rev. George A. Warner, rector of Holy Cross church. Interment was made at Hillside cemetery.

The Mt. Zion A. M. E. fair and bazar which closed on Friday night was a big success. The total profits totaled $269.19, divided as follows: Seniors, $64.50; Juniors, $37.75, Trustees Aid Society, $169.94.

BAPTIST MINISTERS MET

East New Jersey Association in Session Here This Morning.

REV. DR. VASSAR PRESIDED.

Officers are Elected—Rev. G. R. Maguire is Introduced—Rev. E. R. Allen, of Philadelphia, Also a Speaker.

Officers were elected and reports from the various churches were presented at the morning session of the Ministers' Conference of the East New Jersey Baptist Association held at the First Baptist church this morning. When the meeting was called to order, Rev. Dr. T. E. Vassar, of Elizabeth, was chosen chairman in the absence of Rev. S. J. Skevington, the president, the latter arrived later and took the chair. Rev. J. W. Musson, secretary, was in his place.

Rev. Mr. Skevington pastor of the Clinton Avenue Baptist church, Newark, was re-elected president, and Rev. C. J. Greenwood, of the Westfield Baptist church, was chosen vice-president succeeding Rev. W. T. Dorward, who has gone to Milwaukee. Rev. J. W. Musson, of the Temple Baptist church, was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

The reports concerning condition of the churches were encouraging, although Rev. M. T. Shelford, of the Greenville Heights Baptist church believed that it was time that the State Baptist convention and the East New Jersey Baptist Association should lend their help toward building a church at Greenville Heights. At present the congregation is meeting in a store. Land has been purchased for a church site, but not a sufficient sum of money has been received with which to start the building.

Remarks by Mr. Shelford, as well as Rev. J. Madison Hare, of Jersey City, proved that the Greenville Heights section is one of the most promising fields in the State and that both Mr. Shelford and his congregation should be supported in their work.

Rev. J. W. Musson reported the reception of twenty-nine new members at yesterday's services. They were baptized on Easter Sunday. There was also baptism at yesterday morning's services prior to the communion.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, the new pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, was introduced and given a cordial reception by the ministers. He expressed the hope that he would become better acquainted and that a good work would result in the association. Rev. E. R. Allen, pastor of the Spruce Street Baptist church, Philadelphia, was also introduced and expressed his pleasure at being present. Two of his sons were present. Rev. Fred Allen, pastor of the Metuchen Baptist church, who presented an excellent report of the work in his church, and Rev. Joseph Allen, who is now pastor of the South Plainfield Baptist church.

Following the morning session the ministers adjourned to Truell Court, where luncheon was provided for them by the First Baptist church. This afternoon a short session was held at the church to discuss matters pertaining to the spiritual welfare of the conference as well as the churches.

Those presented at the conference were Rev. S. J. Skevington and Rev. Dr. C. J. Stanley, of Newark; Rev. J. Madison Hare, of Jersey City; Rev. M. T. Shelford of Greenville Heights; Rev. Dr. T. Vassar, of Elizabeth; Rev. G. H. Gardner, of New Market; Rev. C. J. Greenwood, of Westfield; Rev. Fred Allen, of Metuchen; Rev. Joseph Allen, of South Plainfield; Rev. E. R. Allen, of Philadelphia; Rev. J. W. Musson and Rev. Gabriel Reid Meguire, of this city.

OUR FIREMEN ARE HEROES

CALL TO DUTY COMES FIRST.

How God's Kingdom Would Flourish if All Christians Were as Earnest as Smoke-eaters.

Rev. Charles L. Goodrich addressed a rather small audience in the Congregational church last night, but his topic was one which every resident of this city would have appreciated and applauded. It had to do with the city's firemen, their ever readiness, promptness, courage and devotion and eulogized the men for the work they do under adverse conditions and limitations. For a text he took 1 Corinthians, 3:13, and said in part:

"I do not know why it is so, but we are more prone to criticize than to praise our public servants. It is so with the firemen as with others, and yet I know of no body of men who deserve greater approbation than the fellows who constantly risk their lives to save property and perhaps other lives for salaries which do not more than cover a decent living.

"The first point I wish to call attention to is that they do their work under great difficulties and certain limitations. They show admirable qualities of manhood, admirable in more ways than we know of. And the work is done as a matter of fact, without ostentation. The men in the department are few and much dependence is placed on outside help in time of need. Yet they never fail of their duty.

"The church today is in much the same condition; so much work to be done and so few to do it.

The second point is our firemen's readiness and promptness in answering calls. They do not hesitate; no time is wasted in getting ready. Why, I have known of one who was shaving when an alarm was turned in and who dropped his razor and jumped on the apparatus with his belathered face and finished the job when he returned. It is marvelous how quickly they respond to the call for help. If we could all be ready for the call how successful we would be! The hesitant one never succeeds. If only the people of the church were as ready to respond to the service as are the firemen to the alarm, what could stop her progress?

After telling incidents of the two most recent fires, an automobile garage and a lodge room, Mr. Goodrich spoke of the courage of the men and said: "If you are looking for modern heroes don't search among the uniforms of the Army and Navy, but look at the men who wear the rubber coat and helmet. Fire in Plainfield is just as hot as anywhere else and it must be understood that the fireman takes his life in his hands every time he enters a burning building. They risk their lives to save the property and lives of others. It is only fair that the people of Plainfield should understand this. This same kind of courage among Christians is what is needed in the Church. The kind that can withstand the laugh of the scoffer and make us do some heroic deed every day."

"Lastly, the very existence of a fire department points to danger of fire. Yet there exist other elements which do greater damage. Carelessness might accomplish much. Indifference more. What is the Church for? It is God's fire department, to be always ready to go out and check and prevent sin. We should be as ready as our firemen are, to fight the enemy. Let us be courageous, zealous, let us be ready for every opportunity and not found wanting when duty calls."

Mr. Goodrich will preach a series of sermons along the same lines which will include the police and other public servants, from whom lessons of fidelity to duty will be drawn. At the offertory last night Mr. Theodore Mantz sang by request "These are They," from Gaul's Holy City.

Council Meeting Tonight.

The Common Council will hold its regular April meeting tonight, when action may be taken regarding the Mayor's suggestion that employes of the city be paid every two weeks, instead of once a month. Matters relative to the approaching water election may also be discussed.

Entertained Sewing Club.

Miss Helen Lynch, of East Fifth street, entertained the Jolly Bachelors' Sewing Club, last evening. The members accomplished much in the sewing line and the social features were greatly enjoyed.

NEGRO KILLED HIMSELF IN HIS EMPLOYER'S HOME

Leaving no note or letter giving his reason for the act, George Roach, colored, twenty-three years old, a servant in the employ of Dr. Guy H. Hillman, of 507 Park avenue, committed suicide Saturday evening at 6 o'clock by slashing his throat with a razor. He died almost instantly. Dr. T. S. Davis, who was passing the house at the time examined the body shortly afterwards and pronounced the man beyond human aid. The body was removed to Cole's undertaking establishment, where it was viewed by coroner's physician Westcott, who gave a permit for burial.

Roach had been acting despondent for the past two weeks, but nothing was thought of it owing to the punctilous way in which he performed his duties. Saturday afternoon Roach went around everywhere looking to see that his duties were completed before he retired to the cellar to kill himself. The body was discovered by Roach's sister who ran screaming to the street. Patrolman Flatley was called and notified police headquarters whence the ambulance was sent. Roach was a native of Virginia and had been in the employ of Dr. Hillman for the past three years

"RELIABLE JIM" BABBITT SLAYED A MAD CANINE

Jim Babbitt, former local dog catcher, distinguished himself by shooting a mad canine on Somerset street at 8:30 o'clock this morning. The dog created considerable havoc among pedestrians and residents along the thoroughfare by running amuck through the street, and snapping at all dogs in sight, and finally seeking a corner in French's mill.

Babbitt was apprised of the presence of the dog, and with his trusty gun, the former dog catcher went into the mill, located the animal and shot it. It is reported that the dog bit two dogs in its mad flight through the street, one a coach dog belonging to Elston French, and a terrier, belonging to William Schorb.

On Saturday a mad dog created a scare at Mt. Bethel and Watchung, where it bit several dogs belonging to residents in that section, and afterward escaped. It is the impression that the dog killed by Babbitt is the animal that caused all of the excitment in that section.

LITTLE GIRL'S BURNS CAUSE OF HER DEATH

Minnie Alice Siedler, the four-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Siedler, of Clinton avenue, who was scalded with boiling water Saturday morning, died yesterday at the hospital. The child was playing in the kitchen, where a pail of boiling water was standing. In some way the pail was upset and the water almost covered the child's body.

Dr. W. C. Boone was summoned and after temporary treatment was given had the child removed to the hospital. At first her condition was not thought to be serious, but a few hours later there was a change for the worse. The funeral will be held from the residence of the parents, 36 Clinton avenue, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Yale Club to Meet.

The annual dinner of the Plainfield-Yale Club will be held at Truell Hall on Friday night. After the spread there will be several short addresses and a musical program. Officers for the year will be elected.

An April Tea.

Invitations have been sent out by Mrs. James R. Blake and Mrs. William M. Wherry, Jr., for a tea to be given at the home of the latter, 965 Madison avenue, on Wednesday, April 6th, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Borough Court.

John Bishop and John Murphy, of this city, were arrested in the borough on Saturday night for drunkeness. Murphy was fined two dollars and sentence was suspended on Bishop.

Men's Club Banquet.

The banquet of the Men's Club of the Crescent Avenue Presbtyerian church will be held at Truell Hall on Tuesday evening, April 12, at 7 o'clock.

The Women's Association of the Congregational church will hold a sewing and business meeting at the church, tomorrow afternoon.

CITY MARKET'S OPENING

Twelve Thousand People Inspect the Up-to-Date Establishment.

DECORATED FOR OCCASION.

Orchestra Furnishes Music — Tea Room a Feature—Great Credit is Due Ira L. La Rue for Enterprise.

The grand formal opening of the city Market, which runs from North avenue to East Second street, and which has been doing business for the past month, on Saturday afternoon brought one of the largest crowds ever seen in a public place. It was estimated that no less than 12,000 people inspected the new market and enjoyed the music provided by Charles Suhr's orchestra.

The market men more than ever exerted themselves to please their hundreds of customers and evidenced their satisfaction of the success of the enterprise by exhibiting a spirit of optimism good to see. In the minds of those who were able to witness the lively scenes of the afternoon and evening there was but one opinion expressed—success. Ira LaRue, the able president of the new concern, feels that his efforts to utilize the waste part of the interior of the little thoroughfare has met with a public demonstration of approval and is theerfore encouraged to pursue with greater ardor the establishing of other markets in New Jersey towns. He has already made some progress toward another establishment in New Brunswick and from the present outlook there promises to be a chain of them which will benefit both the company of which he is the head and the public at large.

All the stalls, the ceiling and the passageways of the market were handsomely decorated Saturday and at night brilliantly illuminated with electric lights. No such animated scene has been wintessed here before. Many were attracted to the music room up stairs where the orchestra enlivened the proceedings with some popular music. The piano for the affair was kindly loaned by the Mathushek Piano Company. Among other things there was a demonstration by Armour & Co. and in the new Tea Room exhibitions given of several housekeeping novelties. The sales of the various merchants were larger than at any other time which proves that the formal introduction of the enterprise promises well for the future.

PROSECUTOR CAPTURES REAL SOMERSET OUTLAW.

Prosecutor F. A. Pope had his first experience with an outlaw at Somerville on Saturday, when he managed to arrest at the point of his revolver, Paul T. Whitte, a farm hand, who had feloniously assaulted William F. Maybush, his employer. Whitte called Maybush to his front door and emptied a load of buckshot in his face.

It is said that a posse of farmers who started out to arrest Whitte got cold feet and prosecutor Pope tackled the man single handed. Whitte was committed without bail to await the action of the grand jury.

Rev. Dr. Richards' Memorial.

A volume of eighty-one pages has been presented to the parishioners of the Brick Presbyterian church, New York, as a memorial to the late pastor, Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, who was pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, of this city, for eighteen years prior to his New York pastorate. The book was printed by order of the session of the church. It contains memorial poems, the letter sent by President Taft, who was a fellow member with Dr. Richards of Yale Corporation, resolutions and letters from many churches, from all the organizations with which Dr. Richards was connected and a stenographic account of the funeral and memorial services.

Rendered Musical Program.

The choir of the First M. E. church, under the direction of J. Edmund Skiff, organist, gave a musical service at the church, last night, with a short address by Rev. Dr. J. R. Cooke. There were several solo numbers by Miss Bertha vanNuis Willis, soprano, and Miss Jessie Haynes, contralto. The service was greatly enjoyed.

The regular meeting of the McAll Auxiliary will be held at the public library Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

At the annual election of the Presbyterian Sunday-school which was held last Wednesday night the following officers were elected: Superintendent, T. D. Day; assistant, Lewis Churchill; superintendent primary department, Mrs. Charles Mattis; assistant, Miss Jane Churchill; superintendent junior department, Mrs. M. L. Rarick; librarians, George Apgar and Benjamin Dodwell; secretary, J. Newton Apgar; assistant, J. T. Sutphen; music committee, the Misses Tillie Muller, Eva Schnieder, Beatrice Cameron and Laura Todd.

Ray Huff, who started quite a commotion a few weeks ago by announcing that he was going to enlist in the U. S. Navy and go on a three-year cruise in one of Uncle Sam's big gunboats, has reconsidered his decision and will stick to cornfields and pumpkin patches of Dunellen and vicinity. Ray is one of the popular fellows in the village. The news was welcomed on all sides.

Attendance at the services in the First Baptist church were large yesterday. In the morning Rev. George H. Gardner's theme was "Our Daily Bread" and in the evening the subject of his discourse was "Truths That Need Emphasis Today."

Commodore Charley Rogers, having recovered from the tiring effects of his trans-continental trip to California, has started preparations for the boating season. All of the craft is being painted and put in condition for the summer.

The recently organized Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will hold its first monthly meeting tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank R. Wynkoop. All women who have not yet enrolled are invited to be present.

The annual congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church will be held on Wednesday night. In addition to reports from all societies in the church being presented, two trustees will be elected.

Rev. William Giddes occupied the pulpit at both services in the Methodist church yesterday. The pastor, Rev. W. A. Knox, who is attending the Newark Conference, remained in that city.

A grass fire on Lincoln avenue resulted in Defender Fire Company being called out yesterday morning. The flames were extinguished before any damage resulted.

Tickets for Defender Fire Company's uniform dance are selling rapidly and the indications are that the local fire fighters will have a gala time.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Carman have taken up their residence in the Hetfield flat.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement Dixon have returned from a visit to friends in Metuchen.

The Board of Education will meet in Whittier School tomorrow night.

The Borough Council will meet in regular session tonight.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The Netherwood Field Club defeated a scrub team on the local diamond Saturday afternoon by the score of 10 to 4. Johnston, who did the twirling for the local team, was in poor form, and received ragged support, while Slocum of the Field Club, had the goods and the 'Plains team found base hits a scarce article.

The weekly meeting of the B. Y. P. U. was held last night in the parlors of the Baptist church.

Mrs. Mary Barry, who recently bought the Cook house on Westfield avenue, moved in Saturday.

The trouble of Theodore Glazer and his neighbors which was to have been heard in Justice Clark's court Friday, was postponed one week.

A number of the wheelmen from town attended the opening of the season's racing yesterday afternoon at the Vailsburg track.

Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews has returned from a visit of several days with friends at Albany, N. Y.

Tickets for the dance to be held April 22 for the benefit of the local ball team, are selling well.

The public schools reopened this morning after the ten days' Easter vacation.

TAFT MEETS BALL PLAYERS.

Washingon, April 4.—Baseball players had their innings at the White House Thursday. By appointment the President received President Horace Fogel and the members of the Philadelphia National League team, which has been playing exhibition games in this city.

Later in the day the President also shook hands with the members of the Cornell baseball team.

The Man in Lower Ten

By Mary Roberts Rinehart
Author of The Circular Staircase

Illustrations by M. J. KETTNER

(Copyright, by Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

In spite of myself I was amused at the man's shrewdness.

"Yes; the suit he took was dark—a blue," I said.

He rubbed his hands and smiled at me delightedly.

"Then you wore black shoes, not tan," he said, with a glance at the aggressive yellow ones I wore.

"Right again," I acknowledged. "Black low shoes and black embroidered hose. If you keep on you'll have a motive for the crime, and the murderer's present place of hiding. And if you come back to the smoker with me, I'll give you an opportunity to judge if he knew good whisky from bad."

I put the articles from the pockets back again and got up. "I wonder if there is a diner on?" I said. "I need something sustaining after all this."

I was conscious then of some one at my elbow. I turned to see the young woman whose face was so vaguely familiar. In the very act of speaking she drew back suddenly and colored.

"Oh—I beg your pardon," she said hurriedly, "I—thought you were—some one else." She was looking in a puzzled fashion at my coat. I felt all the cringing guilt of a man who has accidentally picked up the wrong tight on my neck.

"I'm sorry," I said idiotically. "I'm sorry, but—I'm not." I have learned since that she has bright brown hair, with a loose wave in it that drops over her ears, and dark blue eyes with black lashes and—but what does it matter? One enjoys a picture as a whole; not as the sum of its parts.

She saw the flask then, and her errand came back to her. "One of the ladies at the end of the car has fainted," she explained. "I thought perhaps a stimulant—"

I picked up the flask at once and followed my guide down the aisle. Two or three women were working over the woman who had fainted. They had opened her collar and taken out her hair pins, whatever good that might do. The stout woman was vigorously rubbing her wrists, with the idea, no doubt, of working up her pulse. The unconscious woman was the one for whom I had secured lower 11 at the station.

I poured a little liquor in a bungling masculine fashion between her lips as she leaned back, with closed eyes. She chocked, coughed and rallied somewhat.

"Poor thing," said the stout lady. "As she lies back that way I almost think it was my mother; she used to faint so much."

"It would make anybody faint," chimed in another. "Murder and robbery in one night and on one car. I'm thankful I always wear my rings in a bag around my neck—even if they do get under me and keep me awake."

The girl in blue was looking at us with wide, startled eyes. I saw her pale a little, saw the quick, apprehensive glance which she threw at her traveling companion, the small woman I had noticed before. There was an exchange—almost a clash—of glances. The small woman frowned. That was all. I turned my attention again to my patient.

She had revived somewhat, and now she asked to have the window opened. The train had stopped again and the car was oppressively hot. People around were looking at their watches and grumbling over the delay. The doctor bustled in with a remark about its being his busy day. The amateur detective and the porter together mounted guard over lower ten. Outside the heat rose in shimmering waves from the tracks; the very wood of the car was hot to touch. A Camberwell Beauty darted through the open door and made its way, in erratic plunges, great wings waving, down the sunny aisle. All around lay the peace of harvested fields, the quiet of the country.

CHAPTER VI.

The Girl in Blue.

I was growing more and more irritable. The thought of what the loss of the notes meant was fast crowding the murder to the back of my mind. The forced inaction was intolerable. The porter had reported no bag answering the description of mine on the train, but I was disposed to make my own investigation. I made a tour of the cars, scrutinizing every variety of hand luggage, ranging from luxurious English bags with gold mountings to the wicker nondescript of the day coach at the rear. I was not alone in my quest, for the girl in blue was just ahead of me. Car by car she preceded me through the train, unconscious that I was behind her, looking at each passenger as she passed. I fancied the proceeding was distasteful, but that she had determined on a course and was carrying it through. We reached the end of the train almost together—empty-handed, both of us.

The girl went out to the platform. When she saw me she moved aside, and I stepped out beside her. Behind us the track curved sharply; the early sunshine threw the train, in long black shadow, over the hot earth. Forward somewhere they were hammering. The girl said nothing, but her profile was strained and anxious.

"I—if you have lost anything," I began, "I wish you would let me try to help. Not that my own success is anything to boast of."

She hardly glanced at me. It was not flattering.

"I have not been robbed, if that is what you mean," she replied quietly. "I am—perplexed. That is all."

There was nothing to say to that. I lifted my hat—the other fellow's hat—and turned to go back to my car. Two or three members of the train crew, including the conductor, were standing in the shadow talking. And at that moment, from a farmhouse near came the swift clang of the breakfast bell, calling in the hands from barn and pasture. I turned back to the girl.

"We may be here for an hour," I said, "and there is no buffet car on. If I remember my youth, that bell means ham and eggs and country butter and coffee. If you care to run the risk—"

"I am not hungry," she said, "but perhaps a cup of coffee—dear me, I believe I am hungry," she finished. "Only—" She glanced back of her.

"I can bring your companion," I suggested, without enthusiasm. But the young woman shook her head.

"She is not hungry," she objected, "and she is very—well, I know she wouldn't come. Do you suppose we could make it if we run?"

"I haven't any idea," I said cheerfully. "Any old train would be better than this one, if it does leave us behind."

The Most Industrious Store in Newark---The City of Industry

Gigantic Millinery Trade Sale.

An Event That Is Bound to Make Mercantile History

Small Tradesmen as Well as Individual Consumers May Participate.

We start this sale today with the biggest stock of millinery, including Trimmed Hats, Untrimmed Hats, Birds, Flowers, Feathers, Velvets and Trimmings of all sorts, that the house has ever held, with which we combine several big purchases made especially for this occasion. Everything offered will be new and up-to-date in style, and everything will be so remarkably low in price that other milliners will find it more advantageous to buy materials here than it would be to buy them in the wholesale markets, for we are going to beat ordinary wholesalers' price.

People who trim their own hats will find a feast of bargains awaiting them. Those who like to buy hats already trimmed will be deluged with bargains of the best sort. It is going to be one of the biggest millinery weeks this store or Newark has ever known.

Some of the lots advertised are limited and may not last beyond the first day, but other features will take their places, and every day will see something new that it will profit you to buy.

Plainfield, N. J., April 4, 1910.

The Outlook got some pretty good free advertising from its associate editor.

That dispatch regarding the catch of a 3,000 pound sunfish off Catalina Island, in the Pacific, should cause the Atlantic City correspondents to hurry along a sea serpent yarn.

And it came to pass that Theodore, the mighty hunter, whose fame as a magistrate had reached the farthest ends of the earth, did break the tablet whereon was inscribed "When in Rome Do as the Romans Do."

J. W. STEWART REACHES END OF A BUSY LIFE

John Warren Stewart, who conducted a wheelright shop on Somerset street for three score years, and one of the oldest residents of the borough, died at his home, 38 Lincoln place, Saturday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock. He was seventy-seven years of age and a native of Washington Valley.

For the past two years Mr. Stewart had been in failing health, being a sufferer from heart and kidney complications. While not confined to his bed he was able to get about and visit his neighbors frequently. Last Sunday, however, was the last time he appeared on the street. On that day he visited the Brokaw Brothers auto garage which had been wrecked by fire. In making this trip he contracted a congestive chill that hastened his death.

The funeral service will be held from his late home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and interment will be made in the Methodist cemetery. Mr. Stewart is survived by a wife, a son, George Stewart, of Duer street, three grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Samuel Hedden, of Duer street.

As proprietor of the oldest established wheelright shop on Somerset street he was well known among the residents of the borough and the Washington Valley section. When a boy Mr. Stewart started to learn the carpenter trade with his brother, the late John Stewart, but later he became an apprentice in the wheelright shop conducted by John B. Brown, which was situated on the present site of the Heideloff building. Later he established an independent business on the opposite side of the street, which shop is now conducted by his son.

On March 28, 1861, Mr. Stewart married Mary A. Meyers, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Mr. Atkins, at that time pastor of the First Methodist church.

Mr. Stewart did not belong to any societies or organizations. He seldom left town, and although he made many trips to Newark and other points on the Jersey Central, he never visited New York, nor did he ever express a desire to see the metropolis, although friends in recent years often desired to accompany him.

MOTHER OF PRIEST DIES AT DUNELLEN

Mrs. Ann Dunphy, mother of the Rev. Edwin Dunphy, rector of St. John's R. C. church, Dunellen, passed away at that place early yesterday morning. Six weeks ago Mrs. Dunphy was stricken with pneumonia, and although she had been very ill, it was generally understood that she was regaining her strength. Her condition continued to improve until several days ago when she encountered a relapse from which she was unable to rally.

The funeral service will be held in St. John's church, Dunellen, tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, when a solemn requiem mass will be celebrated by three priests. Interment will be made Monday afternoon at Trenton.

Mrs. Dunphy was a native of Ireland and was seventy-three years of age. She came to the United States fifty-five years ago and settled in Trenton. Later she came to Dunellen and resided at the rectory with her son. She is also survived by a sister—Sister Adelaide—who is in the Lakewood Convent.

Mrs. Dunphy was well known and beloved by the people of Dunellen. She was a devout Christian, a constant visitor to the homes of the sick and afflicted of all creeds, and her many good deeds and kind acts among Dunellen folk will serve as a monument to her memory in that parish.

Dry Cleaning Talk

Gentlemen's clothes cleaned by a Cleanery with the ability nad equipments to produce first-class work, will stay clean longer, as when done by an ordinary suit presser who only brushes the surface dust off and removes the most prominent spots from the surface.

With our process the garments are thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, the linings are cleaned and spots that are removed will stay removed and do not appear again the first time the garments are exposed to the dust and grim of the street.

In the beginning it may cost a little more, but will pay at the end, as the clothes don't have to be at the cleaners every two weeks.

HOW TO CHOOSE A HUBBY

Rev. E. O. Brown, of Dunellen, Gives Timely Advice to Young Women.

"Choosing a Husband," was the theme of a sermon preached by the Rev. Ernest O. Brown in the Presbyterian church at Dunellen last night, that attracted a large congregation which included a large representation of young people. The discourse was intended especially for the young women but the young men were also out in large numbers.

Mr. Brown presented the subject to his hearers in plain and forceful language, and if the young women of Dunellen, heed the advice in the sermon, all will have model husbands and happy homes. Mr. Brown's text was taken from the fifth chapter of Ephesians and the twenty-fifth verse: "Husbands love your wives even as Christ does the Church."

As a prelude to his discourse Mr. Brown referred to the apalling growth of the divorce evil and declared that it was up to the churches to recognize that they have a big mission to perform in trying to check the evil. "Twenty years ago," declared Mr. Brown, "divorce cases were rare things, but now they are common. Statistics show that there is one divorce for every dozen or fifteen marriages. The churches therefore owe a duty to the young people of the country in trying to assist them in selecting helpmeets."

Pastor Brown also rapped the drinking evil. "Young women who are contemplating marriage," continued Mr. Brown, "should make sure that their choice are total abstainers from intoxicating liquor. I believe that the time is fast coming when a young man who handles, tastes or touches intoxicating liquor, will be looked upon with cold eyes and ostracised by his fellows.

"Young women it is dangerous to take a helpmeet who occasionally touches strong drink. The habit invariably grows on a man and it creates a desire to take the husband away from his home and family.

"Another essential qualification for the model husband," continued Pastor Brown," is that the young man should be a follower of the Lord. A young woman who marries a Christian young man has nothing to fear. All problems of married life will be settled amicably and such a husband will be an honor and blessing to the home and community. Fathers and mothers can always trust such young men in company with their daughters."

In telling of unnecessary qualifications for a husband Mr. Brown stated that good looks are not essential for good husbands. "Many young women aspire to become wives of handsome young men, but it is a big mistake to aspire to beauty. Some young women are inclined to select men of intellectual attainment while others have desires to wed rich men.

"But there is something that towers above these—a young man of common sense. There is nothing of greater value to a young man than hard common sense. Young men who have this virtue have the power of appreciation. Young men who are minus common sense lack the appreciative qualities which is essential to the establishment of happy homes."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"A Gentleman from Mississippi," the record-smashing comedy which won the enthusiastic approval of two Presidents and which comes to the Plainfield theatre soon, enjoys the unique distinction of having spent almost two solid years in three cities.

"The Upstart," a new comedy by Tom Barry, will be presented at the Plainfield theatre on April 7 and 8. This new play has a novel theme, and is replete with strikingly original situations and brilliant lines, that prove a delight to all lovers of comedy. The cast is one of the strongest seen this season. It contains James Lackaye, who will be remembered for his excellent performance of "Larkin Bunce," in Cameo Kirby" last spring; Wm. A. Brady having released him from a five year contract especially to play the part of the Judge in The Upstart.

Miss Cheatham's Concert.

Miss Kitty Chatham's program for her concert at the High School this evening is long and interesting. It includes many of the numbers which won great applause in New York last Monday. Among them are a song by Guy D'Hardelot, written for Miss Cheatham, "Waltzing," and "The Cow," by Robert L. Stevenson; "Butterflies," by Minnie Cochrane; "WhenMalindy Sings," by Dunbar; some old negro songs and sayings, (a specialty with Miss Cheathem); "Some Thoughts of Little Boys" and "Punchinello" by J. L. Molloy. One great charm of these concerts is that they appeal to "grown-ups" as well as t ochildren, and their real human interest for young and old is best shown by the extent of her reputation. The concert will commence at a quarter past eight.

SCHOOLS' SINGING TEST

Judges are Announced for the Music Contest to be Held Here April 23, 29.

The public school music contest which will be held here on April 28 and 29, will undoubtedly arouse more than ordinary interest in the county and outside towns which have been admitted to the competition. The idea has been evolved by the supervisors of music in the public schools as a stimulus to interest in the study of music and schools of Elizabeth, Roselle, Roselle Park, Rahway, Westfield, North Plainfield, Bound Brook, New Brunswick and Somerville will be the competitors for honors.

The entries will be made up from the following list: Junior section, unison chorus of not more than fifty pupils from grades one to five inclusive. Grammar section, (a) three part chorus of not more than fifty pupils from any grades; (b) two-part chorus of not more than fifty voices from one school. High School section, chorus not to exceed fifty voices. Orchestra section, school orchestra with piano accompaniment. Individual sight reading test, any pupil in the public schools. Boys' chorus, two-part chorus of not more than thirty-five voices from any grade. Solo contest, (a), grammar school pupils; (b), High School pupils. Charles L. Lewiis, director of music in the Plainfield schools, is chairman of the general committee.

According to the program laid out by the supervisors of music each section will sing the same song as a competition number and a song selected by the individual supervisor. Special rules have been laid down by the supervisors for the orchestral selections and the soloists will all sing the same song.

The contests will be held in the Plainfield High School auditorium opening Thursday afternoon, April 28, at 2:30, with the junior section singing. Friday afternoon, April 29, the senior grades and the High School will have their innings, and the winners of the junior grades will also sing.

The parents of the children in all the grades should be present on these occasions not merely to hear but to encourage the learning of music by the children. It is claimed and rightly, that the learning of music is one of the upward steps, especially for those whose talents lie along artistic lines. It is believed that the boys and girls will receive inspiration from this contest which will be considerably increased in proportion to the interest shown by the parents in the work of their children.

THIS EASTER MART FOR WORTHY CHARITY

An Easter Mart will be held at the parish house of Grace church, Wednesday and Thursday from 4 to 10 o'clock under the auspices of the Sunday-school for the benefit of the Anti-Tuberculosis League. Two plays will be given each evening, "A String of Pearls," and "The Mouse Trap," under the direction of Mrs. Taylor.

The booths will be in charge of teachers as follows:

Country store Miss Egan and Miss Hansen; Japanese, Mrs. Taylor; flowers, Miss Fenner and Miss Hawthorne; grab-bag, Miss Dickinson and Miss Iredell; fancy table and candy, Mrs. Peterkin; ice cream and cake, Miss Titus and Miss Angell; stationery and books, Mrs. Avery; magazine subscriptions, Mr. Leggett and John Jewett.

In "Ye Roome of Ye Olden Tyme" will be exhibited a loan collection of old laces and shawls. Efforts will be made to revive as far as possible the spirit of olden days. During the afternoons tea will be served.

Will Talk on Missions.

Mrs. William D. Murray will speak on "1910, a Great Missionary Year," and Mrs. James L. Greenleaf will read a synopsis of "What Presbyterian Foreign Missions are Doing for Education," at the meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society to be held in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow afternoon.

Praise Mr. Roosevelt.

The annual Newark Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in session at Newark, today passed a resolution praising Theodore Roosevelt for refusing an audience with Pope Pius XIII. on terms to be made by the latter. The Bishop will announce his appointments at tomorrow's session. All the Plainfield pastors will be returned.

Back to America Again.

William Brown son of Joseph Brown, of Grant avenue, arrived in New York yesterday on the steamship Caledonia of the Anchor Line. Mr. Brown is twenty-two years old and went to Scotland when a child of two years. He is a mason by occupation and will make his home in this country.

DUNELLEN CHURCH IN PROSPEROUS STATE

Dunellen Presbyterians are congratulating themselves over the splendid showing made by the congregation last year. In the receipts there was an increase of 20 per cent. over the preceding year and the church begins its new fiscal year with a clean slate. This rosy condition of affairs was made apparent by the reports of the various organizations of the church which were presented to the board of trustees at a meeting of that body on Saturday night.

The total receipts of the year was $3,374.13 and the disbursements $3,159.06, representing an increase of $700.66 over 1909 and a $557.76 increase over 1908. The work of the various departments is presented in the following report:

Sinking fund: receipts, $279.66; disbursements, $236.50; Sunday school: Receipts, $381.68; disbursements, $342.14; Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society: Receipts, $86; disbursements, $86; Benevolent fund: Receipts, $220.79; disbursements, $258.06; Board of deacons: Receipts, $27.01; disbursements, $12.75; Young People's Society Christian Endeavor: Receipts, $62.41; disbursements, $54.07; Junior C. E. Society; Receipts, $13.80; disbursements, $14.85; Organ fund: Receipts, $501.25; disbursements, $354; board of trustees: Receipts, $2.065.33; disbursements, $2.064.39.

Sold Blacksmith Business.

An agreement of sale, covering the transfer of the blacksmith business belonging to W. L. Sharkey, on Lincoln place, to John E. Forgeson, of the borough, formerly of Stockholm, was signed on Saturday by the interested parties. Mr. Forgeson will take charge of the business May 1. The negotiations of sale was carried on by Vincent W. Nash Jr., Esq.

Auction Called Off.

Having disposed of the place at private sale, Charles H. Hand has called off the auction sale for the property at 306 North avenue east, Cranford, for Wednesday.

The Expressed Satisfaction of Business Houses that now have accounts with the STRANGER SEEMED OF UNSOUND MIND.

Chaham, April 4.—A stranger, supposed to be Henry P. Baker, a printer, whose mind seemed affected, was arrested here Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. J. T. Wagner, of Warren avenue, telephoned the police that a man, without either shoes or hat, and acting in a strange manner, was in the neighborhood. Policeman Paul Molitor went to the scene, and found the stranger sitting on the steps of a residence owned by William B. Brokaw, in Watchung avenue. He looked fagged out. He would not answer questions. He was taken in a hack to the lock-up. Dr. B. A. Prager declared his mind unbalanced.

As the necessary papers could not be secured to commit him to Morris Plains, he was taken to Memorial Hospital, Morristown, where he is confined pending word from relatives. In his pocket was a card bearing the name of Henry P. Baker and showing membership in the International Typographical Union. He also had a bunch of keys, with a tag on them, and some registry receipts, both of which bore the address of Frankford, Pa.

PROTEST AGAINST M. E. MINISTER IN P. E. PULPIT.

In its current issue, The Living Church, the foremost publication of the Episcopal church in this country, editorially calls the attention of Bishop Scarborough, of New Jersey, to the report that Rev. Dr. C. L. Cooder, of St. Paul's church, Rahway, violated canon, No. 19, on Palm Sunday morning.

The Living Church demands that the bishop investigate the report that Rev. Frank Moore, a Methodist minister, who is superintendent of the Rahway Reformatory, appeared in the chancel of St. Paul's in cassock, surplice and hood and that he preached a sermon from the pulpit on that occasion. The canon in question forbids anyone not an ordained minister of the Episcopal church to officiate at services. The Livig Church also demands that if the bishop finds the report correct that Dr. Cooder be placed on trial.

Charged with Looting Freight Cars.

Bayonne, April 4.—Frank, alias "Texas" Williams, aged twenty-two years, of Newark, and Thomas Wilson, also of Newark, were Wednesday held in $500 bail by Recorder Mara charged with looting Lehigh Valley freight cars. It is said they took about $900 worth of goods, including several suits of clothes, and that while Williams ran a trolley car bound for Jersey City the motorman purchased one of the suits.

Building "Spite Fence" at Rumson.

Long Branch, April 4.—James M. Allgor is erecting a ten-foot "spite fence" between his Rumson road property and the new $10,000 bungalow of Postmaster P. Hall Packer in West Park, Rumson. Mr. Allegor, it is said, will use the fence for advertising purposes. He and Mr. Packer, while the latter was Mayor of Seabright, had some differences over the building of an ice cream parlor on the Rumson road.

Overtaken on Railroad Bridge.

Trenton, April 4.—Frank Peacock, a potter, walking to work, was overtaken by an express train on a long railroad bridge. In a race for life to reach an abutment he fell from the bridge to the bank of a creek many feet below. His tongue was almost severed by the force of the fall and he sustained other injuries.

Priest Sings Illustrated Songs.

Bayonne, April 4.—The fair being held for the benefit of the convent building of St. Mary Star of the Sea church in the auditorium of the parochial school is well attended. A feature is the singing of illustrated songs by Rev. Father Cunningham, a curate at St. Mary's.

Fleischmann Distillery Sold.

The old Fleischmann distillery at East Millstone has been sold to Abram Marcus, of New Brunswick, and the property, it is said, will be used for manufacturing purposes. The plant has been idle since the Fleischmanns removed their yeast business to Peekskill, N. Y.

No Change in Rates.

John C. Clopper, grand master workman, of the A. O. U. W., has issued a circular letter to all subordinate lodges in the State, informing the members that there will be no change in the rates because the grand lodge seceded from the Supreme Lodge.

Stillwater Attacks Rum.

Newon, April 4.—Following in the footsteps of Branchville and Stanhope, the Stillwater Town Committee has appointed a board of protectors to "flag" alleged drunkards. The members are John S. Obdyke, Charles R. Westbrook and Chauncey Conklin.

Mrs. Winfield S. Angleman, of Waynewood Park, who has been detained at home by illness for a number of weeks, is improving slowly.

NEWS AND NOTES
BY GEORGE E. FIRSTBROOK

LOCAL MINOR LEAGUERS TENDERED A DINNER

Hotel Iroquois was the scene of a jolly gathering of ball players on Saturday night, the occasion being a dinner in honor of Clifford Randolph, James Emery and Jack Martin, the locals boys who will play in the minor league arena this summer. The affair was arranged by Ernest Dorflinger.

Proprietor Jerome Leary maintained his reputation by putting up a tempting spread which everybody enjoyed. After the eating was over the party adjourned to the parlor and spent the remainder of the evening in a social manner. Thomas Muir furnished considerable pleasure by rendering a number of vocal selections.

An informal meeting was also held and Manager Dorflinger announced that everything is in readiness for the opening game here on Saturday, April 23, with the crack O. N. T. nine of Newark, as the opponents of the locals. It is probable that some big features will be arranged for the game, including the engagement of a band, and a parade of all local amateur teams to the grounds. If the idea is carried out Plainfield will have the biggest baseball opening in its history.

Johnny Campbell goes to Newark tonight to roll the first games in the home and home series with Henry Garrabrants, the crack bowler of the Tuxedo five of that city.

President Lynch has appointed a ninth umpire for his National League staff. The latest appointment is De Witt Van Cleef, of Trenton. For several years Van Cleef has been umpiring amateur college and semi-pro games in and around New Jersey and is well spoken of.

National League umpires will meet in New York today to receive instructions from Thomas J. Lynch, president of the old organization. As a retired arbitrator Mr. Lynch has recollections of umpiring the experiences which the staff of this season will hear about without any soft pedals on the speech.

That there is respect for the new head of the National League is evidenced by the eagerness with which club managers have instructed players during the spring training jaunts. Nearly every team leader has quietly informed his players that he will do all the kicking necessary.

A Pittsburg newspaper publishes a dispatch from Hot Springs, Ark., to the effect that Manager Fred Clarke of the world's champions has installed Bud Sharpe, the former Eastern Leaguer, on first base. During the early part of the training season reports from Hot Springs stated that Jack Flynn, the American Association first baseman from St. Paul, for whom Pittsburg paid $4,000, would take that position, but of the two Sharpe appears to have worked out the best in the spring training.

BOWLING.

Tonight has been designated as Plainfield night in the Inter-State Head Pin Tourney at the Tuxedo alleys in Newark, and four teams from this city will journey over to strive for the trophies and medals offered the successful contestants.

The teams are Watchung No. 1, Watchung No. 2, Elks and Ponies. After the head pin competition Johnny Campbell and William Garrabrant will roll the first half of their match which calls for twenty-one games; the first ten to be rolled on the Tuxedo alleys.

The return will probably be rolled here on Thursday night.

The schedule for this week in the two man tourney is as follows: Tuesday, Miller and G. Ortleb, Matthews and W. Meyer, Kiely and Stout; Wednesday, Herbert and Campbell, Eller and Vanderbilt, Burscher and Schaub; Friday, Vail and C. Meyer, Laing and Blatz, Clarkson and Conover.

(Other Sporting News on Page 8)

HERE AND THERE.

The current issue of "Newspaperdom" has the following to say about a Plainfield man: "One of the largest contracts ever made for a newspaper is that which R. F. R. Huntsman, advertising manager of the Brooklyn Standard Union, has arranged with John Wanamaker. Mr. Wanamaker has selected the Brooklyn Standard Union as the one paper in Brooklyn to print daily a full page of Wanamaker Store advertising. This contract covers several millions of lines of space and will cost the Wanamaker Store several hundred thousands of dollars. There are four papers printing the Wanamaker daily page, but the Standard Union and the New York Evening Mail seem to have slightly the better contracts, because these two papers have eight columns to a page instead of seven.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Sacred Heart T. A. B. cadet society will hold an all-day celebration on Decoration Day. The program will include a parade, a baseball game between the South Plainfield B. B. C. and the Puritan A. C., of Perth Amboy, and in the afternoon a big athletic meet. There will also be a tub race, two swimming races, a sack race, a three-legged race, a boat race and a bicycle race. Refreshments will be served on the grounds.

The young women of the village were collecting money and donations for a dance given Friday evening by the local athletic team, of which Robert McDonough is captain.

Almost every vacant house in the village has been rented, and there is a great demand for small houses for the working class.

Edward Ledden has returned home after an extensive tour of the western States. He has been away for seven months.

The Rev. J. J. Allen occupied the pulpit both morning and evening. Prayer meeting as usual at 7:45 this evening.

Melville Brown, of New York, is home from Cornell University and is spending a few days with his cousin, Philip Smith.

Harry Tyson, of Brooklyn, who has been visiting his cousin, John Geary, of this place, returned home yesterday.

Philip Smith, of Brookside avenue, has purchased a handsome motorboat. The boat arrived last Saturday.

A row of beautiful elm trees, fifty years old, have been cut down on the old Jones property on Plainfield avenue.

Samuel Manning is the first to put in a field of oats in this vicinity, six weeks earlier than was his usual custom.

Mrs. Foote who resided for many years on Plainfield avenue, is spending the winter in "San Antonio," Texas.

Mrs. Chamaiden, who has been seriously ill, is greatly improved and will soon be able to be about again.

The local schools reopened today after a week's vacation. This is the beginning of the spring season.

Mr. and Mrs. Clausen, who were recently married, have rented a house in Samptown.

There has been no rain in this section for over four weeks, and it is greatly needed.

Mrs. Hardy, of Dunellen, is visiting friends in the village.

Don't Wrestle With Furnace Clinkers

Clinkers just naturally pass right through the grate of the Boynton.

If they hesitate, the cutting bar smashes them. There is no chance of clogging. The intense and uniform heat of the reduces nearly everything to the finest ash. That's because a square pot develops more heat per unit of fuel than any other kind. That's economy.

BOYNTON

Square Fire-Pot FURNACE

The Boynton has some other exceptional features too—the fresh air supply—the dust flue—the square ash pit. Any BOYNTON dealer will be glad to explain how these points reduce the care and cost of up-keep.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for Steam or Hot Water. Also Ranges.

N. P. H. S. SMOTHERS SCHOOL'S ALUMNI NINE

N. P. H. S.' baseball aggregation downed the Alumni combination on Hyde Field Saturday afternoon by the score of 13 to 2. The schoolboys displayed fast form and the indications are that the boroughit's will be a speedy team when the season gets under way.

Percy Bailey's hitting was a big feature of the game, one of his welts being a three sacker and the other a single. Stine made a fine showing behind the bat. The score:

A Question of Names.

"I wish," said Mr. Crosslots, peevisively, "they would give trolley cars fancy names like those of Pullman sleepers."

"Why?"

"Maybe if they called the last car 'La Grippe' it wouldn't be so hard to catch."—Washington Evening Star.

CITY FATHERS' ROUTINE

Many Minor Matters Engage Attention of the Common Council.

PETITIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

Reports Received and Small Appropriations Made—A Horse Purchased for the Alms Department.

Numerous petitions the majority of minor importance engaged the attention of the Common Council at its April meeting last night. The Erickson estate and other interested property-owners asked the Council to vacate an unopened and unused street, between West Seventh and Eighth street, being an extension of New street. It was referred to the street committee. W. B. Wadsworth and others petitioned for three lights on Woodland avenue, and on the motion of the chairman of the light committee the request was granted.

The Central Holding Company, Ernest Sharpe, president, requested that a pumping station be installed in the vicinity of Plainfield, Sherman and Grant avenue, making it possible to sewer a tract of land owned by the company. The company agrees to pay its proportion of the expense. This was referred to the street committee.

A communication was received from the League of American Municipalities inviting the city to send a representative to the fourteenth annual convention to be held in St. Paul in August. It was referred to the public affairs committee and later Mr. Mygratt, the chairman, moved that the same be filled.

The Highland Park Realty Company requested the Council to apportion a sewer assessment of $179.79, in accordance with recent changes made in certain properties in the company's tract. This was referred to the finance committee.

Another petition from residents of Randolph road and Woodland avenue asked that a pumping station be established on the former thoroughfare so that that section of the city could be sewered. This was referred to the sewer committee and a petition to open Astor place to Hunter avenue was referred to the street committee.

Overseer of the Poor A. D. Ayres reported the expenses for the past month to be $474.20. Horace G. Adams, clerk of the District court, reported receipts for the past month to be $133.66 and disbursements, $35.68, leaving a balance of $97.98. Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported that twenty-six permits were granted during March and Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett reported that thirty-three sewer permits were granted during the same period.

Complying with a request of Enoch Berry and other property-owners in the East End, the Council appropriated $200 toward the work of grading Midway avenue and removing the old railroad embankment at that point. It is understood that the cost will be about $700. Mr. Berry as well as other members and officers of the Netherwood Reformed church are anxious to have this improvement made.

In accordance with a resolution offered by Frank DeWitt Randolph, chairman of the alms committee, $80 was appropriated for the purchase of a horse for use at the Alms House. The horse was bought recently and last night's action made it possible for the committee to pay for the animal.

A resolution offered by Mr. Buxton and adopted, transferred $500 from the general fund to the fire fund and $200 from the general fund to the poor fund. Another resolution authorized the advertising for bids for furnishing hay, coal and feed for the police, fire and poor departments. The bids will be received and opened Monday night, May 2.

Mr. Gloak, chairman of the street committee, offered two proposed ordinances which were passed on first and second readings and ordered advertised. One provides for establishing the grade on West Fourth street, Thornton avenue, Leland and South avenues, and the other for opening up and laying out Martine avenue, from Park to Hillside avenue. Public hearings will be granted on Monday night, May 2.

The bond of Michael F. Watson was presented and referred to Corporation Counsel Marsh for approval. On motion of Mr. Buxton Council adjourned to meet again on Monday night, April 11.

Got Suspended Sentence.

John Giles, of Highland avenue, arrested yesterday afternoon on Hillside avenue for being drunk and disorderly, was given a suspended sentence by City Judge William Runyon this morning. If Giles gets in the toils again he will face a fine of $50 or will have to spend fifty days in the county jail.

MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION FAVOR THE M.O. ELECTION

The Merchants' Association met in the store of Shirley and Johnston last night and took favorable action upon the proposition to aid the Common Council for the proposed investigation of the water problem by obtaining the voters consent.

The association took the stand that they are in favor of the scheme and will do all in its power to further the project. A committee of six was appointed to conduct a campaign of education in the matter and is composed of the following men: A. E. Force, Herbert Schuldenfrei, F. A. Duttenhofer, Herman Schwed, John Johnston and H. P. Greenwood.

Theodore Shirley told of his investigation of the municipal water works in Chicago which he learned was a complete success and satisfactory from every viewpoint. Others who favored the move gave their reasons and Nathan Meyer spoke at length on the subject.

TALENTED SINGERS TO GIVE A CONCERT

Under the auspices of St. Stephen's church a concert of unusual merit will be given at the Hartridge School Auditorium, on Thursday night. Among the artists to appear will be Mr. and Mrs. Jos. McIntyre, who will be at the piano; Edith Chapman Goold, soprano, whose oratorical and concert work is well known; Sarah Moore, soprano, who will make her first appearance here; John Young, tenor, who is a favorite here; Mildred Potter, contralto, who has a voice of exceptional quality; Fred Wheeler, basso, who also makes his first appearance here and Raymond Loder, baritone, who is popular here in his artistic rendition of songs.

The program is an exceptional one and among the numbers will be the opening quartet from "The Persian Garden," the quartet from "Rigoletto," and the sextette from "Lucia." Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre will be heard in piano duets. Tickets are now on sale at Schreiner's and Armstrong's drug stores.

DRYEST MARCH IN 23 YEARS SAYS NEAGLE

According to the statistics furnished by Weather Prophet John Neagle, the past month of March was the dryest in twenty-three years, the precipitation being 3.48 inches below the normal for that length of time. The mean temperature for the month was 5.6 degrees above the normal. The maximum temperature of the 30th was the highest in the twenty-three year record. The official data is as follows:

MRS. B. VAN D. HEDGES ON "GREAT ENGLISH ACTORS."

A delightful and comprehensive paper on "Great English Actors," prepared by Mrs. Benjamin Van-Doren Hedges and read by Mrs. Duncan W. Taylor, was presented at the meeting of the Monday Afternoon Club held yesterday in the Hartridge School auditorium.

It was preceded by current events limited to "The Art of the Season." The discussion was led by Mrs. Edward V. Cox, and proved most interesting.

J. W. Stewart's Funeral.

The funeral service of the late J. Warren Stewart was conducted this afternoon at his late home, 38 Lincoln place. Rev. George Bowers, an old personal friend, conducted the service. Interment was made in the Methodist cemetery, the bearers being L. E. Barkelew, John Becker, Jr., Thomas McGann, Abram Angleman, David Testein and John Ammon.

TO WELCOME NEW PASTOR

Mr. Mc Cutchen to Preside at Recognition Services for Rev. Mr. Maguire.

MANY SPEAKERS ON PROGRAM

Rev. Drs. Eaton, Vassar and Herring and City Judge Runyon to Talk—Reception to Follow the Services.

Arrangements have been completed for the recognition services and reception to be tendered to Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, the new pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, Thursday night, at 8 o'clock. Charles W. McCutchen, of the First Baptis church, will preside.

The order of the services will be an organ voluntary, an anthem by the choir, singing of a hymn, Scripture reading by Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church; prayer by Rev. J. W. Musson, of the Temple Baptist church.

Rev. Dr. T. E. Vassar, of Elizabeth, will extend a welcome to Pastor Maguire to the State, and City Judge William N. Runyon will welcome him to the city, while Rev. Dr C. E. Herring will extend the interdenominational welcome. Following a duet by Mrs. Robert Humpstone and Mr. Tallamy, there will be an address by Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton on "The Church and its Pastor." There will be a response by Pastor Maguire.

After the services a reception will be given to Pastor Maguire and his family in the Sunday school room

TRADE BOARD TO DISCUSS PUBLIC SCHOOL METHODS

The Board of Trade has planned for an interesting meeting on Thursday night at the board's rooms, 109 Park avenue, in which the subject of the public school system will be discussed by eminent educators of this and other towns. Union County Superintendent Savitz, of Westfield, H. C. Krebs, of North Plainfield, and Dr. Henry M. Maxson, of this city, will speak and others, members of boards of education from this city Westfield and North Plainfield, will be present.

The interest in the educational question has always been keen and especially so at the present time and this meeting will give ample opportunity to everyone to express his views on the subject. The invitation is extened to all citizens of this city and the borough, who are at all interested in educational matters to attend the meeting and so familiarize themselves with present public school methods.

William Jeffery, president of the board, will preside and is earnest in his desire that all citizens who have children attending of the public schools be present on this occasion.

WILL THE LEGISLATURE PROBE GRAFT CHARGES?

Rumors are flying thick and fast about the State House at Trenton today to the effect that there is to be a legislative investigation into charges of graft and evil influences in connection with the consideration of certain bills now before the lawmakers, notably the McCran water bill and the Lee trolley bill.

Following the sensational charges made in a Newark morning newspaper with reference to these two measures together with Governor Fort's speech in New York in which he denounced the lobbying that is going on about the State House. The Senate in executive session early this morning discussed the subject of a probe into these alleged conditions. Senators Osborne and Wakelee, who have been especially subjected to criticism, demanded an inquiry.

The Easter Mart.

Tickets for the Easter Mart, which will be held at the parish house of the Grace M. E. church on Wednesday and Thursday afternoon and evenings are selling freely and the indications are that the Anti-Tuberculosis League's treasury will be enriched considerably. Lovers of amateur theatricals are promised a treat in the presentation of the two plays now being rehearsed.

Funeral of Miss Harriott.

The funeral of Miss Jane V. Harriott was held this afternoon from the late home, on Watchung avenue. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, officiated. The burial will be in Hillside Cemetery.

MISS CHEATHAM'S RECITAL

TELLS "WHY ADAM SINNED."

Versatile Entertainer in Class by Herself—"The Little Grey Lamb" and Others.

Miss Kitty Cheatham, whose fame has preceded her, unequivocally captured the large and fashionable audience which attended the recital in the High School Auditorium last night. Ever since Miss Cheatham's first appearance before a New York audience filled with critics she has progressed in a way to be envied. The New York critics have had nothing but praise for this talented woman and her recital last night amply sustained the splendid reputation she has earned in the metropolis. She is in a class by herself.

Under the auspices of the Plainfield Musical Club Miss Cheatham delighted upward of four hundred people and demonstrated that all the good that has been said of her was not in the least exaggerated. From the first number to the last on a varied program Miss Cheatham simply owned her audience and if there had been a case of "blues" in there when the recital began it was dissipated before Miss Cheatham had finished telling "Why Adam Slinned." It won't do to tell how she accounted for Adam's downfall, but it is worth anybody's time to listen to this splendid artist while she describes it.

The whole program from beginning to end showed the great versatility of Miss Cheatham. The story of "The Little Grey Lamb," one of the serious things recited had a Christmas atmosphere all its own and revealed the artist at her best. The little descriptive interpolations were hugely enjoyed as were the darky melodies and recitations. The whole preformance was a rare treat, and the Musical Club is to be congratulated.

SEVENTH DAY BAPTISTS ANNUAL MEETING HELD

The annual meeting of the Seventh Day Baptist church was held Monday afternoon and resulted in the reelection of the same officers who have served during the past year. Letters from former pastors of the church were read and at 5 o'clock an adjournment was taken for supper. Reports for the year were read showing the church to be in a flourishing condition and the social hour was enjoyed by the members in attendance.

N. O. Moore was chairman of the meeting and upon a motion the report of the trustees was adopted. The report of the treasurer, W. M. Stillman, showed a balance in the church treasury of nearly $1,800. From this amount will be paid, $100 to Miss Jessie M. Utter as an appreciation of her services as organist.

$150 more was set aside to fit up a room in Salem College, West Virginia. This room will be named after the Rev. Theodore L. Gardiner, former president of the college. $200 was appropriated toward the establishment of a scholarship in Milton College, Wisconsin. This will be known as the Edwin Shaw scholarship. A sum equal to five per cent. of the pastor's salary is to be set aside each year as part of a permanent fund to be used for support of superannuated pastors.

THE WEATHER.

Rain tonight and Wednesday; colder Wednesday in west portion; moderate south to southwest winds. Maximum, 58; minimum, 53.

A. O. H. Get Settlement.

The A. O. H. whose property was damaged in the recent Front street fire has made a satisfactory settlement with the insurance company through its agent, W. A. Woodruff. The claims of the society were paid in full.

PASTORS ARE RETURNED

Local M. E. Ministers Sent Back for Another Year by the Bishop.

DR. M'CREA TO JERSEY CITY.

Spellmeyer Memorial Chapel for Princeton University—A Home for Dependent Children.

The annual session of the Newark Conference of he Methodist Episcopal church came to a close early this afternoon. No changes were made in the Plainfield charges, Rev Dr. C. M. Anderson being returned to the First M. E. church; Rev. Charles Sumner Kemble to Monroe Avenue M. E. church, and Rev. Ora J. Shoop to Grace M. E. church. Rev. Dr. A. M. McCrea, formerly of the First M. E. church, but who was pastor of Centenary church, Newark, this year, was sent to Emory M. E. church, Jersey City, and Rev. George G. Vogel, who has been pastor of Emory church, was sent to Centenary church. Rev. Dr. C. L. Mead was returned to Hoboken.

As a memorial to the late Bishop Henry Spellmeyer it was decided yesterday to begin action at once toward the erection at Princeton of a chapel for the use of the Methodist students there. Action was also taken looking to the establishment of a home for dependent children within the Conference and at the suggestion of Dr. McCrea a committee was appointed to investigate the project.

In the appointment of standing committees yesterday, Dr. Anderson was made a trustee of Centenary Fund and Preachers' Aid Society, his term expiring in 1912.

SOMERSET'S SURROGATE GIVEN A REPRIMAND

William DeMond, surrogate of Somerset county, an undertaker doing business at Somerville, received a reprimand from the North Plainfield Board of Health last night because his agent, Thomas A. Moore, a former local undertaker, violated the health ordinance by interring a body in St. Mary's cemetery without a burial permit on March 4.

Surrogate De Mond made satisfactory explanation to the health authorities regarding his connection and responsibility in the case named. He stated that Moore had acted as an agent but was no longer so and added that he would be careful in the future.

EDUCATION BOARD MEETS; REPORTS OF INSPECTORS

At the meeting of the Board of Education last night some interesting reports were read regarding the inspection of pupils in the public schools. The medical examiners reported having examined 170 pupils during the month of March. The Dental inspectors reported that the total number of pupils examined to date was 2,652, of which 1,508 have visited dentists.

The amount reported by Tax Collector William R. Townsend, for the school money during March was $527.10 and the State money received amounted to $5,801.64. The balance on hand with the custodian March 31, $70,807.77.

An application for the position of janitor was received from Alexander Gordon. Advertising for coal and for supplies for the new Jefferson school were authorized. Bids for these necessaries will be opened at an adjourned meeting of the board to be held on Monday evening, April 18 next. The clerk of the board was authorized to engage the First Baptist church and Suhr's orchestra for the commencement exercises in June next.

Personal Tax Bill.

After heroic action, Senator Prince, of Passaic, succeeded in having the vote by which Mr. Moore's bill (House No. 43) was lost, reconsidered, and brought once more before the Senate. This measure provides for the exemption from taxation of al personal property up to $200. Efforts to pass the bill, however, failed again, and this time the measure was lost for good.

"Tonsorial Artists" Law.

Barbers will have to obtain licenses and pass examinations before a State board if the Ford bill passed by the Assembly at Trenton last night becomes a law.

EXEMPT FIREMEN HONOR COURT CLERK ADAMS

District Court Clerk Horace G. Adams was signally honored by the North Plainfield Firemen's Exempt Association last night by being elected an honorary life member of the association. The honor was bestowed on Mr. Adams in recognition of services rendered as delegate for the association at the annual State conventions in recent years.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Louis Feiring; vice-president, Augustus Feiring; secretary, David Bodine; financial secretary, James Walker; treasurer, John Schenck; representative fireman's relief association, James D. Anderson; delegates to State convention, Horace G. Adams, George Hummer, Louis Feiring, William Ricketts, John Schenck; trustees, J. J. Stahl, Horace G. Adams, Winfield Conover. The State convention will be held in Masonic Temple at Trenton on May 18.

CHURCH PROPERTY TO GO TO DENOMINATION

The State Senate at Trenton yesterday afternoon took favorable action on Mr. Pierce's bill amending the act incorporating the trustees of the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

As explained by Senator Ackerman the Seventh-Day Baptist church is gradually going out of existence. He said that at the present time there were only four congregations in the State of New Jersey, and while the bill was not needed at the present time it might be at any time in the future.

According to the present law, as these congregations go out of existence the property owned by them passes into the hands of the regular Baptist denomination. This has resulted in great losses to the Seventh-Day church and according to the provisions of Mr. Pierce's bill the real estate owned by the Seventh-Day Baptist church will, upon the dissolution of any congregation, pass to the Seventh-Day Baptist Missionary Society. The bill had no opposition.

SUSPICIOUS BLAZE IN LIBERTY STREET BARN

A blaze discovered by Patrolman Sweeney, at 1:10 o'clock this morning, brought the fire department to a barn at 125 Liberty street, where for a few minutes things looked serious enough for the surrounding property. After turning in the alarm the patrolman returned to the barn and breaking in the doors released two frightened horses and returning rolled out the two wagons and in fact saved everything of value in the structure.

The firemen found a fierce blaze going when they arrived and it was only after a valiant struggle that the blaze was subdued. The loss will probably amount to $200. The barn was the property of Mrs. Lillie Sturtevant.

This is not the first time that this barn has been on fire and it has been alleged that the blaze of last night was the work of an incendiary. As far as could be ascertained the fire broke out in the hay loft, but its origin was a mystery to the firemen.

THE BAPTIST MINISTERS' OUTING MONDAY, MAY 23.

The Ministers' Conference of the East New Jersey Baptist Association held a short afternoon session, yesterday to conclude the business. Immediately upon reconvening after lunch, the ministers found that the constitution would not permit of the re-election of a president to succeed himself, so Rev. J. Madison Hare, of Jersey City, was chosen president to succeed Rev. S. J. Skevington, of Newark.

It was decided to hold the annual outing on Monday, May 23, and Rev. S. J. Skevington, of Newark; Rev. M. T. Shelford, of Jersey City, and Rev. J. W. Musson, of this city, were appointed a committe to arrange the details.

Sunday School Elects.

The Sunday school of the Temple Baptist church elected these officers on Sunday for the coming year: Superintendent, L. W. Randolph; assistant superintendent, Frank Stewart; secretary, Charles Griffin; treasurer, Edward Baker, Jr.; superintendent Home department, Mrs. J. W. Musson; superintendent Junior department, Mrs. Edward Baker, Jr.; superintendent Primary department, Miss Mattie Viebrock.

GIVE GAVETT AN INCREASE

Common Council Raises the Street Commissioner's Salary to $3.000.

AN AUTOMOBILE FOR HIM.

The City Fathers May Also Purchase A Car for Fire Chief Thaddeus O. Doane.

Unsolicited on his part, Street Commissioner Andrew J. Gavett was given an increase of $300 in his salary at the April meeting of the Common Council last night. The action was taken after a recess held to discuss the matter. The increase dates from January 1 last. Mr. Gavett was receiving $1,500 as street commissioner and $1,200 for looking after the sewer work. The increase will make his salary $3,000 for all work.

In this connection the street committee is considering seriously the purchase of an auto runabout for Mr. Gavett's use. The commissioner depends entirely on his own bicycle to cover the seventy-five miles of streets in the city and the committee believes that he is entitled to better means of transportation. An automobile such as would meet the requirements would cost the city about $485.

As suggested by the councilmanic fire committee and concurred in by other members of the Council, it is likely that an automobile will be purchased for the use of Chief T. O. Doane. The horse he is now using for fire purposes is about "all in" and it is of the opinion that it would be economy to buy a car. A new horse would cost about $300 and there would be an additional expense of $150 to make repairs to the chief's carriage. An auto such as the chief should have, in the opinion of the committee, would cost about $800. Nothing definite has been decided in these matters, but it is quite likely that the autos will be purchased in the near future.

PRIMARY GRADED UNION HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION.

The Primary Graded Teachers' Union held its annual meeting in the Y. W. C. A. rooms yesterday afternoon and elected these officers for the year:

Honorary President, Miss Nettie J. Beeching; Honorary vice-president, Mrs. F. R. Baker; president, Mrs. J. A. Powlison; first vice-president, Mrs. Douglass Darby; second vice-president, Mrs. Edgar Williams; third vice-president, Mrs. George Ballentyne; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Robert W. Barnes; assistant secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Elvaine VanName; librarian, Miss Mary White; pianist, Mrs. L. R. Schofield; assistant, Miss Nellie Winckler.

The union will hold an institute on Monday, May 9, at the First Baptist church, when a speaker of much prominence in Sunday school work will make the address. It was announced yesterday that on Monday Mrs. Edgar Williams will teach the beginners' lesson; Miss Elmira Runyon the primary lesson and Mrs. W. S. Lowry the junior lesson.

COUNTRY CLUB OPENING TAKES PLACE ON MAY 14.

The Plainfield Country Club has fixed on Saturday, May 14, as the day for the formal opening and field day sports. In former years this event has been held later in the season.

Another auspicious event being planned by the club is an open-air performance of possibly, "As You Like It," by the Coburn Players. The date for this event has been fixed for Tuesday, June 7, and the play will be given at some convenient place on the golf course, where it will be possible to accomodate a large number of people.

The club has decided to instruct owners of autos to run their machines up near the clubhouse, and owners of horses and cariage to do the same at their own risk.

Senior Dance at Seminary.

The annual senior class dance was held at the Plainfield Seminary, on Friday night, there being about 150 present, including many from out-of-town. This year's graduates are Miss Mabrielle MacQuaide and Miss Sylvia Curtis, and the graduation exercises will be held the first week in June. At the dance Friday night the rooms were decorated by the juniors, Japanese lanterns, palms and potted plants being used with good effect. Music for dancing was furnished by Westervelt, and the supper by Mrs. Henry Johnson. During the early part of June the young women at the school will give three little plays.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

The big seine at the Washington Park shad fishery will not be operated until the end of this week.

Suffering from a dislocated shoulder, caused by a fall, Morris Freas, twenty-eight years old, of Riverside, was cared for at Cooper Hospital, Camden, Sunday.

Squeezed between cars of the Reading Railway while at work, Sunday, Morristine Lamasat, twenty-five years old, of 261 Spruce street, Camden was taken to Cooper Hospital.

Burned on the side of the face with hot fat, Lewis E. Ruggsley, eleven months old, of 521 Liberty street, Camden, was taken to Cooper Hospital Sunday. A cupful of the fat was accidentally upset on the child.

City Councilman Wm. J. Thompson and his family will this week vacate the handsome home, on the Delaware river, at Gloucester, which they have occupied about twenty years and which will be used as offices for the new immigrant station at that spot.

The contract for the erection of St. Leo's chapel, at Dundee Lake, has been awarded. Michael Cariucci & Sons will do the masonry for $2,150, Harry Schwartz Building Company, carpentry for $1,700 and Rutt Bros., roofing, $280. The edifice will be of red brick.

Luigi Salvatori was walking in the roadway on East State street Saturday night when he was struck by an automobile owned by William Gray. He was not seriously injured. Patrolman Bentley saw the accident and accepted the services of Mr. Gray and his auto to take the injured man to the hospital. Leaving the hospital, Bentley said to Gray: "I suppose I must arrest you." "All right," said Gray; "jump in and we'll go to the police station." Gray was released under $200 bail for a hearing.

BOOM GARVAN FOR GOVERNOR.

Bayonne, April 5.—The boom for Prosecutor of the Pleas Pierre P. Garven, of Hudson county, for the Republican nomination for Governor was started Saturday night at the annual dinner of the general Republican committee in this city. Many of the diners repeatedly cheered the prosecutor, who has conducted the prosecutions of the beef-packing barons now under indictment and likely to be extradited to New Jersey. When Mr. Garven arose to act as toastmaster he received a noisy ovation that lasted several minutes.

State Banking Commissioner Vivian M. Lewis, himself regarded as the leading candidate of the Republican forces of the State, paid tribute to the prosecutor, and said: "If Mr. Garven finds a remedy for the conditions due to the holding of meats and other food products in cold storage the people of the State will compel him to be their standard-bearer." This sentiment was cheered lustily, and some of the Republican leaders present seemed to acquiesce in it.

Speaking of the possibility of his candidacy, Prosecutor Garven, who was the former Mayor of Bayonne, said: "I am not a candidate for the Gubernatorial nomination. I can accomplish more for the people in the prosecution of the Beef Trust than I could if I were Governor. My ambition is to see that the criminal law is enforced which I believe is the best way to solve the trust problem. I would rather accomplish this than to hold high political office."

SAVING THE CHESTNUT TREES.

Trenton, April 5.—The State forester warns owners of chestnut trees against the employment of irresponsible men who offer to cure for a consideration the chestnut bark disease, blight, or canker, as it is variously called. It is reasonable enough, he says, to want to save a cherished tree that appears to be dying, but as a rule those who seek such tasks know little about trees and less about the specific disease.

"The chestnut blight," he continues, "is the most deadly enemy that has ever attacked our trees and there is no known remedy for it. A tree once infected is almost sure to die, though careful pruning of the affected members may check the progress of the destroying fungus. Fortunately only chestnut trees are attacked. A circular published by the State Forest Commission Trenton, tells how the trees should be treated and will be sent to any one who asks for it. Money spent for any other treatment is likely to be wasted."

NEWS AND NOTES
BY GEORGE E. FIRSTBROOK

HARRY DAVIS IS BEST HOME RUN SWATTER

Henry Davis of the Philadelphia Athletics is the champion home-run hitter of the American league. He didn't head the list last year or the year before, but in nine season he has made a total of 67 four-base drives, which beats anything any other player in the league can show. In addition to these home-run swats, Davis has made 292 doubles and 76 triples in nine years.

Back in the early days of the league "Buck" Freeman had the call for long distance hitting, with Lajoie, Seybold and Hickman as his rivals. Three of these great sluggers have passed from the league, leaving only Davis and Lajoie of the old guard. The first year of the American league Lajoie led in home runs with 13 while Freeman was a close second with 12.

In 1902 Seybold was knocking the cover off the ball, and led the league with 16 limit swats. Freeman was there again with eleven that year, and the following season he made 14 and led the league, while Hickman was second with 12. The next four years found Davis as the leading slugger of the league. In 1904 he led with 10 "homers," 8 in 1905, 12 in 1906, and 8 in 1907. Crawford took the honors away from Davis in 1908 with 7 four-baggers, against 5 for Davis. Last year Cobb led with 9, Davis getting but 4. But the record set by the Athletics' captain for nine years will give the coming sluggers a high mark to shoot at, and it may never be equaled.

Houser, who is looked upon as the most likely successor to Davis on the Athletic team, also has a big reputation as a slugger in the minor leagues, and if he can outhit Davis he will no doubt get the job.

But a record like that of Davis' would make any manager hesitate about making a switch, and it may be that if Davis starts out hitting at a lively clip that Houser will not get on the team this year. Davis is also a very popular member of the team, especially with the patrons of the game in other cities.

Scotch Plains is to have a ball team after all, as stated in this column last week and it's up to local loyalists to assist the enthusiasts of the 'Plains in their efforts to raise funds to equip the team with new uniforms to take the place of those destroyed by fire several weeks ago. In order to raise the necessary money a dance will be held at Garwood on Friday night, April 22. The veteran Joe Alberts, who is known to all Plainfield fans, will manage the club.

The chances of seeing Warry McLaughlin in a Plainfield uniform this year is most gratifying to local fans. "Warry" has lots of puzzles left in his flinging arm since he quit playing and there is no reason why he shouldn't deliver the goods.

"I'll be just as fast on second base as ever," declared Brit Martin the other day, "and I'll be there on the 'bingo' question also." Brit generally knows the nature of dope he is handing out and there is no room for argument on the question.

Newark is really a big sport city. At the ball game on Sunday between the Indians and Athletics 10,000 fans paid to see the exhibition, while 6,000 cycle fans thronged the Velodrome to see the opening cycle races.

The baseball corhorts of the P. H. S. are not discouraged over the team's defeat at the hands of Somerville High on Saturday; on the contrary scores of the student body are jubliant over the rosy prospects of the nine. Cranford High will be here tomorrow afternoon and the speedy Boy's High School team will be here on Saturday for a go with the locals.

Bob Ganley, formerly of the Athletics and Washington American League teams, will disport a Newark uniform this season. Ganley affixed his name to a McGinnity document yesterday.

With Kelly, Gettman and Ganley Newark will have the classiest outfield brigade in the Eastern League. In addition to this trio there is Benny Meyer to hear from.

GOLF.

A prominent local amateur was asked recently if he thought there was any likelihood of four-ball matches again being adopted in connection with the Lesley cup competition. He replied that while he personally favored the four-ball as against the old-fashioned foursome, he did not see much prospect of a change. It is well known that Boston remains as firm as ever in favor of the foursome, and, as a number of the Philadelphians feel the same way, the metropolitan golfers naturally hesitate about offering any opposition.

On the other side, the Professionals' Golf Association of Great Britain is now considering whether the foursomes shall be played first in the international match between England and Scotland. Certain members of the professional body have also gone so far as to advocate that the foursomes should count two points and the singles one point.

At Deal, England, last year the Englishmen won ten of the singles matches in the morning out of twelve played. These results made the issue certain, and the foursomes were played as a bye match. In the foursomes the Scotsmen more than held their own. Some said that the Englishmen, having won the match, did not bother to play their best in the foursome, but it is not often the case that golfers play their best when nothing is at stake and their worst when much depends on the match?

At Philadelphia last year, in the final of the Lesley cup matches, the metropolitan district won eight of the ten singles matches, so the foursomes, which were all won by Pennsylvania, left the New York men winners by 8 points to 7.

Plainfield, N. J., April 5, 1910.

In order that there may be an intelligent understanding of the purpose of the special election to be held on Tuesday, April 19, and more particularly that the merits and demerits of the proposition be fully discussed, this paper invites contributions on the subject. Anonymous communications are valueless and should be discouraged at all times. It is necessary also that the communications be limited to 1,000 words. Do not be afraid to express your views on the subject; send them to this paper and they will be published gladly.

J. E. MARTINE WANTED ELECTION POSTPONED.

James E. Martine in a communication to the Common Council at its April meeting, last night, urged that the date for the special water election be postponed from April 19 to May 19 to allow for greater publicity and to give all interested persons an opportunity to become better acquainted with every phase of the proposition.

The communication was referred to the committee on public affairs and later Mr. Mygatt, the chairman, returned the petition and moved that it be filed; also that it is the sense of the Council that no change in the date of the election be made.

Civic Society to Meet.

The Plainfield Civic Society will meet tonight on the top floor of the Woodhull & Martin building, at 8 o'clock, when a permanent organization will be effected. Arrangements will be made for an active campaign on the water question. James E. Martine, William Jeffery and others will address the society. Members of the Board of Trade, Merchants' Association and Plainfield Protective Association are invited. Through the pastors of the city the members of their churches have been invited to attend the meeting.

Proctor's New Show.

McNamee, a comedy clay modeler, is the headliner at Proctor's theatre today. He amuses his audiences by making faces of distinguished personages. E. D. Mantley & Co., appear in a pleasing sketch and Kraemer & Bierman, "the Hebrew Freshman and the Sophomore," are a clever pair. Jones and Rogers, song and dance artists, complete the bill.

Hope Chapel Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of Hope chapel will be held Thursday night at the chapel. Reports from all officers and organizations will be read, the church treasurer and the ways and means committee will be elected for the succeeding year and other business will be transacted.

The Water Question

Will be referred to the people at a special election to be held April 19, 1910.

The purpose of this election is to give the people an opportunity of expressing their opinion; of saying whether or not the Common Council shall be enpowered to determine the following questions:

1. Is it desirable for the City to own a Water Plant?

IF SO

2. Is it desirable to condemn the present Plant?

OR

3. Build a new Plant?

OR

4. Renew present contract with the Water Company?

The Common Council should have the power to decide these questions.

The Plainfield Protective Association is interested in the question because it is of vital importance to the Community, and because the Association is organized for the protection of the interests of the tax payers of the City and Borough.

Dry Cleaning Talk

Gentlemen's clothes cleaned by a Cleanery with the ability nad equipments to produce first-class work, will stay clean longer, as when done by an ordinary suit presser who only brushes the surface dust off and removes the most prominent spots from the surface.

With our process the garments are thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, the linings are cleaned and spots that are removed will stay removed and do not appear again the first time the garments are exposed to the dust and grim of the street.

In the beginning it may cost a little more, but will pay at the end, as the clothes don't have to be at the cleaners every two weeks.

Phone us and our wagon will call.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Charles Thornton, the South Plainfield hotel proprietor, formerly of New Market, is to shine on the lecture platform according to the following item from yesterday's New Brunswick Times: "Charles Thornton, former chief of the New Market fire department, who has returned from a month's vacation spent in England, will deliver an address before the people of New Market telling of his trip abroad."

The Borough Council last night at its monthly meeting adopted a building and fire ordinance on its first reading. The petition of the P. S. C. to lay a switch on North avenue was laid over until a special meeting next Monday night. A number of miscellaneous bills were ordered paid.

Rev. S. P. Harris, formerly pastor of the Methodist church at Raritan, will take up his residence in the borough the latter part of this month.

E. Williams, of East Branch, N. Y., has leased the Weisbecker farm and will take possession of the premises April 25.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Cloos have returned to their home in New York after a visit with Mrs. Ernestine Cottrelly.

Rev. George H. Gardiner attend the meeting of the East N. J. Baptist Association in Plainfield yesterday.

Michael Gallagher has recovered from his recent illness and is able to attend to business again.

Street Commissioner Goldson Smalley is engaged in grading and repairing Lincoln avenue.

John Kinney has been awarded the contract to paint the Wilcox house.

The W. C. T. U. will meet in Junor O. U. A. M. Hall on Thursday afternoon.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The work of macadamizing Park avenue from the Meadow Bridge to the trolley tracks is completed. The work puts Park avenue in good condition and gives it a road bed that will last for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Terry, who have been making their home in Brooklyn for the past two years, have removed back to their former home in the borough.

Miss Hoffman and Miss McGowan, of the corps of teachers, have returned from their Easter vacation, which was spent at their homes in Pennsylvania.

Joseph Peters, who has been spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. John Gillotti, of Forest avenue, has returned to his home in New York.

Miss Lillian Hoyt, who has been visiting Mrs. Charles Haberly, of Front street, has returned to her home in New York.

A number of young people from Fanwood and Plainfield will hold an invitation dance tonight in the Fanwood fire house.

Miss Isabella Hyams, of Front street, is visiting relatives and friends in New York.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The dance which was to have been held last Friday night in the Oak Tree school house for the benefit of the piano fund of that school, has been postponed. It will be held some time in the latter part of the month.

On next Tuesday, April 12, the South Plainfield F. C. will play their first regular game, when they hook up with the Plainfield High School freshmen on Crescent Oval.

The house being built on South Plainfield heights by M. C. Aiello is now rapidly nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy in a short time.

Mrs. H. McCaffrey, of this place, has returned home after a visit with relatives in Elizabeth.

Joseph Duffy, of this place, is suffering from an injury to his ear.

Death of Miss Kane.

Miss Winifred Kane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kane, of 516 West Third street, died yesterday afternoon after an illness of a month's duration from a complication of diseases. Miss Kane's case had been considered hopeless for the past two weeks and the young woman was resigned to her fate. A few days before her death she selected pall bearers to act at her funeral, which will be held Thursday morning at St. Mary's church. Miss Kane is also survived by two brothers, Michael and Martin Kane.

Bottle Dealer Fined.

D. DePrette, of Greenbrook, entered a plea of non vult before Justice Thomas Snape, yesterday on the charge of buying and selling registered bottles. His arrest was caused by the Eastern Bottling Company and Frank Linke. Deprette was fined fifteen dollars and costs.

THE FORUM.

Answers Wm. Jeffery.

Editor, The Daily Press:

It is much to be regretted that William Jeffery, every time he "jumps into the public press," indulges in personalities and ignores facts. Neither my personality nor his is at issue in the case of the recent Berkeley Heights school election, though certainly his is at least as vulnerable as mine, should anyone deem it worth while to make it the object of attack or ridicule. The notorious pettifoger's rule, "When you have no case, abuse the opposing attorney," may seem good to Mr. Jeffery, but I do not think it is convincing to men of calm judgment.

It is simply a gross impertinence for one man to impute to another feelings and motives which he does not and cannot know to exist, and which in fact never had any existence. Mr. Jeffery has no more right to say that I "feel chargrined" or that I "feel it keenly" that certain persons were not elected, than I would have to say that he sought election to the school board in order to gratify an itch for self-advertisement and self-exploitation.

His austere disapproval of the election of two members of one family to the board would sound much more convincing if it were not a well remembered fact that in each of the cases mentioned by him he himself actively and earnestly urged the election of those gentlemen. Only a year ago, when my brother was a member of the Board with a year more to serve, Mr. Jeffery was so eager to have me also elected to the board that he repeatedly called at my house to ask me to accept nomination and offered to canvass the district for votes for me, and did get his "Society of Our Men" to adopt a resolution supporting my candidacy. Why, he even composed and publicly sung an alleged song praising me and urging my election, in spite of which I was elected!

Mr. Jeffery is incorrect in saying that I have "attacked the successful candidates." I have not. I have and do criticise the manner of their election, in their appointment of a non-voter and noncitizen as teller of election. Even if that person had served in that capacity for the past twenty-three years, as Mr. Jeffery says, but as I certainly do not believe, that circumstance would not make such service proper or legal. The fact that the teller was a teacher in the township schools made the case all the worse, instead of excusing it as Mr. Jeffery seems to think. For a teacher to superintend the election of officers who will become his employers and upon whom his continued employment will depend, would certainly seem to be grossly indelicate if nothing more. If a sense of propriety did not restrain the chairman from appointing him as teller, that sense of propriety which certainly should characterize an instructor of youth should surely have constrained that teacher to decline so obviously improper an appointment.

In conclusion let me say that Mr. Jeffery's imputation of "loud talk and unseembly behavior" to those whom he calls "the Johnson-Burgmiller faction" is wholy gratutious and has no foundation whatever in fact. There was a considerable amount of welldrilled applause by Mr. Jeffery's followers whenever the cue was given them for it, and there was some wholly uncalled for blustering by the chairman, but beyond that the meeting was orderly and entirely peaceful.

W. F. JOHNSON.

New Providence, April 2, 1910.

School's Tenth Anniversary.

The tenth anniversary of the establishment of the Groszmann School for Exceptional Children was observed at the institution on Saturday afternoon. About 150 were in attendance. Addresses were made by Judge William Newcorn, of this city; Dr. Franz J. E. Torek, of New York, Ely Bernays, of New York; F. Walter Bristoe, of Valley Cottage, New York; Dr. Groszmann and Miss Paula Matzmer, a former pupil.

Borough Court.

Three dollar fines were passed out by Recorder Dolliver to a pair of offenders in the borough court this morning. John Haberle, of Watchung, who got intoxicated on Saturday night and made his escape from Marshall Pope, surrendered to the court this morning, and was fined three dollars. Kate Stevens, colored, who was arrested for being drunk in Washington Park yesterday afternoon by Chief Weiss was fined a similar amount.

Chambliss-Cooley Wedding.

Mrs. Martin I. Cooley and son, Gifford Cooley, of Rockview avenue, left Saturday for Brownsville, Tenn., where tomorrow Mr. Cooley will be married to Miss Mary M. Chambliss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Chambliss, and granddaughter of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Chambliss. Dr. Chambliss, who will perform the ceremony, left yesterday afternoon for Brownsville.

Suspicious Wheelman.

Steve Truggisch, a Russian, who was taken into custody this morning as a suspicious person, was afterwards allowed to go. Truggisch was riding a wheel which from his appearance seemed suspiciously extravagant.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

An announcement of interest to theatre-goers of Plainfield will be that of the presentation of "The Upstart" at the Plainfield theatre on Thursday night. This new comedy from the pen of Tom Barry deals with the life of a young clergyman and his wife. Owing to their very different views of life, some very funny situations arise. It is full of witty lines and in the hands of an excellent company which will present it here, it is sure to be one of the events of the season. The cast consists of such well known artists as James Lackaye, Ralph Stuart, John Westley, Miss Charlotte Ives, Frank Gilimore, Walter S. Howard.

A newly-elected United States Senator, arriving in Washington with utter ignorance of the game of National politics, is formally interviewed by an elert young correspondent of a great New York daily, whose cynicism is equalled only by his intimate knowledge of politics and politicians. The credulous old Mississippi planter, bewildered by his plunge into the vortex of political intrigue, asks the newspaper man to become his secretary. The latter hesitates until he meets the Senator's two beautiful daughters. Then he decides it would be the best sort of a job, especially as the young women are to remain in Washington with their father. And he accepts. That is the start of "A Gentleman from Mississippi," which is to be seen here at the Plainfield theatre on Monday night.

"Our Mutual Friend."

The P. H. S. Junior class play, "Our Mutual Friend," will be given Saturday night. S. B. Howe, Jr., is the coach. The cast: Miss Thyra Stiles, as "Bella;" Miss Margaret Hutchinson, as "Larry;" Miss Louise Bird as "Mrs. Wilfer;" Miss Beta Nelson as "Mrs. Buffin;" Edward VanHoosen as "Mr. Wilfer;" Sewall Ulrich as "Sampson," and Everitt Smith as "Toby."

Anti-Tuberculosis League.

There was a special meeting of the trustees and committees of the Anti-Tuberculosis League last night at which arrangements for the coming concert on April 12, for the benefit of the local pavilion were planned. A telegram was read from Trenton in which notice of the signing of the Smalley bill by Governor Fort was told.

Local Talent Going to Clinton.

The Plainfield Dramatic Club comprised of Plainfield High School boys will go to Clinton, Hunterdon county, Friday night, April 15, and present a first-clas vaudeville entertainment. The famous high school quartet will take part in the program and several sketches will be given and some clever monologue work.

Isaac Ullman.

Isaac Ullman, aged sixty-four years, died this morning at The Homestead, Fanwood, from a complication of disease. He was a retired New York clothing merchant. He is survived by a wife, son and daughter. Announcement of the funeral will be made later.

Miss Nicholson Surprised.

Miss Edith Nicholson, of Morris street, was given a surprise last night by a party of her friends to the number of thirty. The evening was spent in song, dancing and games and some piano solos. After the dancing a collation was served Struck by a Cyclist.

As Miss Ethel Smith, of West Front street, stepped off a trolley car in front of her home this afternoon she was run down by a bicyclist. She was badly shaken up but escaped serious injury.

Will Purchase New Robes.

Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, will hold a special meeting tonight to consider the proposition of purchasing new robes costing $500 for the initiatory team.

His First Case

By BELLE MANIATES

A reminiscent look came into Garret's eyes as he read the letter bearing the postmark of an up-state town. It carried him back to his early life of toil on a farm where he had earned the money for college. From college by a stroke of fortune in attracting the favorable notice of Judge Larned he had been taken into a law office, where he had assisted in the preparation of many a case, but his first case, one in which he would have entire and undivided sway, was yet to be, and to the gaining and winning of this case he had a great incentive.

The incentive now darkened the doorway, and a charming laugh rippled in, calling him back from the land of meadows.

"Were you dreaming," she asked with a fleeting glance, "of your first case?"

"No," he replied, reluctantly forced to the truth. "The letter I just received carried me back to my early life—on a farm."

"You never told me about those days," she said, reproachfully.

"There is little to tell. Such homely details—I was a ragged, hapless little chap, and I worked hard and grew up to be a gawky lad with a longing for the law. I saved enough to eke my way through college. Then your father took me in here. I met you, and now, oh, Denise!"

"What is it, Garret? It isn't. Oh, dear, I see! it is—your first case!"

"Yes."

There was only time for a rapturous glance before her father, the judge, entered. Garret read him the letter, which was from the son of a man who owned the farm on which Garret was raised, and who had advanced him the money to go to college. There were some complications in the will by which the young farmer had inherited his land, and a law suit was impending. He had written to Garret to employ his services. Garret explained at length the details of the case, Denise listening with concentrated attention.

"Some way, it seems like a call to me, and fitting that my first effort in a legal way should be for the good of my friend and the son of my benefactor. He was my chum."

There was an assumption of vexation in her fair brow and pouting lips that enlightened the judge. He knew that Garret was "conditioned," and he concluded that the condition was the winning of his first case.

"He can win it, if it is to be won," predicted the judge. "He cannot refuse, of course."

The next day Garret went to the scenes of his early struggles in life to look over the ground. Two days later he returned, going directly to the home of the judge, where he found Denise alone. Her attitude was still reproachful—almost resentful.

"Well, Garret," she asked. "Did you find any encouraging evidence?"

"I fear not. I ran up for the day to let your father's focusing eye magnify a little speck that I see."

"Why, of course," she said a little coldly, "if so much hinges on your winning your first case, you would naturally want to win."

"Denise," he replied earnestly, "as deeply as I love you, our marriage is not the only incentive. My friend has a wife and babies. The loss of all his property would wreck a happy little household."

Her eyes were turned persistently from him.

"I must go to the office now," he said after a slight pause. "I go back to-night."

Her farewell was in a frigid tone, and he went away, depressed by her lack of sympathy and understanding It took the entire day for the judge to go over the tangled evidence with him, and he barely made his train.

"I will be out when the case comes to court if you wish, Garret," volunteered the judge. "I may see a point here and there to suggest."

"Oh, judge, it is more than I dared ask," exclaimed Garret gratefully. "It is awfully kind—"

"Well," said the judge, "it seems to be a matter of importance to my family that you win."

Then noting the wince in the young man's eyes, he added kindly: "You mustn't put too much importance on a young woman's pique. Her heart is all right."

Two weeks later the judge informed Denise of his intention.

"I shall go with you, papa," she announced.

"That's a good idea, Denise. Your presence will sustain Garret even more than will mine."

At the tap on his shoulder Garret turned and saw her.

"Garret," she whispered, her heart aglow at the lovelight in his eyes as he slipped into the seat beside her. "I hope you will win this case."

"And if I don't don't, Denise?"

"Why, then, dear, we won't count this case as your first. And, Garret, I want you to win—for his—for your friend's sake."

He pressed her hand and then went on the case with the best reinforcement a man can have.

"How did you happen to come, Denise?" he asked as they were leaving the courtroom.

"Papa thought you would lose, and I thought if you did, you would need my consolation. And you won against such odds, he says. I am so glad that—"

"That—what, sweetheart?"

"That I said 'yes' before you won."

The Most Industrious Store in Newark---The City of Industry

Stupendous Sale of Standard Silks

Thousands of Dollars' Worth in this Mighty Movement. A Week of Extraordinary Values That Will Make the City Ring.

Only because of the ability of this organization to make immense single purchases is such a silk sale as this made possible. Only because of our association with the most prominent silk selling houses in the country, giving us unquestioned supremacy locally, is such prestige established as enables us to obtain concessions unknown to other houses.

We have been in the market for weeks gathering silks for this event. Every day of late, it seems on almost every train many pieces of silken fabrics have been arriving. The silk stock today is at flood tide. We never had so many silks in the house before.

Standard lines only—The most dependable qualities of silks—such as have made our Silk Store famous, will be included in the special selling in this week's wonderful sale. The values are invariably fairly quoted.

No exaggerations have been permitted to creep into the advertising, and selling prices are in many instances close to wholesale cost.

We have reason to anticipate tomorrow the biggest silk day we ever had, and for the remaining days such selling as will make a record hard to match.

More salespeople and more selling space will be given to this silk sale than ever before so that all who come may be rightly served.

The sale begins Wednesday at 8:30 and continues until closing time Saturday night.

FACTS ABOUT FANS.

It is interesting to note how universal the fan is. The history dates back to antiquity, indeed, it is difficult to place the finger of research upon a time in the world's history when men or women, or both, did not use it.

The word fan, or van, is derived from the Latin vannus, the Roman instrument for winnowing grain.

With Egypt we associate the swaying fans which are kept constantly moved by slaves. Long-handled fans played a conspicuous part in religious ceremonies of that land, and in these the office of fanbearers was a position of high honor, assigned by the monarch.

In Greece also the fan had a sacred as well as a secular use.

But in Japan the fan is in its glory. The samurai, the man with the two swords, never marched to battle without his war fan, which served as a shield and a decoration. The departure from the flat variety is credited to an ingenious Japanese who caught the idea of a folding fan from the bat's wing.

It is regarded by the Japanese as an emblem of life, and they consider it most appropriate as a gift. From peasant to emperor it is a potent factor in the life of the people. They greet each other by a wave of the fan. The young bride takes a fan with her to her new home. Jugglers attain great skill with their fans. When a youth reaches manhood, a fan is presented to him. He never parts with it, even though it might hamper his movements in the performance of his duty.

There are dancing fans, tea fans, camp fans of every size and material. In this Land of the Rising Sun the fans are bewildering.

Women have taken the fan, which was once the sign of royalty, and sway their little courts with graceful movements of the arm. The art of using the fan, so well mastered by the beauties of the eighteenth century, is on the wane, however. It is considered an accessory to a woman's wardrobe, that is all.

Fans are nowadays collected and admired. Beautiful specimens of Watteaur and Lancret lie on velvet cushions and merely suggest how important they were considered in the past.

Keeping Vegetables.

In keeping vegetables, do not keep different kinds in the same basket. If you do, there is danger of deterioration in flavor.

Egg Stains on Silver.

There is no better way to remove egg stains from silver than by rubbing vigorously with a damp cloth, dipped in salt.

Keeping Tea and Coffee.

It is better to keep tea and coffee in airtight glass jars, in a place not exposed to strong light.

White Spots on Furniture.

The old-fashioned way of removing white spots from varnished furniture was this: Heat a shovel pretty hot and hold it over and about three inches above the spot. The heat will cause the defect to disappear.

GETTING READY

"When I decided to go south for a few weeks," said pretty Miss Carew, dolefully, "I thought I was going so very inexpensively that I deserved a medal for my cleverness."

"You haven't given it up, I hope?" asked her friend. "Your cousin has planned such a gay time for you that it would be too bad not to go."

"Oh, no; I'm going," said Miss Carew. "I couldn't back out now that my cousin has laid so many plans. She has a dance arranged for the very evening of the day I arrive, so I hope my trunk won't be late. But, you see, I've come to the conclusion that the economical way to go always turns out to be the most expensive. When my cousin wrote me not to fail to come I accepted her invitation at once, because I had so very little to buy in order to go."

"You always have nice things," said her friend. "You wouldn't need a single new garment."

"That's what I thought," said Miss Carew. "I decided that a little piecing out would fix me up and that's where I made my mistake. If I had started by getting a complete new outfit it would have been cheaper.

"The first things I looked at were my hats," explained Miss Carew. "Of course I couldn't travel in my plumed hat and my white one was out of the question. I took my old one to the milliner and had it retrimmed, but when it came home I wasn't satisfied and I went back for a new one. Though I told the milliner it was for traveling, she showed me all sorts of deformed and distorted things with miles of ribbon and feathers on them and calmly announced that the lowest price was $28. She said she wouldn't be giving the hats away for that ridiculous sum if it wasn't late in the season. Of course, I had to have a nice hat."

"People expect a stranger to be particularly well dressed," agreed Miss Carew's friend, politely. "Isn't it funny? If we saw the same girl at home every day we wouldn't care half so much what she wore."

"Well, I had to pay a terrible price for that hat," sighed Miss Carew. "Really, though, it is beautiful."

"Things have gone up so," said her friend. "You can't get hats for the old-time prices."

"Then I thought my old suit would do if I had it pressed and got a new waist to light it up," went on Miss Carew. "I ran all about looking for something about the same shade as my suit and finally found one for $15 that would do. I discovered that my supply of handkerchiefs was getting low and money that I begrudged went into new ones. My old belt was good enough for home, but not for visiting, so there was another expense."

"Belts make the finishing touch," said the friend. "I've seen lots of suits spoiled by poor ones."

"My crepe de chine had to be cleaned and the sleeves had to be made over," related Miss Carew. "Then when it came back from the dressmaker's I thought it looked horrid and I got a blue meteor silk. Two suits had to be pressed. I had to get three pairs of gloves. Then my slippers cost me a lot more than I expected."

"You can use everything when you come home," said her friend, consolingly. "You'll be glad to have them when you get back."

"That's just it!" sighed Miss Carew. "Did you ever have anything to fall back on when you came home from a visit? There won't be a thing left of my old clothes and the things I have bought new will be sights to see."

"Personally I am always rejoiced when my things go to pieces," said her friend. "For then I am absolutely forced to invest in new ones. It's when they're only half worn that I am in despair. Then my conscience forces me to make them do for any and all occasions. There's one consolation in going away—you can wear a lot of things everybody at home has seen, and the strangers will consider them new."

"Maybe that will be a comfort," said Miss Carew, more cheerfully. "You see, the railroad rates are so nice and low and I want to go so much. My cousin has planned the loveliest times! But when it came to getting three entirely new dresses—"

"You didn't!" exclaimed her friend.

"Why, yes," said Miss Carew. "Even when fixed over, all my things looked so shabby, somehow. My cousin is going to so much trouble to give me a gay time, arranging to have something every evening I'm there. I had to have two dance gowns and I absolutely needed something for house wear. I think I did pretty well not to get a new suit."

"Yes, but if you had stayed home you wouldn't— Oh!" her friend interrupted herself. "Isn't that where that handsome young Mr. Randolph lives who was here last summer at your aunt's-"

"I believe there are a number of men of that name there," acknowledged Miss Carew, with rising color. "But that has absolutely nothing to do with it. I am going for a rest, you know."

Increase in Rice Production.

Rice production in the United States grew from an average of less than 100,000,000 pounds per annum a few years ago to an average of 500,000,000 pounds per annum in recent years, and reached over 600,000,000 pounds in 1908.

Finishing Up.

The young wife smiled with pleasure.

"It was only a little fault, I know, dear," she said. "You didn't mean to be profane. The naughty words slipped out unconsciously. It's just lovely of you to promise to swear no more."

The young husband nodded.

"Oh, that's all right, Jennie," he replied. "I'll do it to please you. But wait. This anti-swearing resolution can't go into effect until February."

"Why not, George."

A. DR. M'COSH STORY.

Princeton graduates love to relate an old story about Dr. McCosh, who was president of the New Jersey college before Dr. F. L. Patton. Old Dr. McCosh was very absent-minded, and in making the announcement, at 8 o'clock chapel in the morning, had to have some reminder on a memo card or he was almost sure to forget. One day the French professor asked him, just as he was mounting the platform in chapel, to announce to the juniors that their class would meet at 9 that morning instead of 10. The president nodded, but completely forgot about it, not finding any reminder among his written announcements. A long prayer always brought chapel to a close in those days, and Dr. McCosh, on this day, was almost through the prayer, when he suddenly remembered the request. Undeterred, however, he slippd in additional pharse just before the "Amen" and the chapel faithfuls were edified to hear, among other petitions, "And, oh, God, cause the juniors to remember that their French class will be at 9 this morning instead of 10." The juniors remembered.—Philadelphia Record.

LEAKAGES IN THE HOUSEHOLD.

No, not so strange as it may seem! It is not only water and gas that leak, there are many other things that leak in the household and you may even have a leakage of gas, although your pipes are absolutely sound, and you cannot find it by the smell. Then whatever is a leakage? You can have a leakage in your soap, in your coal, and—But stop! All this will become quite plain after a few words of explanation.

In spite of sound pipes and taps, there may be a leakage in your gas. "Leakage" is a term employed in manufacturing business, and in some offices, to denote useless expenditure of materials or money.

Suppose that you have a gas cooking stove and that you are boiling a kettle of water; you allow the flames to spread all up the sides of the kettle nearly to the lid, under the impression that you are hastening matters. That is really a useless expenditure of gas, for the flame that is licking the sides of the kettle is doing so little good that you are spending money for nothing. That is a gas leakage, and, if you take the trouble to watch, you will find that it costs a good deal of money.

Housekeeping is just like a business, the man of affairs will not tolerate such a leakage, and more than one man has turned a losing business into a profitable one by simple process of stopping the leaks. You may have money to put by for a rainy day or an extended holiday by doing the same.

One of the worst forms of coal leakage is to be found in unskillful ways of keeping the fire going. Some people will stuff the grate to the top with coal (I am speaking now of a kitchen range) and leave it. Half an hour is probably required for the coal to get well alight and then the fire is so fierce it burns everything.

It is allowed to get low, going to the other extreme, and the process is repeated. The experienced fire manager puts on a little at a time, feeding the fire constantly, and will do with one scuttle of coal in cases where an unskilled person will need two, perhaps three.

Soap is left in the water; it "sweats" (to use another manufacturing term) and is fished out with diminished bulk, while the vanished portion goes down the sink. Soda is thrown in without discrimination; the gas is left burning when nobody wants it, and so on indefinitely.

Those who would regard it as a sin (as it really is) to throw away a crust, will let a nickle or a quarter go down the sink or vanish into air without noticing it.

A mustard manufacturer who made a fortune said that this was done out of the mustard which people didn't eat rather than out of that which they consumed. Of course one doesn't want to be "tight," but one ought to learn to recognize leakages.

The fabric gloves that closely resemble the kid ones in appearance are to be had in a wide range of colors.

CAMPBELL TIES NEWARKER

Local Bowler Holds His Own in First Half of Match.

RETURN GAMES HERE APRIL 24.

Watchung Teams do Splendid Work in Tuxedo Headpin Tourney —No. 3 Makes Third Highest Score.

A squad of thirty local bowlers and tenpin enthusiasts invaded Newark last nigh to see Johnny Campell, of this city, and Henry Garrabrant, the Tuxedo star, engage in the first clash in the home and home series. It was a great battle of pins and was witnessed by a large thrown. Ten games were rolled and at the close honors were even between the gladiators, each having won five games.

Campbell, however, bested his former team mate in scoring the largest total of pins. "Our Johnny" pushed 1,971 off the spots to Garrabrant's 1,949. Breaking even on foreign alleys will give the local champ the advantage when it comes to the windup on the local "drives" Thursday night, April 14, when eleven games will be rolled.

Campbell secured a discouraging start by losing the first three games. This setback put the local rooters into a dejected mood but a spark of hope appeared in the fourth encounter, which Campbell won hands down 207 to 173. Garrabrant annexed the fifth, 195 to 179, and then it was up to Johnny to display his nerve and grit.

"Our Johnny" did it and amid a din of applause he galloped away with the next three games in easy style. In the fifth he did the prettiest work of the series by downing his antagonist, 254 to 190; the sixth game was marked with excitement, but Campbell won with eight pins to spare, 180 to 172, and in the eighth he was victorious, 204 to 190.

Garrabrant snatched the ninth by the score of 214 to 205 and it remained for the final brush to furnish the keenest excitement of the night. This was a battle royal, Campbell squeezing hrough a victor, by the score of 225 to 222. The scores:

Campbell—179, 185, 153, 207, 179, 254, 180, 204, 205, 225; total pins, 1,971.

In addition to the Campbell-Garrabrant match Plainfield contributed four teams to the Tuxedo Headpin tourney. Watchung No. 3 carried off first honors with a score of 458, the third highest in the tourney, the high score being 101. In this competition Schaub and Matthews were high rollers with respective scores of 101 and 100. The scores follow:

Watchung No. 4.—Nash, 75; Causbrook, 76; Laing, 75; Stout, 97; Campbell, 97. Total pins, 421

The Man in Lower Ten

By Mary Roberts Rinehart
Author of
The Circular Staircase

Illustrations by M. J. KETTNER

(Copyright, by Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

"Yes. Any train would be better than this one," she repeated gravely. I found myself watching her changing expression. I had spoken two dozen words to her and already I felt that I knew the lights and shades in her voice—I, who had always known how a woman rode to hounds, and who never could have told the color of her hair.

I stepped down on the ties and turned to assist her, and together we walked back to where the conductor and the porter from our car were in close conversation. Instinctively my hand went to my cigarette pocket and came out empty. She saw the gesture.

"If you want to smoke, you may," she said. "I have a big cousin who smokes all the time. He says I am 'kippered.'"

I drew out the gun-metal cigarette case and opened it. But this most commonplace action had an extraordinary result. The girl beside me stopped dead still and stood staring at it with fascinated eyes.

"Is—where did you get that?" she demanded, with a catch in her voice; her gaze still fixed on the cigarette case.

"Then you haven't heard the rest of the tragedy?" I asked, holding out the case. "It's frightfully bad luck for me, but it makes a good story. You see—"

At that moment the conductor and porter ceased their colloquy. The conductor came directly toward me, tugging as he came at his bristling gray mustache.

"Where Did You Get That?"

"I would like to talk to you in the car," he said to me, with a curious glance at the young lady.

"Can't it wait?" I objected. "We are on our way to a cup of coffee and a slice of bacon. Be merciful as you are powerful."

"I'm afraid the breakfast will have to wait," he replied. "I won't keep you long." There was a note of authority in his voice which I resented; but, after all, the circumstances were unusual.

"We'll have to defer that cup of coffee for a while," I said to the girl; "but don't despair; there's breakfast somewhere."

As we entered the car, she stood aside, but I felt rather than saw that she followed us. I was surprised to see a half dozen men gathered around the berth in which I had wakened, number seven. It had not yet been made up.

As we passed along the aisle, I was conscious of a new expression on the faces of the passengers. The tall woman who had fainted was searching my face with narrowed eyes, while the stout woman of the kindly heart avoided my gaze, and pretended to look out of the window.

As we pushed our way through the group, I fancied that it closed around me ominously. The conductor said nothing, but led the way without ceremony to the side of the berth.

"What's the matter?" I inquired. I was puzzled, but not apprehensive. "Have you some of my things? I'd be thankful even for my shoes; these are confoundedly tight."

Nobody spoke, and I fell silent, too. For one of the pillows had been turned over, and the under side of the white case was streaked with brownish stains. I think it was a perceptible time before I realized that the stains were blood, and that the faces around were filled with suspicion and distrust.

"Why, it—that looks like blood," I said vacuously. There was an incessant pounding in my ears, and the conductor's voice came from far off.

"It is blood," he asserted grimly.

I looked around with a dizzy attempt at nonchalance. "Even if it is," I remonstrated, "surely you don't suppose for a moment that I know anything about it!"

The amateur detective elbowed his way in. He had a scrap of transparent paper in his hand, and a pencil.

"I would like permission to trace the stains," he began eagerly. "Also"—to me—"if you will kindly jab your finger with a pin—needle—anything—"

"If you don't keep out of this," the conductor said savagely, "I will do some jabbing myself. As for you, sir—" he turned to me. "I was absolutely innocent, but I knew that I presented a typical picture of guilt; I was covered with cold sweat, and the pounding in my ears kept up dizzily. "As for you, sir—"

The irrepressible amateur detective made a quick pounce at the pillow and pushed back the cover. Before our incredulous eyes he drew out a narrow steel dirk which had been buried to the small cross that served as a head.

There was a chorus of voices around, a quick surging forward of the crowd. So that was what had scratched my hand! I buried the wound in my coat pocket.

"Well," I said, trying to speak naturally, "doesn't that prove what I have been telling you? The man who committed the murder belonged to this berth, and made an exchange in some way after the crime. How do you know he didn't change the tags so I would come back to this berth?" This was an inspiration; I was pleased with it. "That's what he did, he changed the tags," I reiterated.

There was a murmur of assent around. The doctor, who was standing beside me, put his hand on my arm. "If this gentleman committed this crime, and I for one feel sure he did not, then who is the fellow who got away? And why did he go?"

"We have only one man's word for that," the conductor snarled. "I've traveled some in these cars myself, and no one ever changed berths with me."

Somebody on the edge of the group asserted that hereafter he would travel by daylight. I glanced up and caught the eye of the girl in blue.

"They are all mad," she said. Her tone was low, but I heard her distinctly. "Don't take them seriously enough to defend yourself."

"I am glad you think I didn't do it," I observed meekly, over the crowd. "Nothing else is of any importance."

The conductor had pulled out his note-book again. "Your name, please," he said gruffly.

"Lawrence Blakeley, Washington."

"Your occupation?"

"Attorney. A member of the firm of Blakeley & McKnight."

"Mr. Blakeley, you say you have occupied the wrong berth and have been robbed. Do you know anything of the man who did it?"

"Only from what he left behind," I answered. "These clothes—"

"They fit you," he said with quick suspicion. "Isn't that rather a coincidence? You are a large man."

"Good heavens," I retorted, stung to fury, "do I look like a man who would wear this kind of a necktie? Do you suppose I carry purple and green barred silk handkerchiefs? Would any man in his senses wear a pair of shoes a full size too small?"

The conductor was inclined to hedge. "You will have to grant that I am in a peculiar position," he said. "I have only your word as to the exchange of berths, and you understand I am merely doing my duty. Are there any clews in the pockets?"

For the second time I emptied them of their contents, which he noted. "Is that all?" he finished. "There was nothing else?"

"Nothing."

"That's not all, sir," broke in the porter, stepping forward. "There was a small black satchel."

"That's so," I exclaimed. "I forgot the bag. I don't even know where it is."

The easily swayed crowd looked suspicious again. I've grown so accustomed to reading the faces of a jury, seeing them swing from doubt to belief, and back again to doubt, that I instinctively watch expressions. I saw that my forgetfulness had done me harm—that suspicion was roused again.

The bag was found a couple of seats away, under somebody's raincoat—another dubious circumstance. Was I hiding it? It was brought to the berth and placed beside the conductor, who opened it at once.

It contained the usual traveling impedimenta—change of linen, collars, handkerchiefs, a bronze-green scarf, and a safety razor. But the attention of the crowd riveted itself on a flat, Russia leather wallet, around which a heavy gum band was wrapped, and which bore in gilt letters the name "Simon Harrington."

CHAPTER VII.

A Fine Gold Chain.

The conductor held it out to me, his face sternly accusing.

"Is this another coincidence?" he asked. "Did the man who left you his clothes and the barred silk handkerchief and the tight shoes leave you the spoil of the murder?"

The men standing around had drawn off a little, and I saw the absolute futility of any remonstrance. Have you ever seen a fly, who, in these hygienic days, finding no cobwebs to entangle him, is caught in a sheet of fly paper, finds himself more and more mired, and is finally quiet with the sticky stillness of despair?

Well, I was the fly. I had seen too much of circumstantial evidence to have any belief that the establishing of my identity would weigh much against the other incriminating details. It meant imprisonment and trial, probably, with all the notoriety and loss of practice they would entail. A man thinks quickly at a time like that. All the probable consequences of the finding of that pocket-book flashed through my mind as I extended my hand to take it. Then I drew my arm back.

"I don't want it," I said. "Look inside. Maybe the other man took the money and left the wallet."

The conductor opened it, and again there was a curious surging forward of the crowd. To my intense disappointment, the money was still there.

I stood blankly miserable while it was counted out—five $100 bills, six twenties and some fives and ones that brought the total to $650.

The little man with the note-book insisted on taking the numbers of the notes, to the conductor's annoyance. It was immaterial to me: Small things had lost their power to irritate. I was seeing myself in the prisoner's box, going through all the nerve-racking routine of a trial for murder—the challenging of the jury, the endless cross-examinations, the alternate hope and fear. I believe I said before that I had no nerves, but for a few minutes that morning I was as near as a man ever comes to hysteria.

"I Don't Want It," I Said.

I folded my arms and gave myself a mental shake. I seemed to be the center of a hundred eyes, expressing every shade of doubt and distrust, but I tried not to flinch. Then some one created a diversion.

The amateur detective was busy again with the sealskin bag, investigating the make of the safety razor and the manufacturer's name on the bronze-green tie. Now, however, he paused and frowned, as though some pet theory had been upset.

Then from a corner of the bag he drew out and held up for our inspection some three inches of fine gold chain, one end of which was blackened and stained with blood!

The conductor held out his hand for it, but the little man was not ready to give it up. He turned to me.

"You say no watch was left you? Was there a piece of chain like that?"

"No chain at all," I said sulkily. "No jewelry of any kind, except plain gold buttons in the shirt I am wearing."

"Where are your glasses?" he threw at me suddenly; instinctively my hand went to my eyes. My glasses had been gone all morning, and I had not even noticed their absence. The little man smiled cynically and held out the chain.

"I must ask you to examine this," he insisted. "Isn't it a part of the fine gold chain you wear over your ear?"

I didn't want to touch the thing: The stain at the end made me shudder. But with a baker's dozen of suspicious eyes—well, we'll say 14—there were no one-eyed men—I took the fragment in the tips of my fingers and looked at it helplessly.

"Very fine chains are much alike," I managed to say. "For all I know, this may be mine, but I don't know how it got into that sealskin bag. I never saw the bag until this morning after daylight."

"He admits that he had the bag," somebody said behind me. "How did you guess that he wore glasses, anyhow?" to the amateur sleuth.

That gentleman cleared his throat. "There were two reasons," he said, "for suspecting it. When you see a man with the lines of his face drooping, a healthy individual with a pensive eye—suspect astigmatism. Besides, this gentleman has a pronounced line across the bridge of his nose and a mark on his ear from the chain."

After this remarkable exhibition of the theoretical as combined with the practical, he sank into a seat near by, and still holding the chain, sat with closed eyes and pursed lips. It was evident to all the car that the solution of the mystery was a question of moments. Once he bent forward eagerly and putting the chain on the window-sill, proceeded to go over it with a pocket magnifying glass, only to shake his head in disappointment. All the people around shook their heads, too, although they had not the slightest idea what it was about.

The pounding in my ears began again. The group around me seemed to be suddenly motionless in the very act of moving, as if a hypnotist had called "Rigid!" The girl in blue was looking at me, and above the din I thought she said she must speak to me—something vital. The pounding grew louder and merged into a scream. With a grinding and splintering the car rose under my feet. Then it fell away into darkness.

Ground Down.

"I wish you didn't have such a flat and plebian nose papa," said the aristocratic young daughter of the plain old merchant.

"That's the mark of the grindstone, my dear," replied the plodding old man.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Special Election Notice

To the Legal Voters of the City of Plainfield.

Public notice is hereby given that in accordance with the resolutions presented to the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, and adopted on the 7th day of March, A. D. 1910, and approved by the Mayor of said city on the 8th day of March, A. D. 1910, and of which the following is a true copy:

Resolution providing for the submission to the legal voters of the City of Plainfield, of the question of the adoption of the provisions of an act entitled, "An Act to enable cities to supply the inhabitants thereof with pure and wholesome water," approved April twenty-first, eighteen hundred and seventy-six, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Resolved, That the question of the adoption of the provisions of an Act entitled, "An Act to enable cites to supply the inhabitants thereof with pure and wholesome water," approved April twenty-first, eighteen hundred and seventy-six, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, be submitted to the legal voters of the City of Plainfield at an election to be held in said city on Tuesday, the 19th day of April, A. D. Nineteen hundred and ten; that the City Clerk of said city be and he hereby is directed to cause public notice of the time, place and purpose of holding election to be given by advertisements signed by himself and set up at least eight days prior to and within thirty days next preceding the day of election, in at least five of the most public places within said city, and published in two newspapers printed therein, to wit, The Daily Press and The Plainfield Courier-News, for at least six days previous to the day of such election; that the said City Clerk shall provide for each voter voting at such election ballots, upon which ballots shall be printed the following words: "For Against the adoption for this city of the provisions of an act entitled 'An Act to enable cities to supply the inhabitants thereof with pure and wholesome water, approved April twenty-first, eighteen hundred and seventy-six," and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto." If the word "For" be marked off or defaced upon the ballot, it shall be counted as a vote against the adoption for said city of the provisions of said act; if the word "Against" be marked off or defaced upon the ballot, it shall be counted as a vote in favor of the adoption for said city of the provisions of said act; and in case neither the word "For" nor the word "Against" be marked off or defaced upon the ballot, it shall not be counted as a vote either for or against such proposition, nor shall the person depositing in the ballot-box a ballot on which neither the said word "For" nor the said word "Against" is marked off be counted as a voter or as voting in respect of or upon the question or proposition submitted. If voting machines shall be used at such election, all voting by means thereof shall be conducted in the manner specified by the statute in such case made and provided;

It is Further Resolved, That, the polls for such election shall be held at the usual places of holding the annual general election in said city, and shall open at six o'clock in the morning, and close at seven o'clock in the evening, and shall be kept open during the whole day of election between the hours aforesaid; provided the Board of Election may adjourn such election from one o'clock until two o'clock in the afternoon, or for such shorter time between those hours as they shall see fit; and such election shall be conducted by the proper election officers of said city for the time then being, and in the manner as may then be prescribed by the Ordinance of said city, if any, regulating elections therein, and such officers shall return to the Common Council of said city, a true and correct statement in writing, under their hands, of the result of said election, the same to be entered at large upon the Minutes of said Common Council.

an election will be held in said city of Plainfield, New Jersey, on Tuesday, the 19th day of April, A. D. 1910, and the polls for such election shall be held at the usual places of holding the annual general election in said city, that is to say:

CHILDREN'S COAT FASHIONS.

Coats for very little people and the half-grown girl turn in curious extremes in Paris. Now our styles for children differ substantially from those on the other side of the water, and while we have no desire in this particular line to follow too closely the French fashions we are not averse to poking in among their somewhat outlandish frocks and coats for little people and sifting out the best.

Very few American mothers would know their own offspring were they to meet them garbed as the little women of Paris. French mothers copy, in the main, their own outlines for the frocks of their little ones, and sad to relate, they are at times very little modified. The child as a miniature woman is neither successfully nor healthfully garbed.

But back to the coats with which we began. They are black on they are the most delicate of the pastel shades. For the "Sunday" coat there can be nothing daintier than the broadcloth or rough diagonal serge coat of palest blue, of old rose or the shrimp pink, with its moire silk collar and cuffs. This is a perishable garment; but hardly more so than the long-favored white garb for which the services of a drycleaner were necessary after the gasoline bottle was exhausted.

For any of these dainty coats fuller's earth or a preparation of cornmeal and alum may be used at home with satisfactory results.

As for the black coat. Paris pronounces in its favor, and indicates collar and cuffs of brilliant scarlet of shepherd's plaid or of those curious shades of dull blue which border on the peacock hues.

The style has its followers there as it will have here. It is undoubtedly economical as far as serviceability goes, and not unbecoming—far from it—to certain types of children. The very black-haired beauty, whether she be 5 or 15, can carry off the sombre little garb with its touch of color quite as successfully as the fairy child with golden hair.

There are some children between these two extremes in coloring who need the softer reds and blues and grays.

Speaking of economy, the black coat suggests at once, and without a doubt to the home dressmaker, the remodeling of last year's opera cloak of broadcloth or "that unusually wide and handsome skirt of venetian" that was put aside for some more economical day.

The day is at hand when economy in clothes in certain articles and garments mean a greater freedom of expenditure in some one needed gown for little one, or older sister or for mother. The black coat offers itself as a saving grace, and it may even be that a thorough search will reveal even the scarlet collar and cuffs. The hatbox itself may yield them up.

Fashion—odd styles particularly—often drift in on the wind that blows somebody good.

PERSIA'S FRUITS ARE AS FAMOUS AS ITS FLOWERS.

Method of Drying Them Could Be Adopted in America.

Consul W. B. Doty, of Tabriz, gives the following account of the fruits of Persia and their preservation in a fresh state:

While Persia is generally famed for its roses and other beautiful flowers and its tasteful arranged gardens, its orchards, with excellent varieties of finely flavored fruit, nuts melons, squashes, cucumbers, etc., deserve greater consideration. It is the home of the peach, a fact illustrated in the term of this fruit in many languages. The apricot and nectarines are also worthy of mention. Almonds and pistachio nuts are exported in large quantities. A very agreeable method of drying fruit is to include nuts and sugar, removing the pit from a peach. This is caled "meampoor." The dried-fruit industry is a very important one here.

To preserve grapes fresh for three or more months the bunches are covered with calico bags to protect them from frost. There are in Persia, all told, nearly 100 varieties of grapes, most of which are of an excellent taste, and some of which are seedless. There is every reason to believe most of them would flourish in the United States if care was taken to consider similarity of climate and soil. There is a prospect that in the near future an experiment will be made in introducing Persian seedless grapes into the United States. There are no diseases of grapes in Persia, so far as I have been able to discover. Grapes are suspended from ceilings in small fruit shops in the bazars here until the middle of January.

Apples and quinces are generally covered with leaves in a cellar for their preservation, although frequently they are suspended on cords from the ceilings of dry rooms, many being fastened below another on the cords.

Watermelons and muskmelons are of a good flavor. They are preserved by hanging them from the ceiling fastened by their stems to a cord, or in a net of rather large mesh, or by laying them in niches of the walls of dry rooms where there is good ventilation. The climatic conditions in this section are most favorable, as the seasons merge very gradually into one an other and the air is very dry.

The melons of Ispahan are farfamed for size and flavor. Those at Mashad are also very fine. In the southwestern section of the United States, in Arizona, New Mexico and California, in high altitudes, it is more than likely that melons could be preserved for three or four months in the Persian way.—Consular Reports.

BABY'S BONNET AND SACK GLOVES.

Here are two very simple patterns for baby's woollies. Both are carried out in plain knitting and will present no difficulties to the veriest amateur.

Two ounces of three-ply white fleecy wool, one yard and a half of white ribbon, cap. Take two bone knitting needles, and on one cast thirty-six stitches, till you have nearly fifty ribs. (N. B.—There are two rows in a rib. Cast off.)

Now make the gusset, which forms the back part of the bonnet. Cast on ten stitches.

First and second row—Plain.

Seventeenth row—Knit plain till you have three left on your needle, knit two together knit one.

Eighteenth row—As seventeenth

Nineteenth to twenty-second row—Knit plain.

Twenty-third row—Knit till within three of end, knit two together, knit one.

Twenty-fourth row — Same as twenty-third row.

Twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth rows—Knit plain. Now decrease at the end of each row (as in twenty-fourth row) till you have six stitches on your needle and then cast off.

To make up the bonnet turn back two inches, lengthwise of the large piece, this goes around the face, and then put in the back gusset, remembering that the narrowest part of the gusset comes at the neck and the widest at the top of the head. Sew the gusset nearly in, gathering the hood so that it may fit nicely round the top of the gusset.

All that remains now is to put a pretty bow of ribbon in the front and thread the ribbon in the lower part of the bonnet, leaving nice ends to tie under the chin. The cap must be tucked in lightly and will have a very soft effect round the face. If liked a soft lining of silk or nainsook can be added.

With four steel needles, No. 13, cast on thirty stitches. Knit two, purl two, for sixteen rounds. Now make a row of holes for the ribbon by putting the thread before the needle and knitting two together all round. Knit plain for twenty-six rounds.

Now begin the decreasing. Knit four, knit two together all round. Knit three plain rounds. Knit three, knit two together all round. Knit two plain rounds. Knit two, knit two together all round, knit one plain round, knit two together, knit one all round, knit one round plain. Slip the stitches on to a thread and with a darning needle draw up the stitches and finish nearly on the inside. Take a quarter of a yard of ribbon, thread it in the holes, tie in a bow in the centre, and baby's glove is finished. The second glove of the pair is made exactly like the first.

A SMART SUIT.

One of the most decidedly attractive models brought out for early spring wear is a coat suit made as follows:

The skirt is short, with a straight front and side plaits let in at sides from a band at hips. The blouse is fastened to the skirt, opens down front, and is without trimming or ornamentation of any kind.

It is fastened with five bone buttons from bust to waist and the opening above is finished off with loose and rather large revers that drop in points in front.

Above this there is a chemisette of thin white muslin and lace. The sleeves are slightly full, put into the shoulders with five plaits and gathered into a five-inch cuff that fits the arm snugly, and fastens at the back with the bone buttons. The waist is outlined with a soft black patent leather belt run through a smoke smoked pearl button.

The coat drops half way between the knees and hips is slightly spoon-shape at the back, does not fasten in front and has the same kind of loose, pointed revers that are on the blouse.

The original suit is made in white homespun, but it can be copied most admirably in linen, as well as serge. It is the simplicity of the bodice that makes it so convenient and adds to its style.

Turpentine Tips.

If a housewife fully realizes the value of turpentine she would never be without it. It give quick relief to burns, is excellent applied to corns, good for outward application for sore throats and rheumatism. By putting a few drops in the corners or little rags soaked in it in the shelves of cupborads will keep away ants; if cupboards will keep away ants, if bedsteads will keep away all flees etc., also a spoonful added to each pailful of water is excellent for cleaning paints, floors etc.

Useless Expense.

A trifle cross.
It is because she said it was
A total loss.

BESLER AND THE PILOTS

Jersey Central Official Displays a Liberal Spirit with His Ferry Employes.

GIVES THEM "JOBS FOR LIFE."

Raises Scale of Wages and Arranges Vacation in Return for Agreement Not to Go Out on Strike.

William G. Besler, of this city, vice-president and general manager of the Jersey Central, has won the esteem of the ferry-boat pilots in the employ of the company to such an extent that this body of employes has assured Mr. Besler that under no consideration will they go out on a sympathetic strike, with the striking tugboat captains, as rumored during the past week.

The decision of the pilots is due to the open and above board methods employed by Mr. Besler in coping with the situation. Yesterday morning and on Monday night Mr. Besler had personal "chats" with every pilot. It was not a general conference but individual talks with all of the pilots.

It resulted with the action of the pilots giving their words to Mr. Besler that they would stand by their jobs and not affiliate with the strikers. Mr. Besler responded with a gratitious spirit which will be of immense benefit to the pilots.

Mr. Besler gave the pilots to understand that if they stuck to their positions that they would be rewarded subsantially. He told them that there positions will be considered "life jobs" by the company, and that the only causes for dismissal from the service would be insubordination or drunkeness; that when they reached the age of seventy they could continue in the employ of the company or be retired on full pay; that beginning on May 1 the present scale of wages would be increased eight dollars a month, and that all pilots will be given one weeks' vacation every summer with full pay.

The pilots are highly pleased over the disposition displayed by Mr. Besler and there is no danger of any strikes in that department of the service, as long as Mr. Besler is connected with the railroad.

MISS MARY E. HUNTINGTON NOW MRS. JOS. T. M'CUE.

Miss Mary Esther Huntington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Huntington, of 712 West Fourth street, was married this morning at St. Mary's church to Joseph Thomas McCue, son of Doorman Thomas McCue, of police headquarters. The nuptial mass was celebrated at 9 o'clock by Father Bogan and the church was well filled with friends of the couple. A reception and wedding breakfast followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Anna Belle McAffee was maid of honor, and John Kyle was the best man. In the bridal party also were the Misses Helen Mullen and May Kennedy, James O'Keefe, William Edmundson, Michael D. O'Keefe, and Edward McCue, a brother of the bridegroom.

During the ceremony Miss Mary Smith presided at the organ. Mr. and Mrs. McCue left town at noon on their honeymoon and at its conclusion they will reside in this city.

PROHIBITS CIGARETTE SALES TO CHILDREN.

A bill passed by the Senate at Trenton yesterday afternoon was Senator Gebhardt's measure amending the act prohibiting the sale of cigarettes and tobacco to minors. This measure provides for a penalty of $20, one-half of which is to go to the person who prosecutes the case. Senate 316, also by Mr. Gebhardt, received favorable consideration.

This is a companion act to the the cigarette bill, and amends the act relative to minors playing in billiard and pool rooms. This bill also provides a penalty of $20, one-half of which is to go to the person prosecuting.

Sixteen Pastors in 221 Years.

In connection with the departure of Rev. W. T. Dorward as pastor of the Stelton Baptist church to Milwaukee, an interesting item is taken from the New Jersey Baptist Bulletin. The Piscataway church, the second oldest in the State, is a church of long pastorates, and in its 221 years it has had only sixteen pastors. Mr. Dorward came to the church in 1896.

Baseball Dance.

The North Plainfield Baseball Association has completed arrangements for its dance to be given in Saengerbund Hall on Friday night, April 8. The committee in charge is E. O. Driver, F. Allen, W. Perry, G. Perry and J. Reinmann.

SUNDAY BASEBALL BILL IS PASSED BY ASSEMBLY

Assemblyman Olwell's Sunday baseball bill made a home run in the House at Trenton yesterday afternoon—that is to say, the bill which amends the crimes act so as to exempt baseball games on Sunday, passed by a vote of 31 to 29, the roll-call showing a bare majority for it. This is the measure advocated by Mayor Spencer, of Passaic, and Mayor Fisk, of Plainfield. It simply gives a municipality the power to do anything that is not prohibited by law. The vote in favor of the bill was made up by twelve members from Essex, eleven members from Hudson, five from Passaic, Speaker Ward, Majority Leader Edge and Mr. Ramsey, of Middlesex. Assemblyman Nichols, of Cumberland, led the fight against the bill.

The same bill passed the House last year, but was killed in the Senate. It is expected that a similar fate will befall it this year.

Allen, for contempt.

SOUTH AMERICA AS A MISSIONARY FIELD

A paper full of interesting facts on "The East Coast of South America," prepared by Mrs. Doremus and read by Mrs. Charles H. Smith, was presented at the meeting of the Woman's Foreign Mission Society of the First Baptist church, held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room. The great size of the Continent, its magnificent distances and great natural wealth were touched upon by Mrs. Doremus, who said that the opening of the country by the completion of the Panama Canal challenged the Christian world to take South America for Christ. The waxing and waning fate of Protestantism, introduced by the Huguenots and Moravians were told by Mrs. Doremus and the number of missionaries given at the present time was 800; one to each 50,000 persons. The stories of Uruguay, Venzuela and the Guineas were full of interest as told by Mrs. Doremus. Venezuela, she said, ranking as "the naughty small boy of the nations, too small to punish."

The Christ of the Andes, a statue erected at the conclusion of a peace treaty between Chili and Argentina, and which faces the north, she said symbolized the country's appeal to North America to help while there is opportunity. The paper was preceded by a devotional service conducted by Mrs. J. A. Chambliss.

Tight Shoe Causes Poison.

GAYNOR LAUDS POLICEMEN FOR KINDNESS TO BOYS

Policeman Thomas Sheehan of the East Fifty-first street station, New York, found two small boys lost outside the Hippodrome a few days ago, learned that they lived in Westfield, N. J., put them on the right car and gave them a dollar to pay their fares home. They were the sons of George B. Dickenson, of Westfield, and they reached home safely. Mr. Dickenson wrote Mayor Gaynor of the incident, the Mayor looked up the policeman and asked him to send in an account of what happened. Sheehan did so, and yesterday the Mayor sent the policeman the following letter:

"I am very glad, indeed, to receive your letter of April 4 explaining how you sent the two little boys home. It was very kind of you, indeed, and I am certain they will send back the dollar which you gave them.

"I have long known from personal observation that the patrolmen do many kind things, and I am in a position now to hear of many of the good things which they do, and I grow more proud of them every day. I shall always be glad to hear from you, and also to do anything for you which I can legally and properly do."

MOVEMENT AGAINST 'INSANE' CELEBRATION

While Mayors and councilmanic boards all over the country are planning to discourage the promiscuous use of firearms and other dangerous noise producers, there apparently has been no special attention given to the subject by the city fathers here. However, several prominent citizens have been frank to express an opinion on the subject and it goes without saying that they are in favor of a "safe and sane" Fourth of July.

Chicago, Indianapolis, Cleveland, Cincinnati and many of the smaller cities of the west are unalterably opposed to the hitherto noisy and hospital-filling day and stringent ordinances have been framed and passed curtailing the sale of explosives as well as the use of them.

Past records of the "day we celebrate" show an apalling number of accidents due to carelessness, and it is believed that only stringent laws are equal to the handling of unwitting suicides. The city of Elizabeth has taken up the subject manfully and in the resolution recently introduced by Councilman Blanchard will undoubtedly be endorsed by the citizens of that municipality. Mr. Blanchard is backed up by the fire committee and in event of the passage of this ordinance the police will gladly enforce it. One of the worst features of the annual celebration is that the shooting off of firecrackers and revolvers, etc., begins usually a week ahead of time.

UNION CO. ENDEAVORERS' RALLY ON TUESDAY NIGHT.

The Union County Christian Endeavor Societies will hold a rally in the parish house of the German Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, Tuesday night, April 12, in the interest of the Forward Increase Campaign. Frederick L. Mintel, of Rahway, the secretary of the committee, has sent letters to all the societies of Union county, urging a large attendance.

The program will be chiefly of a social nature, different societies taking part in a competitive entertainment, the relative merits of he contestants being determined by judges. A large delegation from the local societies is expected to attend the rally.

Tomorrow Night's Show.

At the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow night, the new and most talked of comedy, "The Upstart," will be presented by an exceedingly strong cast, which will contain such well known artists as Ralph Stuart, Jas. Lackaye, John Westley, Miss Charlotte Ives, Frank Gillmore, Walter S. Howard. "The Upstart" is from the pen of Tom Barry written on a novel theme and full of original situations and brilliant lines.

Y. M. C. A. Orchestra Concert.

Mrs. L. R. Howard, soprano, and Vincent B. Miner, baritone, soloists at Grace M. E. church, have been secured as soloists at the thirty-seventh concert of the Y. M. C. A. orchestra in association hall on Tuesday night, April 12.

Gave a Cotillion.

Miss VanDeventer's dancing class held its closing dance of the season at the Park Club, yesterday afternoon, when the members of the class gave a cotillion. Many of the parents of the young people were present and enjoyed the affair.

CIVIC SOCIETY IS ACTIVE

Plans Educational Campaign to Help Common Council in Coming Election.

JAMES E. MARTINE'S SPEECH.

Resolution Adopted Favoring Municipal Ownership—Gov. Fort's Conservation Message Approved.

The meeting of the Plainfield Civic Association held last night in the rooms of the Plainfield Business College was not as largely attended as was expected, but what was lacking in numbers was made up in enthusiasm. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the water situation and to take such action as the members thought advisable in the matter. James E. Martine, the principal speaker of the evening, made a motion at the conclusion of his speech which was carried unanimously and was as follows: "That it is the sense of this meeting that the city of Plainfield should own and operate its own water plant." The motion was seconded by John Manley and carried.

F. A. Duttenhofer, W. H. Rogers, Alfred T. Slauson John Manley, Wm. S. Tyler and William Jeffery all took part in the discussion. Mr. Martine devoted nearly an hour to telling the members of the association the history of the Union Water Company and said that perhaps there was no man more hated by that company than himself, "but," he said, "they at least respect me if they do not love me."

"Water being God's gift to man," said Mr. Martine, "why should we allow Senator John Kean, Hamilton Kean and Frank Bergen to enrich themselves at our and posterity's expense?" Mr. Martine paid his respects to the present Legislature and a high tribute to Hamilton Kean's great diplomacy. He told how, in his own opinion, the three men obtained their franchise. He warmly seconded Governor Fort's message on conservation, and stopped to ask with irony whether his hearers believed there were any politics in water. He said that rumors of corruption and fraud were permeating the famed halls of Trenton, but was not surprised at that.

Mr. Martine told of the prospects for increased population and consequent need of water in the future. He deplored the fight against the McCram bill, telling why the "interests" are against it. Gave the municipal ownership results in Rahway and Madison. "We ought to own the water" he said.

Mr. Tyler gave a short and instructive talk in which he told of the efforts being made since 1904 toward the end now desired. In 1907 the people voted on the question but lost on a technicality. He urged the necessity of showing the people the need for municipal ownership of the water and the need of help for the Common Council.

F. C. Shaffer, of Berkeley Heights, favored the company with some banjo music. A set of by-laws introduced by chairman of organization, Mr. Magee, were left for further consideration. A special meeting of the association will be held on April 14 and the next regular meeting on April 26.

Mr. Duttenhofer reported the fact that all the civic societies would work together on a campaign of education on the water question.

MISS MARY BURKE GIVES A POST-LENTEN DANCE.

A delightful post-Lenten dance was given by Miss Mary Burke, of Somerset street, at the Fanwood Clubhouse, last night. There were about thirty-five couples present the guests being from New York, Elizabeth, Newark and this city. Paroubek's orchestra of four pieces furnished the music for dancing and the program was a popular one. There were many encores throughout the evening. During an intermission at midnight refreshments were served, after which dancing continued until 2 o'clock this morning.

Auto Registry Fees.

Reconsidering the vote taken Monday night, the Upper House at Trenton yesterday, passed the Brown automobile bill. This measure authorizes the following registration fees for automobiles: $3 for first class, less than 10 h. p.; $5 for second class, 10 to 15 h. p.; $10, third class, 16 to 20 h. p.; $15, fourth class, 21 to 24 h. p.; $20, fifth class, 25 to 39 h. p.; $25 for sixth class, forty h. p; and over.

City Officials' Salaries.

The Senate yesterday at Trenton passed Mr. Radcliffe's bill, which provides that the salary of any city officer be neither increased nor decreased during the term for which he shall be or shall have been appointed.

FRELINGHUYSEN TELLS G.O.P. TO GET TOGETHER

Prosecutor Pierre P. Garven, Senators Joseph S. Frelinghuysen and Thomas J. Hillery and Vivian M. Lewis, banking and insurance commissioner, all were boomed for the Republican gubernatorial nomination at the dinner of the Republican general committee, which 300 prominent Republicans attended in the Republican club in Bayonne.

Garven was toastmaster, and the principal speaker was Senator Frelinghuysen, who asserted the State committee should be in closer touch with the county committees to prevent disorganization. He advocated that every county chairman shou'd be a member of the State organization. He said:

"It is your duty to take every one imbued with Republican principles, no matter what their theories may be, and make an effort to harmonize differences. I know of no reason why a regular cannot be a progressive, or a progressive a regular. Let us get together, regulars and progressives, cast aside all differences, abandon all ideas of rule-or-ruin policy, and fight shoulder to shoulder against our common enemy."

BOLD HOTEL THIEF THIS; CAUGHT WITH GOODS ON

Joseph McCready, 32, of New York, was held in $200 bonds this morning on a charge of larceny preferred by Charles Hyde, a resident at Truell Hall. The alleged robbery occurred last midnight and consisted of stealing wearing apparel. James Benson, who was arrested on suspicion of having been implicated in the theft was allowed to go. He was warned to leave town and did so.

The housekeeper, Miss Rose, heard a noise at a little before 12 o'clock and notified the engineer, Charles Andree, and the night watchman, Harold Thomas, who in company with Miss Alma Schelbin, a maid started an investigation. McCready was seen running through the hall on the third floor carrying a bundle of clothing and seeing Miss Schelbin approaching made a hasty move toward the bath room. Here the maid peeked in and recognized McCready.

Patrolman McCarthy, who was on duty nearby, was called and did a little sleuthing, finding McCready in his room feigning slumber, and with a jumper under his head in a pocket of which the patrolman found the duplicate key with which entrance was gained to Mr. Hyde's store room.

The clothing was found in the bath room where McCready had left it, apparently handy for an exit when the time should be ripe. There was no evidence to implicate Benson, who had been engaged from a New York employment agency, to take McCready's place. The former was to have gone to work at 5 o'clock this morning. The fixing of the theft on McCready was a clever bit of detective work by Patrolman McCarthy. It is believed that the prisoner is an old offender and it would not surprise the local force if his picture can be found among those at Detective headquarters in New York.

Chris Cumins Going South.

Chris. Cumins, who has been in the employ of the Watchung Hunt Club, and who has been the whip at all hunts, severed his connection with the club Monday and will leave soon for Kentucky, where he will become manager of a large farm.

MUST NOT DIVERT WATER FROM STATE OF NEW JERSEY.

An act which will probably prevent any water company from diverting the subterranean potable waters of New Jersey to other States, with the possible exception of the Hudson Water Company's diversion to Staten Island, was passed by the Senate yesterday afternoon at Trenton, when favorable action was taken on Mr. McCran's bill, House 414.

This bill will make it unlawful to lay pipes in any lands of the State under tidal waters without the permission of the Governor and riparian commissioners obtained in writing. There was not a vote against the measure.

To Be Wedded in Church.

Miss Mary Rogers, of this city, and Francis Aspinwall, of New York, will be married this afternoon at 5 o'clock at St. Mary's church. The couple will make their home in New York where the prospective bridegroom is engaged in business. The ceremony will be performed by Father Bogan.

MISS ISABEL TAYLOR R. T. ROBERTSON'S BRIDE

Miss Isabel Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Taylor, of 804 Grant avenue, became the bride of Robert T. Robertson, of New York city at the home of the bride's parents today at 12:30, Rev. E. G. Read performing the ceremony.

The bride was unattended. The groom had Dr. H. F. Ingersoll, of New York, as best man. The wedding was witnessed by about fifty of the relatives and intimate friends of the couple. The bride was attired in a traveling suit of blue silk poplin and white picture hat adorned with roses.

A wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony at which covers were laid for fifty. After a wedding trip the couple will reside in their new home recently purchased on Evergreen avenue. The groom is engaged in business in New York. Mr. Taylor, father of the bride, is a stock broker in New York.

CRYSTAL WEDDING OF DR. AND MRS. CREGAR

Dr. and Mrs Peter Bodine Cregar, of Grant avenue, celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding at their home, last night, and the affair was marked by several pleasing features. There were about 125 guests, including a number from out-of-town. The home was attractively decorated for the occasion with palms and the season's flowers.

Dr. and Mrs. Cregar received their guests assisted by Miss Cregar's sister, Miss Anna Stoughton, of Lewisburg, Pa., and Mrs. Christopher Mathewson, of New York; Miss Blanche McGraw, of Baltimore, and Dr. and Mrs. George L. Megargee, of North Plainfield.

The affair was chiefly in the form of a reception, during which Dr. and Mrs. Cregar received the congratulations of their guests. Andrew Carpenter's orchestra, violin, piano and 'cello, furnished the music. Later in the evening refreshments were served by Mrs. Henry Johnson.

Dr. and Mrs. Cregar were married at the home of the latter in Lewisburg, Pa., fifteen years ago, the bride's maiden name being Miss Stoughton. The doctor is a native of this State and is a graduate of Bucknell University at Lewisburg, and it was while there that he met Mrs. Cregar. The couple have lived in this city about ten years, during which time they have made a host of friends. The doctor has been successful in the practice of medicine. Mrs. Cregar received a large number of gifts.

PLAINFIELD DELEGATES TO M'ALL CONVENTION

Encouraging reports were received from the mission stations in France at the meeting of the Plainfield branch of the McAll Auxiliary, at the Public Library, this morning, especially from the station at Limoges, which is supported entirely by the local auxiliary. It was shown that the natives are recovering from the disastrous effects of the floods, but that it will be a long time before a normal condition is reached.

Delegates to the annual convention of the American Auxiliary in Washington, the first week in May, were chosen. Miss Millar was selected as the official representative of the Plainfield branch, and in addition these women will also go as delegates: Mrs. John Gray Foster, Mrs. Herbert E. Baright, Miss Ida Yerkes and Mrs. F. O. Herring.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS INCREASE IN MEMBERSHIP.

According to represntative members of the Seventh-Day Baptist church in this city, the reported action of the Legislature regarding the churches of that denomination is misleading. They say that the Plainfield church was organized in 1874 with fifty-seven members. In 1890 its membership was 182; in 1908 it reported 237 and at present it numbers 244. They say that the four Seventh-Day Baptist churches in New Jersey have made quite an increase in membership in the last twenty years.

Mt. Bethel Boy Missing.

Jacob Lang, Jr., aged fourteen years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lang, disappeared from home on Sunday and has not yet returned. Mr. Lang, father of the boy, states there was no trouble at home and he is at a loss to account for his son's disappearance.

FORT'S TALK RESENTED

Senators Appoint Committee to Ask Governor to Explain Charges.

THE LAWMAKERS CORRUPTED?

He Says He Is Correctly Quoted by Newspapers and Means Every Word He Uttered in Address.

Governor Fort has incurred the enmity of many members of the Legislature because of his speech before the New Jersey Real Estate Association at the Hotel Astor, New York, last Saturday night, when he intimated that corruption exists in the Legislative halls at Trenton. Some of the Senators yesterday were for impeachment, while others were willing to "forget it," but after all it was decided yesterday to appoint Senators Bradley, of Camden; Prince, of Passaic; Minch, of Cumberland, and Fielder, of Hudson, a committee of four to ask the Governor what he meant about "corruption at Trenton."

President Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, who was incensed at Mr. Fort's utterance, declined to serve on the committee as did Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, and it is generally believed that the whole thing will be dropped. The Governor's attack on the "criminal lobby" has stirred things to their foundation. In conversation with Senator Ackerman, who went to him yesterday to get a confirmation of his reported statement, the Governor said he was correctly reported and he meant every word of it.

The Governor was quoted in his speech as severely denouncing corrupt methods in connection with legislation, and said laws should be passed to compel lobbyists to be registered. The Governor also deplored the domination of corporation influence in the matter of legislation and made references to Washington, Albany and Trenton.

"The newspapers quoted me correctly, and I meant every word that I said. It was only one of the many speeches that I expect to make in this fall's campaign," said the Governor yesterday.

The general feeling among the Senators, however, was one of regret that the incident had taken place. Some of the Senators said the charges of two Newark newspapers that graft was being used to force through some corporation measures had tended largely to disturb their peace of mind, and that when the Governor's speech was called to their attention it was like waving a red flag in front of a mad bull. Governor Fort left the State House early yesterday afternoon. Before going, however, he would not discuss the appointment of the Senate committee.

PLAINFIELD AUTO CLUB PLANNING FOR RUN.

The Plainfield Automobile Club, at a meeting at the Park Club last night, discussed plans to conduct a run during the coming season. An entertainment will also be held in the near future. The organization is in a prosperous state and the membership is now close to the seventy mark.

Owing to the resignation of Dr. F. C. Ard, as president, Harry W. Marshall was elected to fill the position for the remainder of the year. The resignation of Secretary Radin, who has removed to Newark, was also accepted and Tax Collector William Townsend was unanimously selected to fill that office.

BUZZARDS ELECT OFFICERS; PLAN FOR THE SUMMER SEASON

The monthly meeting of the Buzzards' Club was held at Buzzards' Roost, Babcock building, last night, at which time these officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, William Hartpence; vice-president, James Niles; secretary, Edward Koechlein; treasurer, Harry Hoffman; trustee, George Slorah; sergeant-at-arms, Arthur Dow.

Aside from the election of officers considerable new business was transacted, including plans for a social session during the summer. Wallace Hill was elected a member.

Public Library Wants $7,500.

The Board of Directors of the Plainfield Public Library and Reading Room, at its meeting last night, fixed and determined upon $7,500 as the amount which will be required for the maintenance of the institution for the coming year. This will be reported to the finance committee of the Common Council. The thanks of the board were extended to Mrs. Ernest Sharp for the gift of a six months subscription to the "Christian Science Monitor," for the reading room.

THE FORUM.

A Correction.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Will you kindly correct two words in my letter published April 2. The word "winter" should be "month." All the statistics given were for the month of March only, and not for the winter as printed. Secondly, the thirteen cases my report speaks of as referred "to" the Hospital were referred "by" the Hospital to the Society for investigation. This investigation is for the purpose of ascertaining whether the cases should be gratuitously treated at the Hospital. It is also to make sure that the after treatment and environment of the patient is such that the work of the Hospital is not undone. The Society is often called upon to supply special nourishment for such cases, perhaps to obtain employment, or in other ways to assist that family to become re-established. On the whole the trustees feel this work for the hospital patients is among the most interesting and important tasks that charity can undertake.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

When Thomas A. Wise, the heavyweight comedian, who plays the title role in "A Gentleman from Mississippi," which is to be seen here at the Plainfield theatre Monday, April 11, makes his first entrance and registers in the big book on the hotel desk he inscribes his name in one of the most valuable relics of its kind in existence. Inasmuch as Mr. Wise has made this entrance and written in the hotel register more than 650 consecutive times, now, it would seem as if his name would overshadow any other signatures which might appear in the stage "property." But the history of that register makes this untrue.

MRS. DUMPHY'S FUNERAL IS LARGELY ATTENDED

St. John's church, Dunellen, was filled to overflowing this morning when the funeral service of Mrs. Ann Dunphy, mother of the rector of that church, was conducted. So large was the throng that many were obliged to remain outdoors while the solemn requiem mass was said. Among those in attendance was a score or more priests from the Trenton and Newark diocese, the visiting clergymen including Fathers Bogan and Hogan, of this city.

The celebrant of the mass was the Rev. William H. Miller, rector of St. Joseph's church; Rev. Dr. J. W. Norris, of Deal Beach, was deacon and the Rev. Michael H. Callahan, of Jamesburg, was sub-deacon. The sermon was preached by the Rt. Rev John H. Fox, Vicar General of the diocese of Trenton, and the Rev. William Gilfillan, of Sayreville, acted as master of ceremonies. The mass was sung by St. Mary's choir of this city.

Last night the Holy Name Society visited the rectory and conducted the rosary and prayer for the dead. The body was taken to Trenton on the 12:10 train from Dunellen for interment. The bearers were Owen Mohan, Charles Wahl, John Logan, Charles Dineen, Richard Ryan and Jacob Fern.

Father Dunphy has been the recipient of scores of letters of sympathy from fellow clergymen and friends. On of these missives came from Bishop McFaul, of Trenton.

It was license day in the Middlesex County Court yesterday. William H. Taylor was granted a renewal for his hotel license in Dunellen, while John Harkins and Alexander Stillwagon were granted renewals for their New Market establishments.

Miss Frances Gardner has returned from Rome, N. Y., where she spent her Easter vacation with relatives.

James L. Manning, who recently submitted to an operation in Muhlenberg Hospital, is improving rapidly.

Miss Alice Pierce, who has been visiting friends at Jersey City and New York, has returned home.

John M. Evans, of the Cherry Hill farm, has disposed of a number of steers to Herbert L. Pierce.

The congregation of the Presbyterian church will meet tonight and elect two trustees.

Miss Sarah Hill, who has been very ill recently, displays signs of improvement.

Miss Margaret Wallace has returned from a pleasant visit at Berwick, Pa.

Mrs. Philip Mitze has been entertaining company from Cranford.

Successful Furnace Fires

PATENTED
The BOYNTON Square Fire Pot

makes tending the furnace easy, but best of all it makes a joyous fire. Round fire pots burn strongly through the center with a rim of half dead clinkers at the edge and when you shake the fire the middle drops out. You've noticed it. Fires built in BOYNTON Square Pots are all live coals. A shake down is an even shake. The whole fire settles. There is no waste. The fuel being equal, a square pot will develop almost twice the heat, or the same heat for about half. The square pot is our patent and can be had only in the BOYNTON furnaces. We have a dealer in your town. He will be glad to show you.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for Steam or Hot Water. Also Ranges.

GETTING READY FOR MOTORCYCLE CONTESTS

Arrangements are almost completed for the motorcycle racing meet, which will be held at the Plainfield Driving Park on Saturday afternoon, April 16. Joseph Gunn, of the Newark Evening News, who is chief promoter of the meet, was in town yesterday, and he announced that the race track had been engaged and that it would be put in fine condition.

Mr. Gunn is now at work preparing the program of races. About eight events will be carded, which will probably include a couple of bicycle contests. The program will also include a special race open to local motorcyclists.

All of the champions in the east will appear and Plainfield is due to witness one of the biggest sporting events in the town's history. Thomas Quinn, of the Plainfield Driving Club, is having the track put in shape for the meet.

Local bike riders are training for the cycle races. Jack Horner, the local cycle racing promoter, declares that a dozen crack riders of this vicinity will compete in addition to talent from neighboring towns.

ORTLEB AND MILLER MAKE BIG CLEANUP.

G. Ortleb and Miller did the "cleanup" act in the two-man tourney at Campbell's alleys last night, winning five out of six games and created a new high team score for the tourney, rolling 440.

Matthews and Meyer, who have been leading the competition, lost five games, while Stout and Kiely broke even.

Miller did some remarkable rolling, averaging 200.1 for the six games, while his 239 was high for the night. The scores:

W. Meyer	173	199	168
Matthews	158	204	171
	331	403	339
G. Ortleb	154	203	227
Miller	181	214	213
	335	417	440
Stout	212	190	184
Kiely	166	150	182
	378	340	366
G. Ortleb	159	162	192
Miller	167	239	187
	326	401	379
Stout	207	202	194
Kiely	186	182	179
	393	384	373
W. Meyer	196	162	203
Matthews	155	172	179

RUSSELL RUNYON MAKING GOOD ON P. H. S. TEAM.

In Russell Runyon, the Dunellen boy, the Plainfield High School nine has one of the speediest outfielders in the scholastic ranks. Runyon made good last year and the indications are that he will be faster than ever this season. In the game against Somerville High on Saturday Runyon participated in the first double play of the season. He also walloped the horsehide hard. Runyon's throwing arm is also in fine form and his quick return of outfield balls is one of the marked features of his performances.

Here's a chance to make vacation expenses. Put your dough on Johnny Campbell when he meets Garrabrant, of Newark, in the windup of the home series, on the local alleys, on Thursday night, April 14.

Jack Peacock is out with the Princeton baseball squad every day. According to Coach Bill Clarke the Plainfield boy is fast enough for a tryout with any of the league teams.

Suckers are biting at New Market and South Plainfield, and violet plants are sprouting at a lively clip on the mountains.

Jack Nicol is making whirlwind efforts to make the Elks baseball team. According to reports Jack is taking daily sprints on Somerset street to reduce his avordupois.

We're always glad to hear from J. Percival Hall on baseball matters. Jack came out yesterday with a prediction that the Yanks will win the pennant in the American League, and Archie Davies posts the Giants to win the flag in the National League.

Pitcher Joe Weaner, of the West End, who has made scores of batters hustle for base hits, is going to return to the game. Joe is now engaged in looking for a berth.

HIST! A BRAND NEW CURVE

"Warry" McLaughlin Invents the "Disappearing Sinker" —a Puzzle to Batters.

LIKE "MATTY'S" FADEAWAY.

Curves Hits up a Zig-zag Course, Shoots up and Down and is Bound to Fool the Sluggers Even Frank Merriwell.

All live baseball news is not coming from southern training camps of the big leaguers. One of Plainfield diamond heroes, "Warry" McLaughlin, who is slated to twirl for Plainfield this season, has invented a brand new puzzler in the line of curve specialties.

It is the Disappearing Sinker, or a twin ball to Christy Mathewson's celebrated fadeaway ball. While limbering up his muscles a few days ago "Warry" detected a zig-zag shoot to his old side-wheel curve "Warry" admitted yesterday that the discovery is a big surprise, but that he hopes to cultivate the "wonder ball" to such a degree that it will baffle all opposing batsmen this season.

"Warry" has been keeping the "disappearing sinker" speciality a secret, but it got out yesterday afternoon, and "Pete" Feiring, who was a renowned shooter of slants, when Bull Frog City was on the baseball map, was the fellow to pipe off the mysterious curve. "Pete" was catching a few of "Warry's" shoots, and when one of the "disappearing sinkers" hit his mitt, "Pete" gave a hop, skip and a jump and exclaimed:

"Holy Smoke, 'Warry,' that's a peacherino, who tipped you off? By gum, that hook is just like old "Screech" McGinnity's hop ball that beat Bull Frog City out of the championship twenty years ago. It's a pippin. I'll bet my starched shirt that those Brunswick guys wont get a smell of that ammunition." Then "Pete" asked "Warry" for a chance to be his battery partner this season.

"Chicago Bill" Cass, who also got a glimpse of McLaughlin's new speciality labeeled it as the equal of 3-Fingered Brown's famous drop ball. With the expert opinions of Feiring and Cass, the "Disappearing Sinker" is bound to be a success.

The new curve is operated by both slow and speedy routes. It is at its best when sailing along the neck of the batter. It is equally effective when it crashes into the shoe strings of ambitious swatsmiths.

In delivering it, "Warry" uses an overhand motion. Ten feet away from the pitcher the globule gives a triple wiggle, and at the half way distance it drops to within two inches of the ground, breezes up the dust, starts on a straight line toward the batter, swerves to the windward, shoots upward at a 30 degree angle, drops back on a level, and within two feet of the home plate, sinks to within one inch of the ground, and when the batter swipes at the pill, the ball shoots upward in the catcher's mitt, and the batter strikes out.

As "Warry" has not applied for a patent on the new discovery, it is probable that Scout Arthur Irwin, of the New York Americans, will be deputized by Manager George Stallings to come here on an investigating tour.

ANOTHER CONTEST MAY BE ON WITH TRENTON.

Miss Reba Kline, captain of the Y. W. C. A. basketball team, which gained a notable victory over the classy Trenton quintet on Friday night, is anxious to secure another game with the Trentonians to decide the championship between the two teams. As matters stand now each team has a victory to its credit. If an agreement on the rule problem can be arrived at amicably the contest in all likelihood willb e arranged. Trenton insists on playing the game according to rules covering boys' contests while the local quintet has been playing under the usual girls' rules.

Wanted—More girls' basketball games to referee. C. H. Line, Y. M. C. A.

THE DAILY PRESS.

Plainfield, N. J., April 6, 1910.

Trenton and Elizabeth have joined the movement started in the larger cities of the west for a "safe and sane" Fourth of July. It is encouraging to see how the idea is spreading that the heathen Chinee way of celebrating the birthday anniversary of our country is not alone a foolish way of wasting money but is a menace to "life, limb and property." On the day after the "celebration," each year, the papers are filled with accounts of terrible deaths, frightful injuries and enormous fire losses due to the silly custom.

Referring to the movement the Jersey City Journal said yesterday: "Fireworks are pretty, dangerous and barbaric. They provide color and noise, but are not a sufficient return for the cost, the deaths, the suffering and the fire loss incident to heir use. The privilege of making a noise in barbarous fashion on one day in the year does not enhance patriotism, but it does breed disrepect for law, order and decency. If no fireworks could be sold by retail in his city on or before the Fourth, then any person discharging fireworks would be a valuable witness against some law breaker and the witness should be locked up until the law breaker is discovered and sentenced. Mayor Gaynor has shown how the evil can be attacked. It should not take many years to eradicate it."

There is a three-fold purpose in the special election on the water problem. If a favorable vote is obtained the authorities will be vested with power to institute condemnation proceedings against the privately owned company now engaged in the business of supplying water here. They will also be empowered to investigate the probable cost of a new plant. Likewise they will be permitted to make a new contract with the private concern if it is desirable. It should be remembered, however, that if the voters give the city authorities power to go ahead with the proceedings, the latter will have the right to bond the city for the purpose of either building a municipal plant or purchasing the private concern's plant and this without submitting the proposition to the people. There is reason to believe, however, that no such a move would be made without obtaining the permission through the Legislature to hold a special election on the proposition.

Much to its disgrace, the Assembly has acted favorably on a bill permitting Sunday baseball. Much to its credit, the Senate will kill the measure as it did last year.

The Daily Press will answer any questions regarding the purposes of the special election to be held on April 19.

Decree for Mrs. Sofield.

Trenton, April 6.—The Court of Chancery, in the divorce proceedings instituted by Mrs. Mary E. Sofield, of 14 Steiner place, North Plainfield, against her husband, granted the petitioner a decree nisi. Mrs. Sofield charged desertion in the suit. She was represented by Francis J. Gentlemen's clothes cleaned by a Cleanery with the ability nad equipments to produce first-class work, will stay clean longer, as when done by an ordinary suit presser who only brushes the surface dust off and removes the most prominent spots from the surface.

With our process the garments are thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, the linings are cleaned and spots that are removed will stay removed and do not appear again the first time the garments are exposed to the dust and grim of the street.

In the beginning it may cost a little more, but will pay at the end, as the clothes don't have to be at the cleaners every two weeks.

NEWSPAPER AGGREGATION LOSES FIRST CONTEST

"Chicago Bill" Cass' combination of newspapermen and P. H. S. diamond glitterers sustained a defeat at the hands of Jack Martin's minor league team yesterday afternoon on Crescent Oval by the score of 13 to 7. Although defeated the scribes are not crestfallen as the prospects are considered bright for a winning team—in the newspaper realm.

One star was disclosed in the exhibition. He is "Tornado John" Townsend. He merited applause, and he got it in the first round, when he sprinted from shortstop, back to left field territory, and corraled Jack Martin's Texas leaguer.

McNaughton, the Elk's candidate for backstop position, performed in superb style behind the bat. His throwing to second base was perfect and several ambitious base stealers were nabbed, with Pete Feiring assisting at the middle sack.

Paul Collier pitched a fine game for the newspaper men, but the erratic support accorded him wiped out all chances of victory. The pen and pencil aggregation, however, made a fine stand in the sixth inning by sending seven runs across the plate.

Randolph, Emery and Martin performed in classy style for the winners. The lineup and score:

Minor Leaguers—Bristol, cf, Doane, lf; Lidgate, c; Emery, 3b; Clarke, 2b; Woodhull, rf; Martin, ss; VanZandt, 1b; Randolph, p.

Score by innings:

M. L.	2 0 3 6 2 0 0 0	13
N. T.	0 0 0 0 0 7 0 0 0	7

Umpire—Nash.

P. H. S. FRESHMEN ARE VICTORIOUS OVER "SAINTS."

The Plainfield High School freshmen started their baseball season with a victory over the St. Mary's team on Crescent Oval yesterday afternoon. The game was nip and tuck until the fifth inning when the freshmen rallied at the bat scoring a large number of runs against their opponents. This decided the game for the school team, the St. Mary's being unable to score during the rest of the game, which left the final score 17 to 7.

Those starring at the bat for the freshmen were Nash, Weber, Carty, Huston and Grisley.

Rosemon also played a star game at short, while Hanrahan and Kyle played a good game for St. Mary's. The lineup:

St. Mary's—Kyle, c; Green, p; Murray, 1b; O'Brien, 2b; Hanrahan, ss; Hollaider, 3b; Kyle, lf; McCarty, cf; Cullen, rf.

THE WEATHER.

OTHER APPOINTMENTS MADE BY THE BISHOP

Aside from the local appointments by Bishop Anderson, of the Newark Conference, which were anounced in this paper yesterday, there were several other appointments of interest here. Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, of Sandford avenue, was appointed superintendent of the Elizabeth district for another year, which is a recognition of his excellent work.

Rev. George Mooney, who was formerly at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, and who was at South Orange last year, goes to Madison. Rev. John McMurray, who was also formerly at the Monroe Avenue church, was returned to Nyack, N. Y., for another year. Rev. W. C. O'Donnell, a former pastor here, is continued at St. Paul's church, Newark, and Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, formerly of the First M. E. church, is returned to Paterson.

There is general satisfaction over the local appointments both on the part of the ministers and the congregations, and a successful year's work is anticipated. It was learned today that the transfer of Dr. A. C. McCrea from Centenary M. E. church to Emory church, Jersey City, was not such a great surprise to some of the members of the conference, for they had an inkling of what was going to happen. The Emory church to which Dr. McCrea goes pays $3,000 a year.

EASTER MART OPENS VERY AUSPICIOUSLY.

A large crowd was in attendance at the opening of the Easter Mart in the parish house of Grace Episcopal church this afternoon. The affair is being conducted by the Sunday school and is for the benefit of the Anti-Tuberculosis League.

The feature tonight will be the presentation of a playlet entitled "A String of Pearls." The Mart will continue tonight, tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Ready for Governor's Signature.

Senate bill No. 266, offered by Senator Ackerman, permitting two or more municipalities to provide and maintain a system of sewage, passed the Senate last night and is now ready for the signature of Governor Fort. This measure, which has already passed the House, was prepared especially for the benefit of Plainfield and North Plainfield, who plan to join in one large sewer system.

In Damage Suits.

After a hard fight by Senator Prince the Senate at Trenton yesterday afternoon passed Mr. Moore's bill, House No. 69. This measure provides that where railroads cross public streets and highways at points where there are no safety gates or other device to give warning to the people, contributory negligence of any person injured or killed shall not constitute a bar to an action for damages.

GUY GIVES $5,000 BAIL ON 'BUCKET SHOP' CHARGE

Robert A. Guy, who resided in a boarding house on Crescent avenue, this city, the fifth of the men indicted in connection with Boggs & Co. as "bucket shop" operators, voluntarily appeared before United States Commissioner Shields in New York yesterday and gave $5,000 bail for his appearance in April 11 with the other four men. U. S. Detective Louis P. Elsmer returned to New York yesterday after several days' stay here when he received a telegram that Guy was in custody.

Steps for a formal investigation of the reports that a member of the New York Stock Exchange has had business relations with several alleged bucket shop keepers arrested by federal officers last Saturday and subsequently, are expected to be taken at the regular meeting of the exchange this afternoon. These reports are to the effect that the member in question purchased stocks for the accused firms and aided in furnishing them with quotations.

The lightest penalty for these offences, if proven, is expulsion from the exchange.

LET HER DRESS.

In the world of fashion
All is vanity,
Clothes become a passion,
Half insanity.

Woman's ever planning
Something new to wear,
Fashion pages scanning
With an eager air.

Still, I'm not compiling
Data for a roast;
Woman's most beguiling
When she's dressed the most!

His Busy Time.

"Needn't look so happy," cautioned the talkative man on the back platform. "Look out for a cold winter. Ever read up the cold-weather prophets?"

"No," laughed the stranger with the kit under his arm. "I am too busy thinking about the cold-weather profits."

"Cold-weather profits?"

"Yes, I'm a plumber."

SERIOUS.

Wifey—Jack, I'm sorry to say that I have offended Aunt Julia.

Hubby—Dear me, that's serious. She may decide not to send us the usual penny Christmas card.

In the North Woods.

He thought he saw an antlered stag
And so he fired his gun;
He looked again and saw it was
The village barber's son.

Edison Disavows Responsibility.

A reporter was interviewing Thomas A. Edison.

"And you, sir," he said to the inventor, "made the first talking machine!"

"No," Mr. Edison replied. "The first one was made—long before my time—out of a rib."—New York Sun.

What?

Reed—I heard to-day that the International Anti-Cigarette league has 87,000 members who are pledged to abstain from tobacco until they are 21 years of age.

Greene—Is the organization composed of men or women?—Yonkers Statesman.

The Truth at Last.

Hub (with irritation)—Why is it that you women insist upon having the last word?

Wifey (calmly)—We don't. The only reason we get it is because we always have a dozen arguments left when you stupid men are all run out.

Good News.

"Annie Besant says we shall all be rich 2,000 years from now."

"My wife will be delighted to hear that."

"Why?"

"I have promised her an auto when we are rich."

HE FEELS IT.

Quiz—Does a draft give you cold chills down your back?

Whiz—It does when my bank account is overdrawn.

Modernized.

The boy stood on the burning deck,
The smoke made him ker-chee!
He now does stunts in vaudeville
He signaled C. Q. D.

Didn't Pay.

"So you think advertising pays?"

"Nope; I advertised for a wife once."

"And failed to get one?"

"Nope, got one."

Possibly.

Yeast—I understand he kissed his wife for the first time in months.

Of Course.

"But our ideals!"

"What of them?"

"Are they higher than they were a generation ago?"

"Sure. Everything is higher now."

NIGHT OVER A GREAT CITY.

Across the miles I watch the city lights,
Burn with a myraid twinkling eyes,
Like fireflies in a midnight revel mad,
No sounds I hear, no endless cries.
No grinding harsh of ceaseless traffic—all
By distance stilled. The wind that sighs
Up from the dusk whispers of deeper themes.

I think of that great scene that lies
Beneath those lights—of Death, whose dreaded touch
Falls on the foolish and the wise;
Of venegeful Hate that greets the dark with joy;
Of where black Envy softly tries
To work another ill; of all the greed,
The lust for gold, base enterprise
Of sin to blacken lives of things in brass
That men bend low to idolize;
Of broken hearts and lives, warm things for use,
Some Midas feast to solemnize.

I wait to hear a curse with blasting flame
Leap from the calm untroubled skies
Where He still keeps His long eternal watch;
And then—the wild thought dies
I think of Love that shines in those dark streets
As long ago in angel guise
In Bethlehem—the deep, true human love,
Glad of its allto sacrifice,
Entwining heart to heart; and then as one
Who hears a sweet distant music rise
And drown the harsher voices of the night,
So in my sight Love sanctifies
The night-wrapped city, and all the darker things
Its shining presence glorifies.

LITERARY

Long ago the East gave of its manhood and its means for the winning of the West. The day may be at hand when the West, youthful and buoyant and perhaps even bumptious, will bring back some return for that old obligation to the East. The West has been reclaimed. Isn't it time for somebody to launch the evangel of reclaiming the East? From "Lessons from Western Fruit Culture for the East," by Agnes C. Laut, in the American Review of Reviews for April.

An interesting side light is thrown on the current high prices of foodstuffs in "The Case Against Meat as a Staple Food," by Milo Hastings, in Physical Culture for April. In this discussion of the virtues of various forms of food, the respective values of all the meats and vegetables in common use are compared in an interesting manner.

RECIPE FOR A POPULAR NOVEL

Make the hero tall and slim,
Make him brave and make him strong;
Put a "godlike head" on hom,
Make him suffer some great wrong;
Make the heroine so fair
That no matter where she passes
Everyone will turn to stare—
Make her parents stubborn asses.

Place her in some foreign land,
There a princess she must be;
Have them both misunderstand
Through ten chapters, he and she;
Let her scorn him at the start,
Add a lot of complications;
Gradually cause her heart
To take on wild palpitations.

Make him do things which no man
Who was sane would dare to try;
Choke restraint, and, if you can,
Make the lady reader cry;
Overturn a throne or two,
Never mind about the reason;
Don't neglect to scatter through
Plot and counterplot and treason.

He must be a Yankee lad—
That's important, don't forget;
They must for awhile be sad,
Let her eyes be often wet;
Let her guess, but don't permit
Him, before the end, to tell 'er;
Having thus concocted it
You'll have written a best seller
—Chicago Record-Herald.

FOR A YOUNG GIRL.

There is undoubtedly an age in colors. The clear blues, red, pinks and yellows belong to youth, and youth alone should wear them.

The time will soon come when the pastel shades, the lavenders, the shaded purples and the shadowy greens must be our lot. Therefore, "gather ye rosebuds while ye may" and glory in all the fresh, beautiful colors of youth.

It is not one color that is too bright, too lond for a young girl, it is the combination of two or more colors. If this be remembered when replenishing the wardrobe, and only those colors be chosen which will combine with those already got, fewer mistakes will be made and the number of "perfectly hideous" hats or frocks hung in forgotten clothes presses would soon diminish.

It is a mistake for a young girl to eliminate all the stronger colors from her belongings, for she, and she alone, can do them justice.

THOUGHTS.

I do not number my borrowings; I weigh them. And had a designed to raise their value by their number, I had made them twice as many. —Mantaigne.

The world does not require so much to be informed as to be reminded.—Hannah More.

We find in life exactly what we put in it.—Emerson.

Duty done is the soul's fireside.—Browning.

Can a man help imitating that with which he holds reverential converse?—Plato.

Discretion of speech is more than eloquence.—Bacon.

Tremendous Summer Supply Sale Wash Goods

Trophies From a Bargain Hunt That Cover a Broad Field---Values That Are Irresistible. This Big Store's Gigantic Stocks of Cotton, Silk and Cotton, and Linens Included.

From mill and warehouse and wholesale place we've gathered piles and piles of goods that are sure to make this bargain carnival of cottons unparalleled. We've searched high and low for good things. We discovered many of them, and now they are gathered here, well distributed over a greater number of counters and tables than we have ever devoted to a wash good sale, with more salespeople than any previous event; and with these special lots we have mingled a mass of our own regular wash goods in order that we might make this a most memorable event.

We restrict the sale to consumers only—it is intended for family trade, and we will sell only in stipulated quantities and will fill no mail or 'phone orders.

The quantities, as a rule, are large, but if you have a strong preference for any particular item we advise you to come early.

Ture Sympathy.

"You are charged with stealing three pairs of trousers," said the judge. "What have you to say for yourself?"

"I'm guilty your honor," replied the prisoner, "but I stole them for my wife."

"You are discharged," said the judge, in a tone redolent with sympathy. His honor was in the henpecked class himself.

The Borrower

Now doth the thrifty citizen
Arise before the dawn
And heap the snow from off his walk
Upon his neighbor's lawn.
And when the job is nearly done
And polished is the track,
Why then he'll seek his neighbor's door
And hand the shovel back!
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

At the Literary Club.

"I think I'll ask yonder young lady if she ever read Scott's Emulsion. Good joke, eh?"

"Fine joke, but I'd advise you to try it on come other young lady."

"For why?"

"That first young lady is the daughter of your boss."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Never Trouble Trouble.

"Here's an article in this magazine entitled 'How to Meet Trouble,'" said Mrs. Wedderly. "Shall I read it to you?"

"No, thank you," replied his wife's husband. "How to dodge trouble is the brand of information I'm looking for."— Chicago News.

In Current Parlance.

"Whiskey," said the physiologist, "not only injures and discolors the skin, but it destroys the coating of your stomach."

"I see," answered Mr. Chuggins; "it damages the inner tubes as well as the outer casings."—Exchange.

Scallop Scramble.

Simmer two cupfuls of scallops in salted water for ten minutes. Then drain in a colander, dashing cold water over them. Break each scallop in half. Put two tablespoonfuls of butter in a hot frying pan and then stor in the scallops. Toss with a fork until they begin to brown. Add half a dozen eggs, not beaten, and stir until they thicken. Turn the mixture on buttered triangles of toast, sprinkling minced parsley on top.

The Plate Showed It.

"Prisoner," said the judge, "you say your wife hit you on the head with a plate. Is that so?"

"Yis, sorr," answered the prisoner who rejoiced in the name of Mulligan.

"But," said the judge, "your head doesn't show marks of any kind."

"No, sorr," answered Mr. Mulligan, with a touch of pride, "but ye should have seen that plate!"

MAKING A LAWN

Bramshank, after investigating the matter carefully, last spring decided that the best way to deal with the half-acre of ground surrounding his new suburban home was to seed it heavily and just let the grass grow at its own sweet will.

"If you don't cut the new grass all summer," Bramshank explained to his wife, "it gets a chance to thicken up and the next year you have a splendid lawn. I think we can stand the long grass for one season!"

"Oh, certainly," agreed Mrs. Bramshank, who has an inventive mind. "And when it gets tall enough, say about August, we can hang Japanese lanters through it and give a garden party! It will be nice, too, to serve afternoon tea under the shade of the bluegrass!"

"That's all right," said Bramshank indignantly, "but I'm going to do it all the same!"

Nobody could say that Bramshank was stingy with the seed. He got a huge quantity from a dealer who was going out of business and anxious to dispose of his stock at cut rates, and he painstakingly sprinkled all of it over his yard on the theory that if a little was good a great deal was better.

When the first tender shoots of green began to color the ground Bramshank positively chortled with joy and pride. He took practically all the credit to himself for the rapidity and thickness of the growth, though he did grudgingly allow a trifle of it to the seed man. "He said it was a special variety of seed," Bramshank told his wife, "and I believe he was right. Just look at it!"

After a few weeks that was all the Bramshank family did—look at the lawn. Indeed, the whole suburb contracted the habit of sauntering over to look at the Bramshank place, for nobody had ever seen anything like the grass that was growing there. It was Hackinny who first broke the news.

"Say," he hailed Bramshank from the sidewalk, "when did you decide to take up truck gardening? Aren't you afraid so much grass mixed in will interfere with the vegetables?"

Bramshank after one pallid glance over his weird-looking estate reeled up against a porch pillar with a blinding light breaking over him. The reason his lawn looked so queer was that half the seed was the seed of assorted garden vegetables.

There was carelessness about the groupings which might have appealed to an artistic nature, but which only further agonized the Bramshanks. There would be a little bunch of tomato plants, say, in the middle of the lawn and flanking them a thinly scattered array of feathery carrot tops. Green onions, lettuce, cucumbers, muskmelons and cabbages hilariously fraternized in the wildest confusion. As he searched further Bramshank found Indian corn sturdily pushing its way up in various spots. Also there were turnips and parsley and many more things. In fact, as Mrs. Bramshank said, a banana grove was all that was lacking to make their half-acre a complete botanical collection for the entire western hemisphere!

Now, vegetables are all very well in their place, but nobody would choose to have them scattered all over a lawn. To be sure, Bramshank could have mowed them down, but he would have had to mow also such grass as there was—and anyhow Mrs. Bramshank had a frugal mind. She believed in accepting the goods the fates provided, so she refused to allow the garden-lawn to be destroyed.

Bramshank said the real reason for her refusal was that she had fallen in love with two tomato plants on the lee side of the library window and that she could not resist the appeal of the tender young carrots pathetically flourishing near the lilac bushes. There was something touching also about the manner in which the cucumber vines trustingly spread out and strangled the struggling grass about them.

The worst of it was that all summer Bramshank toiled in the garden he hadn't expected to have at all. It seemed rank foolishness not to take care of the enthusiastic tomatoes and other garden truck. The whole neighborhood took to running over to get parsley from the Bramshank front lawn because the idea was so unique—and not every one can pick lettuce from along the front of his town property.

The Bramshanks raised several bushels of tomatoes, three dozen ears of green corn, cucumbers enough to start a pickle factory and untold quantities of small truck. Bramshank had to get up an hour earlier each morning all summer long properly to care for his vegetables, besides bearing the jeers of his neighbors. And by fall there wasn't any grass at all.

This spring Bramshank is going to sod over his lawn. It will cost more, but he says it's safer.

New Arctic Expedition.

The Bulletin of the Geographical society of Italy announces another arctic expedition. The leader will be Baldwin, the leader of the arctic expedition of 1901-1902. He proposes an exploration of the polar regions and to reach the pole. He proposes to follow the route taken by Nansen in the Fram. It is proposed to spend four years altogether in the search.

PROPOSALS FOR COAL

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, N. J., at a meeting held April 4, 1910, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Monday, April 18th, 1910, at eight o'clock, at the Board room in the High School building, corner Ninth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for furnishing eight hundred tons (more or less) of the best anthracite coal for steaming and hot-air purposes; in the different sizes. The quantity required of each size can be obtained at the office of the Secretary of the Board, High School building, Ninth street and Arlington avenue.

Parties bidding will be required to specify in their bids the name of the coal and shippers of same.

All coal to be thoroughly screened over a seive fine enough to take out all dust and small particles of coal, and to be prepared acceptable to the Committee on Fuel, or their agent or representative.

All coal to be placed in the coal bins within the public school buildings without any extra expense to the Board for handling or trimming the coal in the bins, and to be delivered at such time as the Board may direct.

Bids to specify whether long or short tons.

Payment for all coal contracted for to be made after July 1, 1910.

All proposals to be endorsed "Proposals for Coal," and addressed to the Secretary of the Board.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Board will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided such parties or their agents choose to be then and there present; and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

No bids will be received until the day and hour above named, and none thereafter.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Ham Omelet.

Take half a cupful of finely minced boiled ham, and put it into a frying pan, pouring over it four eggs beaten up with half a cupful of milk. Stir thoroughly. As soon as the eggs begin to thicken, turn into a hot dish and serve immediately.

Mijn Religion.

Though living on the borders of Thibet, no trace of Buddhism is found amoung the Mijus, an Asiatic race. Their religion is animistic and consists in the propitiation of the various spirits to whom sickness, failure of crops and such like calamities are attributed. The propitiation takes the form usually of the sacrifice of a fowl or a pig, a small portion being set aside for the spirit, the rest going down the throats of the offerer and his family.

To a Chemist.

"I want you to prepare for me a formula for making the best pumpkin pie that can be made," said the pie manufacturer to the chemist. "I've used turnips and ocher and potato flour and all the things my rivals use, and have beaten them a little bit at their own game, but now I want to put out a pumpkin pie that will simply outclass all other brands. I will pay you whatever fee is right for the work."—Life.

Kaffir Superstition.

Kaffir women will not pronounce their husbands' names, or even use words which contain the emphatic syllable of those names. One old woman, being taught to say the Lord's prayer, changed the word for "come" in "thy kingdom come" to something that made nonsense, and it proved that the proper "come" word was the main syllable of her husband's name.

Dry Reading.

"No one meets such various kinds of people as we do," said a librarian. "You see that little old man over there? He is going through the encyclopedias, one volume at a time. He comes in every day and begins where he left off the day before. He has read through an entire set and is beginning another. Pretty dry reading, some of it, one would say."

Keeping Cut Flowers.

Cut flowers will last fresh much longer if, before putting them in water, the stem is split up about an inch. Maidenhair fern will last fresh for a long time if, when gathered, the stems are inserted in boiling water and left until the water is cold before using.

Proof of Devotion.

"Before we were married," said Mr. Meekton, "I showed my affection for Henrietta by serenading her." "I suppose you neglect such attentions now." "Yes. I show my affection now by respecting her desire that I shall not try to sing."

Scoops.

Assistant—"Absolutely nothing doing in the news line to-day." Editor—"Very well. Put a pair of trousers on the office cat, photograph him, and we'll run a special on the oldest survivor of one of the Indian wars."—Puck.

Wail of a Pessimist.

"You can't fool a beggar with bad money," says the Philosopher of Folly. "The deaf and dumb beggar rings it to see if it has the right sound, and the blind beggar looks for the mint mark."

Fact Worth Remembering.

Keep burnishing your shield. It is true our own mental outlook does seem to color things, and the gayer you expect them to be, the gayer they are.

Stature Matched His Intellect.

Thackeray was six feet two inches in height, and Sir H. W. Lucy says the great novelist wore a 7⅝-inch hat, beating Dickens and John Bright by a full half inch.

Makes Life Too Humdrum.

"I don't believe in early marriages," says the Philosopher of Folly. "After you get married there's no excitement to look forward to but death."

Optimist Defined.

An optimist is a fellow who remarks, when the slush is three inches deep on the walks, that it's fine weather overhead.

A LONESOME SUNDAY

"Nope, I wouldn't go so far as to say that Washington is a lonesome town to live in," observed a western man who recently came back to Washington to live after an absence of several years, "but it certainly did seem to me like one vast oasisless desert last Sunday for a fact.

"Last Sunday was my first Sunday in Washington since I got back here. I've been out in my little town in the west for a number of years, and only got back here a couple of days before last Sunday.

"When I lived here before I only knew one family intimately. I knew a lot of folks, of course, in a stiff, distant sort of way, and was acquainted with the people in the house where I had my room just well enough to exchange nods with them when I met them on the stairs going out or coming in.

"But there was only one family that I knew well enough to go and visit with.

"The man was a chap I used to play marbles and shinny with back in the little western town where we were raised together. He came to Washington years before I did, married, began to raise a family, and when I got here the family was nicely settled in a flat over in Georgetown.

"His wife was a mighty nice little Washington woman, and the kids were interesting and lively. Used to enjoy going over to see 'em when I was here before above all things. My visits over to Georgetown at that time were right frequent. They'd let me sit around the flat for a few hours every Sunday, and make me stay to dinner more often than not, and I sure used to enjoy those visits a heap. Enjoyed the dinners, too, after 'rassling' around for what I could get at my boarding house.

"After dinner the man and I'd light cigars that I'd contribute as my share of the entertainment, and we'd sit down in his den and talk about the way he used to lick me, or I licked him, when we were playing hookey from school back in the little western town, and cross-question each other about what became of all the boys that belonged to our particular gang. While we thus talked his wife'd come in and sit down and listen to us with her hands in her lap, and tell us that we weren't much better than huge, irresponsible kids yet—for we'd guffaw and holler so that it's a wonder the folks in the other flats didn't rap on the walls or complain to the janitor. I always hated to get up and come away, I used to enjoy my visits over in that little Georgetown flat so much.

"Well, when I got back here, feeling lonesome like a man's liable to feel after he's been away from a town for some time, I decided to drop in at that Georgetown flat on the next Sunday—which was last Sunday. I'd been feeling as blue as the deuce, and I honestly did feel good over the prospect of going over there and meeting my old friends.

"I reached there along about two o'clock in the afternoon, and it all looked so natural around that neighborhood that I guess I shortened my stride in my eagerness to push the electric button of that flat.

I remembered just the button to push, and I gave it three short pushes, like I'd always done—three pushes being the regular, understood signal that I was the applicant for admittance down in the vestibule.

"I waited for the little clicks in reply that I'd been accustomed to, signifying that the vestibule door had been unbolted, or unbarred, or unlocked—however it's done I never could make out—from the flat above.

"But the little clicks didn't come.

"That seemed queer. They'd always been home at 2 o'clock on Sundays, and it didn't seem possible that their church services could last as long as that.

"So I gave three more pushes at the button and waited again for the replying clicks. But again the clicks failed to come.

"Then I felt something must be wrong. I didn't have my glasses on, but I put them on then so's I could look to see if my friend's card was there behind the bit of glass above the letter box. I saw at once that his card wasn't there. There was no card there at all—just the wood beneath the glass showing.

"Then I knew that the only family that I was on visiting terms with in Washington had gone away.

"Funny, but blamed if the sunlight didn't suddenly seem strained and thin to me. I felt like a chap that'd been marooned, or something. Stood there, kind o' dazed like, when the janitor walked up the basement steps. I asked him where the only family I knew in Washington had gone.

"'Oh, they went wes' somewheahs, boss—yo' all kin search me, suh—Ah don't know wheah—'bout six months ago,' the janitor told me.

"So I had to go back to my boarding house room, feeling pretty badly crushed you'd better believe. I wouldn't call Washington lonesome, but I sure felt then as if I ought to've married, myself, a long time ago, so's I could have a family of my own to be chummy with. And I don't know but what I'll just think that over yet."

No Outside Help.

James—None. She died a natural death.—Harvard Lampoon.

The Greatest Throngs In The History of the Business

Not even excepting the Christmas seaosn are to be seen here daily. It is indeed a joyous occasion and everybody is celebrating with a gay and happy spirit. People from all parts of the state in goodly numbers are flocking to the store, and the volume of business is away beyond our most sanguine expectations. Hundreds of congratulatory letters are daily received from folks living at a distance who traded with us years and years ago, regretting that they cannot be with us at the present time. One woman writes: "I always did like your store as it seemed to be possessed of a homelike atmosphere and environment—and I always found it profitable to me to trade with you.". Another woman writes: "I could always depend upon your store—and you seemed to have a choicer variety than I could find anywhere else," —and so letter after letter possesses a conscientious personal ring to it—a human touch of sentiment that proves there is more to business than mere barter.

From the first floor to every section of the store is in festal array and every department is offering literally stacks of the season's most desirable merchandise at prices that are truly unprecedented. The concessions in some instances are so astonishingly liberal as to seem almost increditable; so don't fail to visit the store as often as you possibly can during these days of celebration.

HERE ARE 40 MORE BARGAINS ADDED to a long list remaining over from Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Every day has an additional new list of anniversary bargains.

CHAPTER VIII.

The Second Section.

Have you ever been picked up out of your three-meals-a-day life, whirled around in a tornado of events, and landed in a situation so grotesque and yet so horrible that you laugh even while you are groaning, and straining at its hopelessness? McKnight says that is hysteria, and that no man worthy of the name ever admits to it.

Also, as McKnight says, it sounds like a tank drama. Just as the revolving saw is about to cut the hero into stove lengths, the second villain blows up the sawmill. The hero goes up through the roof and alights on the bank of a stream at the feet of his lady love, who is making daisy chains.

Nevertheless, when I was safely home again, with Mrs. Klopton brewing strange drinks that came in paper packets from the pharmacy, and that smelled to heaven, I remember staggering to the door and closing it, and then going back to bed and howling out the absurdity and the madness of the whole thing. And while I laughed my very soul was sick, for the girl was gone by that time, and I knew by all the loyalty that answers between men for honor that I would have to put her out of my mind.

And yet, all the night that followed, filled as it was with the shrieking demons of pain, I saw her as I had seen her last, in the queer hat with green ribbons. I told the doctor this, guardedly, the next morning, and he said it was the morphia, and that I was lucky not to have seen a row of devils with green tails.

I don't know anything about the wreck of September 9 last. You who swallowed the details with your coffee and digested the horrors with your chop, probably know a great deal more than I do. I remember very distinctly that the jumping and throbbing in my arm brought me back to a world that at first was nothing but sky, a heap of clouds that I thought hazily were the meringue on a blue charlotte russe. As the sense of hearing was slowly added to vision, I heard a woman near me sobbing that she had lost her hat pin, and she couldn't keep her hat on.

I think I dropped back into unconsciousness again, for the next thing I remember was of my blue patch of sky clouded with smoke, of a strange, roaring and crackling, of a rain of fiery sparks in my face and of somebody beating at me with feeble hands. I opened my eyes and closed them again. The girl in blue was bending over me. With that imperviousness to big things and keenness to small that is the first effect of shock, I tried to be facetious, when a spark stung my cheek.

"You will have to rouse yourself!" the girl was repeating desperately. "You've been in fire twice already." A piece of striped ticking floated slowly over my head. As the wind caught it its charring edges leaped into flame.

"Looks like a kite, doesn't it?" I remarked cheerfully. And then, as my arm gave an excruciating throb—"Jove, how my arm hurts!"

The girl bent over and spoke slowly, distinctly, as one might speak to a deaf person or a child.

"Listen, Mr. Blakeley," she said earnestly. "You must rouse yourself. There has been a terrible accident. The second section ran into us. The wreck is burning now, and if we don't move, we will catch fire. Do you hear?"

Her voice and my arm were bringing me to my senses. "I hear," I said.

"Then It's Too Late to Help," She Replied, Solemnly.

"I—I'll sit up in a second. Are you hurt?"

"No, only bruised. Do you think you can walk?"

I drew up one foot after another, gingerly.

"They seem to move all right," I remarked dubiously. "Would you mind telling me where the back of my head has gone? I can't help thinking it isn't there."

She made a quick examination. "It's pretty badly bumped," she said. "You must have fallen on it."

I had got up on my uninjured elbow by that time, but the pain threw me back. "Don't look at the wreck," I entreated her. "It's no sight for a woman. If—if there is any way to tie up this arm, I might be able to do something. There may be people under those cars!"

"Then it is too late to help," she replied solemnly. A little shower of feathers, each carrying its fiery lamp, blew over us from some burning pillow. A part of the wreck collapsed with a crash. In a resolute endeavor to play a man's part in the tragedy going on all around, I got to my knees. Then I realized what I had not noticed before: The hand and wrist of the broken left arm were jammed through the handle of the sealskin grip. I gasped and sat down suddenly.

"You must not do that," the girl insisted. I noticed now that she kept her back to the wreck, her eyes averted. "The weight of the traveling bag must be agony. Let me support the valise until we can get it cut off."

"Will it have to be cut off?" I asked as calmly as possible. There were red-hot stabs of agony clear to my neck, but we were moving slowly away from the track.

"Yes," she replied, with dumfounding coolness. "If I had a knife I could do it myself. You might sit here and lean against this fence."

By that time my returning faculties had realized that she was going to cut off the satchel, not the arm. The dizziness was leaving and I was gradually becoming myself.

"If you pull, it might come," I suggested. "And with that weight gone, I think I will cease to be five feet eleven inches of baby."

She tried gently to loosen the handle, but it would not move, and at last, with great drops of cold perspiration over me, I had to give up.

"I'm afraid I can't stand it," I said. "But there's a knife somewhere around these clothes, and if I can find it, perhaps you can cut the leather."

As I gave her the knife she turned it over, examining it with a peculiar expression, bewilderment rather than surprise. But she said nothing. She set to work deftly, and in a few minutes the bag dropped free.

"That's better," I declared, sitting up. "Now, if you can pin my sleeve to my coat, it will support the arm so we can get away from here."

"The pin might give," she objected, "and the jerk would be terrible." She looked around, puzzled; then she got up, coming back in a minute with a draggled, partly scorched sheet. This she tore into a large square, and after she had folded it, she slipped it under the broken arm and tied it securely at the back of my neck.

The relief was immediate, and, picking up the sealskin bag, I walked slowly beside her, away from the track.

The first act was over; the curtain fallen. The scene was "struck."

CHAPTER IX.

The Halcyon Breakfast.

We were still dazed, I think, for we wandered like two troubled children, our one idea at first to get as far away as we could from the horror behind us. We were both bare headed, grimy, pallid through the grit. Now and then we met little groups of country folk hurrying to the track; they stared at us curiously, and some wished to question us. But we hurried past them; we had put the wreck behind us. That way lay madness.

Only once the girl turned and looked behind her. The wreck was hidden, but the smoke cloud hung heavy and dense. For the first time I remembered that my companion had not been alone on the train.

"It is quiet here," I suggested. "If you will sit down on the bank I will go back and make some inquiries. I've been criminally thoughtless. Your traveling companion—"

She interrupted me, and something of her splendid poise was gone. "Please don't go back," she said. "I—am afraid it would be of no use. And—I don't want to be left alone."

Heaven knows I did not want her to be alone. I was more than content to walk along beside her aimlessly, for any length of time. Gradually, as she lost the exaltation of the moment, I was gaining my normal condition of mind. I was beginning to realize that I had lacked the morning grace of a shave, that I looked like some lost hope of yesterday, and that my left shoe pinched outrageously. A man does not rise triumphant above such handicaps. The girl, for all her disordered hair and the crumpled linen of her waist, in spite of her missing hat and the small gold bag that hung forlornly from a broken chain, looked exceedingly lovely.

"Then I won't leave you alone," I said manfully, and we stumbled on together. Thus far we had seen nobody from the wreck, but well up the lane we came across the tall dark woman who had occupied lower 11. She was half crouching beside the road, her black hair about her shoulders, and an ugly bruise over her eye. She did not seem to know us, and refused to accompany us. We left her there at last, babbling incoherently and rolling in her hands a dozen pebbles she had gathered in the road.

The girl shuddered as we went on. Once she turned and glanced at my bandage. "Does it hurt very much?" she asked.

"It's growing rather numb. But it might be worse," I answered mendaciously. If anything in this world could be worse, I had never experienced it.

Rather Unconventional

"Check isn't indorsed," said Fairley, sternly.

"Oh, excuse me," said the offender. Her big brown eyes made Fairley gasp.

"It's a common oversight," said Fairley, affably. "I've known business men to do the same thing."

Fairley noted the slender beauty of the hand, which trembled a little as it took up the pen to indorse the check. He also noted the odd, childish signature, which ran uphill in a series of spasmodic, waving strokes and then suddenly ended in a long, dashing curve like a child's valiant attempt to make its importance felt.

"I'm sorry I gave you so much trouble," she said, softly. "I think I'll remember next time."

"No trouble at all," said Fairley.

He was accustomed to looking at all sorts of girls through his grated window—big ones and little ones, blondes and brunettes, brave little business women who could talk learnedly about the difference between certified and cashiers' checks and women who indorsed checks on the wrong end and did other dark deeds; but no one of all these had caused him a flutter of the heart. Why, then, he wondered, should that soft voice echo in his ears long after the owner had gone? Why should he still see that little three-cornered brown face, with the big eyes, an hour afterward?

It was some weeks later that one day in a crowded lunchroom he found himself being apologized to profusely by a young woman who, with a disheveled and dejected look, was wandering about helplessly with an empty tray, occasionally coming near enough to the counter to be waited upon, but always being pushed aside by the more accustomed and successfully pugilistic seekers after provender.

"I'm so sorry," said the young woman. "I'm afraid I gave you an awful punch in the back, but I couldn't help it. I'm having a perfectly terrible time. I don't believe I'm ever going to get anything to eat."

Fairley laughed with pleasure on recognizing the girl of the unindorsed check. "Come with me," he said. "I think I'm more accustomed to this sort of place than you are."

She hesitated. "I don't know whether my brother Tom would like it," she said. "Still, I think he'll understand when I tell him. Surely he wouldn't want me to starve to death."

With some difficulty he managed to keep her to the business in hand until she had her tray filled, in spite of the delay caused by her tendency to ask advice of the serving women, who were too busy slapping portions of food on the plates as they were presented in kaleidoscopic succession to take more than a minute to gaze at her in supreme contempt. After awhile, however, they were headed toward the tables and with some difficulty Fairley found two places at the same table.

"Perhaps you would rather I would sit somewhere else?" he questioned.

"No, I wouldn't," she replied, "but my brother Tom would think it was awful for us to sit together. "I don't know what's the matter with brother Tom. He thinks it's terrible to talk to people unless they've been introduced. I don't see what difference it makes if you like people."

"Your brother's right," said Fairley, reluctantly. "I hope we shall meet some day in a properly conventional way."

Seated on the other side of the room, he watched her consuming her luncheon in a dainty way that filled Fairley with secret joy, nauseated as he was by the awful sight of famished women's daily "stoking."

Fairley haunted that particular lunchroom many times during the succeeding weeks, but in vain. Neither did the girl appear at the bank window. He had almost given up hope of seeing her again, when one morning on his way down town he suddenly heard her voice.

"I don't mind standing, Brother Tom," she was saying. "Really and truly I don't, but I'm going up here by the door so I can brace myself."

She stumbled over Fairley's foot as she passed him, walking not very steadily. He made an attempt to rise and at the same moment she gave a little clutch at the strap above his head. The car lurched, she missed the strap, planted her little hand on Fairley's chest, and then tumbled down upon him.

She gave a little scream of terrified laughter, put out her hands like a baby and tried to struggle to her feet. An angry Brother Tom could be seen looming up at a little distance when the car swung about in the other direction and in a moment she and Fairley were both swaying dizzily about in the aisle.

When they were finally disentangled and she was seated, she looked up into his face, her cheeks glowing, and gave a cry of recognition.

"Well, I declare!" she exclaimed. "I might have known it would be you, but I never thought it for a minute."

She laid her hand on Brother Tom's arm as he came up beside Fairley. "Oh, Brother Tom," she said, "guess who he is. He's the gentleman who hoped we would meet some day in a more conventional way."

She buried her laughing face in his sleeve. Brother Tom and Fairley looked into each other's smiling eyes.

"I don't know that I'd call it exactly conventional," said Brother Tom, as he held out his hand to Fairley, "but maybe it will do."

EASTER MART AT GRACE

Episcopal Sunday School's Effort in Aid of Anti-Tuberculosis Society.

EIGHTEENTH CENTURY FEATURE

Laugh-Producing Playlets Splendidly Performed Last Night—Other Interesting Novelties Seen.

There is no doubt that the Easter Mart being held in the parish house of Grace P. E. church will net a handsome sum for the Anti-Tuberculosis Society. Hundreds of visitors young and old thronged the tastefully decorated rooms yesterday afternoon and night, and some of the tables were depleted of their burdens of useful articles. They will no doubt have been replenished this afternoon and the busy time will follow.

One of the most quaint and pleasing features of the mart is "Ye roome of ye olden tyme," presided over by the Misses Helen Timpson, Florence Curtis, Gene Wharton and Miss Wendell, who pour the tea and entertain visitors. This room is furnished in the style prevailing in the eighteenth century and is a source of wonder and delight. Tapestries, shawls and laces of the early periods adorn the walls, while Chippendale and other antique furniture indicates the comforts to be found in the old time houses. This room has a colonial atmosphere and makes for comfort in every detail. The old silver candlesticks, ancient silver dishes, lanthorns and decorations are tastefully arranged and pleasing to the eye. Some old samples of Valenciennes, Matron, Hosniton and point laces just fascinate the women visitors. In this room after the plays last night five of the choir boys from the church choir, assisted by Miss Fleming at the piano, entertained visitors with some old songs.

Upstairs in the auditorium two playlets were given which will be repeated tonight. Here again the visitors actually crowded to see the young people of the Sunday school display their talents. Both plays are full of mirth provoking situations and are worth seeing.

"The String of Pearls" is presented by E. F. Stevenson, Miss Elaine Lane Miss Katharine Dayton, Miss Ruth Timpson, Miss Hawthorne and Reginald Roland. All the cast did splendidly. "The Mouse Trap," is a scream producer well calculated to remove the blues and make you laugh until you nearly weep. The cast in this play is as follows. Miss Anne Johnston, Thomas H. Leggett, Jr., and Misses Moore, Bristol, Desborough and Hawthorne.

An ice cream parlor, handsomely decorated, is presided over by Miss Katharine Titus, assisted by Miss Angel, and a corpse of pretty young women who wait on the tables. The cream was donated by Ritz. The other departments are in charge of the following: Periodicals, Thomas H. Leggett, Jr.; country store and art department, Mrs. Hanson and Miss Egan; Japanese table, Mrs. J. P. Taylor; fancy and candy tables, Mrs. J. A. Peterkin, assisted by her Sunday school class; Guild table of useful articles, Miss Katharine Scribner; flower stand, Miss Fenner, Miss Robert and Mrs. Bartine; stationery, Mrs. Avery, Mrs. Leggett and Miss Cruikshank. Paul Nolting is the general chairman and Mrs. John A. Peterkin, vice-chairman.

The Mart is well worth a visit and will be open from 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Hill—Utley.

Invitations have been issued by James Seward Utley to the marriage of his sister, Miss Catharine Marea Utley, to George Edwin Hill Wednesday afternoon, April 20, at 4 o'clock, Grace church, New York. Miss Utley is a frequent visitor in this city and has many friends here. Mr. Hill is a prominent lawyer in Bridgeport, Conn., where the newly wedding pair will reside.

Hit Shopmate With Hammer.

On complaint of Isaac Goldberg, an employe of McCullough's sash and blind factory, Frank Vannakee was placed under arrest yesterday by Chief Weiss. Goldberg charges Vannakee with hitting him with a hammer in the factory yesterday afternoon. The case will be tried before Justice Snape in the borough police court tonight.

The Dog Had Rabies.

Acting Health Officer John O'Brien received a report from Trenton, today, regarding the head of the dog which was killed early in the week, and which was believed to be mad. The report shows that the dog had rabies.

POND SECY. AND TREAS. OF THE TRUST COMPRNY

Henry H. Pond, for the past eight years cashier of the Vineland National Bank, of Vineland, and secretary and treasurer of the Vineland Trust Company, of that place, has been elected to the position of secretary and treasurer of The Plainfield Trust Company and will assume his new duties the latter part of this month. He is a graduate of the Vineland High School and has been associated with the Vineland National Bank in various capacities for the past twenty years, advancing through all the various positions to that of chief executive officer.

Mr. Pond was one of the organizers of the Vineland Trust Company, serving it for several years as secretary and treasurer and gaining in that capacity considerable experience in the handling of estates and matters of a fiduciary nature. He is at present a director and member of the finance camittee of these institutions in which he has been interested and, as he has been active in the development of the manufacturing and business interests of Vineland, he will be greatly missed by his many friends in that place.

Throughout the State, Mr. Pond is widely known as president of the board of managers of the Home for Women at Vineland. He has been active and prominent member of the New Jersey Bankers Association, having served for a number of years on its executive committee and holding for one term the office of treasurer of the organization. He is known as a keen, wide-awake banker who thoroughly believes in the promotion of banking interests along sound and conservative lines. The management of the Trust Company is being congratulated on procuring a man of his attainments and the people bespeak for him a cordial welcome to Plainfield.

HEALTH BOARD'S WORK

Dairies, Bakeries, Barber and Butcher Shops and Stables are Inspected.

MANY PERMITS ARE GRANTED.

Plumbers' Bonds Filed—Milk and Cream Analyzed—City Water Found to Be Up to Its Usual Standard.

Reports, the granting of permits and a general discussion of the sanitary conditions of the city were features of the April meeting of the Board of Health held last night. The sanitary conditions were reported to be good, in fact the number of communicable diseases reported in March was less than during the previous month, as shown by the following figures:

Scarlet fever, 8 cases, no deaths; diphtheria, 4 cases, one death; typhoid fever, one case, no deaths; tuberculosis, one case, one death; measles, three cases, no deaths; chicken-pox, one case, no deaths.

There were fifty-three dairies and nine bottling places, also one creamery, inspected. A marked improvement in conditions was found. There was also an inspection of twenty-two stores from which milk is sold and these were found in first-class condition. Thirty-two samples of milk and two samples of cream were analyzed, with satisfactory results. In two cases dealers were notified to change their supply at once and they have complied.

A number of bakeries were inspected and in most cases conditions were satisfactory. One Italian bakery, found in a filthy condition, fifteen days ago, was re-inspected and it was found that the owner had complied with the law. A sample of city water was taken and sent to Trenton for analysis and was found to be of the usual good quality.

An inspection of the barber shops showed them to be in good condition, but in the case of some butcher shops an unsanitary condition was found and a general house cleaning was ordered. An inspection of the livery stables showed that there was plenty of chance for improvement, especially in the disposition of waste water and manure. and it is hoped that the unsanitary conditions will be abated.

There was a total of 962 inspections in connection with plumbing, milk supply and general work. During the month thirteen houses and fifty-two rooms were disinfected and there were six miscellaneous disinfections.

The proposed new milk ordinance was submitted to the board for its first and second readings. The following plumbers' bonds were received and ordered filed: B. C. Carpenter, W. R. Conover, Hugh Reilly, Herman F. Moosbrugger, Michael Armstrong and William L. Clark.

Joseph F. Burke was granted a renewal of his permit to carry on the work of scavenger; a permit was granted to Mrs. Margaret Jensen, of West Fourth street, to sell milk from the store; George E. Masenior was granted a permit to collect garbage and the application of George R. Carter, of Westfield, to collect garbage in Plainfield was refused. These returns were made to the office during March:

Marriages, 12; births, 48; stillbirths, 1; deaths, 27. Over fifty per cent. of the deaths were among persons over sixty years of age.

SOCIETY FOLK ATTEND CHARMING AFTERNOON TEA.

One of the charming social functions of the season was the tea given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. James R. Blake, of Franklin place, and Mrs. William M. Wherry, Jr., at the home of the latter, 965 Madison avenue. The affair was largely attended, more than 200 society folk of Plainfield and North Plainfield being present from 4 to 6 o'clock. The home was attractively decorated for the occasion, the prevailing colors being green and white.

Those who asisted Mrs. Blake and Mrs. Wherry were Mrs. R. S. Rowland, Miss Ursula Rowland, Miss Grace Kaufman, Mrs. Leighton Calkins, Mrs. C. B. Tyler, Mrs. Daniel F. Ginna, Mrs. George S. Ring, of this city; Mrs. Wesley Abbott, of Paterson, and Mrs. Arthur S. Jones, formerly of Pittsburg, but now of this city.

Captain Jackson to Speak.

There will be a special meeting at the Salvation Army tonight conducted by Captain Lena Jackson, of New York. She is the daughter of Adjutant and Mrs. Jackson, who have charge of the Industrial branch of the Army's work in this city. This will be her first service at the local corps. A cordial invitation is given to all to attend.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Judge Newcorn Hears Many Contests—Hands Down Two Decisions.

SALVATORE LOSES HIS SUIT.

Borough of Garwood Wins From Joseph W. Manhattan—Kane vs. French Long Drawn Out.

Two decisions were handed down by Judge William Newcorn in the District court this morning on cases heard on March 3 and 10. Vincenzo Salvatore lost his suit against Benjamin Organs from whom he tried to recover the value of a horse bought on February 27 for $59. No fraud was found on the part of Organs. Robert Newton Crane represented the plaintiff and J. Henry Crane appeared for Organs.

The other case in which Joseph W. Manhattan sued the borough of Garwood for $108 on contract for removing trees, Judge Newcorn decided there was no cause for action. V. W. Nash, Jr., argued the case for Manhattan, while J. A. Kernan, of Elizabeth, defended Garwood.

In the suit brought by T. C. Bodine, who sued George Wiegand for $275 which an offset reduced to $264, on two due bills, a judgment was rendered in favor of Mr. Bodine for $295.22, which includes interest and costs. Mr. Wiegand gave notice of a suit in tort against Mr. Bodine in the sum of $500. Charles M. Dolliver appeared for Mr. Bodine and F. J. Blatz for Mr. Wiegand.

James E. Doerr confessed judgment for $200 in favor of Thatcher Mfg. Co. for materials supplied on contract. Helm and Knight, of Newark, appeared for the plaintiff and W. V. Nash, Jr., for the defendant.

An application made to find William J. Allen in contempt for non-appearance in the suit of Elmer E. Thomnson was defended by Samuel S. Swackhamer and Allen was allowed to make his appearance on April 14. W. V. Nash, Jr., is counsel for Mr. Thomson.

The suit of Clarence L. Kane against Elston M. French on contract for commission on sale of the Limmerman property at South Somerville in the fall of 1907, was finished at 2:30 this afternoon, decision being reserved. Edward P. Johnson, of Somerville, appeared for Mr. Kane and Francis J. Blatz defended Mr. French. Judge Newcorn took the papers and reserved decision. Other cases will keep the court busy until late this afternoon.

NELSON MILLER HEAD OF SCHOOL BOARD

The North Plainfield Board of Education has elected Nelson A. Miller president to succeed James R. Joy, and the Rev. George A. Warner vice-president. The committees appointed are as follows:

Commencement—Messrs. Laing, Clark; finance—Messrs. Woodruff, Clark, Rushmore; grievance and truancy—Messrs. Cooley, Woodruff, Warner; teachers—Miller, Boyer, Warner; audit—Laing, Clark.

TOWNS MUST ENDORSE CO. TUBERCULOSIS CAMP

The Union County Board of Freeholders at its meeting this afternoon will receive the report of the committee on the tuberculosis camp, of which J. Hervey Doane is the chairman. A camp such as is proposed by the committee would cost approximately $100,000, but before the freeholders arrange to spend that amount of money they want the endorsement of every municipality in the county.

At the meeting this afternoon, Freeholder Doane will make a motion that a copy of a drafted resolution favoring the project be sent to the governing bodies in each municipality for approval. In this way it is hoped that the desired endorsement will be obtained. No definite plans as to location, etc., have been decided upon as yet, neither will they be until after the appropriation is authorized.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Selter, formerly of Rockview terrace, who have removed to New York, are registered at the Hotel Chelsea.

—Joseph Manhattan, who recently received the contracts for furnishing stone crosswalks, flagging, etc. in Plainfield and North Plainfield, was given a similar contract this week by the Westfield Council.

GIFFORD COOLEY WEDS

Miss Mary M. Chambliss His Bride at Her Home in Tennessee.

DR. CHAMBLISS OFFICIATES.

Wedding of Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chambliss to Son of Mrs. Martin I. Cooley at Brownsville.

Miss Mary M. Chambliss, daugnter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Chambliss, of Brownsville, Tenn., and Gifford Cooley, son of Mrs. Martin I. Cooley, of Rockview avenue, North Plainfield, were married at 8 o'clock last night at the large and beautiful home of the bride's parents in Brownsville. Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, and grandfather of the bride, performed the ceremony.

One thousand invitations were issued for the affair and nearly five hundred guests were present, including many from Louisville, Ky., Chattanooga and Brownsville, Tenn., as well as other cities of the South. Mrs. Cooley, mother of the groom, was the only one present from Plainfield, beside Dr. Chamblis, owing to the great distance.

Mrs. William G. Berson, of Brownsville, sister of the bride, who herself was married a few months ago, was the matron of honor, and her husband, William G. Berson, was the best man. The maid-of-honor was Miss Mary Caperton, cousin of the bride, of Charleston, West Virgina, and the bridesmaid was Miss Louise Stark, of Brownsville.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Chambliss home, during which the bride and groom received the congratulations of the guests, and supper was served. The bride received a large collection of handsome and costly gifts.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Cooley left for an extended wedding journey through the south. Upon their return they will reside with the groom's mother on Rockview avenue. The bride is one of the most popular young women in Brownsville. Her father is a prominent banker there and the family is highly connected. Mr. Cooley also has a host of friends here. He is engaged in business in New York. Both he and his wife are fond of out-of-door sports.

SPOKE ON FAITH.

Rescue Mission Head Talks at Trinity Reformed.

Superintendent John A. LeMatty, accompanied by several workers of the Plainfield Rescue Mission, took charge of the mid-week prayer meeting at Trinity Reformed church last night, by invitation of Pastor Broek, and the service proved to be a helpful and inspiring one. Mr. LeMatty was the leader of the meeting and he spoke for about fifteen minutes on the topic of "Faith" taking his text from the twentieth chapter of Matthew, where it is told how the blind beggars were healed by the roadside.

After the earnest words by Mr. LeMatty, he turned the meeting over to the mission workers and others, and many helpful testimonies and prayers were offered. Mrs. John Manley presided at the piano, and during the meeting there were several solos by mission workers.

ST. STEPHEN'S ALUMNI 50th ANNIVERSARY DINNER.

The trustees of St. Stephen's college, Annandale-onHudson, N. Y., gave a dinner last night at the Hotel Astor, New York, in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the college. Some 250 adumni were present, among then being Rev. Charles H. Malley, rector of the Heavenly Rest church, this city.

The Rev. William C. Rodgers, President of the College, was toastmaster, and speeches were made by Bishop David H. Greer, of New York, Clinton Rogers Woodruff, of Philadelphia, Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, John T. Chapman, and the Right Rev. A. H. Vinton, Bishop of Western Massachusetts.

Auto Fees for Roads.

The last bill introduced at the session of the Legislature came from Senator Ackerman, and provided that the money received in fees and fines from the motor vehicle department by the State Road Commissioner for road improvements be available at once for the commissioner's use instead of waiting until July 4. The bill was immediately passed.

Rev. Dr. W. A. Knox Returned.

The members of the Methodist church at Dunellen are in a happy frame of mind over the action of the Newark M. E. church conference in returning their pastor, the Rev. Dr. W. A. Knox, for another year.

HE TELLS OF TRAVELS IN BRIGANDS' COUNTRY

Rev. Dr. Morris A. Turk, of Natick, Mass., who with his wife, spent his summer vacation traveling from East to West on the bridle paths of Albania, gave an illustrated lecture in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church, last night, under the auspices of that church and the Congregational church. Dr. and Mrs. Turk came to Plainfield at the earnest request of Rev. and Mrs. Kennedy, who are well-known here, and who are now missionaries in Turkey, for the purpose of telling of the work being done in that far off land. Mrs. Turk is the daughter of Rev. Lewis Bond, of this city.

With the aid of one hundred colored slides, made from pictures taken by Dr. Turk, he blazed his recent perilous and exciting journey through Albania. The pictures in themselves were most interesting. Many of them were taken under the greatest possible difficulty as the party traveled over the mountains on their long and perilous trip to Albania, the objective point being Elbason. That country is filled with brigands and the lecturer told of many narrow escapes. He related numerous incidents where the party passed through sections of the country that were in a perpetual state of revolution, but as they were accompanied by a guard the members were protected.

Dr. Turk spoke words of great praise of the work being accomplished by Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, of their sacrifice and devotion to the cause of Christ, and said that under their ministrations many natives are being won. The speaker in referring to the Albanians said that they are an unconquered people. On numerous occasions armies of Turks have gone to pieces in trying to subdue and conquer them. They are, he said, a clean-blooded, noble people and are hungry for education and the Gospel of Christ.

Dr. Turk's description of the party's experience in various so-called hotels on the journey was amusin, especially that part describing the live-stock encountered in bed rooms. He said that there was scarcely a comfortable hotel on the whole trail and lodging was one of the troublesome features of the trip.

During the course of his lecture Dr. Turk displayed pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, as well as the whole party, and the audience was quick to appreciate them. A silver offering was taken at the close of the lecture.

Dr. Turk is pastor of a Congregational church at Natick, Mass. He was accompanied by his wife, and while in Plainfield the couple were guests of Mrs. Grove P. Hinman, who is a sister of Mrs. Kennedy.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH ANNUAL BOARD SESSION.

The annual official board meeting of the First M. E. church was held in incent chapel, last night, with the pastor, Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, presiding. A cordial welcome was given to Dr. Anderson on his return from the conference and hope was expressed that the coming year would be the best in the history of the church.

The report of the treasurer, Samuel Bingaman, was read, showing that all obligations had been met and that the church is now free from debt for the first time since 1894. James W. Jackson, treasurer of the beneficient fund, reported that the contributions and disbursements during the past year were the largest in the history of the church. The church enters upon another year under an unusual happy condition. Arrangements for the annual reception to the pastor and his wife will be announced later.

Hard on Panhandlers.

Business is booming in the borough police court. Five offenders appeared before Recorder Dolliver this morning. Joseph Traynor, Frank Scheelein, Andrew Thompson and Frank Field who was arrested for drunkenness and panhandling yesterday afternoon by Marshal Frank Culver were fined five dolars each. Field's fine was paid and the other three will go to Somerville tomorrow morning unless the fines are paid. James Springer, a colored ash cart driver, was fined for dumping garbage in the borough limits.

Miss Miller Entertained.

Miss Beulah Miller, of Watchung avenue, entertained twenty friends at a "heart party" last night. Miss Nellie Cathcart was the winner of the first prize. Dancing and refreshments folowed the games.

Oaken Bucket Outing.

The Oaken Bucket Club will hold its annual outing at Washington Rock on Sunday, April 17. Andrew J. Carney and Richard Boyce form the committee of arrangements.

INSTALL ELKS OFFICERS

Joseph Noonan Succeeds John H. Cose as Exalted Ruler of Lodge.

A PRESENT FOR MR. COSE.

Handsome Gold Watch and Fob Given Retiring Exalted Ruler by Fellow Members—300 in the Lodge.

Joseph Noonan succeeded John H. Cose as the exalted ruler of the local Elks last night when the annual installation ceremonies were held by Plainfield lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E. Past District Deputy Exalted Joseph Noonan.

Ruler Alexander D. Findlay, of this city, acted as installing officer. The officers elect and many of the members wore evening dress and the ceremony was conducted in the usual elaborate and solemn way.

The retiring ruler, Mr. Cose, was handsomely remembered by the members for the valuable services he had rendered during the past year as head of the lodge. A gold watch, suitably engraved, with a jewelled Elks charm fob, costing several hundred dollars, were presented to him. The presentation speech was made by Exalted Ruler Noonan and Mr. Cose was taken greatly by surprise. He expressed his thanks to the lodge in a few suitable words.

The other officers installed were: Esteemed leading knight, Lewis A. Bellis; esteemed loyal knight, J. Allen Wilson; esteemed lecturing knight, Thomas Hanna; treasurer, Harry MacDonald; secretary, William R. Townsend, and tiler, Edward Searing. City Judge William N. Runyon was installed as a trustee to succeed former State Senator Charles A. Reed. The exalted ruler announced these appointments. chaplain, Fred Lynn; esquire, William G. Smith; organist, W. J. O'Keefe. The retiring exalted ruler, Mr. Cose, will be the representative to the grand lodge to be convened at Detroit, Michigan, on July 11. He will be accompanied by probably a score or more of his fellow members.

During the meeting, handsome steins filled with cut roses were presented by the members to the new exalted ruler and the esteemed leading knight. The annual reports were read. The lodge now has about 300 members. After the ceremonies, refreshments were served in the club rooms.

Mr. Noonan, the new exalted ruler, is one of the most popular men in the city. He was born at Albany, N. Y., and comes from old Dutch stock that settled in Albany 150 years ago. After completing the course at the Albany High School, he entered Georgetown University, from which he was graduated with high honors. For twenty-five years he has held responsible positions in the United States customs service at the port of New York. At present he is what is known as a liquidator, one of the most difficult positions in the service. Mr. Noonan is a member of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, and of the Georgetown University Alumni Association.

Dwight VanDoren Surprised.

A party of Plainfield and Roselle Park friends surprised Dwight VanDoren at his home in the latter place on Tuesday night, it being the anniversary of his birthday, and presented him with a handsome meerschaum pipe as a token of esteem. Games and music comprised the evening's entertainment, after which supper was served. At a late hour the guests departed each wishing Mr. VanDoren many happy returns of the day. He is a son-in-law of Health Officer and Mrs. William Addis, of this city.

The ceremony of baptism, which was expected to be performed at Warren chapel on Sunday evening, has been postponed.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Rev. Mr. Hollingshead was re-appointed pastor of the Methodist church by the Newark Conference, which was brought to a close Tuesday. Mr. Hollingshead's reappointment as pastor of the local church is not only pleasing to the members of his church, but to many friends he has made during his year's pastorate here.

Manager Alberts expects to be able to announce the lineup for the local ball team within a few days. "Joe" has a line out for several of the fastest players in the county, and from present indications they will wear a local uniform this season.

Vanderbilt and Eller, two of the local bowlers, are entered in the Newark-Plainfield head pin tournament and are giving a good account of themselves.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., holds a regular meeting tonight in the Library rooms.

Miss Rita DeMott, of Park avenue, has been entertaining relatives from Gladstone.

William Frazee has taken a position with the Seeley Mill Co. in the valley.

Miss Sadie Lee has returned from a visit with relatives at Raritan.

Warren MacCauley has returned from a stay at Mendham.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The game between the South Plainfield F. C. and the Metuchen B. B. C., which was to have been played at Metuchen next Saturday, has been cancelled owing to a misunderstanding about the date.

The suckers seem to be running very plentifully in the local brooks this year or else some of the giggers are up to their old fish stories.

A meeting of the arrangement committee for the Decoration Day celebration will meet in T. A. B. hall tonight.

SOMERVILLE.

The borough marshals have not succeeded in obtaining any clues to the numerous burglaries, which have taken place in the vicinity of Altamont place. The homes of W. W. Davenport, M. Labau, John B. Parmelee and others have been entered, but little of value has been taken from any of the houses. At the residence of Mr. Davenport, a valuable painting was cut from the frame and a quantity of silverware gathered up, when the thieves were evidently frightened off and left their booty behind.

Jailor James P. Major took David Johnson, the thirteen-year-old boy who stole a sum of money from Mrs George V. Disborough on High street last week, to the Jamesburg Reform School on Monday.

Dr. Gibbs will soon commence alterations on his Grove street property. The house is to be changed into a two-family house, the new part facing Summit street.

H. G. Prall and family have moved from West Main street to the house recently purchased by them from Philip M. Mundy on South street.

Mrs. Samuel Birdsall and Miss Sophie Talmage, who have been spending the winter in Europe, have returned to their home in Somerville.

Percy M. Coddington, of New York, has been a guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis M. Coddington, on Grove street.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

With power to cause the arrest of all who fail to settle, Constable William Milo has been appointed delinquent tax collector of Vineland.

The contractor who is removing the sunken barge in Woodbury Creek has tied up navigation, to the disgust of boat-owners who have tried to use the stream.

Claiming that he was permanently hurt in a successful effort to save the life of Frank Butch, a fellow-worker, Walter Butler yesterday brought suit in the Supreme Court at Camden against the Farr & Bailey Oilcloth Manufacturing Company. He asks for $20,000.

Continuation of the warfare against the sale of oleomargarine on tables of hotels in Atlantic City resulted yesterday in hearings of three accused hotel proprietors before District Court Judge Ingersoll. Special Agent Cassidy, of Philadelphia, who is assisting the New Jersey authorities in the prosecution; Assistant Attorney-General Stryker and several special detectives engaged in the work appeared against the defendants and told of securing samples of oleo while posing as boarders in the hotels. Decision in the cases was held over until tomorrow.

Miss Rose Dondero, an employe of Joseph's coat factory at Sixth and Plum streets, Vineland, narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday, when her clothing caught in the belt which controls the powerful cutting machine. Miss Dondero was saved through the presence of mind of a man employe, who threw off the belt, stopping the machine.

The whole Atlantic City police force turned out yesterday to round up Leman Middleton, alias William Wright, of Camden, who is charged with looting a cottage at 27 South Massachusetts avenue last night and robbing a Pacific avenue apartment-house today, getting away with $50 in cash. Middleton hid temporarily in a Kentucky avenue hotel, but was captured as he attempted to board an electric train for Camden at Pleasantville.

HERE AND THERE.

Theodore Anderson, colored, who is well known in this city, who now resides in Hampton borough, Pa., is credited with being one of the oldest barbers in point of service in this part of the country. On Monday, March 1, he celebrated his sixty-ninth birthday anniversary. He has been calling "next" for fifty-eight years.

Mr. Anderson was born in Philadelphia on March 1, 1841. His father's name was John Garrison, but when a boy, and working on a boat plying between Philadelphia and Washington, the captain, whose name was Anderson, desired the lad to take his name, which he did. When Mr. Anderson was eleven years old he was bound out to learn the barber's trade to Dennis Green, also colored, in Philadelphia. At Mr. Green's death, he came into possession of property in Easton, Pa., valued at $6,000 which Mr. Green had willed him. After working in Philadelphia two years Mr. Anderson went to Clinton, where he remained for twelve years. At that time the nearest barber shops were ten miles away. Selling out his business at Clinton he removed to Elizabeth and from there went to New Brunswick. Thirty years ago he removed to Hampton, where he is still located. He occupies rooms over his shop, where he does his cooking and sleeps. He works every day notwithstanding his age.

Mr. Anderson is not only a good barber, but is an inventor. He invented and had patented the oscillating hone skid, which barbers say has no equal for putting a fine edge on a razor. He also compounds several preparations for the hair. He is a member of the Masonic fraternity, belonging to Stone Square Lodge, No. 6, F. & A. M., of this city. He was raised to the degree of master mason the night that Abraham Lincoln was assassinated, April 14, 1864. The ceremony was performed at Williamsburg, N. Y., by Rev. Dr. William Rae and staff. Mr. Anderson is an ardent Republican and six years ago was placed on the ticket as candidate for councilman, against his will, and was defeated by only a few votes.

Miss Leila Druse, of East Front street, is enjoying a pleasure trip in the West.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Langhorne and Mrs. Middledith, of Truell Court, leave this week for Bermuda on a pleasure trip.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Merrill and daughter, of Carlton avenue, who have been enjoying an extended trip through the south and west, will return home on Friday.

Arthur Blazier, of Elmwood place, who has been detained at home by illness, has recovered, and his brother, Harold Blazier, has recovered from an attack of pneumonia.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A New Back for an Old One—How it Is Done in Plainfield.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Follow the example of this Plainfield citizen.

Albert Naylor, 519 East Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I was afflicted with a dull ache in the small of my back and sharp pains darted through me when I stooped or lifted. I was told that Doan's Kidney Pills were a sure cure for such troubles and procuring a supply at Randolph's Pharmacy, I began their use. Two boxes of this remedy fixed me up in good shape and I have often recommended it since to other persons suffering as I did."

A Vitally Important Sale of
Women's Suits and Dresses
Tremendous Price Cutting to Force a Quick Disposal of Stocks

We are reducing the price of new Spring Suits and Dresses in the very midst of the season and for no other reason than that of forcing sales. Prices have been cut to the sensational point of lowness.

Every garment involved in the underpricing is fashioned of dependably worthy and stylish materials, in the prevailing models and excellently made. They represent the very cream of the season's styles and are the very garments you'll pay regular value for after this underpricing period ends.

When we say that prices have been cut to almost half value we are not over-stepping the bounds of facts one iota. Never before have we cut and slashed prices in the midst of season since we have been in Plainfield.

To stay away from this suit and dress sale is to turn a deaf ear to a saving opportunity you'll not be offered again this season.

Prices are affected in this manner.

Lot 1. Suits Sold Up to $12.50 at $7.98

Misses' and Women's Tailor Suits in black and blue Panamas and fancy serges, these are regularly 10.00 and 12.50, more of the 12.50 kind than of the 10.00. Your choice on sale at - - 7.98

ALTERATIONS FREE

LOT 2. SUITS SOLD UP TO 18.00 at $12.98

These consist of fine serges and chiffon Panamas that we sold from $15 to $18, in this lot we include a line made for stout figures, colors black, navy, tan and Shepard checks, reduced from 16.00 to 18.00 to 12.98

ALTERATIONS FREE

LOT 3. HIGH-GRADE SUITS, Value up to 35.00 on Sale for $17.50

These are mostly sample suits that we purchased at one-third under price, otherwise we couldn't cut them so deeply, the styles are certainly the very newest and nobbiest of the season in several of the best shades, not one worth under 30.00, most of them are good 35.00 values. Alterations Free. On sale at 17.50

Other Bargains in the Ready to Wear Department.

FOUR-CYLINDER REO $1,250

Thirty horse-power—50 Miles an Hour—An ENGINEERING VICTORY

It is comparatively easy for a maker to build a car that will "do things" if he puts enough money and weight into it. But money is money, and weight is money, too—money for big and quickly worn-out tires, money for more fuel and expensive maintenance.

The Reo is a triumph of engineering. Mr. R. E. Olds is a genius at doing that very difficult but useful thing—making a car of very high quality at low cost. The Reo is full of cost where cost earns its money, and full of economy where economy counts. It has the remarkable get-there-and-back ability of every Reo ever built; it is powerful, light, buoyant, graceful, efficient, comfortable.

No car at $1,500 or $2,000 is equal to the Reo at $1,250. You must pay $3,000 for its equal, and then you have expensive and unnecessary weight.

SPORTS
NEWS AND NOTES
BY GEORGE E. FIRSTBROOK

SOMERVILLE CLUB WILL PRESENT STRONG FRONT

Somerville was a bit late in getting its baseball machinery going, but all is well down the line and the old town will be represented on the diamond with a strong aggregation this season. The team will be under the management of Chester A. Cawley and W. E. Maxwell, who are now engaged in signing a set of fast players and booking games.

Kraft, the speedy High Bridge flinger and Jack Torpey will be the battery and in the lineup will be seen "Red" Grimes, Staats, Hickey, Miller, Weill and Carmody, the former Flemington star. Games will be arranged with Plainfield, Flemington, High Bridge, Hopewell, Pennington, Bound Brook and other first class teams. The season will open on May 15. The old grounds have been secured and the diamond is being put into playing condition.

Manager Cawley is anxious to get into communication with Manager Ernest Dorflinger with the idea of arranging a four-game series, two contests to be decided in this city, and two games played at Somerville. The dates will probably be fixed inside of a week.

ONLY A BRUNSWICK DREAM—Harold O'Neil, sporting editor of the New Brunswick Home News, encountered a big league nightmare on Tuesday night. Harold visioned that Hal Chase, captain and first baseman of the New York Americans, was in line to sign a contract to play the initial sack for Brunswick this season. The dope had it that Chase had fallen out with Chief Stallings and was not likely to play with that team. The dream created a big wave of excitement on the banks of the Raritan, but there's no more chance of Chase playing in Brunswick than there is of a Piscataway heifer jumping over the moon.

Managers of local amateur teams desiring score cards can secure them by calling at The Daily Press office.

MATTY'S AND M'GRAW'S WINGS ARE TRUE BLUE

The New York Giants will win the National League championship if the dope given out by Mrs. "Christy" Mathewson and Mrs. John McGraw is O. K. These two women attended the fifteenth wedding anniversary of Mrs. P. B. Cregar, the former's sister, on Tuesday night. In the midst of the festivities they found time to talk baseball to a local scribe.

Said Mrs. "Matty:" "Christy is the best pitcher in the world. It's not New York's fault that the Giants don't win the championship. If the Giants field fairly well and do their share in batting they will surely win. (At this junction Christy, Jr., started to bawl).

"But," continued Mrs. "Matty," "if those Giants give 'Christy' the right kind of support he will win nine out of ten games he pitches."

"That's so," said Mrs. McGraw. "Matty is the best pitcher in the country. I know it, because John says so.

"You ask me who is going to win?" said Mrs. John J.

"The Giants, of course, and Chicago won't be second either. If there are any Plainfield people who want to bet on the result my advice to them is to put their money on New York."

The Elk's will have a speedy backstop artist in Walter McNaughton. The former Y. M. C. A. athlete is shooting 'em down to second base with the accuracy of a sharpshooter.

Lidgate, the P. H. S. catcher, is a huskey boy and in time he will be fast enough to shine in fast company. Lidgate is a classy receiver and one of his assets is a keen batting eye.

The motrocycle meet which is scheduled to be held at the Plainfield Driving Park on Saturday, April 16, will prove a popular event in local sportdom. Plainfield has a large squad of Choo-Choo riders and several speeders have already signified their intention of entering the contests.

With Somerville sure of being represented on the diamond with a strong combination local fans are anticipating some peppery battles between Plainfield and her ancient enemy.

Wright and Ditson, of Boston, have published an up-to-date baseball rule and record book. The volume is edited by the veteran writer Tim Murname and is a fountain of diamond news and information.

The Police Gazette's sporting manual for 1910 is out. It contains all the latest dope and records of prizefighters of the present era. The book is compact and can be carried handily in a vest pocket.

BOWLING TOURNEY IS PUT OVER ONE WEEK.

The fourth annual tournament of the National Bowling Association will open at Baltimore on April 14 instead of April 9, as originally scheduled. The closing date, April 30, is left unchanged, which shortens the tournament by nearly a week.

The postponement is due to the fact, the tournament management said yesterday, that but one entry was received for a date prior to April 15, hence the decision to change the time of opening.

An analysis of the entries shows that the average of the contestants is very high and the indications are that there will not be an idle moment from the beginning to the end of the program, with 160 five-man teams, 365 two-man teams and 725 individuals scheduled to compete.

The Plainfield bowlers will roll in the competition on Monday, April 26, as originally scheduled.

Plainfield, N. J., April 7, 1910.

THE FORUM.

Opposes M. O. Plant.

Editor, The Daily Press:

As you invite your readers to write their ideas on the issue of the coming special election, I wish to say that for the following mentioned reasons, I am strictly opposed to the city owning its water plant:

First. If the city owns the plant they will be unable to sell water to any other municipality, consequently the only support the plant would be from the consumers in this city.

Second. If the city owns its plant we will be deprived of the income from the assessed valuation on the plant, pipes, etc., amounting to about $6,000 in cash.

Third. I am also informed that if we build a plant or buy the present one by condemnation proceedings the cost will be about $1,500,000, but for argument sake we will say $1,000,000; interest on this amount for one year at 4½% is $45,000; the law as I understand it states that 4% of the bonds must be retired the first year and thereafter meaning another $40,000; running expenses of the plant, extending pipes and hydrants into new sections cannot be less than $40,000; adding to this amount $6,000 loss in taxes the absolute cost of the plant for the first year is $131,000, to offset which we have in round numbers 3,100 water consumers at an average of $20.00 each, making the income $62,000 per year. As will be seen this leaves a deficiency of $69,000 which must be paid in one of two ways; either the present consumers must double their payments for water or the owners of all vacant lots and houses not now using water must pay a water tax.

I am also opposed to this step on the ground that the city is now in debt about all that we can stand, and that no more bonds should be issued until some of those outstanding are taken up. Our tax rate now is very near as high as the law permits and for the benefit of the city it should not be increased nor the valuations raised as we are assessed now higher than in many parts of the State.

I am also opposed to commissions being appointed to investigate public parks, consolidation, consolidation of the present sewer system and a number of other things we all know that we do not want at present and this money expended in the police department which I think (and I know that a number of citizens will agree with me) is in need of more men and the men better paid.

I also think the city needs in the business section arc lights and a collection made by the city of the ashes and garbage, all of which will be of a great benefit to the city in helping to bring to the city desirable business and residential people.

I have been in the real estate business ever since 1884, have built, sold and rented as many houses as any one man in the city and one of the greatest objections that I find by outside people is the expense they are compelled to go to in having their ashes and garbage carted.

If any one is in favor of the city owning its water plant will he kindly show to me in facts and figures where we will be any better off than we are now. If this cannot be done I take this method of asking my associate real estate owners to vote against the city owning its water plant.

CHARLES H. HAND.

A Worthy Appeal.

Editor, The Daily Press:

In reference to the work of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield you have recently made kindly comment upon our work at the Tuberculosis Pavilion of Muhlenberg Hospital.

You will add to your many kind services on behalf of our work if you will permit me to take a simple appeal to your constituents. Perhaps there is some kind person among your readers who would be willing to present the camp with a Victor Talking Machine and some new records, either or both.

You can understand that the days are sometimes long with patients situated as tubercular patients are, and that a little bright music now and then is not only agreeable but highly advantageous. The talking machine spoken of in your recent article is a borrowed one and must soon be returned to its owner, and I should be extremely sorry not to have it replaced. It is a great factor in the days routine.

Believe me to be,

Very sincerely yours,

E. VICARS STEVENSON.

The Water Question

If a Water Plant is a GOOD thing for the City, do we want it?

SURE!

If it is a BAD thing for the City, do we want it?

OF COURSE NOT!

If a Water Plant is a good thing to have and the Council finds that the Plant of the Plainfield-Union Water Co. is WORN OUT.

WE WON'T HAVE IT, CERTAINLY NOT!

How are we to know whether or not a Plant is a good or a bad thing for the City to have?

GIVE THE COMMON COUNCIL A CHANCE TO INVESTIGATE.

HOW?

By voting "FOR" the proposition on April 19.

Dry Cleaning Talk

Gentlemen's clothes cleaned by a Cleanery with the ability nad equipments to produce first-class work, will stay clean longer, as when done by an ordinary suit presser who only brushes the surface dust off and removes the most prominent spots from the surface.

With our process the garments are thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, the linings are cleaned and spots that are removed will stay removed and do not appear again the first time the garments are exposed to the dust and grim of the street.

In the beginning it may cost a little more, but will pay at the end, as the clothes don't have to be at the cleaners every two weeks.

DEMOCRATS WANT FORT TO EXPLAIN CHARGES

Believing that it was not the intention of the Republican members of the Senate to make any further move in the matter of the lobby charges made by Governor Fort in his New York speech, which stirred the Senate to temporary indignation on Tuesday, Senator Osborne, Democrat, of Essex county, at Trenton last night, presented a resolution calling upon Mr. Fort to make good by specific explanations of his sensational speech.

On motion of Majority Leader Ackerman, the resolution directed to the Governor was referred to the Judiciary Committee, of which the former is chairman.

A companion resolution relating to the charges made by newspapers, and setting Wednesday, April 13, as a time for a hearing by the Senate of any specific charges or allegations, was also offered by the Senator from Essex. The proposition was immediately side-tracked by being referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Proctor's New Show.

"A Manager's Dilemma," presented by the Nelson Comiques, is the headliner at Proctor's theatre, today. It is a nonsensical absurdity and introduces singing, dancing, talking and comedy acrobatic feats. Meta Taylor & Co., in "The Smoke Affair," is a clever bit of comedy. Moran & Tingley, the upside down dancers, introduce many new steps in dancing and Parker & Morrell those different comedians, are full of new songs and tales by the wayside.

Fire Companies Bill.

In the mass of legislation passed yesterday at Trenton, were a number of bills relating to second-class counties. Among them was one introduced by Mr. Pikaart authorizing township committees to enter into contracts with volunteer fire companies for the purpose of extinguishing fire, and to pay for such service.

Entertained the Thimble Club.

Mrs. Margaret Sweeny, of 107 Liberty street, entertained the Thimble Club at her home yesterday afternoon. Mrs. James E. Jack, her daughter, assisted in receiving and entertaining the guests. A pleasant afternoon was spent, after which refreshments were served.

MISS KANE'S FUNERAL WAS LARGELY ATTENDED.

St. Mary's church was filled this morning at the funeral service of Miss Winifred Kane. It was one of the largest funerals in the history of the city, there being sixty-eight carriages in the procession.

Father Bogan eulogized the life and character of the deceased in fitting language. There were many floral tributes which attested the popularity of Miss Kane. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery, the bearers being John Hines, John Caulfield, John Carty, Joseph Connors, Daniel McDonald and Joseph Casey.

King's Daughters Meet.

The executive committee of the City Union, King's Daughters, held its monthly meeting this morning at the rooms of the Organized Aid Association. The report of Mrs. Anna M. Most, showed a balance of $18.60, and it was also reported that 362 children were cared for at The Day Nursery during March. Miss Olive De Lany, the city nurse, was kept very busy during that time. The annual meeting of the union will be held Friday afternoon, May 20 and it was announced that tag day would be held about the middle of May.

Legislature Adjourns.

comedian who plays the title role of the play, both were inspired with a keen appreciation of the fact that theatregoers of today pay to be amused, not preached at—and "A Gentleman from Mississippi" is the best proof in the world that both men kept this cardinal principle in mind while they were creating their joint play.

SIGN BOARD ABLAZE. FIRE DEPT. SUMMONED.

A locomotive spark dropped into a pile of wooden poles and debris behind a theatrical sign-board in the rear of Guttridge's grocery store on South avenue, this afternoon, causing an alarm to be sent in from Box No. 28. The apparatus from No. 3 house, as well as the hook and ladder from headquarters and the steamer from No. 2 house responded. When the firemen arrived they found a lively blaze, which they quickly extinguished, preventing much damage.

The sign-board which was about ten feet high and forty feet long was destroyed. It was owned by Proctor & Sanderson, who placed it there early in the season.

While on the way to the fire one of the steamer team fell down near Berkman street and South avenue, and the steamer was a little late in reaching the place. The animal got winded on the long run and dropped in consequence. So far as known the horse was not injured and will be kept in the service.

Betting Against Uncle Sam.

The local sports of Boonton are making bets on the outcome of the controversy between the Lackawanna Railroad and Uncle Sam, as represented by the postoffice there. The railroad says it is more than 1,320 feet from the station to the postoffice and the postoffice says it is less, making it the duty of the railroad to carry the mail to and from the station. The postoffice has found it to be just 1,319 feet, while the railroad makes it 1,320½ feet. Bets are laid at even money, and the gamblers regard it as one of the best propositions that has cropped up at Boonton in a long time.

Prisoner Slashes Keeper.

Patrick Kennedy, a deputy keeper at the State prison at Trenton, while charge of an exercising squad yesterday, was attacked and severely cut by Bernard Engleman, a prisoner from Union county, who has shown symptoms of insanity. Engleman drew a knife of the kind used in the mat-shops and slashed the deputy across the cheek and scalp. The other convicts went to Kennedy's assistance and summoned other keepers, who subdued his assailant. Kennedy was treated in the prison hospital. Engleman was placed in irons.

Gave Athletic Exhibition.

The young women's turning section of the Gesang and Turn Verein gave an exhibition at Saengerbund Hall last night before a large audience of interested spectators. The young women went through the program in clever style and won much applause. After the exhibition dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. At midnight refreshments were served.

Will Preach to Juniors.

P. H. S. NOTES.

The game scheduled with Cranford for yesterday was cancelled the last minute. The P. H. S. team had a practise game with scrubs.

The baseball team will play Camp Bowser tomorrow afternoon at Crescent Oval at 3:30. This will be a hard and fast game as there are a lot of college men on the Bowser team.

The Sophomore class held a meeting this afternoon to organize a baseball team. There is a lot of promising material in the class and it looks like the fastest team in the school.

On Tuesday next the Freshman team will play the Stillman boys in baseball at Crescent Oval.

The Junior class will hold the final rehearsal at the High School tomorrow afternoon for "Our Mutual Friend." This will be a dress rehearsal.

Jack Martin went to Newark this morning for the purpose of getting a tryout with Joe McGinnity's Indians. McGinnity is looking for a utility infield and Jack has a fine chance to land the job.

NOTED SIGNAL ENGINEER DEAD

Rahway, April 7.—The death of Henry Johnson at his home in Stevens street Tuesday marked the termination of the career of an inventor notable in railway circles.

Mr. Johnson was a native of Higham Ferries, North Hampshire, England. He was experienced in signal engineering, having been connected with the firm of Stevenson & Bros. He came to this country in 1886, and was manager for the Union Bridge and Signal Company. In 1888 he founded the Johnson Railway Signal Company of Rahway, and became its manager, his nephew, Charles R. Johnson, being associated with him. The death of the nephew in 1895, and the panic of that and the succeeding year caused the failure of the company. Mr. Johnson later founded the Standard Railway Signal Company of Rahway, which later moved to Arlington. Mr. Johnson was president of the company.

He retired from active business in 1895. He was regarded as the pioneer signal engineer in this country.

Mr. Johnson had three sons, all of whom were signal engineers. Two of the sons, Arthur H. Johnson, who is superintendent of telegraph and signals of the London and Southwestern Railroad, England, and Sidney G. Johnson, general sales manager of the Union Bridge and Signal Company, survive. The funeral was held today.

Tuberculosis Education.

Classes for the prevention of tuberculosis will probably be established in the Montclair schools next term. The Board of Education there will provide in the next annual budget for the innovation. A census of the Montclair schools shows that there are about eighty-five pupils who are predisposed to tuberculosis.

—Hillare Blatz, of Somerset street, while cutting bread at his breakfast table this morning, sliced his index finger. Dr. Frederick J. Hughes dressed the wound.

Miss Fanny Mills, of Putnam avenue, is confined to her home with an attack of tonsilitis.

THE BEST LAID PLANS

When Meggs did things at all he believed in doing them well. As soon as he found he could be back in town Friday night he wired Edith to keep that evening free. Then he wired a theater ticket broker to be sure to get the best seats for the occasion.

Occasion is the proper word, for Meggs believed in avoiding commonplaces and surrounding the ordinary things of life, when possible, with just enough glamour and importance to raise them out of the habitual and the usual.

On arriving in town Meggs called Edith on the telephone and informed her that he would see her at 7:30, delicately letting drop a hint of the taxicab and supper afterward with which he intended to embellish and round out the evening's entertainment.

Edith was very gracious. She said it was just the one play she was dying to see, and wasn't he clever to wire ahead for the seats and she would surely be ready on the minute.

The next thing Meggs did was to visit the broker and secure the tickets he had ordered. Then he dropped in at a fashionable florists. The violets he ordered were the finest and largest and the orchid in the heart of them gave just the touch necessary to make the whole gift particularly worthy. Later in the afternoon Meggs ordered his dress suit pressed and had a comfortable shave.

As he whirled in the taxicab out to Edith's, Meggs couldn't refrain from congratulating himself on his way of doing things. Now, another fellow would have waited until he got into town to secure the tickets. Then, however, there wouldn't have been a decent seat to be had. Or that same other fellow, if he did get the tickets, would have gone down in his business clothes, making the thing commonplace, or would have omitted the little floral offering, or would have economized by leaving out the taxicab or the supper. In defense of the other fellow, however, Meggs admitted that it wasn't every fellow who had the knack of doing things just right or who had the finesse and all the other qualities that a fellow must have to attain to the Meggs pinnacle.

"I'm so glad you thought to wire me," Edith confided to Meggs as they sped downtown. "Tom Pierce invited me to go right after your telegram came and I was so glad your invitation came first."

Meggs felt his head swim a little as he realized how near the other fellow came to being Edith's escort.

As Edith and Meggs stepped out of the taxicab in front of the theater they saw Tom Pierce alighting from his machine with a party of friends. Meggs allowed his smile of recognition to be almost a grin. Taking Edith's arm possessively, he ushered her into the theater under Tom's envious nose.

"It was hard getting tickets for tonight, wasn't it?" remarked Tom, as he stood back of them, waiting to enter the foyer.

"I had no trouble at all," replied Meggs, nonchalantly handing his tickets to the man at the door.

The man at the door looked at the little red slips and then handed them back. "For to-morrow night," he jerked out. "Next, please!"

"Oh, and it's the last chance I have to see this play!" cried Edith, almost ready to weep.

"I have an extra ticket," put in Tom Pierce, eagerly. "One of our party disappointed us at the last minute. I'd be very glad to have Edith come in with us."

With no special reluctance on her part, with polite insistence on the part of Meggs and with urgings from the man at the door to please clear the way, Edith was added to Tom's party.

"I'll get the seats all right," declared Meggs, glaring defiantly at Tom.

For once in his life he forgot to be courteous, for he dashed out of the theater without even thanking the other man for the dubious favor of separating Edith from him.

With blood in his eye Meggs sought the offending broker. His volcanic presentation of the situation elicited only polite regret from the man, who pointed to the large sign requesting patrons to look at their tickets before leaving the office.

"Isn't there any kind of a seat left?" stormed Meggs.

"Not one in town," returned the broker. "Sorry I can't fix you out."

Meggs rushed out of the place. Then in the cool night air a grim joke struck him.

"How well I do things!" he said to himself, tauntingly. "I have such a knack of looking after the essentials, raising things out of the commonplace and all the rest! Oh, I'm a wonder, all right!"

Telephones in Mines.

Although the use of telephones in mines is not of recent origin, the advantages are, perhaps, hardly really appreciated until they have once been tried. Probably at no time in the history of mining has there been a greater demonstration of the great need of telephones in mines than at the Cherry coal mine disaster. How many more lives could have been saved had the mine been fully equipped with telephones is entirely problematical, but it is certain that the number would have been greater had opportunity been afforded for communication between the rescuers and the entombed men.—Philadelphia Record.

The Pancake Bell.

One of the ancient English customs was to ring a great bell on the day preceding Ash Wednesday, known as Shrove Tuesday, to call the people together to confess their sins. As it has also been customary, from time immemorial, to eat pancakes on this day, this summons came to be known as the "pancake bell," a name which it still bears in those places where the custom is now maintained.

Cat and Buzzard in Duel.

The story of a peculiar little duel comes from Georgetown, Del. Fighting over a piece of meat thrown in the yard, a Maltese cat owned by Elmer Wilson and a buzzard furnished a bout that drew a large crowd of onlookers. The cat clawed and torn along the back, came out victorious, the big bird hardly having strength enough to fly away.

Campaigning in Style.

In the Russian campaign the personal baggage of Napoleon's brother, Jerome Bonaparte, contained 60 pairs of boots, 200 shirts and 318 pocket handkerchiefs. The transportation of his wardrobe entire required several heavy wagons, while his whole campaigning kit stretched over half a mile.

Theory and Fact.

A Louisville minister says there is no necessity which justifies a man in telling a lie. It is astonishing what beautiful and impractical theories are evolved by men who have never gone home from a poker game at 3 a. m. to be interrogated by a solemn-minded wife.

A Cup of Coffee.

To make a cup of coffee almost as nourishing as a meal stir into it an egg well beaten. First beat the egg in the cup, add a little cream and then the sugar, and lastly the coffee poured in gradually. When adding the coffee, beat constantly with a small egg beater.

Teachings of Character.

That which we are, we shall teach, not voluntarily, but involuntarily. Thoughts come into our mind by avenues which we never left open, and thoughts go out of our minds through avenues which we never voluntarily opened. Character teaches over our heads.—Emerson.

Important Engagement.

A few evenings ago an Atchison man shaved and put on his best clothes, and when his wife asked him where he was going he explained that he was going to help a friend dig a well.—Kansas City Star.

Unusual.

"So he impresses you as different from the rest?" "Yes," answered the sentimental yet observing girl. "He is decidedly original. He has written me ever so many letters without once quoting from Omar Khayyam."

Little Value in Titles.

"Titles don't amount to much," says the Philosopher of Folly. "I once knew a man who was called 'colonel' simply because he was always in the middle of some shell game."

Vain Regrets.

Regret calamities if you can thereby help the sufferer; if not, attend your own work and already the evil begins to be repaired.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

The Difference.

A Pittsburg man arraigned before a magistrate made the plea that onions had intoxicated him. We have been staggered by onions frequently, but somebody else had eaten them.

Nature's Work Perfect.

As a weaver, nature is an exceedingly neat worker. Certain tree barks and leaves furnish excellent cloth, such as, for example, the famous tapa cloth used in the South Sea islands.

The Powerful Press.

The power of the press is well exemplified when a young man breaks his best girl's pet rib by squeezing her.

She Does.

A woman in Massachusetts is credited with being able to talk in 54 languages. And it is safe to say that if she can she does.—Kansas City Star.

Growth of Various Trees.

A young oak grows three feet in three years. In the same time an elm grows eight feet three inches, and a willow nine feet three inches.

Flying Fish.

The more familiar species of flying fish are denizens of the tropical oceans. Fresh water species, however, are known.

She Was Interested.

"Doctor, you seem preoccupied." "Yes; I have just discovered a new disease." "How nice! And will it be very expensive to have?"

Easy to Persuade Onesself.

We can persuade ourselves of something quicker than we can persuade anybody else.

Love's Singularities.

Love abounds in honey and poison. —Plautus.

Ubiquitous Microbe.

We may look down on the microbe, but it often gets into good society.

Sumner, Prophet.

Here, under a bright sun, such as shone at Austerlitz or Buena Vista—amidst the peaceful harmonies of nature—on the Sabbath of peace—we behold hands of brothers, children of a common father, heirs to a common happiness, struggling together in the deadly fight with the madness of fallen spirits, seeking with murderous weapons the lives of brothers who have never injured them or their kindred.—Speech of Charles Sumner, 1849.

Smart Baby.

The doctor swears this is true. It is about his young daughter, who is not yet a year old. Just about noon the other day, when the doctor and his wife sat down to frankfurters, of which they are very fond, the nurse brought the baby in from a long ride. The baby squirmed around in the woman's arms, leaned over until she could see what was in the chafing dish filled with boiling water and then remarked "Boo-woo!"

Butter by the Yard.

In Cambridge the quaint old custom of rolling butter into sticks and selling it by the yard still exists. So accustomed have the butter merchants in the markets become to this practice that they use neither weights nor scales. A neat cut with a knife and the yard of butter is divided into halves, quarters or eighths, as it may be required.—Home Chat.

Dog's Costly Meal.

A peasant woman named Redon, at Lavalle, France, who concealed $50 in a loaf of bread to prevent the money being stolen while she was at market, had the loaf snatched from her by a dog, which made off with its booty. The animal was caught later on, but there was no trace of the bread or the money.

Found Small Fortune.

A lucky find was made recently by William Siegfried when he went to claim his dead uncle's estate of Radenbach, near Reading, Pa. While examining the effects of the old home he discovered a chest that contained $6,000 in gold pieces, silver coins and $20 bills.

The Practical Kind.

He (savagely)—"So another judge has decided the same old thing—a wife's right to search her husband's pocket." She (suavely)—"Don't say 'same old thing.' I am sure that is a matter in which there is seeking after a great deal of change."

Draw the Line at Hanging.

An insurance company refuses to recognize the heirs of a man who was hanged. Does it suppose that any man gets himself judicially hanged simply to make money for his wife? Altruism does not go so far these days.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Something More Required.

One of the great mistakes of the past has been to suppose that any woman with a little good-will on her part and a good deal of good nature on the part of her partner can set up a satisfactory home.

Birth.

It is a great thing to be well born, not in the matter of clothing or material riches, but to be well born into the possession of those things which cannot otherwise be obtained.—Rev. Luther B. Wilson.

Novel Use for Electric Motor.

An electric motor is used in San Francisco to haul sand for grading purposes. With a drag and cable the sand is scraped from the hills to fill the hollows.

Smart Society.

People imagine smart society as witty, whereas it is only familiar; they conceive it as daring, whereas it is only indifferent.—H. B. Marriott Watson.

Idle to Dwell on the Past.

Some people are often expressing wishes for the times which were gone, but it is far better to make use of the present.

Common Sense.

Common sense is a phrase employed to denote the degree of intelligence, sagacity and prudence which is common to all men.—Fleming.

His Mettle.

"Why, now I see there's mettle in thee," said the X-ray specialist as he discovered a safety pin in the left lung of his patient.—Yale Record.

Uncle Ezra Says:

"People who never look fur anything worth while are, ez a rule, mighty good at findin' fault."—Boston Herald.

Overdoing the Idea.

"Some men listen so intent to hear oppertunity knock at their doors thet they don't hear their wives luggin' in the wood."—Boston Herald.

The Unsteady Hand.

Judging by the wounded faces one sees, many a man takes great pains when he shaves.

More Delicately Put.

Breadth of mind is often but another name for slackness of morals.

Needs Quality of Mercy.

Rigorous law is often rigorous injustice.—Terence.

HE WAS TOO KIND

The girl with the coronation braid took three stitches on her embroidery centerpiece and then inspected them carefully. By the way, Celeste," she remarked, "I saw you at the Beethoven club concert last night with Fred Allison!" She raised her eyebrows smilingly and her tone was full of meaning.

"You did, no doubt," affirmed the girl with the black velvet bow in her hair. "What then?" Her manner was aggressively calm and unmoved.

"Why, nothing, I suppose," replied the girl with the coronation braid hastily. "Of course it's none of my business, dear, but every one knows that Fred Allison is simple wild about you and I was only joking, anyway. You surely know what people have been saying—"

"I do know it," broke in the igrl with the black velvet bow, her icy displeasure giving way to open wrath. "I also know that it makes me too utterly weary! For of all the thick-headed, blundering imbeciles on earth, that same Fred Allison is the worst!"

"Why, Celeste!" cried the girl with coral dropping her sewing in amazement. "It was only a few weeks ago, at the country club, that you said Fred Allison was the handsomest man there. And that night you danced with him five times and an extra or two."

"Did you count?" demanded the girl with the black velvet bow, frowning.

"Certainly I did!" said the girl with the coral beads. "So did all the other girls. And Harvey Emerson—"

"I had not met Mr. Emerson at that time," stiffly remarked the girl with the black velvet bow.

"But how did you happen to go to the Beethoven club concert with Fred if you dislike him so?" demanded everybody at once.

"Happen!" said the center of interest, sarcastically. "Happen! It was because Fred happened to have an engagement to call last night, that's all! Fanny Thomas called me up on the telephone in the morinng to ask if I couldn't use two tickets for the concert, as she and her brother were suddenly compelled to go out of town. I said 'Yes' gladly, because I love music anyway, and since I've known Mr. Emerson, who plays the piano so beautifully, my musical taste has really developed.

"It occurred to me at once that if Fred Allison hadn't been coming I should have had a chance to ask Mr. Emerson to go with me. He could have explained all the movements and everything. But Fred was coming, so, of course, I had to ask him. Still, he has had the grip and the weather was fearfully cold and I thought that maybe he would excuse himself. Anyway, I telephoned him, because if we went to the concert he'd have to come earlier than just to make a call.

"The minute he heard my voice he said, "Why, I was just going to call you up.'

"'Yes?' said I.

"'I feel like a wreck to-day,' he croaked, 'and if you could let me come to-morrow night instead of to-night—'

"'Certainly,' I said, before he had the words out of his mouth. Then it occurred to me that I mustn't be impolite, so I added sweetly, 'I'm so sorry, though, because Fanny has just asked me to use two tickets to the Beethoven club concert and—"

"'And you want to go?' he asked.

"'Oh yes, of course,' I stammered; 'but—'

"'Then I'll be there!' said Fred, promptly. 'I'm certainly not going to disappoint you in a thing like that!'" She paused. "Idiot!" she concluded, snipping off a silk thread viciously.

The girl with the coral beads giggled. "Did you enjoy the concert?" she asked.

"No," said the other grimly. "I saw everybody there that I ever knew and they all smiled blandly at me and then looked knowingly at Fred. It's getting so bad that a lot of my friends won't ask me to go out any more. Some men feel that way about it, you know, when they think some other man is a girl's favorite."

"Does Mr. Emerson feel that way?" inquired the girl with the coral beads, innocently.

"He does," responded the injured one, with gloom. "And we sat directly in front of his sister and that Mr. Door who goes with her. I hate to have any one I know sitting behind me, anyway. Don't you? You always have a feeling that the ends of your false hair are sticking out."

"Don't you care," said the girl with the coronation braid, soothingly. "Her's is all false."

"Really?" said the other, more cheerfully. "Well, it's no use crying over spilled milk. And Fred is rather nice, you know, if he isn't musical."

Where Bacon Lived.

Fulwood's Rents, the little Holborn court leading into Gray's Inn Gardens, which will be largely rebuilt, formerly possessed the privilege of "sanctuary," and hence became a notorious resort for fraudulent debtors and still more unpleasant characters. Yet this dingy "dive" can boast of many glorious memories. Francis Bacon lived here in "Fulwood's House" and valued his furniture at £60, a huge price for that period. Here the Whig club and Melbourne and Oates' club met in the reign of Charles II., and here stood Squire's coffee house, from which several numbers of the Spectator were dated.—Westminster Gazette.

Not Since Our 35th Year Have We Had An Anniversary Celebration

With us it is an occasion of extraordinary import, as wo do not hold annual anniversary sales. But when wo do celebrate it is an event of such remarkable significance that no woman alive to her own interests will want to overlook. For months and months we have planned and prepared for this 40th anniversary occasion, and a great number of the country's most prominent manufacturers and importers have co-operated with us (in so far as value giving is concerned) to make it the greatest event of its kind that has ever occurred in Newark.

THE PRESTIGE, GROWTH AND REPUTATION OF THIS ESTABLISHMENT REPRESENTS A POWERFUL ILLUSTRATION OF THE POTENCY OF PROPER PRINCIPLES IN BUSINESS.

But these principles could not have won without the appreciation of a discriminating public. And so we celebrate our Fortieth Anniversary in the characteristic L. S. Plaut & Co. way—giving to the people of Newark and its environs the most wonderful values ever known. In many instances the goods are actually below the cost of production today. Every branch of our business is represented—and every item must break a price record to be announced.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY ARE THE LAST TWO DAYS OF THIS MEMORABLE EVENT.

The following 40 specials are added to those remaining from Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, forming in all the strongest congress of values ever offered by any house.

THIS WEEK THE STORE OPENS AT NINE O'CLOCK.

The Man in Lower Ten

And so, we trudged on bareheaded under the summer sun, growing parched and dusty and weary, doggedly leaving behind us the pillar of smoke. I thought I knew of a trolley line somewhere in the direction we were going, or perhaps we could find a horse and trap to take us into Baltimore. The girl smiled when I suggested it.

"We will create a sensation, won't we?" she asked. "Isn't it queer—or perhaps it's my state of mind—but I keep wishing for a pair of gloves, when I haven't even a hat!"

When we reached the main road we sat down for a moment, and her hair, which had been coming loose for some time, fell over her shoulders in little waves that were most alluring. It seemed a pity to twist it up again, but when I suggested this, cautiously, she said it was troublesome and got in her eyes when it was loose. So she gathered it up, while I held a row of little shell combs and pins, and when it was done it was vastly becoming, too. Funny about hair: A man never knows he has it until he begins to lose it, but it's different with a girl. Something of the unconventional situation began to dawn on her as she put in the last hair pin and patted some stray locks to place.

"I have not told you my name," she said abruptly. "I forgot that because I know who you are, you know nothing about me. I am Alison West, and my home is in Richmond."

So that was it! This was the girl of the photograph on John Gilmore's bedside table. The girl McKnight expected to see in Richmond the next day, Sunday! She was on her way back to meet him! Well, what difference did it make, anyhow? We had been thrown together by the merest chance. In an hour or two at the most we would be back in civilization and she would recall me, if she remembered me at all, as an unshaven creature in a red cravat and tan shoes, with a soiled Pullman sheet tied around my neck. I drew a deep breath.

"Just a twinge," I said, when she glanced up quickly. "It's very good of you to let me know, Miss West. I have been hearing delightful things about you for three months."

"From Richey McKnight?" She was frankly curious.

"Yes. From Richey McKnight," I assented. Was it any wonder McKnight was crazy about her? I dug my heels into the dust.

"I have been visiting near Cresson, in the mountains," Miss West was saying. "The person you mentioned, Mrs. Curtis, was my hostess. We—we were on our way to Washington together." She spoke slowly, as if she wished to give the minimum of explanation. Across her face had come again the baffling expression of perplexity and trouble I had seen before.

"You were on your way home, I suppose? Richey—spoke about seeing you," I floundered, finding it necessary to say something. She looked at me with level, direct eyes.

"No," she returned quietly. "I did not intend to go home. I—well, it doesn't matter; I am going home now."

A woman in a calico dress, with two children, each an exact duplicate of the other, had come quickly down the road. She took in the situation at a glance, and was explosively hospitable.

"You poor things," she said. "If you'll take the first road to the left over there, and turn in at the second pigsty, you will find breakfast on the table and a coffee pot on the stove. And there's plenty of soap and water, too. Don't say one word. There isn't a soul there to see you."

We accepted the invitation and she hurried on toward the excitement and the railroad. I got up carefully and helped Miss West to her feet.

"At the second pigsty to the left," I repeated, "we will find the breakfast I promised you seven eternities ago. Forward to the pigsty!"

We said very little for the remainder of that walk. I had almost reached the limit of endurance; with every step the broken ends of the bone grated together. We found the farmhouse without difficulty, and I remember wondering if I could hold out to the end of the old stone walk that led between hedges to the door.

"Allah be praised," I said with all the voice I could muster, "behold the coffee pot!" And then I put down the cup and folded up like a jack-knife on the porch floor.

When I came around something hot was trickling down my neck, and a despairing voice was saying, "Oh, I don't seem to be able to pour it into your mouth. Please open your eyes."

"But I don't want it in my eyes," I replied dreamily. "I haven't any idea what came over me. It was the shoes, I think; the left one is a red-hot torture." I was sitting by that time and looking across into her face.

Never before or since have I faintly envied, but I would do it joyfully, a dozen times a day, if I could waken again to the blissful touch of soft fingers on my face, the hot ecstasy of coffee spilled by those fingers down my neck. There was a thrill in every tone of her voice that morning. Before long my loyalty to McKnight would step between me and the girl he loved; life would develop new complexities. In those early hours after the wreck, full of pain as they were, there was nothing of the suspicion and distrust that came later. Shorn of our gauds and baubles, we were primitive man and woman, together; our world for the hour was the deserted farmhouse, the slope of wheatfield that led to the road, the woodland lot, the pasture.

We breakfasted together across the homely table. Our cheerfulness, at first sheer reaction, became less forced as we ate great slices of bread from the granny oven back of the house, and drank hot fluid that smelled like coffee and tasted like nothing that I have ever swallowed. We found cream in stone jars, sunk deep in the chill water of the springhouse. And there were eggs, great yellow-brown ones—a basket of them.

So, like two children awakened from a nightmare, we chatted over our food; we hunted mutual friends, we laughed together at my feeble witticisms, but we put the horror behind us resolutely. After all, it was the hat with the green ribbons that brought back the strangeness of the situation.

All along I had had the impression that Alison West was deliberately putting out of her mind something that obtruded now and then. It brought with it a return of the puzzled expression that I had surprised early in the day, before the wreck. I caught it once, when, breakfast over, she was tightening the sling that held the broken arm. I had prolonged the morning meal as much as I could, but when the wooden clock with the pink roses on the dial pointed to half after ten, and the mother with the duplicate youngsters had not come back, Miss West made the move I had dreaded.

"If we are to get into Baltimore at all we must start," she said, rising. "You ought to see a doctor as soon as possible."

"Hush," I said warningly. "Don't mention the arm, please; it is asleep now. You may rouse it."

"If I only had a hat," she reflected. "It wouldn't need to be much of one, but—" She gave a little cry and darted to the corner. "Look," she said triumphantly, "the very thing. With the green streamers tied up in a bow, like this—do you suppose the child would mind? I can put $5 or so here—that would buy a dozen of them."

It was a queer affair of straw, that hat, with a round crown and a rim that flopped dismally. With a single movement she had turned it up at one side and fitted it to her head. Grotesque by itself, when she wore it it was a thing of joy.

Evidently the lack of head covering had troubled her, for she was elated at her find. She left me, scrawling a note of thanks and pinning it with a bill to the table-cloth, and ran upstairs to the mirror and the promised soap and water.

I did not see her when she came down. I had discovered a bench with a tin basin outside the kitchen door, and was washing, in a helpless, one-sided way. I felt rather than saw that she was standing in the doorway, and I made a final plunge into the basin.

"No, I Did Not Intend to Go Home."

"How is it possible for a man with only a right hand to wash his left ear?" I asked from the roller towel. I was distinctly uncomfortable: Men are more rigidly creatures of convention than women, whether they admit it or not. "There is so much soap on me still that if I laugh I will blow bubbles. Washing with rain water and home-made soap is like motoring on a slippery road. I only struck the high places."

Then, having achieved a brilliant polish with the towel, I looked at the girl.

She was leaning against the frame of the door, her face perfectly colorless, her breath coming in slow, difficult respirations. The erratic hat was pinned to place, but it had slid rakishly to one side. When I realized that she was staring, not at me, but past me to the road along which we had come, I turned and followed her gaze. There was no one in sight; the lane stretched dust white in the sun—no moving figure on it, no sign of life.

CHAPTER X.

Miss West's Request.

The surprising change in her held me speechless. All the animation of the breakfast table was gone; there was no hint of the response with which, before, she had met my nonsensical sallies. She stood there, white-lipped, unsmiling, staring down the dusty road. One hand was clench-

Assessments for Street Improvements in the City of Plainfield.

Notice of Hearing Before Commissioners.

The subscribers, being the commissioners appointed by the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union, by order of said Court, entered on the twenty-third day of March, 1910, to estimate and assess benefits conferred by the permanent improvement of streets under the ordinances of the City of Plainfield, entitled: "An Ordinance for the permanent Improvement of Certain Streets and Portions of Streets of the City of Plainfield, with Permanent and Durable Macadam Pavement, and to provide the Necessary Funds in Advance of the Collection of Assessments for Benefits," approved April 12, 1909, directing the permanent improvement of, with permanent and durable macadam pavement:

Stelle Avenue, from the easterly curb line of Madison Avenue to the westerly curb line of Union Street;

Madison Avenue, from the southerly curb line of Stelle Avenue to the macadam already constructed on Randolph Road;

Darrow Avenue, from the southeasterly curb line of West Fourth Street to the northwesterly curb line of West Seventh Street; which ordinance was adopted under and by virtue of an act of the Legislature, entitled "An Act to authorize the improvement of streets and highways in cities of this State, and to provide for the payment of the expense of the same, and for the assessment of the benefits of such improvement upon the land and real estate benefitted thereby," approved June 13, 1898, and the amendments and supplements thereto, to which ordinance reference is hereby made for greater certainty.

Ravine Road, from the easterly curb line of Belvidere Avenue to the southerly side line of Dixie Lane;

The subscribers, the Commissioners appointed by the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union as aforesaid, and for the purpose of performing the duties and executing the powers conferred by said acts of the Legislature, having duly qualified as required by law, do hereby pursuant to the order of said Court, give notice that on Monday, the eighteenth day of April, 1910, at half-past seven o'clock P. M., at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North Avenue, in the said City of Plainfield, said commissioners will proceed with the discharge of their said duties and hear any person or persons in interest who may present themselves to be heard, and at such time and place, and at such other times and places to which they may adjourn for that purpose, the said commissioners will attend and give a public hearing to those persons who may desire to be heard.

PUBLIC NOTICE!

SHADE TREE COMMISSION.

Notice of the Proposed Setting Out and Planting of Shade Trees.

The Shade Tree Commission of the City of Plainfield, by virtue of the provisions of the Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey entitled: "An Act to provide for the planting and care of shade trees on the highways of the municipalities of this State," approved March 28, 1893, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental therto, hereby gives notice that it is the intention of the said Shade Tree Commission to set out and plant shade trees as hereinafter specified, as authorized by said acts of the Legislature, along the curb of the following streets and portions of streets, viz.: West Eighth Street from Liberty Street to Grant Avenue and Grant Avenue from West Front Street to West Fourth Street, and at the several places on said streets and portions of streets as shown on map entitled: "Map showing Location of Shade Trees Proposed to be planted on West Eighth Street and Grant Avenue, City of Plainfield, N. J., March, 1910," on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Plainfield, to which map reference is hereby made for greater certainty. Said trees to be hard maples in certain specified locations and oriental planes in the other specified locations, planted in a good and workmanlike manner, with sufficient soil and compost and provided with stakes and tree guards. Said map clearly indicates the location and kind of tree to be set out and planted in each instance and reference is made to said map for greater certainty.

In accordance with the provisions of said statute, the cost of planting and transplanting any trees on any highway, and boxes or guards for the protection thereof, shall be borne by the real estate in front of which such trees are planted or set out.

The said Shade Tree Commission hereby gives notice that before deciding on the setting out and planting of trees as aforesaid, ample opportunity will be afforded all persons interested or who may be liable to be affected by assessment therefor, to be heard in favor of or against such action on the part of the said Shade Tree Commission, at a meeting of the said Shade Tree Commission to be held at the Mayor's Office, No. 149 North Avenue, Plainfield, N. J., on Thursday, the fourteenth day of April, 1910, at half-past seven o'clock P. M.

Dated March 28, 1910.

ed tight over some small object. Her eyes dropped to it from the distant road, and then closed, with a quick, indrawn breath.

Her color came back slowly. Whatever had caused the change, she said nothing. She was anxious to leave at once, almost impatient over my deliberate masculine way of getting my things together. Afterward I recalled that I had wanted to explore the barn for a horse and some sort of a vehicle to take us to the trolley, and that she had refused to allow me to look. I remembered many things later that might have helped me, and did not. At the time, I was only completely bewildered. Save the wreck, the responsibility for which lay between Providence and the engineer of the second section, all the events of that strange morning were logically connected; they came from one cause, and tended unerringly to one end. But the cause was buried, the end not yet in view.

Not until we had left the house well behind did the girl's face relax its tense lines. I was watching her more closely than I had realized, for when we had gone a little way along the road she turned to me almost petulantly. "Please don't stare so at me," she said, to my sudden confusion. "I know the hat is dreadful. Green always makes me look ghastly."

"Perhaps it was the green." I was unaccountably relieved. "Do you know, a few minutes ago, you looked almost pallid to me!"

She glanced at me quickly, but I was gazing ahead. We were out of sight of the house, now, and with every step away from it the girl was obviously relieved. Whatever she held in her hand, she never glanced at it. But she was conscious of it every second. She seemed to come to a decision about it while we were still in sight of the gate, for she murmured something and turned back alone, going swiftly, her feet stirring up small puffs of dust at every step. She fastened something to the gate post—I could see the nervous haste with which she worked. When she joined me again it was without explanation. But the clenched fingers were free now, and while she looked tired and worn, the strain had visibly relaxed.

We walked along slowly in the general direction of the suburban trolley line. Once a man with an empty wagon offered us a lift, but after a glance at the springless vehicle I declined.

"The ends of the bone think they are castanets as it is," I explained. "But the lady—"

The young lady, however, declined and we went on together. Once, when the trolley line was in sight, she got a pebble in her low shoe, and we sat down under a tree until she found the cause of the trouble.

"I—I don't know what I should have done without you," I blundered. "Moral support and—and all that. Do you know, my first conscious thought after the wreck was of relief that you had not been hurt?"

She was sitting beside me where a big chestnut tree shaded the road, and I surprised a look of misery on her face that certainly my words had not been meant to produce.

"And my first thought," she said slowly, "was regret that I—that I hadn't been obliterated, blown out like a candle. Please don't look like that! I am—only talking."

But her lips were trembling, and because the little shams of society are forgotten at times like this, I leaned over and patted her hand lightly, where it rested on the grass beside me.

"You must not say those things," I expostulated. "Perhaps, after all, your friends—"

"I had no friends on the train." Her voice was hard again, her tone final. She drew her hand from under mine, not quickly, but decisively. A car was in sight, coming toward us. The steel finger of civilization, of propriety, of visiting cards and formal introductions was beckoning us in. Miss West put on her shoe.

We said little on the car. The few passengers stared at us frankly, and discussed the wreck, emphasizing its horrors. The girl did not seem to hear. Once she turned to me with the quick, unexpected movement that was one of her charms.

"I do not wish my mother to know I was in the accident," she said. "Will you please not tell Richey about having met me?"

I gave my promise, of course. Again, when we were almost into Baltimore, she asked to examine the gun-metal cigarette case, and sat silent with it in her hands, while I told of the early morning's events on the Ontario.

"So you see," I finished, "this grip, everything I have on, belongs to a fellow named Sullivan. He probably left the train before the wreck—perhaps just after the murder."

"And so—you think he committed the—the crime?" Her eyes were on the cigarette case.

"Naturally," I said. "A man doesn't jump off a Pullman car in the middle of the night in another man's clothes, unless he is trying to get away from something. Besides the dirk, there were the stains that you saw. Why, I have the murdered man's pocket-book in this valise at my feet. What does that look like?"

I colored when I saw the ghost of a smile hovering around the corners of her mouth. "That is," I finished, "if you care to believe that I am innocent."

The sustaining chain of her small gold bag gave way just then. She did not notice it. I picked it up and slid the trinket into my pocket for safe-keeping, where I promptly forgot it. Afterwards I wished I had let it lie unnoticed on the floor of that dirty little suburban car, and even now, when I see a woman carelessly dangling a similar feminine trinket, I shudder involuntarily: there comes back to me the memory of a girl's puzzled eyes under the brim of a flopping hat, the haunting suspicion of the sleepless nights that followed.

Just then I was determined that my companion should not stray back to the wreck; and to that end I was determinedly facetious.

"Do you know that it is Sunday?" she asked suddenly, "and that we are actually ragged??"

"Never mind that," I retorted. "All Baltimore is divided on Sunday into three parts, those who rise and go to church, those who rise up and read the newspapers, and those who don't rise up. The first are somewhere between the creed and the sermon, and we need not worry about the others."

"You treat me like a child," she said almost pettishly. "Don't try so hard to be cheerful. It—it is almost ghastly."

After that I subsided like a pricked balloon, and the remainder of the ride was made in silence. The information that she would go to friends in the city was a shock; it meant an earlier separation than I had planned for. But my arm was beginning again. In putting her into a cab I struck it and gritted my teeth with the pain. It was probably for that reason that I forgot the gold bag.

She leaned forward and held out her hand. "I may not have another chance to thank you," she said, "and I think I would better not try, anyhow. I cannot tell you how grateful I am." I muttered something about the gratitude being mine. Owing to the knock I was seeing two cabs, and two girls were holding out two hands.

"Remember," they were both saying, "you have never met me, Mr. Blakeley. And—if you ever hear anything about me—that is not—pleasant, I want you to think the best you can of me. Will you?"

The two girls were one now, with little flashes of white light playing all around. "I—I'm afraid that I shall think too well for my own good," I said unsteadily. And the cab drove on.

CHAPTER XI.

The Name of Sullivan.

I had my arm done up temporarily in Baltimore and took the next train home. I was pretty far gone when I stumbled out of a cab almost into the scandalized arms of Mrs. Klopton. In 15 minutes I was in bed, with that good woman piling on blankets and blistering me in unprotected places with hot-water bottles. And in an hour I had had a whiff of chloroform and Dr. Williams had set the broken bone.

I dropped asleep then, waking in the late twilight to a realization that I was at home again, without the papers that meant conviction for Andy Bronson, with a charge of murder hanging over my head, and with something more than an impression of the girl my best friend was in love with, a girl moreover who was almost as great an enigma as the crime itself.

"And I'm no hand at guessing riddles," I groaned half aloud. Mrs. Klopton came over promptly and put a cold cloth on my forehead.

"Euphemia," she said to some one outside the door, "telephone the doctor that he is still rambling, but that he has switched from green ribbons to riddles."

"There's nothing the matter with me, Mrs. Klopton," I rebelled. "I was only thinking out loud. Confound that cloth; it's trickling all over me!" I gave it a fling, and heard it land with a soggy thud on the floor.

This time she held it on with a firm pressure that I was too weak to resist. I expostulated feebly that I was drowning, which she also laid to my mental exaltation, and then I finally dropped into a damp sleep. It was probably midnight when I roused again. I had been dreaming of the wreck, and it was inexpressibly comforting to feel the stability of my bed, and to realize the equal stability of Mrs. Klopton, who sat, fully attired, by the night light, reading Science and Health.

"Does that book say anything about opening the windows on a hot night?" I suggested, when I had got my bearings.

She put it down immediately and came over to me. If there is one time when Mrs. Klopton is chastened

"I May Not Have Another Chance to Thank You."

—and it is the only one—it is when she reads Science and Health. "I don't like to open the shutters, Mr. Lawrence," she explained. "Not since the night you went away."

But, pressed further, she refused to explain. "The doctor said you were not to be excited," she persisted. "Here's your beef tea."

George, a Gilt-Edged Prize

The woman in the mottled barrel gown dipped the fingers of one hand into the bowl of suds at her side and proceeded to make herself comfortable while the manicure girl played upon the fingers of the other hand.

"Thought I would be in on Tuesday? Why, my dear girl, you have no idea how busy I have been! Simply rushed to death. I told you of my engagement when I was in before, didn't I? You don't remember?

"Oh, you must! Don't you remember my showing you this exquisite ring? Oh, I thought you would. Well, just look at this bracelet! Isn't that swagger? George gave me that, too. Real, genuine rubies, and rubies are much more expensive than diamonds. You didn't suppose so? Well, just take it from me, they are the real thing and no mistake.

"I gave that reception I told you about and it went off just too lovely. Maybe the girls weren't envious! Why, do you know, two of my most intimate friends failed to show up, and after they had been asked to help receive, too! 'Twas awfully mean of them, but I knew it was just because they couldn't bear to see me so happy. Some girls are that jealous and spiteful.

"Clare—that's one of them—has tried her best to get a husband for the last three years and she envies me. I don't blame her, though. Most girls are willing to take anything when they get to be her age.

"Older than me? Well, I just guess! Clare's every day of 36 and her visits to the beauty shops haven't helped to hide it, either. Does she come here? Not it I know it. You don't suppose I'm giving any secrets away, do you?

"Of course he was there—at the reception, I mean—and he looked too handsome for anything. Some of his friends were there too, and I reckon they was mad at my carrying off such a prize. Yes, he's got stacks of money—has an elegant business, all his own.

"I overheard one woman say to another, 'Well, they say she is a good sort of girl and I'm glad of that, though there ain't any girl quite good enough for him!' Now what do you know about that? I ain't vain, exactly, but of course that made me feel some joyous.

"He is a good fellow all right, but I guess he ain't any too good for me! I've been used to the best of everything. And, say, what do you think! You won't tell anyone, will you, for—well, it isn't so much to tell, really, only I wouldn't want anyone to know I was tickled over it, but two girls, I heard, was actually sick abed when they heard of my engagement. Think of it—sick abed! Wasn't that grand?

"It isn't that I feel so proud on my own account, but it pleases me to find that he is so popular. I like to know that a man has lots of admirers, and when they take on like that you can bet that a chappy is all right, can't you?

"Wish you could see him—he's a perfect love. You wish you could? Well, I'd never dare to bring him to one of these repair shops. I've got a dandy little tintype of him—it isn't as good as it might be, though. It was taken before he knew me, when he was out with some other girls, and it has got rather a conceited grin; but you wouldn't blame him if you saw the way those girls were gazing upon him. Want to see it?

"He is great and it's no wonder the girls were sick. There was one girl badly broken up over him. He used to take her out some, once, just because he felt sorry for her, I guess. She is a dumpy kind of a girl, hasn't a particle of style, and then—just think of it!—she isn't the least bit educated; says 'I done' and 'I seen,' and all that sort of thing, you know, and of course George couldn't go that. He ain't got any use for an uneducated girl, not him!

"What! finished so soon, and I had oceans more to tell you! See that frump in green: she's beckoning to you; what a nerve! You had an appointment with her? Nonsense! You had one with me for last Tuesday and it wasn't my fault. I couldn't get here then.

"Well, good-by; I'll be in again next week and I won't forget the tintype. Good-by."

And the woman in the barrel gown hastened away to meet George, who believed she had had an appointment with her dressmaker.

Jewish Colonies in Holy Land.

From time to time various colonies of Jews have actually returned to the Holy Land. There are records of Jewish settlements there as early as 1170, and in the sixteenth century the city of Tiberias, "where only Jews were to dwell," was rebuilt.

But it was not until comparatively modern times that the founding of regular colonies began. In 1878 the ideas of Laurence Oliphant and the earl of Shaftesbury took definite shape in the purchase of 700 acres of land by the Jews of Jerusalem and the foundation of the colony of Petah Tikwah. After the Russian persecution of 1881 large numbers of Jews emigrated and at the end of 1898 there were about 5,000 Jewish colonists in Palestine.

Always the Best.

"I suppose, Mrs. Comeup, you have nothing deleterious in your daily diet?"

"Sure I do. I want you to know we have everything going."

Antimony in Ores.

Many gold and silver ores are antimony bearing, and in smelting the antimony combines with the lead of the charge, the product going on the market as antimonial lead. The alloy is used in type metal, babbitt, coffin trimmings, linings for acid tanks, toys, clock cases and other articles for which a fairly hard metal to be gilded or otherwise finished is desired.

Chinese Telephone Girls.

Chinese girls, specially trained in San Francisco, have begun work in Peking as central operators in the telephone system recently opened in the Chinese capital. Instead of subscribers calling, "Are you there?" or "Hello, central!" the customary mode of address is "Lily of the air" and "Butterfly that talks."

Inspired Error.

An article on the relations of husband and wife in a New York paper is given by the dispensation of the compositor this title: "The Secret of Martial Happiness," which may strike some as another shining addition to the list of inspired typographical errors.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Profitable Kissing Bee.

Twenty girls belonging to the Temple Emanuel of little old New York held a kissing bee recently, and charged from 25 cents to $2.50 per kiss, the price being regulated according to the beauty of the young lady, and 'tis said they cleaned up considerable on it.

Shrewd Shopper.

"I always take my dog with me when I go to the meat shop, nowadays," says the Philosopher of Folly. "Then when I buy a nickel's worth of liver and a shank, the butcher thinks it's for the dog, and I save a lot of embarrassment."

True Friendship.

Friendship immediately banishes envy under all its disguises. A man who can once doubt whether he should rejoice in his friends being happier than himself, may depend upon it that he is an utter stranger to this virtue. —Addison.

Not at All Stylish.

Madam—"What a funny-looking hat that woman has on!" Adam—"Don't see anything funny about it. Looks mighty sensible to me." Madam—"Yes, that what makes it so funny-looking. Te he!"

Helping the Afflicted.

The truest help we can render an afflicted man is not to take his burden from him, but to call out his best energy, that he may be able to bear the burden.—Phillips Brooks.

Education.

Every dollar spent for humane education is a dollar spent for the prevention of wars, incendiary fires, railroad wrecks and every form of cruelty and crime.—Our Dumb Animals.

Unhappy Experiment.

A Long Island man who boasted that he could make better pie than his wife, baked one, ate a slice and dropped dead. But the wife was vindicated.

Current Nautical Term.

When a vessel weighs anchor and sails she is under way. This is strictly a deep-sea expression that is current in about every language that happens to be afloat.

Keeping Courage Means Victory.

Hail to the person with courage. Courage is a divine attribute, and if you can keep fast to it you are a winner.

Uncle Ezra Says:

"People count their chickens afore they are hatched becuz they like to enjoy what they think they're goin' to hev."—Boston Herald.

Biff!

Mamma—"Why aren't you nice and polite, like your little friend Tommy?" Johnny—"I ain't had his good bringin' up!"

Cheer Up!

The world may be a long time in rolling to the brighter side, but you'll enjoy it all the more when you land there.—Frank L. Stanton.

All Too Fluent.

Scott—"Women are keenly sensitive to pain and pleasure." Mott—"But there's one degree of the latter she can never attain—unspeakable joy."

The Philosopher of Folly.

"I see by the papers," says the Philosopher of Folly, "that a prominent divorcee says she's tired of society. That makes it a standoff."

Shadow and Substance.

Radishes and lettuce bear the same relation to food that Platonic love does to love.—Atchison Globe.

Selfish Human Nature.

It is human nature to be selfish; unselfishness is the product of teaching.

Helpful Antagonist.

He that wrestles with us strengthens our nerves and sharpens our skill. Our antagonist is our helper.—Burke.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning April 10, 1910.

Topic.—God is here.—Ps. cxxxix, 1-12. Comment by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

A knowledge of the writings and especially the poetical writings of the world is a part of a literal education. It is necessary to the cultivated mind. But when it comes to religious poetry to be ignorant of the Psalms, the greatest religious poems, is not recompensed by a knowledge of Dante, Milton, Tennyson and Browning. In loftiness of thought and in expressive beauty of language we find nowhere outside of this psalm the great attributes of God—His omniscience, His omnipresence, His omnipotence—so strikingly set forth. It is not surprising that this magnificent psalm should be pronounced "the crown of the Psalms." The omniscience of God is described in the first six verses, His omnipresence from the seventh to the twelfth verses, and after a denunciation of the wicked (13-18) as the result of meditation upon the Holy God His omnipotence is described in the nineteenth to the twenty-second versse, and the psalm closes with a prayer for God's teaching and leading:

Search me, O God, and know my heart;
Try me and know my thoughts.
And see if there be any wicked way in me.
And lead me in the way everlasting.

One striking feature of this psalm which is a meditation upon the great attributes of God is its individual application. The psalmist speaks not of the greatest attributes of God as related to the people of the world or to the universe in which we live, but as related to himself alone. "Thou hast searched me and known me," etc., God's full knowledge of Himself; "Whither shall I go from thy Spirit," etc., God everywhere present to him; "I am fearfully and wonderfully made," his omnipotence as applied to his own creation, to which he adds, "Wonderful are thy works, and my soul knoweth (it) right well." This characteristic of this psalm could be applied with great force today. Men think too much of their own greatness and not enough of God's. Moreover, meditation upon the supreme attributes of God will lead us to see our own insignificance, our own weakness and the absolute need of His perfect knowledge about us, His constant presence with us and His almighty power to keep us. Since there is one who knows all things, who is everywhere, no matter where we may be, who has all power to keep us at all times and in all places, we should not try to tread the pathway of life alone, but put our life in His care and sovereign keeping.

That God possesses the attributes which the psalmist ascribes to Him is not to be doubted.

1. God knows all things. This the psalmist learned by experience. (a) He knows our thoughts. "O Lord, Thou hast searched me and knoweth me. Thou understandeth my thoughts afar off." No matter how far we may be separated from God, He knows our thoughts, for in His omniscience "He has searched us." (b) God knows our words. "For before a word is yet on my tongue, for O Jehovah, Thou knowest it altogether." Before we speak God knows what we shall speak. (c) He knows our ways. "Thou art acquainted with all my ways." He is omniscient, knowing thoughts, words and deeds. This fact should lead us to guard our thoughts, speak only well with our tongues and do only what He would have us do.

2. God is here, everywhere. How strikingly the past sets forth the omnipresence of God. In heaven he can say, "God is here;" in hell, "God is here;" in any part of the earth, "God is here;" in light or darkness, "God is here," for light and darkness are all alike to God. To Him night is as light as day. No one can hide himself from God, and no one need try it. Adam tried it, but failed. Jonah had enough in trying to run away from God. The only way to flee from God is to flee to Him in Jesus Christ.

3. God is omnipotent, all powerful. This omnipotence is illustrated in our creation and in all His works—wonderful or marvelous are the works. We need search God far more than He needs us. Let us therefore seek Him in Christ and find safety beneath His wings.

BIBLE READINGS.

Gen. xxviii, 10-17; Josh. i, 1-7; Ps. cxxi; John iv, 21-24; xiv, 17-23; xv, 1-9; Matt. i, 22, 23; xviii, 20; xxviii, 19, 20; Acts xvii, 22-34.

"Work, Work."

Martin Luther when once asked by his friends what his plans for the following day were answered: "Work, work, from early until late. In fact, I have so much to do that I shall spend the first three hours in prayer." A "model Endeavorer" will pray.

"There are two little words in our language which I've always admired," said John Williams, missionary to the south sea islands. "They are 'try' and 'trust.'" They are both in our pledge.

Every year the West Point cadets build a pontoon bridge just as if they were in the enemy's country and had no other way of crossing the river. Endeavorers become competent church workers because of their training in church work in the Christian Endeavor society.

The King's Business First.

A young English miner in order to attend to his duties as superintendent at a Junior Christian Endeavor society sacrifices one shift of his work every week. The King's business first!

HOPE'S ANNUAL MEETING

Reports Read and Committees Chosen at Chapel's Yearly Session.

REV. L. R. HOWARD PRESIDES.

Various Societies and Classes Give Account of Work—Minstrel Show and Excursion Planned.

The annual congregational meeting of Hope chapel was helud last night with Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor, in the chair. Philip Braunsten was secretary of the meeting. A resolution was adopted permitting the selection of a ways and means committee of seven members. Willard H. Cook was elected treasurer and his assistants are Alexander Doig, Walter Firstbrook, William Baker and Harry Keen.

This is the ways and means committee: Charles Hughes, George Leighs, for three years; James Penny and Donald McInnes for two years; Harry Keen and William Baker for one year. A vote of thanks was given Walter Bradford, the retiring treasurer, and to Mrs. Willard H. Cook for her services at the piano.

The yearly reports show every department of the chapel to be in the best of condition. Additions have been made to the chapel, Sunday-school and various societies. Rev. L. R. Howard presented this report:

Members received on confession of faith, 14; by letter, 7; three restored from "separate list;" dismissed, 8; died, 3; put on "separate list," one, making a net gain of 12 members. The total membership is 424. There were twenty-two baptisms, fifteen being children and seven adults.

Treasurer Walter Bradford reported receipts for the year to be $1,298.85. Mrs. John Johnson, treasurer of flower fund of the G. Stuart Simons' Bible class, reported receipts of $28.10 and disbursements of $14.35, leaving a balance of $13.75. Mrs. Walter Bradford for the "Penny-a-Week Missionary Society," reported receipts of $77.76 and disbursements for a scholarship, $50, the balance being $27.76.

William Baker reported for the W. N. Runyon Bible Class Association, which has a membership of forty-five young men. They raised from all sources $412.91 and expended all but $5.41 for the benefit of the chapel. It was reported that a minstrel show will be held April 26, 27 and 29.

Mrs. L. R. Howard reported that the final payment due on the organ of $224.09 had been paid. The Ladies' Aid Society raised $354.05 and spent all but $16.87 in the chapel work. Mrs. Joseph Brown, treasurer of the missionary society, reported receipts of $83.51, disbursements of $81.95, leaving a balance of $1.56. G. Herbert Condict, leader of the Boys' Club, stated that $28.98 had been raised during the year. Miss Lona Baker, secretary, and Miss Elizabeth Becker, treasurer, reported for the Christian Endeavor Society. The members raised $26.65 and expended $20.81. C. G. August reported that the Junior Boys' Club has a membership of 35 and seventeen applications to be acted upon.

Frank Rimmer, secretary, and James Cullinan, treasurer, reported for the Men's Club. The receipts were $29.72 and the disbursements $26.65, leaving a balance of $3.08.

Thomas Hendry reported that the excursion committee has a balance of $249.01. G. Herbert Condict for the Sunday-school gave an interesting report. He stated that at present over forty-five members of the chapel are working in the chapel as teachers, etc., seventeen being from Crescent Avenue church and four of the teachers staff from other denominations. The Home department, of which Mrs. Donald McInnes is superintendent, has an enrollment of 137 and raised $136 during the year. Frank Rimmer, treasurer, reported total receipts of $834.26, disbursements of $784.52, leaving a balance of $49.70 in the treasury.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Donald McInnes, Mrs. F. A. Weber and Mrs. James Heron.

Visited Borough School.

Randall Spaulding, superintendent of the Montclair Public schools, was a visitor at the borough school on Wednesday. Professor Spaulding came here for the specific purpose of inspecting the methods and system used in the grammar grades by Superintendent H. C. Krebs. Professor Spaulding was a classmate of S. St. John McCutchen at Yale.

NEW CURE FOR DIVORCE

"The Upstart" Presents Novel Remedy for the Help of the Unhappily Married.

STRONG AND CAPABLE CAST.

Stirring Dialogue and Dramatic Situations Make Clever Comedy a Winner.

Whether Tom Barry had in mind the total elimination of the divorce evil or just a vague, intangible something from which might be evolved a partial cure for the disease, it is difficult to say; but either way he has constructed a play that commands more than ordinary respect and points a great moral. "The Upstart" is a strong medium for the advancement of his ideal and should meet with a success even greater than "Beaucaire" or "Paid in Full."

The play is full of thrilling situations and the dialogue scintillates with spice. Epigrams roll out from the mouth of John Westley in an uncontrollable torrent, which carries the audience to crashes of laughter as he drives home the truth. Mr. Westley, as Coventry Petmore, a guest at the home of Rev. James Edward Mitchell, calls a spade a spade and carries conviction in every line. There is a world of truth in the story itself and Mr. Westley makes the most of it. He has most to do and does it well.

The story is a simple one, but its very simplicity makes it great. Rev. Mr. Mitchell is married to a beautiful young wife, whom he treats as a child. Obedience from her appears to be more desirable than affection. Frank Gillmore as the clergyman, devoted to Schopenhauer, is admirably true to life, as is Miss Charlotte Ives, as his wife. Judge Mitchell (James Lackaye) is notorious as a divorce court justice and as such is denounced by Petmore, who tells the judge that the novel scheme he intends to work will put him out of a job. Petmore to try out his novel method of curing the world of its desire to keep on separating by legal measures its married couples, arranges a daylight elopement between the dutiful wife and the judge's chauffeur. The elopement might have succeeded but for the breaking down of a motor car. The succeeding events lead to a reconciliation and better understanding between the minister and his wife and "The Upstart" scores his first victory in what promises to be a long fight.

The entire plot is original and with the splendid cast is bound to forge to the very front ranks of modern comedy. While the greatest task rests on the shoulders of Mr. Westley, every one of the six persons in the play contribute their share toward its genuine success. Miss Ives, Mr. Stuart and Mr. Lackaye all fit in splendidly, while Mr. Howard does his small part with due consideration for its actual need.

The company leaves for Chicago tomorrow, where it will undoubtedly create a sensation. Tonight will probaly be its last appearance in this city for a year at least and it is well worth seeing. The play is handsomely staged.

SOCIAL WELFARE SERVICES PLANNED AT ALL SOUL'S.

A short course of addresses on topics of the time and of a wholly undenominational character, to be given in the Unitarian church on three consecutive Sunday evenings, beginning Sunday night at 7.45 o'clock. The first speaker will be Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer, of New York city, well-known as an ardent worker for the general good and an eloquent and persuasive advocate. Mrs. Spencer's subject will be "The New Morality of Health."

The following Sunday night, the speaker will be Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Slicer, of New York city. All the speakers are authoriaties on their respective themes and the public is invited to hear them.

Anti-Saloon Workers Coming.

Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor of the local Seventh-Day Baptist church, will preach at the church of that denomination at Shiloh tomorrow. His congregation will be addressed by J. Frank Burke or E. H. Curtis, of the Anti-Saloon League. Rev. Dr. T. L. Gardner will have charge of the service. Franklin A. Langworthy will lead the prayer-meeting this evening. George L. Babcock will speak to the Junior C. E. Society tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dr. Zelie at Rescue Mission.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie gave a strong address at the Plainfield Rescue Mission last night, taking his text from Hebrews 11:4. His chief thought was that it is through weakness that the Christian is made strong, and he urged all to wax valiant in the fight.

IN AID OF ST. STEPHEN'S

Splendid Concert in Hartridge School Auditorium Last Night.

A REPRESENTATIVE AUDIENCE.

Famous Composers' Works Admirably Interpreted by Competent Artists.

The attendance at the concert in the Hartridge School auditorium last night was only limited by the seating capacity of the hall and it was the concensus of opinion that the affair, which was in aid of St. Stephen's church, was a most delightful and charming one. All the artists were in excellent voice and their contributions were received with unlimited applause.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McIntyre's magnificent piano interpretations of works by Chaminade and Rubenstein earned for them unstinted praise. The work of Mr. McIntyre and Mr. Loder, who accompanied the singers, was beyond criticism.

To do justice to the program at length would require a page of this paper, but in passing it must be said that for variety and excellence no better selection could have been made.

The quartet by Liza Lehman from "In a Persian Garden," evoked prolonged applause. Mrs. More, Miss Potter and Messrs. Young and Wheeler sang this charming music with a truly artistic touch, delightfully reminiscent of balmy days in a land of sunshine.

Mr. Young, who followed in songs by Jensen and Mary Turner Salter, was compelled to respond with an encore. Mr. Young's beautifully trained lyric voice is always charming and compelling. He has won by his sympathetic singing a warm place in the hearts of Plainfield's lovers of music.

Mr. Wheeler made a fine impression with his rendition of the Prologue from "I Pagliacci" and sang an encore number with distinction. Of Mrs. Goold nothing but the best can be said. As she has charmed her audiences before so she did last night, only more so. In a group of airy sentimental songs by Daniels, d'Hardelot and Foote, Mrs. Goold won a deserved appreciation. Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre opened part II of the program with Rubenstein's Caprice Russe and were given an ovation at its conclusion. Their technique was well nigh perfect. One need not say more.

The two most pretentious numbers on the program were the quartette from Rigoletto and the Sextette from Lucia di Lamermoor, the latter including Lewis J. Geary. Both selections were admirably rendered and evoked words of praise and high commendation from the entire audience.

Miss Mildred Potter, a contralto with magnificent range of voice and perfect control responded with generosity in an encore to "Angus MacDonald" by Roeckel. Miss Sarah More, soprano, was equally pleasing in a trio of songs as was Mr. Loder in baritone solos of a serious kind.

The concert was given under the patronage of seventy-six women and netted a goodly sum for St. Stephen's. What the amount is will not be determined until all the returns are in from those to whom tickets were mailed.

The following were the artists engaged: Edith Chapman Goold, soprano; Sarah More, soprano; Mildred Potter, contralto; John Young, tenor; Raymond Loder, baritone; Frederick Wheeler, basso; Lewis J. Geary, basso; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McIntyre, piano.

Codington Suspended.

The Supreme Court at Trenton yesterday ordered the suspension of Horace Codington, of Somerville, as a member of the New Jersey bar, pending a decision upon a writ of error taken out by Mr. Codington carrying his conviction for embezzlement to the Court of Erros and Appeals.

MISS DOROTHY FLEMING HOSTESS AT LUNCHEON

Miss Dorothy Fleming, of Park avenue, gave a luncheon at her home yesterday for Miss Grace Kaufman, who will be married on Saturday, April 16, to Francis W. Cole, of Hartford, Conn. The affair was intended for the members of the Cheerful Workers of The King's Daughters, of which Miss Kaufman is a charter member. The decorations consisted chiefly of white sweet peas. Among the guests were these members of the circle:

FREDERICK LEWIS HAS HIS BAIL BOND REDUCED

As Governor Fort has not yet set a date for the hearing in extradition proceedings of Frederick Lewis, the alleged embezzler of the Henriques estate in New York, by motion of Lewis' counsel today bail was reduced to $1,000 and the prisoner released.

Lewis has shown a disposition to remain in custody despite the fact that the time for his legal detention expired last Sunday morning. He displayed no desire to flee and in fact is quite willing to await Governor Fort's decision in the matter. He will report at police headquarters every day until the question of turning him over to the New York authorities is decided.

D. L. HULICK SERIOUSLY INJURED BY A FALL

Daniel L. Hulick lies in a precarious condition at his home, 114 Grove street, as the result of a fall while engaged at work yesterday in a saw mill at Westfield. The accident occurred about 3 o'clock in the afternoon and not until noon today did the victim recover consciousness. Mr. Hulick was brought to his home here in an automobile. Dr. J. Hervey Buchanon is in charge of the case. The injured man is unable to give any version of the accident, nor are the other employes in at the mill as no one saw him fall.

At the time of the accident Mr. Hulick was engaged in working alone in one end of the shop. It is the impression that he missed his footing and fell headlong down a steep stairway. He was found on the stairway in an unconscious condition by a workman. No bones were broken.

Last night it was not expected that Mr. Hulick would survive but at noon today Dr. Buchanan stated that he entertained hopes for his recovery. It was at first suspected that the victim was suffering with concussion of the brain.

CONCESSIONS OBTAINED BY THE BOARD OF TRADE

Announcement was made at the meeting of the Board of Trade last night that the Central Railroad officials have agreed to install telephones in the waiting rooms of the North avenue station.

The president announced that the railroad authorities had considered favorably the recommendation of the board to the effect that driveway be cut through the lawn on the east bound side of the station in order to facilitate the carriage traffic at that point.

George W. Christian reported that the Western Union Telegraph Company had arranged to keep its office open on Sundays for longer periods. The office will be open from 8 to 9 a. m., from 4 to 5 p. m., and 7 to 8 p. m.

Fire in Stillman Apartments.

A fire which had its origin in a closet in the apartments of Mrs. Helen Homan in the Stillman apartments, 308 West Front street, last night, resulted in $200 damages to the contents of the flat. The blaze was discovered at 8.45 o'clock and the prompt response of the fire department prevented a serious fire.

TALKED ON EDUCATION

School Principals Made Addresses at Board of Trade Meeting.

THEIR WORK IS EXPLAINED.

Maxson, Krebs, Groszmann, Lovell and Herr were Heard—Board by Resolution Endorses Public School Methods.

Members of the Board of Trade heard several instructive talks on education at the regular monthly meeting of the board last night. Speeches were made by Supervising Principal H. C. Krebs, of the borough school, Superintendent Henry M. Maxson, of the city schools; A. S. Herr, of the Plainfield Business College; Dr. M. Groszmann, of the Groszmann School;; and Leander N. Lovell, of the Plainfield Board of Education.

Mr. Lovell reviewed the history of the public school system from the little red schoolhouse to the present time of modern fire-proof structures. He also explained the State laws which regulate the work of school boards. In the construction of new buildings he stated that school boards are compelled to observe the different laws closely. The speaker defended the present system of curriculum and added that he agreed that is plenty of room for discussion, as to what studies should be taken up, particularly after the pupil has entered the High School.

"The problem is a growing one," said Mr. Lovell, "and as long as two men think differently, just so long will there be dissatisfaction with conditions, as they really exist." He also paid a high tribute to the teachers in the city and borough schools and congratulated the Board of Trade for interesting itself in the schools.

Dr. Maxson spoke on educational matters from a general standpoint. "The work of the Plainfield schools is well and favorably known," he said, "and we are trying to meet each phase of the situation, as it comes before us." The employment of competent teachers he held was responsible for the high standard of education.

Superintendent H. C. Krebs gave an interesting talk on the relations of teacher and pupil. He told how "bad boys in school" developed into useful members of society and had accomplished great things in the commercial and scientific world. He also dwelt on the phase of education as dealing with the individual pupil.

"A great deal of work is being done," said Mr. Krebs, "in the direction of aiding those who find it a little difficult to keep up with others in the classroom, and in the borough

FORT SIGNS SEWER BILL

Governor Approves Measure for City-Borough Disposal Plant.

FOR A JOINT COMMISSION.

Beds May Be Built at Greenbrook and Land for Purpose May Be Condemned—Full Power for Commission.

Senate bill No. 266, as amended, introduced by Senator Ernest A. Ackerman for Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, permitting Plainfield and North Plainfield and other municipalities to jointly construct a sanitary sewage system, was signed by Governor Fort this morning and is now a law.

The measure was prepared and introduced for the express purpose of allowing the city and borough to build a new sewage plant in the western end of North Plainfield township, but other adjoining municipalities may also join in the improvement. The act provides for the selection of a commission representing city and borough, and for a permanent chairman, secretary and treasurer, and also allows for a suitable place for holding meetings.

The commission representing the municipalities is given authority to purchase lands, rights of way and contract for the improvement and the cost of the same is to be paid for in the usual way, that is, the Circuit Court is to be asked to appoint a commission to assess benefits and damages, and each municipality is empowered to borrow money and issue notes and bonds for the cost of the work.

Where the commission cannot come to an agreement in the purchase of lands or rights of way condemnation proceedings may be used. The act further provides for the usual legal notices to be published in the newspapers advertising meetings to be held. The commission to assess benefits and damages is to be appointed after the completion of the work.

The measure was drawn by Craig A. Marsh and Sharred Depew, representing the city and borough respectively.

Brooklyn Pastor to Speak.

Rev. Milton F. Littlefield, a well-known Brooklyn pastor, has been secured to speak at the institute to be held at the First Baptist church, on May 9, under the auspices of the Primary Graded Sunday School Teachers' Union. He will speak in the afternoon on the subject of "The Challenge of Adolescence," and he will also speak in the evening. Miss Alice B. Hamlin, of Newark, elementary secretary, is expected to make an address in the afternoon. Supper will be served between the afternoon and evening sessions.

THE ISSUE DRAWN IN THE SPECIAL WATER ELECTION BY FORMER COUNCILMAN WILLIAN SEYMOUR TYLER

William S. Tyler, a prominent New York lawyer and a public spirited citizen of Plainfield, who has devoted much of his time to the city's interests, strongly advocates a favorable vote at the special election to be held on Tuesday, April 19. Mr. Tyler was formerly chairman of the public affairs committee of the Common Council, from which body he resigned after rendering valuable services to accept an appointment as a member of the Board of Education. In the following letter he explains the purpose of the election and why he believes it is the duty of the taxpayers to cast favorable votes:

Editor, The Daily Press:

In the matter of the water election I commend the following consideration to the voters.

If a lawyer has a complicated, difficult and perplexing case to try, his best service will be to discern the few real essentials at issue, and focus the jury's whole attention upon these. The greatest danger will be that attention will be drawn away from the real points by the fascinating interest which attaches to the study and discussion of ultimate problems which are really not in issue. The voters at this tnme are a jury and the question is one only, and very simple. Will you vote "For" or "Against" the adoption of the Water Law?

The situation is this. No water law has even been adopted in Plainfield. There is no law of the State in force in Plainfield, under which our Common Council have any powers whatever, one way or the other in the matter of water supply. They not only cannot comdemn the present works; they cannot build another plant, they cannot even buy land or sources of supply; or provide in any way for present or future needs of the city. The Water Company alone has the power to do this; and to enable the Water Company to perform this great public trust we have given them our water so that we may buy it of them.

The simple question is, What is the common-sense business way to buy that water? What shall our representatives say to the Water Company two years from now, when the present contract expires. The boy entrusted by his father with the sale of his horse, who announced to the purchaser that he was told to ask $300, but if he could not get that to sell him anyway, did not get $300.

The voters who are in favor of condemnation will vote for the adoption of the law. Those who favor building our own plant will vote for the law. Those who wish the Council to look into the subject at all, even for the future, will be disappointed as long as there is no law under which it can be done. But the voters who are opposed to municipal ownership of any kind, and want a good contract with the Water Company—Will they send a little boy with the public announcement by their votes at the polls that the boy is to make a good contract, but if he can't make a good one, to make a contract anyway, or shall we send men to represent us with the powers of men in these important negotions which are already upon us? Even the fearful bugbear of a million dollar bond issue may be safer in the hands of our own representatives, than in our far more valuable water supply in the keeping of the private business corporation to whom we have given it trustingly, while so cautiously tying the hands of our eleven councilmen.

Rev. Dr. Eaton and Others Speak at Park Avenue Church Service.

DR. VASSAR MAKES ADDRESS.

New Local Pastor Given Cordial Welcome—C. W. McCutchen Presides—Reception Follows Service.

Ministers and members of nearly all the churches in the city and borough joined last night in a recognition service and reception for Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, the new pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, and his family. It was an auspicious occasion for the Park Avenue church. The auditorium was filled with worshippers and the services were of an interesting character. All of the city and borough evangelical pastors were present, with the exception of Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church. Charles W. McCutchen, who presided, conveyed the doctor's regrets in being called away.

Seated on the platform were Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist church, New York city, through whose good offices, Mr. Maguire came to Plainfield; Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church; Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church; Rev. J. W. Musson, of the Temple Baptist church; Rev. Dr. T. E. Vassar, of Elizabeth, representing the ministers of the State, and the East New Jersey Baptist Association, and City Judge William N. Runyon, who extended the welcome to the city.

The services opened with an organ voluntary by Robert Humpstone, and an anthem by the chorus choir. Following the singing of a hymn, the Scripture lesson was read by Rev. Dr. Anderson, after which Mr. Musson offered prayer.

"This is a joyous occasion for this and other Baptist churches, as well as all other churches of the city," said Mr. Cutchen, "for it solemnizes an ecclesiastical wedding of this pastor and this people and we are here to ratify and approve the union. It is appropriate that we should do this. I now take pleasure in presenting "Bishop" T. E. Vassar, who will extend a welcome to Pastor Maguire to the State."

Dr. Vassar, who is one of the leading Baptist ministers in the State, began by saying that one hundred years ago there were four Baptist churches in Philadelphia, and recently he picked up a book which told how the members of these churches got together and prayed for the safety of a minister and his wife, who were about to go into missionary work in Ohio.

"I don't believe that Dr. Eaton found many wigwams on Euclid ave-

Combining Every Desirable Element

Our Spring Styles are upheld by young men and all men. Because the fabrics show quality, the patterns show novelty, the cut shows individuality, and every curve and line has the swing of smartness.

The merit of M. & B. Clothing lies not alone in these essentials, but also in the cleverness manifested in the combination of them—tailoring skill which assures individuality, dignity and shapeliness during the life of the garments.

It is a long time since we have shown so many attractive and exclusive patterns in suits. Grays have the preference, of course, but there is a liberal sprinkling of brown effects and blues.

Can't safely ignore a Spring Overcoat for several weeks to come. And here are some of the slickest coats you ever saw, in gray herringbone weaves and mixtures.

PARLIAMENTARY LAW FOR WOMEN AT COLONIA

Mrs. Emma Fox, of Detroit, Mich., noted woman parliamentarian and writer on the subject, will give a course of five lessons on parliamentary law and club methods at the home of Mrs. Frank Ambler Pattison, Colonia, on the afternoons of April 12 to 16, inclusive, from 4 till 6 o'clock.

Tea will be served on the afternoon of Saturday, April 16, the date of the final lesson. The cost of a ticket for the entire course will be $1.

The course is arranged for the special benefit of all clubwomen in the State, whether they belong to federated or non-federated clubs, and all other women who may be interested. Tickets may be obtained from the county chairmen of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs, in the case of Union county, Mrs. Charles R. Hoe, Cranford, N. J., or from presidents of clubs in Elizabeth and the neighboring towns.

Miss Elizabeth Cone, chairman for Middlesex county, has the arrangements in charge, and Mrs. Pattison, president of the State Federation, whose home is in Middlesex county, has hospitably offered it for this use.

Mrs. Fox gave a parliamentary drill at the annual meeting of the Federation at Atlantic City last year, which was productive of much enthusiasm among the women. To hear her and take part in the drills she conducts is valuable mental training for any women, clubwoman or otherwise.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

When "A Gentleman from Mississippi," the record-smashing comedy, which will be presented here at the Plainfield theatre, April 11, by the original company headed by Thomas A. Wise and Douglas Fairbanks direct from a three months' run in Philadelphia, is seen in this city some of the most unusual scenic features ever seen on any stage will be revealed. Act one is laid in the lobby of the International Hotel, an exact replica of a famous old hostelry in Washington, which housed the elite of the nation's capitol in the '70's. The scene is a faithful counterfeit of the original, even to such details as the old fashioned newsstand and the primitive desk. And on the desk is a register which was actually in use in the real hotel forty years ago and it contains the signatures of many of the greatest statesmen of that time. It was presented to William A. Brady and Joseph R. Grismer by the hotel management on the occasion of the premiere of "A Gentleman from Mississippi" in Washington almost two years ago.

A Vitally Important Sale of

Women's Suits and Dresses

We are reducing the price of new Spring Suits and Dresses in the very midst of the season and for no other reason than that of forcing sales. Prices have been cut to the sensational point of lowness.

Every garment involved in the underpricing is fashioned of dependably worthy and stylish materials, in the prevailing models and excellently made. They represent the very cream of the season's styles and are the very garments you'll pay regular value for after this underpricing period ends.

When we say that prices have been cut to almost half value we are not over-stepping the bounds of facts one iota. Never before have we cut and slashed prices in the midst of season since we have been in Plainfield.

To stay away from this suit and dress sale is to turn a deaf ear to a saving opportunity you'll not be offered again this season.

Prices are affected in this manner.

Re-printed from The Weekly Constitutionalist

February 22, 1872.

Impostors—A couple of young men, fine looking and well dressed, visited this city last week and succeeded in collecting quite a large sum of money, ostensibly for the benefit of the Newark Catholic Orphan Asylum, which they claimed had been destroyed by fire, but in reality for their own use.

If some one don't repair that plank walk between Cherry street and the Depot (?) on North avenue, somebody will get hurt some night, and then some one will have to pay damages, and serve some one right, too. The walk in question is as great a disgrace to our city as the depot (?) is.

March 14.

Mr. Chas. H. Bryant, of Plainfield, is about to open a news depot at Dunellen.—We can recommend him to the citizens of that place, as just the man for the business, and trust they will give him their liberal support.

L. L. Compton, the confectionerer, opens today in his new building on Front street, with a choice selection of Confectionery, Fruits, &c., unrivalled in the market.

The Warren County Democrat of last week contains the following: "The Constitutionalist says 'The Plainfield Fire Department can boast of more handsome silver presentation trumpets than any other department in the State.' Yes, and the people of Plainfield know how to blow their own trumpets, as well as any people in the State."

Tomorrow (Thursday) at 10 o'clock a. m. is the day set for the raising of the flag or liberty pole on the top of the mountain (on the Spring lot) by Wallace Vail, Esq. The public are invited to be present. The means of access to the above named spot is easy and the occasion will be one of interest to all attending.

March 21, 1872.

$4,550 was the price paid for the house and lot on Cherry street, sold at auction on Friday last by the executors of the estate of Margaret F. Randolph, and Morgan Bird was the lucky purchaser.

The new building corner of Church and Third streets is not the long talked of passenger depot, but it is the shop of Wm. Henry Haird, for the manufacture of their patent carts and all kinds of heavy wagons; they also attend to jobbing, repairing, &c. Horse shoeing a specialty. Anyone having "interfering horses" will do well to give them a call.

Fair Warning—Having come to the conclusion that it will not pay us to keep sending papers to certain subscribers, who have not paid us anything for the same for the past two, three and four years, we this week forward (once more) said parties their bills. If the amount is not paid us within two weeks from this date, their names will be dropped from our subscription roll, and their accounts placed in the hands of a justice for collection. So pay up you that receive bills, or look out.

April 4.

"Uncle Lyman Spencer," of North Plainfield, started on Tuesday last for the Beech Woods, Pennsylvania, to try his luck with the wild pigeons. May he come home loaded with game.

The office of the Plainfield Dime Savings Institution, over Pope Bros.' store, is being fitted up in fine style. This institution is in a flourishing condition.

A gentleman in Buffalo says that he is not going to renounce politics; that he has worked hard for the party for twenty years, and all had ever got was the inflammatory rheumatism.

A beautiful rainbow appeared in the western horizon this (Wednesday) morning. What is that the sign of, ye weather prophets.

Unique Punch Bowl.

An innovation in a punch bowl is one made in two pieces, so that when taken apart and the pedestal inverted, one has a pair of fruit dishes or bowls, which will be found useful many a time.

Whitening Ivory.

If a piece of ivory becomes yellow from any cause it may be perceptibly whitened by rubbing it with a piece of fine emery paper and then polishing it with chamois.

Care of Rubber Articles.

It is a wise plan to keep rubbers and all articles made of rubber in cool, dark places, as heat and sunlight have a deteriorating effect upon them.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Manley have removed from Park avenue to East Ninth street, the house formerly occupied by Mrs. J. J. Coard.

SPORTS

NEWS AND NOTES

BY GEORGE E. FIRSTBROOK

NOT ALL MAGNATES ARE MONEY CRAZED

Major league magnates are not so grasping nor so money mad as many fans and players would have you think. Some show the human interest of their character in one way and some in another. All, however, have a deep interest in the welfare of their players, and especially in those who have been in their service for years.

In the past few days two American league owners have shown their deep appreciation of past services on the diamond by releasing unconditionally men who have helped to make baseball what it is today.

Charles Comiskey, of the White Sox, has released George Davis and Frank Isbell, both of whom will remain in history as exceptionally brilliant players. Frank Farrell, of New York, has released "Wee Willie" Keeler, noted for a decade and more as a scientific hitter and a consistent one. This unconditional release may seem to some as a "knock" on a player. Nothing is further from the truth. The magnates could have sold or traded any one of the trio to a good minor league as a manager.

It was an unselfish interest that made Comiskey and Farrell let go of Isbell, Davis and Keeler without a string tied to them, as the saying goes. It is an actual reward and appreciation. As the matter stands now, they are able to go where they please on the most advantageous terms.

Anything but an unconditional release would not have let Isbell play first base on the Wichita team, of the Western league of which he is sole owner. Anything else would not have let Davis ponder over several excellent offers to become part owner and manager of crack class A clubs. It is a fact that one of the teams of the Northwest league wanted him badly. Comiskey could have reaped a neat sum on him. But he waved the money away.

Farrell kept Willie Keeler a year or so after the former star was valuable to him. He let him decorate the bench and draw down as big a salary as he ever did just to show that he held a warm spot for the man who had worked faithfully for him. Such things as these are bound to stimulate the work of the players and keep them on good terms with their bosses.

Good advice for a manager is contained in the "never let a pitcher do anything but pitch on your team." This was handed out in Chicago during the recent American league meeting by no less an authority than Fred Lake, of the Boston Doves. Many a splendid twirler has lost his cunning in the box by doing odd jobs in the infield or the outfield. Throws from these positions tend to make his lose his idea of distance and moreover hurt him as a fielding pitcher.

"Doc" White, always a winning southpaw of the White Sox, was used in centre field by Comiskey last season in a number of games, and he could not do anywhere near as good work on the mound as formerly. It is a question whether he will ever be the same mighty twirler as of old. He may make a fine fielder, for he is fast, throws fairly well to the plate and certainly is a grand fielder. But his value as a pitcher has been decreased. It is harder to get a winning southpaw pitcher than a centre fielder.

Another pitcher who went back after he started to get an idea that he could play first base, was Nick Altrock, formerly of Washington and Minneapolis, and now signed up with Jiggs Donahue's Red Sox, of the Chicago City League. Once he practiced on the initial sack, he started right in deteriorating as a twirler, and he was relegated to the minors. Even there he was not a shining success as a pitcher and now he is with the semipros, a fast drop for a once fine twirler.

An example who will be watched with great interest this season is Fred Liese, of the St. Pauls, who now belongs to the Boston Nationals. Liese was once a star twirler of the University of Wisconsin, and many big league clubs went after him. Eventually he was secured by the Cubs, who kept him for a while and then let him go to the Saints. For a few games he worked in the box he was regarded as a wonder. Then he slowed up a trifle, and, needing an outfielder, he was used in the garden. He was a pretty good man there, but seemed to have lost his knack as a twirler. It is a great question whether he will be able to switch back again, or whether his ability as a pitcher is at a discount.

Some pitchers have left the position and have become even greater in other positions. Such a man as Cy Seymour. He developed into such a fancy hitter and fielder that he startled the baseball world with Cincinnati, and it cost the New York Giants a big sum to secure him. Seymour, however, is now getting past his age of usefulness as a big leaguer. Age and big league ball seldom mix.

Joe Tinker once was a pitcher. Few fans today know that Joe once was sold for about $25. Just think of the leagues that would scramble over themselves to get Tinker for that sum today, or hundreds of times as great an amount. Ty Cobb, of the Tigers, prides himself on his ability to pitch, and he doubtless would make a fine one. For Ty is a natural player and could fit in anywhere. The same is true of Lajoie, of the Naps. It would not surprise the world if Lajoie today could win a good percentage of games in the box.

Although a pitcher may lose his knack in the box by changing positions, there is another side to the question. A pitcher's life in a league is not as long as a player in another position. When he sees that he is beginning to slow up a trifle, is it not a wise move for him to see if he can't perpetuate his years of big salaries by becoming a valuable player in another position? This side is a fair one, and upon it rests the future of the pitcher.

Every pitcher can't develop into a great umpire like Hank O'Day. So the question has its two angles—one from the manager's side and the other from the player's.

GOLF.

There will be a formal opening of the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow, although the course has been in use for a couple of weeks. The clubhouse will be thrown open for general use under the direction of Superintendent John Hilton. The regular competitions will be started later in the month and it is expected that the schedule of events will be announced soon.

The green committee of the Plainfield Country Club has been busy of late getting the course in the best condition for the summer play, and it promises to be better than ever before.

The plan of the Plainfield Country Club to have its annual field day on Saturday, May 14, is a happy one. That day will mark the opening of golf and tennis events at the club and as usual invitations will be issued to all the clubs of Plainfield.

It seems that George Pearson, the former Yountakah professional, is not going to get the Wee Burn green, after all. Ed Killick, for several seasons at Bernardsville, has been engaged for Wee Burn. Jack Tucker, for five years professional at the Louisville Country Club, has been engaged to take charge at the Norfolk Country Club, while J. Munroe has left Toronto to accept a position as "pro" at the Warren Golf Club, Warren, Penn.

PRIMER PUBLISHED FOR INSTRUCTION OF MINERS.

One government bureau at Washington—the technologic branch of the geological survey—works so quietly that the owners of the Cherry mine, in which 300 lives were unware that the branch had a force of men in Pittsburg equipped for rescue work until many hours after the disaster occurred. The branch officials were equally ignorant. Had the mine-owners and the government employees been working together many lives might have been saved, says the VanNorden Magazine for February.

Now that neglect to inform has brought about, or at least made possible, the greatest mine disaster in the history of this country, a primer has been sent out to all miners. It tells all about the use of explosives in the simplest language possible. This humanitarian work was started in July, 1908, by authorization of Congress, which appropriated $150,000 for the purpose, after there had been four explosions in coal mines in December, 1907, costing 700 lives.

Statistics showed that 2,061 miners were killed and 4,800 were injured in the coal mines in 1906, and 3,215 killed and 5,800 injured in 1907. The death rate for 1907 was 4.86 for every 1,000 men employed. In 1908, 2,450 men were killed, or 3.60 in every 1,000 employed, a reduction of 675 in the number of deaths from 1907. European countries show death rates in coal mining as low as one in every 1,000 men employed and none more than two. This excellent showing abroad is due to the establishment years ago of government stations for the investigation of problems relating to safety in mining, including the proper use of explosives.

D. Foster Updike, of Park avenue, is able to be out again after being detained at home by illness.

William Rockwell, of 344 East Front street, is seriously ill at his home. Mr. Rockwell was cashier of a Newark bank for more than thirty years and is well known in banking circles throughout the State.

Y.M.C.A. MAKES PLANS FOR CHILDREN'S PLAYGROUNDS

Desirious of doing everything in their power to further the establishment of public playgrounds in Plainfield, the directors of the Y. M. C. A. voted last night to equip the vacant lot in the rear of the Y. M. C. A. building as a children's playground and to open it as soon as possible under the direction of the physical department committee.

The action taken by the Y. M. C. A. has the approval of the city playground commission and will in no way interfere with the plans of the commission for playgrounds at the Stillman and Bryant schools. It means that another playground will be added to those already projected.

Because of the limited area of the lot, it will probably be necessary to equip it for the use of small children, six to twelve years of age. Competent supervision will be provided for them and such games and sports as have been found desirable for such children will be arranged.

The proposed play ground is easily accessible not only to the children of the city but to those residing in the borough as well. Steps are being taken to fit the grounds up immediately and it is hoped to have it ready by May 1.

DR. CALLAN INTERPRETS A SHAKESPEAR TRAGEDY

Dr. Callan interpreted the characters in "Hamlet" in a most realistic style before an interested audience at Mt. St. Mary's College last night. Women were present from this city, Westfield and Elizabeth.

With prefect ease Dr. Callan acted the subtle Claudius, now the fickle Laertes, and again the meddlesome Polonius or the noble Horatio. But, as one should expect, it was in the part of Hamlet he did his finest interpretation.

With delicate skill he delineated the virtues of Hamlet, his tenderheartedness, his honor, his self-restraint and self-sacrifice, and above all the deep pathos of his situation. The sorrow and gloom cast over his life by the treachery of his uncle, the disloyalty of his mother, the treason of his classmates and the unfaithfulness of his best beloved were ever forcibly evident in the art of the actor.

His remarks on the soliloquies of Hamlet and his advice to the players bore weight and authority. Gifted with a striking personality, a strong and musical voice and grace in gesture, he made a deep impression on all who heard him. The rapt attention and favorable reception accorded him by the students give testimony of their appreciation of his work.

school at the present time, we have our class for backward pupils." Good results are being secured by this system he declared.

Dr. Groszmann, principal of the School of Exceptional Children, told of the progress being made in the education in his institution. Mr. Herr gave a short talk on educating young people for the commercial world.

A resolution was adopted, extending a vote of confidence to the city and borough school boards for their faithful and conscientious work.

MISS MARY ROGERS THE BRIDE OF DAVID ASPINWALL.

Miss Mary Rogers, of this city, and David Aspinwall, of New York, were married at St. Mary's church, Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Rev. B. M. Bogan, the pastor, officiating in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white silk in princess style and carried a garland of bride roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Annie Rogers, her sister, wore a gown of gray. The best man was John Tobin, of New York. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shirley, of West Sixth street. Mr. and Mrs. Aspinwall will reside in New York, where the groom is engaged in business.

Dry Cleaning Talk

Gentlemen's clothes cleaned by a Cleanery with the ability nad equipments to produce first-class work, will stay clean longer, as when done by an ordinary suit presser who only brushes the surface dust off and removes the most prominent spots from the surface.

With our process the garments are thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, the linings are cleaned and spots that are removed will stay removed and do not appear again the first time the garments are exposed to the dust and grim of the street.

In the beginning it may cost a little more, but will pay at the end, as the clothes don't have to be at the cleaners every two weeks.

Phone us and our wagon will call.

GREET REV. MR. MAGUIRE

nue, Cleveland, while he was in that city. And we are reminded that that State has furnished four of our Presidents. I imagine that Mr. Maguire will be a little cramped in this State, which is only about seventy miles wide. Although Ohio has about 47,000 square miles, there are more Baptists to the square mile in New Jersey than in the Buckeye State, and there are proportionately more in Plainfield than in Cleveland.

"The Baptists have a proud record of 230 years of work in this State. It is in this State that people stay over night, the lunch room is in New York. Crowds are constantly coming over here. We have 354 Baptist churches with 64,552 members in this State, but I doubt if Dr. DeWolf would vouch for them all. Some are good, some are fairly good and some are good for nothing.

"Mr. Maguire comes here as a leader and co-helper in God's vineyard and in the name of the Baptist churches of the State I give him welcome."

In introducing the next speaker, Judge Runyon, Mr. McCutchen said that when Mr. Maguire came here he was referred to the only man of authority concerning the city, and he had reserved his decision which would now be heard.

Judge Runyon extended a welcome to Mr. Maguire on behalf of the city and he did so in his characteristic earnest manner. He said that strength is an attribute, a quality that inspires a wholesome regard, whether it be on the athletic field or at the forge.

"The church was never so much in need of strong men as today," said Judge Runyon, "when evil is abroad in the land and scandal rises like a dark cloud. There is one agency to combat this and that is the Church of God."

Rev. Dr. Herring, who gave the inter-denominational welcome, referred to the beauty of inter-denominational fellowship. "Let us be broad," said the doctor, "but let us stand on the whole Bible. The essence of true Christianity is the Kingdom of God in society, the Fatherhood of God and a higher righteousness. It makes no difference what we are so long as we believe in the great truths of Jesus Christ.

"I am here to represent the ministers of the city. The grace of God is in their hearts and there is true fellowship. I recall Dean Rodman of sweet disposition; Dr. Richards, the dignified and Dr. Lowry, who was an inspiration. I also recall that not one of the ministers on the platform tonight was here when I came to Plainfield. Mr. Maguire, I extend to you the right-hand-of-fellowship and may the blessings of God rest on you in your work here.

A vocal duet was then given by Mrs. Robert Humpstone and Bertram Tallamy.

In introducing Dr. Eaton, the next speaker, whose topic was "The Church and Its Pastor," Mr. McCutchen said: "When I hear any one speak of Cleveland, I have a warm feeling about my heart; when I meet some of the sons of Cleveland, I feel sunshiny. Dr. Eaton has made so many friends since coming to Plainfield, it seems as though he had been here twenty-five or thirty years, as Dr. Herring said of himself." Dr. Eaton responded:

"It seems like home to have Gabriel with us. I expect any moment to hear that trumpet. We are both delicate to look at, but I think you will find Mr. Maguire equal to any amount of hard work. It is with peculiar joy that I stand in this pulpit to welcome my old friend and brother and neighbor, Mr. Maguire, here in this place. I love Plainfield. I have a reason to. A year ago last October there landed in this city as sick a specimen of a Baptist preacher as you ever saw. We have to work in Cleveland, it isn't like little places such as New York and Plainfield where everyone is good.

"I was taken sick in Cleveland and I came to Plainfield. I truly believe the Lord called me here, for I knew no one in this place. The next morning I drove out and took a general survey of things. I felt that I had been here before—possibly the reincarnation of some Runyon, for I found nobdy in Plainfield much but Runyons. I made up my mind to live here.

"Plainfield is a good, wholesome place to live in, and to bring up children. Here may be found an elevation of character, a general intellectual atmosphere. Sounds like taffy. I couldn't afford to live in Plainfield, so moved out on a farm. One of the Runyons—not the Judge—asked me to charge the church. I haven't a regiment large enough to do that.

"The relationship between pastor and church is intimate and personal; therefore so mutually helpful as not to be lightly thought of. You, my brother, trust your happiness and your good name to this church; and they trust theirs to you, their pastor. I always think of a minister as distinct from other men. You go to a lawyer and you trust him to handle your affairs. You trust your physician with your life. But to a minister you entrust the diviner parts of your nature; this is a sacred trust on the part of the church.

"I rejoice that you have begun together in this holy relationship. I know Mr. Maguire—he's a man, every inch of him, and that's a good many inches. I don't care whether a minister knows who wrote the Penateuch; but is he a man? If a man, then men will listen to him, if not, his voice will be received as an echo and men will not listen to him.

"The church makes him, while he is making the church. He will get his crowd, but he wants the church's crowd; if he doesn't get this his place in the community will soon disappear. I rejoice, my brother, that you have come to this church. I know the streets of Plainfield well, I guess, as many of you who have been here more years than I have; and as I walk about, I notice wonderful development. I believe the hour has struck for the Park Avenue Baptist church. You've got a magnificent church. I believe this church is entering upon the geratest era in its history. You have a good newspaper press; they'll treat you as a white man ought to be treated. The other night I talked before a lot of men in my own church. The next day I saw in the paper what was supposed to be an account of my talk. Every two and a half lines contained a misstatement, and I soon discovered the reason for this. The reporter who had taken down my talk, told me that he was an anarchist in religion; he was a Mormon, born in Utah, his father being high up in office in the Mormon church.

"That wasn't the kind of a man to report a religious meeting. You wouldn't send a blind man to view a painting. All this occurred in New York. They haven't a lot of lunatics here in Plainfield to send out to report affairs.

"I have been impressed tonight with the note of largeness apparent in the remarks of every speaker. You do not come to the Park Avenue Baptist church, my brother, for this church alone. The work in this community is not work for one denomination, but you all swim together. If the Park Avenue church fails, it will make it harder for all the other churches. If Mr. Maguire succeeds, it will make it easier for the other churches in Plainfield.

"You cannot find a place with people more intellectual and Christlike than they are in Plainfield. We have a right to expect that powerful men will make themselves felt throughout the land. I welcome you, my dear brother. I rejoice friends of the Park Avenue church, in the leader whom God has sent you. I predict in the days to come the happiest and most useful era in your history."

Mr. Maguire made a brief and happy response. He spoke on the topic of "Liberty, Equality and Fraternity," which adorns the entrance to the legislative hall in Paris, and had something pertinent to say of each one. He said that it was with the knowledge of liberty and the desire to make others free that he came to Plainfield.

"I come here with a spirit of fraternity and love," said Mr. Maguire, "and I thank you kind friends for calling me to follow my illustrious predecessor, Dr. Lowry. I thank you all for the kind words spoken. Now is the time of harvest, the time to reap, and my prayer is that God will bless us in His work. Again I thank you for kind words of hope, encouragement and cheer."

After the service a reception was held in the parlors, when all greeted Mr. and Mrs. Maguire and their daughter. The committees in charge follow:

Pulpit, David M. Runyon, chairman; Mrs. Charles VanWinkle, George W. V. Moy, Mrs. C. K. Compton, Nelson Runyon and Theodore I. Runyon; decoration, Mrs. Charles VanWinkle; refreshment, Mrs. W. S. Lowry; waitresses, the Misses Hannah and Sara Boyd, Alice Brown, Eleanor Stutsman, Lillian Cuming and Emily Templin. A feature was selections by G. W. V. Moy's orchestra.

MASS MEETING ON WATER QUESTION THURSDAY NIGHT

Owing to the feeling that has been aroused in the subject of water supply in this city and its control by the municipality, there will be a mass meeting held in the Plainfield theatre next Thursday night to discuss the matter. The question to be raised is "What Shall We Do About It."

Deputy Water Commissioner Chas. E. Bennis, of New York city, one of the leading authorities on municipal water supply, will address the gathering as will Creswell MacLaughlin, of Cornwall-on-Hudson.

The Plainfield Protective Association is going into the subject as deeply as possible before the election on April 19, so that every citizen may be prepared to give an intelligent reason for his opinion and vote. The meetings of the executive committee of the association have been attended by engineers of proved ability who are familiar with the local situation and whose opinions will be given to the public for their information at this meeting.

Close attention to the advertisements, printed daily in this newspaper, is desirable for those who would know the true situation.

Everybody will be welcome to attend the meeting on Thursday night, April 14, and those who attend and who feel that they want more enlightment are requested to ask questions.

FREEHOLDERS FAVOR TUBERCULOSIS PAVILION

The Union County Board of Freeholders at its April meeting in Elizabeth yesterdal, took favorable action on the report of the special committee of which J. Hervey Doane is chairman, and provided the desired endorsement is obtained from the various municipalities in the county, a hospital building will be erected for the care and treatment of tuberculosis patients.

The committee was authorized to go ahead with preliminary plans, pick a suitable site and attend to other details prior to starting the actual work.

Cassett Fell Off Hay Wagon.

Henry Cassett, of West Third street, fell off a hay rig while returning from Springfield to this city yesterday. Cassett sustained a several deep gashes on his head and bruisees about the body.

Accepted $20 for Bruises.

Frank Vanneke, who assaulted Isaac Goldberg with a hammer on Wednesday night, settled the matter by paying Goldberg $20 yesterday. The complaint was withdrawn.

Miss Richards' Last Lecture.

Miss Janet Richards, of Washington, gave the last of her series of lectures on "Current Topics," before an appreciative audience at the Hartridge School, yesterday afternoon. The series of talks have been instructive and well patronized. It was through the efforts of Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, of West Eeighth street, that Miss Richards came to Plainfield.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Netherwood Reformed church held a business and social meeting at the home of Mrs. Philip Wood on George street. After the routine business session, a social hour with refreshments was enjoyed.

—P. H. Latourette, the auctioneer, will conduct a sale of real estate on Monroe avenue, next to the public school, Saturday, April 9, at 2 p. m.

—Special fancy fruit on display at Neuman Brothers tomorrow will include strawberries, pineapple, grape fruit, oranges, red bananas, cooking apples and table apples.

—In a special Plainfield edition of the Suburbanite issued today by the Central Railroad of New Jersey is a series of photographs showing picturesque sections of this city and a number of its handsome homes.

A Maker Let Us Have These
Women's Coats for Little

THEY WERE HIS SAMPLES; PRICES ARE NOW HALF.

If we had bought these coats in the regular way for regular stock we would have had to sell them at the higher prices quoted as the values below; but they were samples and had served their purpose for the maker, and he let us have them at a little price so that while we lose nothing in selling them so cheaply you save just about half.

Splendid coats every one of them, and there is a wide range of the most fashionable styles that have come out this season—made of such popular materials as Pongee, Taffeta, Peau de Soie, Lace, Braid, Broadcloth, Serge, Covert, and Fancy Mixtures; some trimmed with braids, others with moire silks, others with embroideries.

Coats worth to $10.50 at.....$5.50
Coats worth to $15.00 at.....$7.50

Table Linens, Towels, White Goods, Ginghams, Underwear and Hosiery at PUTNAM & DEGRAW'S

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

Several changes have been made in the circus at the New York Hippodrome. A number of new acts have been added, amongst them may be mentioned Strongfort, who is billed as the perfect man and who justifies his claim to the title, at least to the extent of an extremely fine physique. In his "Poses Plastique" he shows to good advantage a splendidly developed body and the culmination of his act is a feat of strength of somewhat unusual order, i. e., Strongfort holds up by means of his body, a bridge over which a 40-horse power automobile containing six passengers and a chauffeur passess at ful speed. There are ten acts in the complete circus program, besides the three big spectacles "A Trip to Japan," "The Ballet of Jewels" and "Inside the Earth." The tribe of Marois are still on the bill in their interesting dances and on the whole the Hippodrome show has never been bigger nor better than this year, which is attested by continued capacity business twice a day.

Speed Not Required.

"You are getting too fat to run well," remarked a citizen to Tax Collector Shelly the other day.

"I hope to win in a walk," remarked that jovial country official.—Cuthbert (Ga.) Leader.

The Dose He Preferred.

CROSSED BANDS.

There is at present in Paris a vogue for spiral effects and crossed bands, and tespecially does this idea seem exemplified in afternoon and evening gowns.

Broad bands of gulphur are used like ribbon or in the nature of a sash, while embroidery of breath-taking magnificence (and consequent expense) is used on nearly all costumes that make any pretense to dressiness.

There is no denying the fact that the sashes used by some misguided dressmakers to tie in the fulness of the skirts above the ankles, curtailing any graceful, easy movement and producing a precariously small base for the standing figure, have had their day. But sashes and wide, ornamental bands can be made to give graceful ines to the figure and in no way impede a natural locomotion. Then it is good news that the great minds of the Parisian world of fashion have been sufficiently impressed with the idea to incorporate it in the scheme of many of their latest creations.

Stuffed Tripe.

Cut the tripe in long strips and boil in salted water until tender. Make a stuffing as for roast turkey or chicken; sperad it thin on the strips of tripe, roll each up and hold in place with a wooden toothpick. Arrange the rolls in a buttered pan and bake till done. This dish is delicious either hot or cold.

EAT AND GET THIN

This is turning an old phrase face about but modern methods of reducing fat have made this revision possible.

If you are overfat and also averse to physical exertion and likewise fond of the table and still want to reduce your excess flesh several pounds, do this: Go to your druggist (or write the Marmola Co., 988 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.) and give him (or send them) 75 cents. For this modest amount of money the druggist will put you in the way of satisfying your ambition for a nice, trim, slim figure. He will hand you a large case of Marmola Prescription Tablets (compounded in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription), one of which you must take after each meal and at bedtime until you begin to lose your fat at the rate of 12 to 16 ounces a day. That is all. Just go on eating what you like, leave exercising to the athletes, but take your little tablet faithfully and without a doubt that flabby flesh will quickly take unto itself wings, leaving behind it your natural self, neatly clothed in firm flesh and trim muscles.

A. G. HOOLEY'S DOGS KEEP WINNING PRIZES

At the Mississippi Valley Kennel Club show, held in St. Louis, Mo., last week at which a large number of the finest setters of the south and west are exhibited, the Meadowview Kennels showed a new young dog, "Meadowview-Gleam-O'Dawn," only ten months old, who won first puppy, first novice, first limit, first open American bred, first open, first winners, and special for best setter in the show. "May Bell," of the same kennel, the bitch that won the special at Pittsburg for best setter, won firs open American bred, first open, first winners, and special for best English setter bitch.

"Gleam-O'Dawn" and "May Bell" won first brace in setters and were reserved for best brace in show over all the different breeds exhibited.

From St. Louis show they were taken to the Cincinnati Kennel Club show at Cincinnati, Ohio, where they yesterday repeated their St. Louis winnings, "Gleam-O'Dawn" getting first limit, first open and special for best setter in show; while "May Bell" won first open and first winner and with "Gleam-O'Dawn" won first brace class.

English setter breeders and experts who have seen and examined this brace consider them the two best English setters in America today, and as it is understood that England's best has been imported to this country it would seem to make these the champion brace of the world.

Music at the City Market.

An attraction at the City Market tomorrow afternoon and evening will be orchestral music. In the afternoon there will be piano and violin music, Mrs. Violetta Staples being the violinist. In the evening Allen F. J. Squires' orchestra of three pieces will render a fine program.

Miss Emma Gifford, an instructor in the Passaic public schools, visited the borough high school this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Marshall, who formerly resided on Grant avenue, but who have been boarding for some time, have decided to resume housekeeping at 322 East Front street.

THE FORUM.

Replies to Mr. Hand.

Editor, The Daily Press:

I take this opportunity of replying to the letter of Mr. Charles H. Hand, which appeared in your issue of April 7. My answer is in the order in which the gentleman arranged his remarks.

First. If the city owns its water plant, it will be able to sell to the adjoinining municipalities and by owning a plant, it would not have to necessarily own the present plant. A city water plant would break the water monopoly.

Second. The city may be deprived of the income of $6,000 from the present water company, but it will save $11,000 which is now pays to that company for water for city purposes and unless the water company were to get out of business, the city would still continue to collect taxes from it.

Third. The suggestion that the price which should be paid under condemnation proceedings for the present water plant is a million and a half or even a million, is bosh and was cleverly launched upon the unsuspecting public by someone, I do not know who, and Mr. Hand like myself, has heard about it. It will cost much less than a million dollars in all probability to build a suitable city water plant. Then, we are not so much interested in supplying other muncipalities as we are in seeing that other municipalities are not supplied with our water and if it continues, we will have to some day go short. The water plant and the bonds which would have to be issued to pay for it, unlike other public improvements, is a paying proposition and will undoubtedly bring in a handsome return to the city which will enable the city to pay the interest and retire the bonds in a short term of years. Anyway, the city's responsibility will be a fixed quantity measured by a defined legal obligation and the monopoly of water will be in the hands of the people, whereas, under the present arrangement, the city's liability, while fixed until May 1, 1912, is mere conjecture, uncertain and the monopoly is owned by private interests. Mr. Hand surely does not want to figure for the water company that it is not making money. Such a presentation of the company's side of the case would not be accepted by the people seriously.

Any bonds for the payment of a water plant can not be added to the city's debt, so that eliminates Mr. Hand's objection in that respect. Why? Because it is a public necessity.

The balance of Mr. Hand's letter which refers to arc lights, collection of ashes and garbage, police department, etc., are all right but are irrelevant and have no bearing, whatever, on the water question. My reasons for supporting a favorable vote by the people on the 19th day of April are:

First. That without such a vote, the Council is powerless to do anything regarding the water question.

Second. That the trust of the people of Plainfield should be lodged in the City Council, for we can unload an unfit City Council, but we cannot unload a water octopus.

Third. That the Council will not be compelled to accept the findings of the Court in condemnation proceedings.

Fourth. That the installation of a municipal water plant will break the water monopoly.

Fifth. That water is a public necessity and should not be capitalized by private interests.

Sixth. That the water of Plainfield is now being sold to the municipalities of Westfield, Cranford, Roselle, Elmora and Elizabeth and that these places are rapidly building up and the additional demand for water jeoparizes and imperils the supply for this city and will place Plainfield in a position wheer it will have to compete with these municipalities for the privilege of purchasing its own water.

Seventh. Water, unlike any other public utility, brings in a large income and will not only carry itself, but provide a sinking fund for enough to redeem it in a short term of years.

Eighth. It will save the city $11,000 a year which it now pays for water for city purposes.

Ninth. That it is rediculous to assume that the present water company is not making money.

Tenth. That if condemnation proceedings were instituted and the relative value ascertained, it would result in our getting more taxes out of the water company and that in itself would be a sufficient reason why the people should vote in favor of the Council proceeding to take up the matter.

Eleventh. If through condemnation proceedings, the city finds that the company has been making a lot of money, the court in fixing the price would probably recognize that and it would materially reduce the price which the court would fix for the purchase of the water plant.

Twelfth. That the natural law is specifis and decrees that water is essential to human life. The human law which the wiseacres have invented say: "Pay your water tax, or do without water." My personal opinion is that under a proper administration of government, and equitable, economic conditions, water should be supplied by the authorities to the people in abundance free of charge and that the nearest we can get to that condition at present, will be for the city to operate is owa water plant which will undoubtedly result in lowering the charges for water.

WILLIAM JEFFERY.

P. S.—I have no personal grievance against the water company or any of its officers and believe them to be as good gentlemen as are engaged in other business. My position is, that water being a public necessity, should be controlled and operated by the people and not by private interests for profit.

TO FIX CITY BUDGET NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

The Common Council will hold an adjourned meeting Monday night to pass upon the tax budget for the coming year. According to the best of information the total amount is not likely to be in excess of that of last year, which was $396,000. Some few departments will probably get a little more money, and if the finance committee can cut down the appropriations they will do so. It is said that the poor department wants an extra $500, making $7,000 in all, and that the fire and street departments are likely to get an additional sum.

Last year the street department received $34,000 and the fire department got about the same, and it is said that both will ask for a little more money to meet certain needed improvements. It is not known what the police department will get. Last year the appropriation was $28,000.

The finance committee with City Treasurer W. F. Arnold will hold a meeting tonight or tomorrow night to go over the various amounts and prepare the budget for presentation on Monday night. It is the policy of the committee this year to keep the municipal expenses down and for that reason is particularly anxious not to exceed last year's total amount Of course, the county and school tax has to be reckoned with and the exact figures cannot be determined until th e county and school amount is learned.

$500 for Tuberculosis Work.

The Easter Mart which was concluded at Grace church parish house, last night, was a great success, and it is expected that nearly $500 will be realized as profit for the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

As the Romans Did.

Anyone who has made a trip to sea has seen the ingenious, propeller-shaped appliance which is thrown overboard at the end of a long cord, and by means of which the officers get an approximate idea of their speed. This is not a new idea, for in ancient times the Romans had a similar appliance for ascertaining their rate of progress at sea. They dragged little paddle-wheels behind their ships, the revolutions of which enabled them to estimate the distance which the ship had traveled.

A Gentleman.

A gentleman is consistent, not changeless. A gentleman straightens his robe and settles his face. He is stern and men look upon him with dread. Few or many, small or great, all is one to a gentleman; he dare not slight any man. He will banish from his bearing violence and levity, from his speech the low and unfair.—Confucius.

Don't Mention It.

The politest man in Boston collided violently with another man on the street. The second man was angry. "My dear sir," said the polite one with a bow, "I don't know which of us is to blame for this encounter. If I ran into you, I beg your pardon; if you ran into me, don't mention it."—Success Magazine.

Reason for Her Choice.

"Yes, I love both Santa Claus an' Jesus," a good little sister instructed her curious junior, "but I think I love Jesus best, 'cause he don't never ask if you've been good before he leaves you presents, an' Santa," voicing a disillusion, "when you grow big like me, you find he ain't never been true!"

Life.

Life is too short. We ought to have one life to love, one life for learning, and another to do good deeds. As it is, one is almost forced to give up learning if one wants to love, and if you want knowledge, you must give up love. This is cruel.—Ernest Renan.

A Poet's Estate.

After 57 years, the Russian courts have settled up the estate of the poet Gogol, celebrated in his day as a writer of lyrics. The poet died of hunger, kneeling before an ikon. The estate is valued at 43 roubles and 88 kopecks, or about $21.50.

Dead Perfection.

We heard it said of a certain man lately that he had no vices. He should get some. Every man should have a vice or two. Being a member of a lodge and wearing plumes and badges is better than perfection.—Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

Difference in Laughter.

A good honest laugh at a good honest joke or bit of sarcasm rubs out the gathering wrinkles of care; but an ill-tempered joke, is like a poisoned arrow, which makes a wound, and leaves its poison after it is withdrawn.

The Chief Surprise.

A New Jersey man found $5,000 in a Bible which his grandmother gave him 35 years ago. What makes the incident remarkable is, of course, that he found the money at all.—Atlantic Journal.

Two Changes Possible.

"When a man has a rip in his coat and only three buttons on his vest," writes a western sage, "he should do one of two things; either get married or get divorced."

Discontent in Idleness.

There is no satisfaction—only misery—in idleness. The woman or man who makes no practical use of leisure hours is almost invariably discontented.

Unprofitable.

Offhand we should venture to pass the remark that counterfeiting is about the worst paid profession in the catalogue.

Keep at It.

Keep your light a-burning. Lots of things do not seem to be worth while, but it is not safe to look at them in just that way. Keep on doing.

It Doesn't Appeal to Him.

The man who has no sons is always slow to accept the theory that boys will be boys as a good excuse.

Domestic Financiering

They sat in front of the open fire. The only light in the room was that of the flames. It was just the right setting to invite confidence.

"Now tell me all about him," said the young married woman to the engaged girl, as she stirred the fire.

"Oh, he's perfectly lovely—" began the engaged girl.

"Of course," interrupted the young married woman. "He is so much like my Jack."

"Oh, he isn't a bit like Jack—"

"Indeed!" The married woman stiffened perceptibly

"I didn't mean it that way," protested the engaged girl. "They are both the very nicest men in the world—only different. We are to be married very soon and I wanted to ask you about the expenses of a flat."

"Yes, I can tell you all about it," said the molified young married woman. "Jack says I am the best manager he ever saw—best at spending and best at saving. It sounds paradoxical, doesn't it? Now I am going to confide our secret to you, though Jack says, 'Let's not let the world know.' So you musn't tell any one."

"You can rely on me," said the engaged girl. "That is, of course, I'll tell Harry."

"First, let me advise you to learn to manage your husband," counseled the young married woman, sagely. "This part, of course, you mustn't tell Harry. Let all important suggestions come from him. If you need a new hat tell him he looks so nice that you hope he won't be ashamed to go out with you in your old hat—that you just can't afford a new one—and see what will happen. Second, don't economize—"

"But we'll have to," said the engaged girl. "We must be very careful the first year."

"Beware! That will be a precedent he'll always expect you to live up to. Don't do it. You can save money another way—our way. The usual trouble with a bride is that she makes the grocery bill so small at first her husband thinks it is economy to be married and so he allows himself more cigars than ever.

"As for clothes! Women make over their trousseau until a man thinks dresses and hats grow on trees. No, my dear, that isn't the way. It is much easier to get money when you are first married than it will be later. I know mamma always had to wait until winter for her summer clothes and then it would be warm weather before she got her winter outfit."

"I can do my own sewing and I am learning to make bread—"

"Stuff and nonsense! Not that I don't believe in learning to cook—Jack encouraged my going to a domestic science school as soon as we began to keep house. Mamma's experience was so different. They didn't have the domestic science schools in her day and she said she cried every meal the first year she was married. Papa's mother was a splendid cook and for a long time mamma just couldn't get the knack. But, as I was telling you, learned to make rarebits, salad dressing and wine sauces first. Of course, Jack asked why they didn't teach us to make bread and to roast meat; but what is the use of learning to make those common things when one can always buy them? At first I did try, but soon I just took to buying everything except my souffles—"

"But the expense?"

"Jack doesn't mind if they do cost a trifle more. He says he thanks his stars there are plenty of delicatessen stores. Anyway, we are saving so much money that the extra cost of food doesn't worry us.

"Jack is so good about giving me all he earns—every cent. I save it all and buy what I want on credit. Jack didn't know at first that I had the money put away in an old trunk.

"When the bills began to come in thick and fast he laughed—that is, at first; then he scolded and I—cried. That made him feel so like a brute that he said I could charge anything I wanted to, though goodness knows how he could pay the bills. Then I told him I was saving his money—"

"I don't think Harry would want me to charge things," said the engaged girl, doubtfully.

"When I explained it to Jack he thought me a perfect wonder. 'Give me the cash for the grocer,' said he, 'and I'll give you a nice new bank check for the amount and you may keep it as long as you want to—the longer the better.'

"I told him I would keep all the checks he gave me until we had been married 25 years. He was so pleased! Now he writes me extra big checks every month and takes the cash to pay the bills. I keep the checks safely.

"So we have everything we want and save a lot, too. It isn't necessary to economize—that is, if Harry is half as generous with his bank checks as Jack is."

What Worried Him.

"You look worried, Biffkins."

"I am."

"Somebody ill at home?"

"No."

"Business isn't what it should be, eh?"

"That ain't it."

"Well, then, what worries you?"

"I was just wondering how it's going to be possible to heat them aeroplanes in the winter."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

IT MADE A DIFFERENCE

The young woman in the pretty gown and displaying the becoming style of coiffure surveyed with some perplexity the young man who supposedly called on her because he wanted to gaze into her eyes and listen to her well-modulated voice. He was doing neither, however.

Ever since his arrival he had been burrowing in a heap of back numbers of a magazine popularly deemed attractive only to feminine intellects.

"For goodness' sake, Albert," she broke forth at last, "what on earth causes you to be so fascinated by those magazines? What's the trouble?"

"I was just looking at the pictures," explained the young man, earnestly. "They print such splendid views of houses sometimes. I was hunting them up."

"Houses!" cried the young woman. "I didn't know you were interested in architecture!"

"Oh," said the young man, "I'm not—just as architecture. But I was trying to see if any one had any really clever ideas, you know, as to plans. Sometimes another fellow will come out with exactly the thing you have in mind and can't just figure out yourself."

"But why are you so interested in houses?" demanded the young woman, a little bored.

"Well, you see," said the young man, "I've had a lot for a good long time out in a suburb and I rather thought maybe I'd put up a house on it. You can always—er—rent a house, you know. It seems to me like a good way to invest money. Doesn't it to you?"

"Why, I suppose so," said the young woman, disinterestedly. "I don't know much about those things when you come right down to it—investments, I mean."

"Well, you'd know about a house, wouldn't you?" asked the young man, anxiously. "Whether it was right—and all that—things a man would never think about. You see, if I put one up I don't want it to be a failure. You could sort of advise me, couldn't you?"

The young woman wrinkled her brow delicately and strove to appear polite. It was difficult because she was a little resentful that he had not noticed the gown she had put on especially for his benefit.

"Goodness!" she cried. "My advice isn't worth anything! How could I tell?"

"Couldn't you tell from the plans?" inquired the young man.

"Those things always make my head ache," protested the young woman. "Like railway timetables and propositions in geometry, I can't make any sense out of them! Why don't you buy bonds or stocks or something like that? Then you won't have to bother. Isn't there always an awful lot of trouble about owning houses?"

"Oh, I don't know," said the young man, a trifle gloomily. "I'd rather build a house than buy bonds. I—er—oh, I can make a lot more out of it! This seems to be a nice house—look here!"

"Ye-e-s," said the young woman after glancing at the plan. "But isn't it awfully small? Only six rooms!"

"That isn't so terribly little!" protested the young man. "There's lots more room in a six-room house than a six-room flat, for example. Still, I don't like that hall. I like a good-sized hall that looks inviting when you come in—don't you?"

"I don't see," said the young woman a bit irritatedly, "why you should bother much about whether it's inviting or not when you're going to rent it. People rent anything. What do you care?"

The young man looked still more gloomy. "Oh, I like to have things right," he said. "Do you think the bungalow style is more convenient or is an upstairs better? And is a porch on the side preferable to one right in front where everybody can break in on you when you're in the hammock, reading?"

"Mercy! I don't know!" cried the young woman. "Please talk to me and put down those old magazines!"

The young man discarded the literature. "There's nothing in them anyhow," he said. "That is, nothing I like any better than my own plan. You see, I've been sort of figuring it out in odd moments and have drawn up one of my own." He drew a carefully folded paper from his pocket and spread it out on the table. "It's like this—can't you take this chair where I can explain it to you?"

The young woman came over to the table with the air of a polite martyr.

"Oh, yes," she said after a little scrutiny, "that's very nice, I'm sure. Yes, I'd build it if I were you. I didn't know you had a lot."

"You don't seem interested in my house," said the young man in an injured tone.

"Why, yes, I am," declared the young woman, wandering away to the other side of the room.

"I had kind of hoped you would be," went on the young man slowly, fingering his pencil nervously, "because—well, you see, Adele, I've been hoping for so long now, that some time—when I asked you—you'd say yes—and the little house was to be—ours, you know!"

There was a little rush and the young woman stood beside him. "Why—I didn't know—I didn't understand—give me those plans! Why, it's a perfectly beautiful house!"

Proposals for School Supplies

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, N. J., at a meeting held April 4th, 1910, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Monday evening, April 18th, 1910, at eight o'clock, at the Board room in the High School building, corner Ninth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for furnishing school supplies for the ensuing school year, commencing July 1, 1910, a list of which can be obtained at the office of the Board. All proposals to be endorsed, "Proposals for School Supplies" and addressed to the Secretary of the Board.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals, the Secretary will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided such parties or their agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board. No bids will be received previous to the hour designated, and none will be received thereafter. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

For the Board of Education.

Edison Records Repairs

Do you realize that Spring is here, and within a few days you will be forced to lay aside your heavy garments for those more suitable?

Why not prepare yourself for the change of climate, and place your order now for a strictly high-class tailored light weight suit or overcoat. It takes time to make good clothes and make them right; therefore, an early call will prove profitable to you.

If you are particular about your clothes, here is the place for you to get finest materials, keen craftsmanship, and perfect fit at a price in keeping with your purse.

Fancy striped blues, plain blues, conservative grays, and the much talked about cassimeres and tweeds are well represented amongst the complete line now awaiting your inspection.

REAL INDUSTRIOUS.

"You lazy man!" said the irate housewife, shaking her broom; "what do you mean by stretching out under that tree for two hours? You told me if I gave you two or three of my husband's best cigars you would do some work."

"Well, mum, can't yer see I am working wid might an' main?" drawled Sandy Pikes, as he blew a series of blue rings over his head.

"Working? What are you doing?"

"Why, mum, I'm killing de caterpillars in dis tree. If yer'll get me several more of dem good cigars, I'll kill all de caterpillars in de orchard."

The Cynical Bachelor.

"And you do not understand women?" asked the pretty girl.

"I must confess that I do not," responded the confirmed bachelor.

"Well, the way to win a woman is to tell her that you will do anything for her that is reasonable. You know what happens then?"

"She asks you in the next breath something that is unreasonable."

A Library de Luxe.

"You have a very handsome library," said the admiring friend.

"Yes," answered Mr. Cumrox.

"I'm sure you never allow the dust to gather on an interesting collection like that."

"No. The servants are kept so busy dusting the books that I never get a chance to read 'em."

Almost a Break.

"Why don't you ever wear a low cut dress?"

"The weather is changeable, and I'm so delicate."

"But your sister wears extreme decollete."

"Yes; she's indel—I mean she's not delicate at all."

Misunderstood.

"The hired girl ate the pie I made for you."

"Never mind, we will advertise for another."

"Who ever heard of advertising for a pie!"

"I meant another girl, not another pie."

A FOGY'S OPINION.

She—So you don't approve of the airship?

He—I won't say that; but I must admit I can't quite see the need of it when steamships, railways and automobiles already afford such extensive opportunities for risking life.

Doze Time.

I dearly love my little bed,
Its comforts never scorning;
But most of all—Oh, sleepy-head!—
I love it in the morning.

Fault of the Cows.

"See here," protested the housewife, "there is water in the milk you bring us."

"I can't help it, ma'am," replied the milkman. "My cows are all temperance advocates, and they will drink water in spite of all I can do."

The Usual Limit.

"I suppose," said the cynical bachelor to the young bride, "that your husband's love is fiery hot."

"Well," admitted the bride, "'taint so hot that it will kindle the morning fire."

A Trifle Miffed.

"I've been owing you a call for the past three years," began the lady of the first part.

"Never mind about paying it," responded the lady of the second part. "The debt is outlawed now."

Paradoxical.

"She walks with an unnatural bend."

"Yes. That seems to be her natural bent."

A Misunderstanding.

Ella—Bella married an octogenarian.

Stella—I don't think that a girl ought to change her religion for a man.

Must Be Something.

Hewitt—Gruet hasn't an enemy in the world.

Jewett—What's the matter with the man?

Obvious Inspiration.

"Never trust a woman," says an eastern writer. We wonder how long he was engaged to her before she threw him over.

Not to Be Outclassed.

Jimmie—It isn't always easy for a man to win in a contest of brains.

Janie—You might, if the contest were in the feather-weight class.

The Man in Lower Ten

By Mary Roberts Rinehart
Author of
The Circular Staircase

Illustrations by M. J. KETTNER

(Copyright, by Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

"Not a drop until you tell me," I said grimly. "Besides, you know very well there's nothing the matter with me. This arm of mine is only a false belief." I sat up gingerly. "Now—why don't you open that window?"

Mrs. Klopton succumbed. "Because there are queer goings-on in that house next door," she said. "If you will take the beef tea, Mr. Lawrence, I will tell you."

The queer goings-on, however, proved to be slightly disappointing. It seemed that after I left on Friday night, a light was seen flitting fitfully through the empty house next door. Euphemia had seen it first and called Mrs. Klopton. Together they had watched it breathlessly until it disappeared on the lower floor.

"You should have been a writer of ghost stories," I said, giving my pillows a thump. "And so it was flitting flitfully!"

"That's what it was doing," she reiterated. Fitting flitfully—I mean flitting fitfully—how you do throw one out, Mr. Lawrence! And what's more, it came again!"

"Oh, come now, Mrs. Klopton," I objected, "ghosts are like lightning; they never strike twice in the same night. That is only worth half a cup of beef tea."

"You may ask Euphemia," she retorted with dignity. "Not more than an hour after, there was a light there again. We saw it through the chinks of the shutters. Only—this time it began at the lower floor and climbed!"

"You oughtn't to tell ghost stories at night," came McKnight's voice from the doorway. "Really, Mrs. Klopton, I'm amazed at you. You old duffer! I've got to thank you for the worst day of my life."

Mrs. Klopton gulped. Then realizing that the "old duffer" was meant for me, she took her empty cup and went out muttering.

"The Pirate's crazy about me, isn't she?" McKnight said to the closing door. Then he swung around and held out his hand.

"By Jove," he said, "I've been laying you out all day, lilies on the doorbell, black gloves, everything. If you had had the sense of a mosquito in a snowstorm, you would have telephoned me."

"I never even thought of it." I was filled with remorse. "Upon my word, Rich, I hadn't an idea beyond getting away from that place. If you had seen what I saw—"

McKnight stopped me. "Seen it! Why, you lunatic, I've been digging for you all day in the ruins. I've lunched and dined on horrors. Give me something to rinse them down, Lollie."

He had fished the key of the cellarette from its hiding place in my shoe bag and was mixing himself what he called a Bernard Shaw—a foundation of brandy and soda, with a little of everything else in sight to give it snap. Now that I saw him clearly, he looked weary and grimy. I hated to tell him what I knew he was waiting to hear, but there was no use wading in by inches. I ducked and got it over.

"The notes are gone, Rich," I said, as quietly as I could. In spite of himself his face fell.

"I—of course I expected it," he said. "But—Mrs. Klopton said over the telephone that you had brought home a grip and I hoped—well, Lord knows we ought not to complain. You're here, damaged, but here." He lifted his glass. "Happy days, old man!"

"If you will give me that black bottle and teaspoon, I'll drink that in arnica, or whatever the stuff is; Rich—the notes were gone before the wreck!"

He wheeled and stared at me, the bottle in his hand. "Lost, strayed or stolen?" he queried with forced lightness.

"Stolen, although I believe the theft was incidental to something else."

Mrs. Klopton came in at that moment, with an egg-nog in her hand. She glanced at the clock, and, without addressing any one in particular, she intimated that it was time for self-respecting folks to be at home in bed. McKnight, who could never resist a fling at her back, spoke to me in a stage whisper.

"Is she talking still? or again?" he asked, just before the door closed. There was a second's indecision with the knob, then, judging discretion the better part, Mrs. Klopton went away.

"Now, then," McKnight said, settling himself in a chair beside the bed, "spit it out. Not the wreck—I know all I want about that. But the theft. I can tell you beforehand that it was a woman."

I had crawled painfully out of bed, and was in the act of pouring the egg-nog down the pipe of the washstand. I paused, with the glass in the air.

"A woman!" I repeated, startled. "What makes you think that?"

"You don't know the first principles of a good detective yarn," he said scornfully. "Of course, it was the woman in the empty house next door. You said it was brass pipes, you will remember. Well—on with the dance; let joy be unconfined."

So—I told the story; I had told it so many times that day that I did it automatically. And I told about the girl with the bronze hair, and my suspicions. But I did not mention Alison West. McKnight listened to the end without interruption. When I had finished he drew a long breath.

"Well!" he said. "That's something of a mess, isn't it? If you can only prove your mild and childlike disposition, they couldn't hold you for the murder—which is a regular ten-twenty-thirt crime, anyhow. But the notes—that's different. They are not burned, anyhow. Your man wasn't on the train—therefore, he wasn't in the wreck. If he didn't know what he was taking, as you seem to think, he probably reads the papers, and unless he is a fathead he's awake by this time to what he's got. He'll try to sell them to Bronson, probably."

"Or to us," I put in.

We said nothing for a few minutes. McKnight smoked a cigarette and stared at a photograph of Candida over the mantel. Candida is the best pony for a heavy mount in seven states.

"I didn't go to Richmond," he observed finally. The remark followed my own thoughts so closely that I started. "Miss West is not home yet from Seal Harbor."

Receiving no response, he lapsed again into thoughtful silence. Mrs. Klopton came in just as the clock struck one, and made preparation for the night by putting a large gaudy comfortable into an arm chair in the dressing room, with a smaller, stiff-backed chair for her feet. She was wonderfully attired in a dressing gown that was reminiscent, in parts, of all the ones she had given me for a half dozen Christmases, and she had a purple veil wrapped around her head, to hide heaven knows what deficiency. She examined the empty egg-nog glass, inquired what the evening paper had said about the weather, and then stalked into the dressing room, and preparmed, with much ostentatious creaking, to sit up all night.

We fell silent again, while McKnight traced a rough outline of the berths on the white tablecover, and puzzled it out slowly. It was something like this:

"You think he changed the tags on seven and nine, so that when you went back to bed you thought you were crawling into nine, when it was really seven, eh?"

"Probably—yes."

"Then toward morning, when everybody was asleep, your theory is that he changed the numbers again and left the train."

"I can't think of any thing else," I replied wearily.

"Jove, what a game of bridge that fellow would play! It was like finessing an eight-spot and winning out. They would scarcely have doubted you had the tags been reversed in the morning. He certainly left you in a bad way. Not a jury in the country would stand out against the stains, the stiletto, and the murdered man's pocket-book in your possession."

"Then you think Sullivan did it?" I asked.

"Of course," said McKnight confidently. "Unless you did it in your sleep. Look at the stains on his pillow, and the dirk stuck into it. And didn't he have the man Harrington's pocket-book?"

"But why did he go off without the money?" I persisted. "And where does the bronze-haired girl come in?"

"Search me," McKnight retorted flippantly. "Inflammation of the imagination on your part."

"Then there is the piece of telegram. It said lower ten, car seven. It's extremely likely that she had it. That telegram was about me, Richey."

"I'm getting a headache," he said, putting out his cigarette against the sole of his shoe. "All I'm certain of just now is that if there hadn't been a wreck, by this time you'd be sitting in an eight by ten cell, and feeling like the rhyme for it."

"But listen to this," I contended, as he picked up his hat, "this fellow Sullivan is a fugitive, and he's a lot more likely to make advances to Bronson than to us. We could have the case continued, release Bronson on bail and set a watch on him."

"Not my watch," McKnight protested. "It's a family heirloom."

The Prodigal Uncle

By HAROLD CARTER

It was during the second term in the penitentiary that the great plan first came into Jim Byers' head. At first it was only a thought that stole upon him during the night, while he tossed uneasily upon his plain bed; then a desire; suddenly a mighty and overwhelming passion which must be fulfilled.

When he was freed prison societies came to him and offered him help. But he refused and started on his tramp eastward with the little money that he had earned. First he must fulfill his determination.

It was 150 miles up state to the old home where his brother—the rich man—still lived. Walter had stayed at home and prospered, and was always spoken of as a prospective millionaire, while he, the outcast, the prodigal, the jailbird, the broken man, tramped eastward along the railroad line for that first reunion after 15 years of absence and silence.

It was his absolute determination to meet his brother face to face and kill him, kill him as calmly and remorselessly as he himself had once killed cattle in the slaughter yards, because he had prospered while he was starving. What would come afterward he did not think or care.

For five nights and days he tramped along the railroad line, exulting at each remembered landmark for the vengeance which was to come to him. A dusty tramp, disheveled, torn, a few coins dancing in his pockets as he tripped from tie to tie, the knife hidden in his sleeve which was to absolve his debt of hatred. In this wise he reached the little village.

He stood still, rubbing his eyes in wonder. This his home site? Why, here was a factory town, with smoke belching from the tops of 20 tall chimneys.

Did anybody remember the old Byers homestead?

Yes, the saloonkeeper remembered it. But he did not remember Jim in his tramp's clothes, with prison pallor upon his face. It had been sold and pulled down these ten years or more. Walter Byers? Why, that was the Byers' home, that red brick building on the hill yonder. He might get a job there possibly. Mr. Byers was always in need of hands in his factory.

Slowly Jim turned his face toward his brother's house and toiled up the hill painfully. No matter, his work would soon be over. But when he reached the gate of the garden he stood still, staring into the face of a little girl who sat there, shading her eyes as she gazed cityward.

"Is Mr. Byers at home?" and he felt the steel beat a tattoo against the bare flesh of his arm.

"Father's not home yet," said the girl. "There's nobody home but me."

"So you're Walter Byers' daughter, are you? Have you any brothers and sisters?"

"No, there's only me. You're not my Uncle Jim, are you?"

She looked into his face frankly and anxiously.

"No, I know you're not. Because you're so poor and Uncle Jim's rich. He's coming home some day to take us by surprise. Only, you see, we're all so anxious for him to come, because father tried so hard for years to find him, and we know he's making his fortune out in the west somewhere and he'll come back again."

He had become a myth, the rich uncle who was to return some day to his devoted family! Jim heard incidents of his boyhood, exploits now greatly magnified, from his little niece's lips. And they were proud of him!

For the first time since he had left the penitentiary he laughed, then stopped and drew his sleeve across his eyes. He turned away.

"Won't you wait for father? He won't be long. Who shall I tell him called to see him?"

Jim straightened himself.

"Tell him a broken man who's gone out to fight the world again; to lift up his head and look it in the eye squarely. A man who's taken his beating and learned his lesson."

He turned and plunged down the steep hill westward in the direction of the railroad line.

New York Farms.

A farm in Central New York, bought a few years ago for $15 an acre, produced two years later a crop of peas worth more than $50 an acre. This incident, considered in conjunction with the fact that many farms can be bought for even less than the value of the buildings standing on the land, is used in a bulletin by Commissioner Pearson of the state agricultural department to indicate the possibilities of agriculture in New York.

This publication also gives the value of crops in this state for a period of 40 years, showing that New York is the fourth state in agricultural importance. A significant feature of the statistics is that while in 1875 New York raised 35,000,000 bushels of potatoes, valued at $10,985,179, last year it produced 34,850,000 bushels, valued at $26,138,000. Similarly increased value is shown in other crops, while the volume is about the same.

What's the Use!

Isabel—I'll never have another photograph taken.

Dorothy—Why not, dear?

Isabel—O, if it looks like me I don't like it, and if it flatters me my friends don't like it.—Stray Stories.

Thirty horse-power—50 Miles an Hour—An ENGINEERING VICTORY

It is comparatively easy for a maker to build a car that will "do things" if he puts enough money and weight into it. But money is money, and weight is money, too—money for big and quickly worn-out tires, money for more fuel and expensive maintenance.

The Reo is a triumph of engineering. Mr. R. E. Olds is a genius at doing that very difficult but useful thing—making a car of very high quality at low cost. The Reo is full of cost where cost earns its money, and full of economy where economy counts. It has the remarkable get-there-and-back ability of every Reo ever built; it is powerful, light, buoyant, graceful, efficient, comfortable.

No car at $1,500 or $2,000 is equal to the Reo at $1,250. You must pay $3,000 for its equal, and then you have expensive and unnecessary weight.

Russian Proverbs on Wives.

"Love your wife like your soul, and beat her like your carpet." This is a Russian proverb. Another of the same spirit: "Not long hurt the bumps from a loved one's thumps." Wives have undoubtedly been subjected to much ill-treatment in Russia, where most husbands have always held to the opinion that "Liberty spoils a good wife." Some Russian proverbs are cynical as to the delights of matrimony, and most married men know how to say "Wed once, wail always."

Death Merely Postponed.

A man named Lavalard, who lived at Cappy, in the French department of the Somme, apparently died, and arrangements were made for his burial, but on the day of the funeral, ten days later, while his friends were condoling with the widow, he got out of his coffin in the next room, and, opening the door, asked why there were so many people in the house. Later, however, M. Lavalard was taken ill again and died.

Collapsible Stoves.

After dire experience with cold rooms, a woman who travels now includes in her baggage one of the collapsible stoves used by hunters. These are quite small affairs that are packed into a leather case and add little to the weight of baggage. They can be put up quickly, and not only give added warmth, but may be used for extra cooking.

Pen and Paper.

"Paper," whether of rags or of wood pulp, still takes its name from the papyrus. A "book" is the beech, the wooden rod on which our forefathers cut their runic letters. And a "pencil" is still by derivation "penecillus," a little tail, having been originally the name of the Roman painter's brush.

Something Swell.

Mr. Bigheart—"Wiggins, old boy, we have raised $50 to get the boss a present, and we want something that will make a show for the money—something that will look big, you know. Can't you suggest something?" Wiggins—"Sure. Buy $50 worth of rice and boil it."—Men and Women.

Requisites for Public Speech.

YALE CLUB CELEBRATES

Annual Banquet of the Local Sons of Old Eli Held at Truell Hall.

E. A. STEVENSON TOASTMASTER.

Dean Frederic S. Jones Talks on "Yale University" and F. P. Garven, of New York, on "Any Old Thing."

Old college songs with a chorus which could not but raise the enthusiasm of those who heard them, resounded through the corridors of Truell Hall last night after the banquet of the Plainfield Yale Club had reached the stage of entertainment. More than seventy of the alumni of the famous college had enjoyed a substantial menu before the real festivities of the evening began and to say that the old timers enjoyed the feast would be putting it mild.

Boola, Boola wasn't one—two-six with some of the other songs beautifully sung by the quartet; nor was the yodle of Switzerland any better than some of the sentiments expressed by the erstwhile Yalensians who had determined to enjoy the union, which always brings out the best, of either sentiment or practicability, that there is in the members. What did obtain, however, was a feeling of brotherhood and plain faith n the old institution which has sent so many brainy and influential men out into the world to become sucessful.

The speech of the evening, delivered by Dean Frederic S. Jones, '81, brought to the surface many of the institution's new rules which, first condemned, are now being understood and practiced to the college's advantage. Much of the financial work of the college has been transferred to the office of the dean and it is the co-operation of the alumni and their help which is so much needed to put Yale on the basis of equality with Princeton and Harvard in certain ways.

Edward A. Stevenson was the toastmaster, and other speeches were delivered by William D. Murray and Francis P. Garvan, of New York. The music furnished by the quartet from the college was enjoyed by the company to the extent that all joined in the choruses.

Novel Advertising Scheme.

At the meeting of the Civic Society yesterday afternoon it was decided to ask the merchants to allow their delivery wagons to be placarded so that the water question may be universally advertised. This is one of the moves in the "campaign of education" by which it is hoped to draw the attention of all the voters to the matter.

HIGH SCHOOL JUNIORS IN "OUR MUTUAL FRIEND" TONIGHT

The dramatized version of Charles Dickens' "Our Mutual Friend," will be presented tonight at the Plainfield High School auditorium by the junior class of that institution. The amateur thespians have reached a high degree of efficiency in their respective parts under the careful coaching of Professor Samuel B. Howe, Jr.

Much care has been taken to make the stage settings and the customes correct in every particular.

The cast: John Rokesmith, Everitt Smith; Bella, Miss Thyra Stiles; Savvy, Miss Margaret Hutchinson; Mrs. Wilger, Miss Louise Bird; Mr. Wilger, Edward Van Hoosen; Mrs. Boffin, Miss Bertha Nelson; Mr. Boffin, Nelson Ramsey; George Sampson, Sewell Ulrich.

H. K. DOANE ENGAGED TO MISS ELIZABETH CADY.

Chief and Mrs. T. O. Doane, of West Fifth street, have received word concerning the engagement of their son, Hervey K. Doane, to Miss Elizabeth Cady, daughter of Will H. Cady, editor of the Augusta, Kansas, News. The announcement was made at a large dinner party given at the home of Miss Cady on Saturday, March 26, and will be of interest here among the many friends of Mr Doane.

Mr. Doane is a graduate of Rutgers College, and for a time was employed in the civil engineering department of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Later he went to Augusta, Kansas, where he took the position of superintending the construction of a water works and sewage plant. It was while at Augusta that he met Miss Cady. The wedding will take place in June.

Mr. Doane is now located at Blackwell, Oklahoma, where he has charge of the construction of a water works and sewage plant, and installation of an electric system to light the town.

McGuirk—Dorgan.

Miss Kathryn McGuirk and John J. Dorgan were married at St. Bernard's church at Raritan on Wednesday afternoon in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Dorgan are now on their honeymoon and at its completion they will reside in this city.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE FOR MISS KENNENA HANSEN.

Miss Kennena M. Hansen, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Hansen, of 255 East Second street, was given a birthday surprise party at her home last night. The company of about forty young people met the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dunavan, of East Second street.

Cards, dancing and parlor games, together with vocal and instrumental music combined to afford a pleasant evening. Refreshments were served. The dining room was decorated for the occasion with cut flowers. A large birthday cake, containing nineteen candles, was displayed in the centre of the table. Mrs. Margaret Hansen and Mrs. Frank Sheppard, mother and aunt of Miss Hansen, arranged the affair. Miss Hansen received a number of handsome gifts.

Trolley Rams Carriage.

A carriage belonging to F. DeLacy Hyde was badly damaged by a Fourth street trolley car on East Front street yesterday afternoon at about 3 o'clock. The horse was knocked down, but was uninjured. A wheel was broken off the carriage and the lamps smashed. The car was incharge of Motorman Michael McCarthy and Conductor Charles Delahunty.

SUPPLY CONSERVATION THE PARAMOUNT IDEA

(By G. W. V. Moy).

In the report made by the "Water Investigation Committee," bearing date January 4, 1909, signed by Charles J. Fisk, chairman, J. R. Fremont, William Newcorn, George P. Mellick, George H. Frost, J. O. Osgood, William S Tyler, Justus H. Cooley, Henry L. Hall, N. B. Smalley, W. R. Craig, W. A. Codrington, H. G. Runkle, Ralph I. Tolles, W. L. Saunders, we read the following:

"The permanent preservation by the city of its water supply is without doubt the question of first importance. The question of economy is secondary, and although important in its turn the matter of cost is not to be compared with the seriousness of those consequences which would result from loss of the control of our water supply. It must be borne in mind that the difficulties of the situation are bound to increase, and whatever the obstacles, or however great the cost may be, at the present time they are not going to be any less at any time in the future. It is therefore important that whatever remedy shall be adopted at this time shall not fall short of a permanent solution of the problem."

These remarks are very pertinent, they seem to me to cover the situation perfectly. It would be impossible to state the case more strongly or more clearly. It seems to me that the situation we face today is the most serious situation that a city can have to face.

We are under the absolute control and dominion of a private corporation, who is not in business for its health. It was incorporated to make money. That ambition is legal and laudable, but we must see to it that this legal and laudable purpose of this company does not result in peril to this community.

The report of the investigating committee has sounded the note of warning. The annexed chart published as a part of the report of that committee will permit each of us to see how things are done in other cities.

I sincerely hope that every man in this community will realize the importance of the election to be held on the nineteenth day of April, and vote for the proposition that will permit the Common Council to handle the matter in an intelligent manner.

Bible Class and Men's Club to Meet.

The members of the Men's Conference Bible class and their friends are invited to meet with the Men's Club of the First Baptist church Monday night. H. W. Herrman will deliver an address of interest and recitations, music, and refreshments will also form a part of the evening's program.

ALLEGED TRUANT'S MOTHER WINS SYMPATHY OF COURT

Several cases of truancy were brought before Judge Runyon this morning by Miss Adelaide Ball, the truant officer, and all were disposed of summarily, excepting that of a colored woman, who is the mother of a family of six. This case so much enlisted the sympathy of Judge Runyon that he was compelled to announce his entire sympathy with the mother and the fourteen-year-old boy, who was accused of being delinquent in his attendance at school.

Mrs. Granby, the mother of the boy, told the court that her son had been attending school at Morristown, where he is living with an uncle and that she never had had any trouble with the boy. She declared that it was a pretty serious proposition for a woman to face who had as big a family as she acknowledgeds being the mother of, and it really hurt to have to spend time in court when she could be earning money at the wash-tub. (She told the judge that she had left the tub to come and defend her son).

Judge Runyon showed that he fully sympathized with the woman and told her that if her son was attending school in Morristown he might stay there and earn what he could to help his mother after or before school hours. Nevertheless, at the behest of the school officer the woman had been compelled to pay her son's and her own carfare from Morristown to Plainfield in order to get the boy here and now she must hustle to get the money to pay his fare back again.

It was a case in which the sympathies of all the court room attendants and spectators were with the woman and it was said by one man after the proceedings were over that had it not been for the feeling of being an interloper he would have gladly paid for the boy's transportation back to Morristown as well as the expense to which the mother had been put. The boy is fourteen years old.

Mrs. Harriott M. King.

Mrs. Harriott M. King, aged 70 years, mother of Walter S. Gibson and widow of John King, died this morning at 2:45 o'clock at her home, 153 Prospect street, Passaic, where she has been living for several years. Mrs. King lived in this city for many years, where she had a large circle of friends. Her husband was engaged in the insurance business here for a number of years was due to a stroke of paralysis. The funeral will be held from the late home in Passaic Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The burial will be at Milton, Mass.

Purchases Residential Property.

William G. DeMeza, of the Jackson building, has purchased Mrs. W. A. Freeman's residential property, 52 Sandford avenue, and expects to remove there. The deal was made by Isaac Giles, the real estate broker.

MRS. VOSSELLER DIES AT A RIPE OLD AGE

Mrs. Margaret Vosseller, wife of the late Augustine Reger, aged eighty-seven years, died this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman, 806 Third place. Some time ago she suffered a fracture of the hip and for the past two years has been an invalid, during which time she has lived here with her daughter.

Mrs. Vosseller was a native of South Branch. Her husband, prior to his death about seven years ago, was engaged in business at Whitehouse and Long Branch. She was a member of the Second Reformed church, Somerville. Despite her infirmities, her mind was clear and active to the last and through her many excellent womanly qualities endeared herself to the hearts of a large circle of friends.

She is survived by two brothers, Elias Vosseller, a prosperous merchant of Flemington, and William Vosseller, of Raritan; also six children: J. V. Reger, editor of the Boston Journal; L. O. Reger, of Paterson; Mrs. H. D. Zant, of Jamesburg; Mrs. William F. Mets, of New Market; Mrs. John Gaston, of Somerville, and Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman, of this city.

Private funeral services will be held from the home of the daughter on Monday, and it is expected the Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyetrian church, and Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, of this city, formerly pastor of the Second Reformed church, Somerville, will have charge. The burial will be at Somerville.

Church Sale a Success.

The cake and apron sale held on East Front street, yesterday afternoon and evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Temple Baptist church, was a success. All the cakes, as well as the aprons and fancy articles were disposed of at good prices. The proceeds will be used for work at the church. Mrs. Valetine Utzinger is president of the society.

Ball Club's Enjoyable Dance.

The dance held in Saengerbund Hall last night under the auspices of the North Plainfield Baseball Association was a big success both socially and financially. The committee in charge was E. O. Driver, F. Allen, W. Perry, G. Perry and J. Reinmann. The club will purchase new uniforms with the proceeds of the dance.

Benevolent's Smoker.

Benevolent Council Jr. O. U. A. M., had an enjoyable smoker after its meeting last night. William Jeffery spoke on public school matters.

BOROUGH CIVIC SOCIETY

North Plainfield Association is Started With Thirty Members.

ELECT TEMPORARY OFFICERS.

To Hold a Banquet on Thursday Night, April 28—Dr. Cooley is Chosen Temporary President.

The North Plainfield Association, an organization to advance the civic interests of the borough, was formed last night, when thirty prominent residents met at the store of Councilman M. C. Van Arsdale. The meeting was called to order by Councilman William L. Smalley, Jr. Assessor Dr. J. H. Cooley was elected temporary chairman. Other temporary officers elected include Borough Clerk Frederick A. Martin, secretary, and Nelson A. Miller, treasurer.

In accepting the chairmanship of the meeting Dr. Cooley urged that all stand together with one object, that of advancing the interests and general welfare of the borough. During his remarks he suggested that the Jersey Central Railroad Company change the name of the depot sign to Plainfield-North Plainfield station instead of Plainfield.

A banquet will be held by the association during the latter part of the month, the probable date being Thursday, April 28. The committee appointed to arrange for this event is Alexander Milne, David J Carney, L. B. Woolston, Walter Apgar and M. Dryden. Other committees appointed are as follows:

Music—Dr. J. Hervey Buchanon, Horace J. Martin, J. W. A. Bauersachs.

Speakers—B. J. Phelps, Mayor N. B. Smalley, Recorder Charles M. Dolliver.

Permanent organization—Councilman M. C. Van Arsdale, William L. Smalley, Jr., and James K. Arnold.

QUARTET ENGAGED FOR NETHERWOOD REFORMED.

The Consistory of the Netherwood Reformed church has engaged Miss Grace P. Karr to take charge of the music, and she has arranged for a quartet to sing at the Sunday services, comprising Miss Elizabeth Bartlau, soprano; Mrs. S. A. Guinn, contralto; F. Clyde Doane, tenor and Roy Titsworth, baritone.

The musical program for the service tomorrow morning will be as follows:

Prelude, Largo from "Xerxes," Handel; hymns, Holy, Holy, Holy, Dykes; Coronation, Holden; Nearer My God to Thee, Spratt; anthem, tenor solo by F. Clyde Doane; O, Thou Whose Power, from Tannhauser, Wagner; postlude, Processional March, Parker.

The program in the evening will be as follows:

Prelude, Pastorale, L. Wely; hymns, Abide with Me, Monk; Onward Christian Soldiers, Sullivan; The Shadows of the Evening Hour, Hiles; anthem, Adeste Fidels, Portogallo, quartet; postlude, hymn tune, The Son of God Goes Forth to War, Whiting.

Rev. Dr. T. C. Easton, pastor of the Highland Park Reformed church, will preach tomorrow morning and night. The morning theme will be "The Print of the Nails," and in the evening it will be "Esther, the Beautiful Queen."

EAST END GANG ROUNDED UP—SENTENCES SUSPENDED.

Part of a gang of East End youths who have been annoying Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Wuergler, of Webster place, were arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning and received a suspended fine of $10 each. They were James Ford, colored; Bert Maddox and Thomas Brennan, all living in the neighborhood.

In his complaint Mr. Wuergler declared that these youths, who range in age from sixteen to eighteen years, have broken down his fence, carried away his gate and otherwise demolished his property, besides knocking at his door and running away. These acts of rowdyism have been committed at late hours at night, it is alleged, and Mr. Wuergler's family have been annoyed to the point of desperation. An additional fine will be imposed if the young men repeat the performance. Several others of the gang are to be apprehended.

Public Telephone Booth.

A public telephone booth has been located in the centre of the Woodhull & Martin Company store, for the convenience of patrons.

Miss Myrtle Montague, a teacher in the North Plainfield public schools, went to her home at Croton, N. Y., yesterday. She will return on Monday.

Mrs. William Deegan, of "The Inn," has been entertaining friends from out of town.

The employes of the Fur Mill start the summer Saturday half holiday today.

SPAT ON HIS RIVAL'S CLEAN WINDOWS.

On complaint of Hyman Sandler, a shoemaker, of 104 East Fourth street, Morris Deutsch, of Watchung avenue, a fellow craftsman, was arraigned before Judge Runyon yesetrday morning on a charge of disorderly conduct. Sandler claimed that Deutsch had been in the habit of expectorating on his store windows every time they were washed, which is once a week. Leutsch denied the charge, but as he was caught, as Sandler alleges, in the act last night. Judge Runyon warned him against a reptition also advising Sandler to keep away from Deutsch. Deutsch was discharged.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Sane Fourth.

The Women's Club of Camden has appealed to Mayor Ellis for a safe and sane Fourth of July in that city, and an ordinance has been introduced in the Camden Council to provide it. In Elizabeth the City Council has asked the city attorney to draw up an ordinance regulating the storage and sale of firecrackers, gunpowder and other combustibles and explosives. The City Council of Morristown has prepared an ordinance for that city prohibiting the storage and sale of powder and ammunition except by such dealers as are licensed by the fire chief and forbidding the use of blank cartridges, dynamite crackers, paper balloons, etc., on the Fourth. The Mayor of Philadelphia is beginning to be interested in the enforcement of the laws against the use of the customary Fourth of July explosives and fire toys there, and Mayor Gaynor, of New York, has struck consternation into the hearts of fireworks and firecracker manufacturers and venders by giving notice that the ordinance on that subject is going to be strictly enforced. Hitherto it has been a dead letter, but hitherto Gaynor was not Mayor. On every side action is being taken to secure a bloodless, harmless Fourth of July, but Newark doesn't seem to be doing anything worth mentioning.—Newark News.

KILLED WHEN STACK TOPPLED IN HIGH WIND.

Toppling when the wind snapped a guy-rope, a big smokestack at the Babcock & Wilcox plant at Bergen Point fell yesterday morning, carrying to instant death Gunard Jansen, who had climbed the stack to attach a new stay. Jansen was one of three men who were building the stack, a new one. The stays slipped in the high wind and Jansen climbed the big pipe to readjust them. He was about 100 feet from the ground when the swaying of the stack in the wind caused one of the guys to break. This threw the stack to one side. Another guyrope snapped and the stack buckled and fell.

Jansen was dead when picked up. He was twenty-five years old and unmarried. He lived on Staten Island and had been employed several years at the Babcock & Wilcox plant. He was a skilful rigger and a daring climber.

DRUGGIST ARRESTED, CHARGED WITH ASSAULT.

Returning to Elizabeth Thursday to recover his bicycle which he left behind him after he is alleged to have beaten John J. Muchmore, an aged farmer, residing on the Chatham Turnpike, Wednesday, Merwin D. Decker, a druggist of Morris avenue, Elizabeth, was placed under $300 bail by Police Justice Hicks, to await the action of the Union County Grand Jury.

Decker was accompanied by a police officer and some friends from Elizabeth, one of whom furnished the bail, after the accused man pleaded not guilty to having committed an assault on Mr. Muchmore

FOUR-CYLINDER REO $1,250

Thirty horse-power—50 Miles an Hour—An ENGINEERING VICTORY

It is comparatively easy for a maker to build a car that will "do things" if he puts enough money and weight into it. But money is money, and weight is money, too—money for big and quickly worn-out tires, money for more fuel and expensive maintenance.

The Reo is a triumph of engineering. Mr. R. E. Olds is a genius at doing that very difficult but useful thing—making a car of very high quality at low cost. The Reo is full of cost where cost earns its money, and full of economy where economy counts. It has the remarkable get-there-and-back ability of every Reo ever built; it is powerful, light, buoyant, graceful, efficient, comfortable.—Let us demonstrate.

A Vitally Important Sale of
Women's Suits and Dresses
Tremendous Price Cutting to Force a Quick Disposal of Stocks

We are reducing the price of new Spring Suits and Dresses in the very midst of the season and for no other reason than that of forcing sales. Prices have been cut to the sensational point of lowness.

Every garment involved in the underpricing is fashioned of dependably worthy and stylish materials, in the prevailing models and excellently made. They represent the very cream of the season's styles and are the very garments you'll pay regular value for after this underpricing period ends.

When we say that prices have been cut to almost half value we are not over-stepping the bounds of facts one iota. Never before have we cut and slashed prices in the midst of season since we have been in Plainfield.

To stay away from this suit and dress sale is to turn a deaf ear to a saving opportunity you'll not be offered again this season.

Prices are affected in this manner.

Lot 1. Suits Sold Up to $12.50 at $7.98

Misses' and Women's Tailor Suits in black and blue Panamas and fancy serges, these are regularly 10.00 and 12.50, more of the 12.50 kind than of the 10.00. Your choice on sale at - - 7.98

ALTERATIONS FREE

LOT 2. SUITS SOLD UP TO 18.00 at $12.98

These consist of fine serges and chiffon Panamas that we sold from $15 to $18, in this lot we include a line made for stout figures, colors black, navy, tan and Shepard checks, reduced from 16.00 to 18.00 to 12.98

ALTERATIONS FREE

LOT 3. HIGH-GRADE SUITS, Value up to 35.00 on Sale for $17.50

These are mostly sample suits that we purchased at one-third under price, otherwise we couldn't cut them so deeply, the styles are certainly the very newest and nobbiest of the season in several of the best shades, not one worth under 30.00, most of them are good 35.00 values. CURED TO STAY CURED.

How a Plainfield Citizen Found Complete Freedom from Kidney Troubles.

If you suffer from backache—
From urinary disorders—
From any disease of the kidneys,
Be cured to stay cured.
Doan's Kidney Pills make lasting cures.
Plainfield people testify.
Here's one case of it:

Mrs. J. Mottley, 546 West Sixth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble three years ago and I have never had a return of it since. I am glad to confirm the public statement I gave in favor of this remedy at that time."

The endorsement to which Mrs. Mottley refers was given on August 26th, 1905, and was substantially as follows: "About two months ago I was seized by a severe backache and dull pains in the top and back of my head. I could not rest well and had no strength or energy to do my housework. Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at Randolph's drug store, gave me prompt relief and I am convinced that they are a first-class remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

PARK CLUB BOWLERS WIN TWO FROM ELIZABETH

Park Club bowlers won two out of three games from Elizabeth on the home alleys last night. The locals won handily in the first game by the score of 906 to 876. Both teams put up their best work in the second game which was also captured by the Parks, 942 to 918. The Parks in the last game, took a little slump, with the result that the county seaters won by a score of 916 to 854.

Barlow was the star for the local aggregation. He was the only Park pinner to pass the double century mark by scoring 243 in the second game. R. West, with marks of 223, 214 and 193, executed the best work for the visitors. The scores:

CLASSY ENTRY LIST FOR MOTORCYCLE RACE-MEET

Joseph Gunn, chief promotor of the motor cycle racing meet which will be held at the Plainfield Driving Park next Saturday afternoon, visited town today for the purpose of completing details for the meet. According to Mr. Gunn Plainfielders will have an opportunity of witnessing some thrilling sport next Saturday.

A list of six contests is down on the program, covering races of from two to ten miles. All of the eastern champions will be here and some record breaking stunts are expected. Thomas Quinn is now engaged in putting the track in shape, and if the weather man will do his share, an afternoon of great sport should be untapped.

Mr. Gunn is an experienced race promoter. Last year he conducted with big success the motorcycle races at Olympic Park, Newark. For the past two years he has also been interested at the Newark Veldorome. He is a member of the sporting staff of the Newark Evening News and is widely known in sporting circles as an expert on outing, bicycle and motorcycle racing in the east.

The full entry list of champions who will compete here next Saturday will be published about the middle of the week. One of the six races will be a special event for local riders. This event, no doubt, will prove one of the most attractive numbers on the card. It will be for the local championship.

GOLF.

The Plainfield Country Club will be formally opened today and Superintendent John Hilton has everything in readiness for the reception of guests and will serve luncheons and dinners.

The Park Golf Club will also be formally opened today, although the competitions will not be started until later in the month. Already a number of members have been engaged in playing the popular game and have found the course in good condition.

In addition to golf, tennis will be a feature, as usual, at the Park Golf Club this summer. The courts are being put in fine condition for play.

There will be the usual Saturday afternoon teas and the social life at the club will be very attractive. The women members will take turns presiding at the teas.

George Anderson has again been engaged as steward at the Park Golf Club for the coming season and will take charge within a short time.

Newark Cycle Races.

Included in an exceptionally strong card of events for the second meet of the season at the Newark Velodrome bicycle track tomorrow afternoon is an Australian pursuit match race, between Pete Drobach and Norman Anderson, acknowledged as two of the best pluggers in the game. There are also six other events on the card, three for the professionals, one one mile open, half mile handicap and a two mile invitation; two for the amateurs, a one mile handicap and a two mile open, and the usuel novice race at one mile.

JIM EMERY STRIKES BLIZZARD IN PENNA.

Jim Emery, the Plainfield boy who recently reported to Reading in the Tri-State League, in letters to friends in this city, relates that midwinter weather is prevailing in the Tri-State regions and that the indications are that very little warm weather will hit that section before July 4. Barring the zero weather Emery informs his friends that he is pleased with his surroundings and that the Reading baseball people he has come in contact with are O. K. In a "P.S." Jimmy adds: "Send me up a couple of oil heaters."

Cliff Randolph has packed his trunk and is in readiness to depart to Binghamton on Monday.

A cold argument is slated to take place at Bound Brook today when the N. P. H. S. and Bound Brook High school teams play the opening game of their schedule.

Two weeks from today and the local ball season will open in a game between Manager Dorflinger's Plainfields and the O. N. T. nine, of Newark. Let's hope there are no hail storms.

Howard Craig will wear a Dunellen uniform this season. "Howy" has been suffering with the toothache for the past week but he has found time between the aches and pain to declare that he will be as fast as ever.

There is a fight on over the services of Babe Reams, the crack third baseman of the Santa Clara college club. The clubs which are battling for the young star are Boston and Philadelphia, both of the American league. Jimmy Byrnes, representing Connie Mack, thought he had Reams in his "can" last week. Reams went so far as to accept Brynes' terms, which had been approved by Mack. They had their first meeting Thursday, and, according to Brynes, the college star accepted terms. Now the information comes that Charley Graham, representing Boston, has gobbled Reams up, and if this be so the Athletics will most probably file a protest. Scouts who have looked Reams over aver that he has a most promising future. He is a big, strapping fellow, who can run a hundred yards close to ten seconds. Should Byrnes eventually secure him he will send him east to report to Mack as soon as the baseball season at Santa Clara is finished.

Tad Jones will never catch for the Giants or any other major league team, according to his own statement which has been the general opinion of his friends. Tad says that his ankles would never stand the strain of the work done by a big leaguer. Jones is one of the best backstops that ever donned a mitt for a college team, but he also played football and while in this game he was used up and injured a bit. His legs, back and ankles received many bumps and it is said that they are weak yet as a result of these knocks. Tad promised to join the Giants if he ever took up the game professionally. It was rumored a short time ago that he was to join the New York team this season, but he denies this.

The South Plainfield B. B. C. will begin practise on April 10 at South Plainfield. The following players are requested to report: Slocum, T. Mullin, Moran, Ramsberger, W. Mullin, Smith, Hand, Kyle, Hann, Sofield and Meyers. New uniforms have been ordered and the team expects to have a very successful season. A thorough tryout will be given to all applicants. P. A. McDonough, manager.

OLD "JIM" MACE HAD A BIRTHDAY PARTY.

London, April 9.—In a little parlor of the public house in Islington, called "The Bluecoat Boy," which he has made his headquarters for a number of years, "Jem" Mace, the former champion pugilist of the world, received the congratulations of the little circle of friends and cronies yesterday on the occasion of his eightieth birthday. It is now nearly half a century since Mace won the championship from Tom King. Subsequently he defended his title in fights with Joe Goss, Joe Wormald, Tom Allen, Joe Coburn and Ned O'Badlwin. It is estimated that during his long career in the prize ring Mace earned considerably more than $1,000,000, the most of which was dissipated in unfortunate speculations. Today the old-time fighter is virtually penniless, almost his only source of income being a government old-age pension.

WATER SUPPLY STATISTICS.

On the first page of this issue will be found a highly interesting table of statistics showing the cost of water here and in some other cities of the East, including many in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York and Connecticut. The list include cities where public and private plants are now operated. The population of the given municipality, the source of supply, the type of distributing system, the prices paid by the city itself and by the individual consumer for the several kinds of service are set forth in complete and concise form. These figures are official. They were gathered a year ago by the Water Investigation Commission and are to be found in the report of that body. In each instance, the commission obtained the facts and figures from the proper authorities in the municipality recorded and we are informed by the chairman of the Councilmanic public affairs' committee, Frederick E. Mygatt, that since the statistics were compiled there have been no changes in the rates. It is the desire of this paper to give the voters all the information possible on this important subject before the day of election, Tuesday, April 19, and this early opportunity is taken to present the statistics in question.

HIS FIGURES MISLEADING.

In his communication on the water problem published in this paper on Thursday, Charles H. Hand's figures regarding the cost to the city of an "M. O." plant are misleading when he refers to an annual loss of $6,000 now paid by the company in the shape of taxes. He should have added that it is more than off-set by the amount paid by the city for water rent. As a matter of fact the water company pays the city $7,097.41. This includes the franchise tax as well as that on all its real estate and it should be said in this connection that only a part of that real estate as assessed is the site of the water plant. For hydrants, street sprinkling, public offices, etc., the city actually pays $1,126.75, so that, instead of being a loser the city would be a great gainer in this respect. The figures quoted, and they are official, show that last year the municipality paid the water company $4,170.34 more than it received in taxes.

COMMUNICATIONS INVITED.

The Daily Press invites communications bearing on the subject of the special election to be held on Tuesday, April 19, when the voters will decide whether they desire condemnation proceedings to be instituted against the privately owned water company. If the taxpayers give the city fathers an endorsement of their plans the authorities will have the right to investigate the cost of a new plant; to make a more advantageous contract with the private concern and to ascertain the facts and figures of the private company's business at the present time, and further, to be in a position to purchase the plant, at a condemnation sale.

HUGE PRICE IS PAID FOR THREE PROPERTIES.

The Home Real Estate Company has purchased three properties belonging to Daniel Summers, the veteran expressman, on Watchung avenue, between Front and Second street. The deal was put through last week by Frank H. Smith and Charles H. Hand representing the real estate company.

The price paid for the properties was $40,000. Before the postoffice site was selected on the former Force property the value of the Summers property was rated at only about $11,000.

Plan Young Friends' Meetings.

The Young Friends Association met at the Friends meeting-house on Watchung avenue, last night and discussed plans for two meetings to be held in the near future. One will be held Sunday afternoon, April 24, and will be in the nature of a conference in which the Young Friends Association of Brooklyn will take part. The date for the other meeting has not been fixed.

Dry Cleaning Talk

Gentlemen's clothes cleaned by a Cleanery with the ability nad equipments to produce first-class work, will stay clean longer, as when done by an ordinary suit presser who only brushes the surface dust off and removes the most prominent spots from the surface.

With our process the garments are thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, the linings are cleaned and spots that are removed will stay removed and do not appear again the first time the garments are exposed to the dust and grim of the street.

In the beginning it may cost a little more, but will pay at the end, as the clothes don't have to be at the cleaners every two weeks.

Phone us and our wagon will call.

Plain Field Notes and Queeries

By Druid

God bless T. R., our nation's noblest drummer!
God bless the Pope! and give him peace all summer.
The junior, Theocrat by self design,
The senior, Theocrat by "right divine,"
Each lord inperious in his boundless sphere,
Our Dominie, to scold and domineer.
The one does all our thinking here below,
The other warns where all such thinkers go.
Young Theo fires 12,000 to their doom,
Although not sinners, but it makes a boom;
Good Pius send not beasts, being humaney,
Where t'other sent Spain's warriors at El Caney.
Both condescend to pity our sad state,
Both are our heaven-sent guides to happier fate;
Each claims the homage of this wicked world
On bended knee whene'er His flag's unfurled,
And to their superhuman power we bow
In humble suppliance, with a pious vow
Forevermore to think, speak, act, and see
According to their will—when they agree
To show wherein the sacred secret lies
Which makes them always more than mortal wise.
And answer this—we ask in all humility—
Can both Popes, rivals, claim infallibility?

We are a real Republic and scorn the pomp and etiquette and ceremonialism of the Courts of effete monarchies. True, our last President inaugurated a rigid etiquette, formulated new ceremonial observances, installed a new order of what we used to poke fun at as the Court Flunkey squad, gorgeous in gold lace, white silk stockings and short plush pants, so alien to our Puritan traditions. It was also proclaimed in the press that at receptions and before dinner in the White House—now glorified into The Executive Mansion (or is it Palace) the approach of the awe-inspiring Presence will henceforth be heralded by a fanfaronade of trumpets, or by Heeland Bagpipes when his grace the Juke of Skibereen deigns to dine with Majesty. The more singular it is that a private American gentleman, well-knowing and enforcing the etiquette proper to all receptions in the White House, should kick at the very simple and easy rule of conforming to other people's rules. A tempest in a teapot is important or ridiculous as it happens to be filled with cold etiquette water or boiling hot t-emper.

We know the brotherhood of professional "humorists" less by their output of the real article than by their fraternal habit of dining together and swearing that each is a greater one than all the rest. Humor, nevertheless, is not and can never be a manufactured thing, it is spontaneous and ever-flowing, and the best made-up imitation only shows up the lack of the genuine. Why can't the ungifted be content to cultivate simple good-humor, a quality far too scarce and more precious than golden dollars or brazen pretence. What "funny man" ever equalled our schoolboy and girl in drollery most exquisite because perfectly unconscious? I am not saying that they are "humorists," any more than professionals naturally are, but they are drolls, so droll, all unconsciously, that their output gives us unalloyed delight, greater than mere funny stories usually give to our sober minds.

Here are few bona fide examples from the exam. papers of schoolboys:

Lord Raleigh was the first man to see the Invisible Armada.

In India a man out of cask may not marry a woman out of another cask.

Tennyson wrote "In Memorandum."

Louis XVI. was gelatined in the French Revolution.

Algebra symbols are used when you don't know what you are talking about.

Gravitation is that which if there were none we should all fly away.

A renegade is a man who kills a king.

Woman's Suffrage is the state of suffering to which they were born.

The Swedish runner Ljungstrom, to whose great performance we referred a few weeks ago, won the Marathon at the New York Polo grounds the other day, seven minutes under the world record. As no reader wrote to The Plainfield Press in comment on our paragraph telling that these victories have been won on what is called the vegetarian diet, one is in doubt whether our readers believe it or don't, like it or don't or whether they read it dozing. The point of more or less importance is the bearing of this fact on the groan over the dearness of meats. If there is a sincere desire to cut down expenses and still keep up the feeding quality of our daily foods, it would seem that some readers would stir up a correspondence by courtesy of the editor. The love of discussion appears to be dormant. Perhaps all our readers are in the beef business. Even so, some of us would welcome them into the ring. I would ply them with sundry questions, for the enlightenment of self and the public. Such as—how is it that deep red beef is preferred to yellow-mottled beef? The first is priceless as a boiled blanket, the yellow is rich in gravy and flavour, richer in nutrition and fifty times nicer to eat. This will suffice for the present.

Actually, New York is making-believe to get ready to begin trying to stop the habit of smoking foul smelling gasoline pipes by autos. Last summer the Aldermen who gave Cook the "freedom of the city," which is just a drink out of an empty glass, drew up a lot of equally powerful ordinances to kill the public nuisance (not the Cook). The drivers were to be punished by everything but hanging. Particularly the autos were not to indulge in smoking Central Park. We sat there one crowded summer afternoon. Twenty-three went by in ten minutes, each leaving a trail of stench, while two uniformed Park police stood idly by, and one Park constable helped them.

ORGIES OF LEGISLATORS

Anti-Saloon League Man's Version of the Law Mill's Closing Hours.

SCENES WERE DISGRACEFUL.

E. H. Curtis Tells of Alleged Doings to the Seventh-Day Baptists —Makes Plea for Temperance.

In a stirring address in which he referred to the alleged disgraceful scenes enacted during the closing hours of the Legislative session, at Trenton, Wednesday night, E. H. Curtis, representing the Anti-Saloon League, of New Jersey, made a rousing appeal at the Seventh-Day Baptist church this morning, to all Christian people to fight the liquor traffic.

Mr. Curtis characterized the alleged happenings at Trenton Wednesday night as so indecent that some of the New York newspapers refused to print the story, and he said that it was so atrocious that it could not help but bring a blush of shame to the face of every good citizen.

Mr. Curtis told briefly of the work that has been accomplished by the Anti-Saloon League, not only in New Jersey, but throughout the country and said that every true friend of the work had cause to be thankful for the steady progress being made in abolishing the legalized sale of liquor.

The speaker said that the future looked particularly bright and the success already attained should inspire all temperance workers to do even greater things.

Rev. Dr. T. L. Gardner was in charge of the meeting and introduced the speaker. It was expected that J. Frank Burke would speak, but he was detained and Mr. Curtis came in his place.

Police Court Notes.

Judge William N. Runyon in the city court this morning disposed of the following cases: Edward Dooley and Edward Carroll will have to appear again Thursday morning next to explain their fight of yesterday morning. John Consky, a Pole, had to pay a fine of $5 for being drunk and disorderly on East Second street. Patrolman McDonald had to convince him of the error of his ways. Thomas Muldowney, who has neglected his promise to the court was incarcerated pending the furnishing of a $200 bond to pay his wife $5 a week.

Receives Honor Medal.

Miss Ruth Shepley who has an important role in "A Gentleman from Mississippi," the record-smashing comedy which is to be the attraction at the Plainfield theatre Monday night, has just received an honor medal for special proficiency awarded at the end of every five years by the Paris Conservatoire.

BOYS IN ATHLETIC MEET

Franklin B. Newell Stars in the Running High Jump for Schoolboys.

CHAMPION FRITTS IN FORM.

Competition Provides Some Exciting Sport to a Large and Enthusiastic Crowd.

"Future Greats," of the track and field, to the number of fifty young athletes, participated in the Boys' Booster Athletic meet in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night. The performances of the junior athletes were watched from the gallery by a large and enthusiastic crowd and the boys came in for a big share of applause in their efforts.

Perhaps the most noticeable performance in the meet was executed by Franklin B. Newell, who was the winner in the running high jump. This speedy athlete covered a distance of 5 feet 4 inches, or one inch higher than the record he made in winning the event in the Harlem Y. M. C. A. games three weeks ago. When Newell's record was announced the youngster was giving three rousing cheers.

John Fritts, the all around Y. M. C. A. champion, distinguished himself by carrying off first honors in the standing broad jump and in the shot put. In the broad jump, Fritts covered a distance of 9 feet 4¾ inches, and in the shot put he hurled the weight a distance of 34 feet 1 inch.

D. R. Miller had two wins to his credit. He finished first in the potato race and standing broad jump in the 120 pound class.

Y. M. C. A. led in the total number of points scored, 38; Brownie A. C., 5 points; Pastime A. C. and Leal's school 4 points; Stillman school 3 points. The summary:

The Easter Mart.

The substantial results achieved for the work of the Tuberculosis Camp through the Easter mart recently held at Grace church parish house by the officers, teachers and pupils of the Sunday-school are attributable in no small part to the active interest of several business concerns who contribued directly and generously valuable assistance. Of our local business concerns should be mentioned the Ritz company from whom came gratuitously the entire supply of excellent ice cream from which large profit was made. To the Daily Press and Courier-News for notices and advertising and to the Recorder Press Company for tickets and display cards.

James Ryan Fined Two Dollars.

James Ryan, of Dunellen, was arrested by Marshall Pope last night charged with disorderly conduct on Somerset street. Ryan was adjudged guilty and find two dollars by Recorder Dolliver.

Mr. O'Brien Entertained.

Assistant Health Officer John O'Brien entertained about thirty of his friends at a dance given in Debele's Hall last night. The affair was very enjoyable.

SEARCH FOR WEALTH OF A DEAD RECLUSE.

Whitehouse, Arpil 9.—Relatives of Mrs. Catherine Ann Todd, sixty-eight years old, a recluse, whose funeral was held Thursday, at her home at Bissell, are searching for several hundred dollars in gold, which is known to have been located about her late home by the woman.

It is said there is still $300 in money and jewelry belonging to Mrs. Todd cached somewhere in Pickell's Mountain, west of Whitehouse Station. When Mrs. Todd lived here and wandered away from home to the mountain, where she remained three weeks, she hid her jewelry among the rocks, meaning to return some day and secure it, but when she went there to get the articles she could not locate the place where she had hidden them. As thorough a search as possible was made at the time.

While Mrs. Todd had no near relatives living, the heirs of her and her husband, Jacob Todd, formerly a contractor of this place, will receive each a tidy sum. Bank Cashier M. R. Cook, of Whitehouse Station, has charge of both of the estates of Mrs. Todd's husband and her brother, and has a large amount of property in his hands as trustee.

Improved the Occasion.

"My father," said Senator Chauncey M. Depew the other day, "was a frugal and saving man. He never approved of the waste of anything, including time. One night he went to a prayer meeting. The brethren were backward. After a wait of a quarter of an hour my father arose and said: 'It is a shame to waste all this valuable time. Will not some brother tell his experience?'"

"No one rose, and my father continued: 'Will some one lead us in prayer?'"

"There was no responce to this appeal, and my father said: 'In that case I will improve the time by making a few observations on the tariff.'"—Pathfinder.

For Closing Windows.

A peice of bamboo, an old blind roller, or any strong, smoothly rounded stick about three feet long, with a small flat piece of wood about the same thickness, twelve inches long and covered with flannel, nailed across the ends, makes an admirable and useful article for closing top windows without either going outside or standing on a stool or a chair to reach, or straining one's self with the weight to be raised upward.

Gloves for Spring.

In wrist gloves the colors preferable for spring wear are tan, Champagnes and biscuit colors are also in favor. Chamois gloves are naturally classed among these shades and promise to be great favorites for the season.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

Considerable asparagus is being shipped by Gloucester county growers about twenty days ahead of the usual time.

Mrs. Isaac Sheffer, an aged woman, fell down the cellar steps at her home in Millville and was badly injured.

Rev. and Mrs. William Nelson, of the Clayton Presbyterian church, are on a six weeks' tour of the Pacific coast.

Antonio Malinaro, Joseph Bresse and James Curoa, wanted in Pottsville, Pa., for alleged highway robbery, were arrested in Atlantic City and are being held to await extradition.

Nicolo Andreassi, whose body was found Monday morning in Dry Run Creek, near Mays Landing, was buried Thursday, the authorities having given a certificate of accidental death.

Twice arrested in Camden in twenty-four hours as a suspicious character, Alexander Sadonski, twenty-two years old, was Thursday declared insane after an examination by physicians. He will be taken to the State Hospital.

The Coroner's jury at Cape May Court House found that Harry Sharp, who was found dead in a boat in one of the thoroughfares back of Five-Mile Beach last Monday night, died from exhaustion and exposure.

Falling ten feet at the Keystone Leather Works, Camden, Thursday, Vivian Pretzell, twenty years old, of 320 Spruce street, sustained fractures of the collarbone and right wrist. He was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital.

Stricken while in the real estate office of George Derham & Son, 1835 Broadway, Camden, John H. Tilton, seventy years old, breathed his last before medical aid could be summoned. Coroner Litchfield gave heart failure as the cause of death. Despite his age, Mr. Tilton was an enthusiastic wheelman, and just before being stricken had dismounted from his bicycle, which he had ridden from his home, 2305 South Seventh street.

William E. Beadle, a brakeman, was instantly killed at the brickyard siding at Mays Landing, while switching cars Thursday. He was caught between two cars and dragged over the roadbed several rods, terribly mangling his body.

G. H. Roehrig, secretary of the boys' department of the Trenton Y. M. C. A., Thursday night offered the Board of School Commissioners to give free instruction in swimming to boys in the public schools. Mr. Roehrig called attention to the fact that there were 4,000 drownings last year as emphasizing his contention that every boy should know how to swim. He claims that the ordinary boy can learn to swim in a week if properly instructed. It is likely that the board will take advantage of Mr. Roehrig's offer and ask Common Council to provide facilities for the instruction.

APPEAL TO CIVIC PRIDE TO BOOM MORRISTOWN.

Morristown, April 9.—Apropos the meeting of the two local editors with Frederick R. Kellogg, president of the Civic Association, a letter was sent to the local papers yesterday morning by Mr. Kellogg in the nature of an appeal to the people of Morristown to join the Civic Association. The communication states that the society has broadened its activities so as to permit every man and woman to ally with the work, and adds:

"If you do not thing we are accomplishing the things that ought to be accomplished, there is an even greater reason why you should put your own shoulder to the wheel from within the association and work for such changes as you think desirable."

The association, the letters says, has under consideration completion of sewer connections, improvements of the condition of the streets, roads and crosswalks, abolition of nuisances of every kind, detection and suppression of immoral reports and protection from criminal depredations, creation and maintenance of public sentiment in favor of improving the appearance of all public and private property, giving proper attention to the care of shade trees, improvement of railway and trolley facilities, abolition of grade crossings and erection of new railroad station, obtaining a modern and well equipped and pleasing auditorium either by erecting a new building or remodeling some of the existing halls, and a number of other improvements that are necessary to the proper growth of the community.

$7,000 Fire at Westwood.

Westwood, April 9.—The summer home of Mrs. Josephine Calvert, of 237 West Fifty-eighth street, New York, at Hillsdale Manor, was destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon. The loss is $7,500. The fire company was hampered by lack of hose, as the nearest hydrant was 1,500 feet from the house. The Westwood Department hurried to the scene, but the fire was beyond control before it arrived. The high wind carried sparks to neighboring houses, but the firemen prevented any damage.

Frank Van Nest, of this city, has been visiting his father at Raritan.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Schomp, of West Front street, have returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. William Kershaw, of Neshanic.

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

William H. Crane in "Father and the Boys," will open for a run at the Garrick Theatre on Monday, following the conclusion of Hattie Williams' engagement there, and will complete in that theatre his New York engagement, which was prematurely brought to a close last year by his illness.

Miss Julia Sanderson, the charming Eileen of "The Arcadians," has come to the defence of American men. She and some women friends were discussing the characteristics of the men of various nations and their fashions in clothes, and Miss Sanderson closed the debate by saying: "Well, the American coat may be a bit lacking in style, but the man inside of it can't be beaten anywhere. I do adore our American men!"

Musical comedy stars are generally supposed to be jealous of one another, but the two leading ladies of "The Arcadians," Miss Julia Sanderson and Miss Ethel Cadman, are very friendly and have formed a mutual admiration socity. Said Miss Sanderson to Miss Cadman the other day, "I love that Arcady song of yours, and you sing it charmingly. Every time I hear it I completely lose myself, and just stand there and cry all through it." "That's very, very kind of you, my dear," replied Miss Cadman. "Believe me, I enjoy your 'Bit of A Brogue' song just as much, only it makes me feel like dancing, not crying."

U. OF P. ALUMNI HEAR PRAISE OF ROOSEVELT.

Roosevelt and the Vatican incident were touched on at the annual reunion and banquet of the New Jersey Alumni of the University of Pennsylvania at Achtel-Stetter's, Newark, Thursday night. Dr. Addison B. Poland, superintendent of schools, called attention to the incident, when he declared that Colonel Roosevelt and Benjamin Franklin represent the true tpye of American citizenship.

"When the University of Pennsylvania was established in 1740," Dr. Poland declared, "Whitfield, the great Methodist evangelist, came to this country from England and visited all the cities and towns from Georgia to New England. The churches of Philadelphia refused to allow him to use their pulpits. Benjamin Franklin, the wise diplomatist, with absolute non-sectarian impulses, went to work and built him a church so that he might speak. After he left and enthusiasm died out, this church became the perpetual legacy of the university until it was compelled to remove it."

Other speakers at the dinner were Assistant District Attorney E. Crosby Kindleberger, of New York; Josiah Penniman, professor of English literature at the university; Harry Bowers Mingle, of East Orange; Professor Edwin T. Darby, of the university, and Rabbi Charles I. Hoffman.

Professor Penniman spoke on the great advancement made in the number of matriculates, the beautiful buildings and the increase of faculty. He drew comparisons between the U. of P. and other institutions, and declared that it was the most cosmopolitan of all. Professor Darby enumerated the States and the counties represented at the university, which he also lauded as one of the leading institutions of the world over. He dwelt for some time on the great number of Chinese attending there.

Before the dinner began the annual election of officers was held, as follows: President, Edward S. Hawke, '95 medicine; first vice-president, Mr. Mingle, '99 college; second vice-president, E. S. Sherman, '97, medicine; secretary and treasurer, Archibald E. Boice, '00, dentistry. There were about sixty of the graduates at the dinner. Dr. Richard S. Hopkins was toastmaster. The banquet hall was decorated with University of Pennsylvania flags and bunting.

RED BANK HUSBAND SUES HARTFORD DOCTOR.

Hartford, April 9.—Charging alienation of his wife's affections, Walter French, in business at Red Bank, N. J., has brought suit against Dr. Charles E. Froehlich, a retired physician of this city, for $25,000. French, who is young, and whose wife is young and pretty, formerly worked here. A year ago he lived in the house the physician occupied.

French says that he was then jealous of his wife, but she set his fears at rest. He says that while he was absent the physician, aged sixty-f[illegible] obtained hypnotic control over [illegible] French. He alleges that after [illegible] had taken his wife from Hartf[illegible] and she was no longer under Fr[illegible]lich's influence, she admitted her [illegible]fection for Froehlich.

Dr. Froehlich says the suit i[illegible] attempt to get money from him. [illegible] lives at 255 Trumbull street, [illegible] city. Mrs. French, whose m[illegible] name was Sadie Trayer, is with [illegible] sister, at 188 East avenue, East [illegible] walk. She married French in [illegible] They have a little daughter.

Rev. Hervey Wood, of New [illegible] will occupy the pulpit of the [illegible] Baptist church tomorrow m[illegible] and evening.

"You'd better go home," I said firmly. "Go home and go to bed. You're sleepy. You can have Sullivan's red necktie to dream over if you think it will help any."

Mrs. Klopton's voice came drowsily from the next room, punctuated by a yawn. "Oh, I forgot to tell you," she called, with the suspicious lisp which characterizes her at night, "somebody called up about noon, Mr. Lawrence. It was long distance, and he said he would call again. The name was"—she yawned—"Sullivan."

CHAPTER XII.

The Gold Bag.

I have always smiled at those cases of spontaneous combustion which, like fusing the component parts of a seidlitz powder, unite two people in a bubbling ephermeral ecstasy. But sure-surely there is possible, with but a single meeting, an attraction so great, a community of mind and interest so strong, that between that first meeting and the next the bond may grow into something stronger. This is especially true, I fancy, of people with temperament, the modern substitute for imagination. It is a nice question whether lovers begin to love when they are together, or when they are apart.

Not that I followed any such line of reasoning at the time. I would not even admit my folly to myself. But during the restless hours of that first night after the accident, when my back ached with lying on it, and any other position was torture, I found my thoughts constantly going back to Alison West. I dropped into a doze, to dream of touching her fingers again to comfort her, and awoke to find I had patted a teaspoonful of medicine out of Mrs. Klopton's indignant hand. What was it McKnight had said about making an egregious ass of myself?

And that brought me back to Richey, and I fancy I groaned. There is no use expatiating on the friendship between two men who have gone together through college, have quarreled and made it up, fussed together over politics and debated creeds for years; men don't need to be told, and women cannot understand. Nevertheless, I groaned. If it had been any one but Rich!

Some things were mine, however, and I would hold them: The halcyon breakfast, the queer hat, the pebble in her small shoe, the gold bag with the broken chain—the bag! Why, it was in my pocket at that moment.

I got up painfully and found my coat. Yes, there was the purse, bulging with an opulent suggestion of wealth inside. I went back to bed again, somewhat dizzy, between effort and the touch of the trinket, so lately hers. I held it up by its broken chain and gloated over it. By careful attention to orders, I ought to be out in a day or so. Then—I could return it to her. I really ought to do that; it was valuable, and I wouldn't care to trust it to the mail. I could run down to Richmond, and see her once—there was no disloyalty to Rich in that.

I had no intention of opening the little bag. I put it under my pillow—which was my reason for refusing to have the linen slips changed, to Mrs. Klopton's dismay. And sometimes during the morning, while I lay under a virgin field of white, ornamented with strange flowers, my cigarettes hidden beyond discovery, and Science and Health on a table by my elbow, as if by the merest accident, I slip my hand under my pillow and touch it reverently.

McKnight came in about 11. I heard his car at the curb, followed almost immediately by his slam at the front door, and his usual clamor on the stairs. He had a bottle under his arm, rightly surmising that I had been forbidden stimulant, and a large box of cigarettes in his pocket, suspecting my deprivation.

"Well," he said cheerfully. "How did you sleep after keeping me up half the night?"

I slipped my hand around; the purse was well covered.

"Have it now, or wait till I get the cork out?" he rattled on.

"I don't want anything," I protested. "I wish you wouldn't be so darned cheerful, Richey." He stopped whittling to stare at me.

"'I am saddest when I sing!'" he quoted unctuously. "It's pure reaction, Lollie. Yesterday the sky was low; I was digging for my best friend. To-day—he lies before me, his peevish self. Yesterday I thought the notes were burned; to-day—I look forward to a good cross-country chase, and with luck we will draw." His voice changed suddenly. "Yesterday—she was in Seal Harbor. To-day—she is here."

"Here in Washington?" I asked, as naturally as I could.

"Yes. Going to stay a week or two."

"Oh, I had a little hen and she had a wooden leg
And nearly every morning she used to lay an egg—"

"Will you stop that racket, Rich! It's the real thing this time, I suppose?"

"She's the best little chicken that we have on the farm
And another little drink won't do us any harm—"

he finished, twisting out the corkscrew. Then he came over and sat down on the bed.

"Well," he said judicially, "since you drag it from me, I think perhaps it is. You—you're such a confirmed woman-hater that I hardly knew how you would take it."

"Nothing of the sort," I denied testily. "Because a man reaches the age of 30 without making maudlin love to every—"

"I've taken to long country rides," he went on reflectively, without listening to me, "and yesterday I ran over a sheep; nearly went into the ditch. But there's a Providence that watches over fools and lovers, and just now I know darned well that I'm one, and I have a sneaking idea I'm both."

"You are both," I said with disgust. "If you can be rational for one moment, I wish you would tell me why that man Sullivan called me over the telephone yesterday morning."

"Probably hadn't yet discovered the Bronson notes—providing you hold to your theory that the theft was incidental to the murder. May have wanted his own clothes again, or to thank you for yours. Search me; I can't think of anything else." The doctor came in just then.

As I said before, I think a lot of my doctor—when I am ill. He is a young man, with an air of breezy self-confidence and good humor. He looked directly past the bottle, which is a very valuable accomplishment, and shook hands with McKnight until I could put the cigarettes under the bedclothes. He had interdicted tobacco. Then he sat down beside the bed and felt around the bandages with hands as gentle as a baby's.

"Pretty good shape," he said. "How did you sleep?"

"Oh, occasionally," I replied. "I would like to sit up, doctor."

"Nonsense. Take a rest while you have an excuse for it. I wish to thunder I could stay in bed for a day or so. I was up all night."

"Have a drink," McKnight said, pushing over the bottle.

"Twins!" The doctor grinned.

"Have two drinks."

But the medical man refused.

"I wouldn't even wear a champagne-colored necktie during business hours," he explained. "By the way, I had another case from your accident, Mr. Blakeley, last yesterday afternoon. Under the tongue, please." He stuck a thermometer in my mouth.

I had a sudden terrible vision of the amateur detective coming to light, note-book, cheerful impertinence and incriminating data. "A small man?" I demanded, "gray hair—"

"Keep your mouth closed," the doctor said peremptorily. "No. A woman, with a fractured skull. Beautiful case. Van Kirk was up to his eyes and sent for me. Hemorrhage, right-sided paralysis, irregular pupils—all the trimmings. Worked for two hours."

"Did she recover?" McKnight put in. He was examining the doctor with a new awe.

"She lifted her right arm before I left," the doctor finished cheerily, "so the operation was a success, even if she should die."

"Good heavens," McKnight broke in, "and I thought you were just an ordinary mortal, like the rest of us! Let me touch you for luck. Was she pretty?"

"Yes, and young. Had a wealth of bronze-colored hair. Upon my soul, I hated to cut it."

McKnight and I exchanged glances.

"Do you know her name, doctor?" I asked.

MRS. ALEXANDER SAYS NEW ASYLUM NOT NEEDED.

Trenton, April 9.—Mrs. Caroline B. Alexander, of Hoboken, came to Trenton early yesterday to protest against the signing of the bill permitting the Hudson freeholders to expend $1,250,000 for a new insane asylum at Snake Hill. Mrs. Alexander was disappointed to learn that the Governor had given positive instructions that he was not to be disturbed during his consideration of bills and that therefore she could not see him. To make sure of being here on time, Mrs. Alexander had come by automobile, having made an early start from her home in Hoboken.

The Governor's secretary assured Mrs. Alexander that the bill would not be acted upon before next week, and that she would have an opportunity to present her arguments against it to the Governor at 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon. Mrs. Alexander said that she was thoroughly familiar with the conditions at Snake Hill and knew that $100,000 would be ample to cover the cost of an addition to the present hospital which would supply every want for the present. She regarded the proposed expenditure of $1,250,000 as gross and unnecessary extravagance. The bill has the backing of many Hudson county politicians.

Jacob Pfaff, of this city, has been visiting his parents at North Branch.

Miss Emma Bell, of this city, has been visiting relatives at North Branch.

Charles Volkman, of this city, who has been visiting relatives at Raritan, has returned.

Mrs. T. E. Currin and children, of the borough, have been visiting Mrs. C. N. Wilson, of East Millstone.

Make Appointments By Telephone

HERE is one of the many time-saving advantages of telephone service.

If you call upon a business man unannounced, he may, perhaps, be engaged, or out of his office, so that your trip is useless—your time wasted.

The hours saved by the use of the telephone at home or at business are worth many times the cost of the service.

Remember, too, that every Bell Telephone is a Long Distance station.

Relieves Urinary and Kidney Troubles, Backache, Straining, Swelling, Etc.
Stops Pain in the Bladder, Kidneys and Back.

Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say goodbye forever to the scalding, dribbling, straining, or too frequent passage of urine; the forehead and the back-of-the-head aches; the stitches and pains in the back; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eye; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swoolen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps, unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and the despondency?

I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend on, and if you want to make a quick recovery, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $3.50 just for writing this prescription, but I have it and will be glad to send it to you entirely free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, K1239 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. As you will see when you get it, this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has great healing and pain-conquering powers.

It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home

PROPOSALS FOR COAL

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, N. J., at a meeting held April 4, 1910, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Monday, April 18th, 1910, at eight o'clock, at the Board room in the High School building, corner Ninth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for furnishing eight hundred tons (more or less) of the best anthracite coal for steaming and hot-air purposes; in the different sizes. The quantity required of each size can be obtained at the office of the Secretary of the Board, High School building, Ninth street and Arlington avenue.

Parties bidding will be required to specify in their bids the name of the coal and shippers of same.

All coal to be thoroughly screened over a selve fine enough to take out all dust and small particles of coal, and to be prepared acceptable to the Committee on Fuel, or their agent or representative.

All coal to be placed in the coal bins within the public school buildings without any extra expense to the Board for handling or trimming the coal in the bins, and to be delivered at such time as the Board may direct.

Bids to specify whether long or short tons.

Payment for all coal contracted for to be made after July 1, 1910.

All proposals to be endorsed "Proposals for Coal," and addressed to the Secretary of the Board.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Board will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided such parties or their agents choose to be then and there present; and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

No bids will be received until the day and hour above named, and none thereafter.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

For the Board of Education.
F. B. CLARK,
Clerk of the Board.

MISSION BAND HOLDS ITS ANNUAL ELECTION

Reports for the year and the election of officers, together with the apportionment of the money in the treasury for missionary purposes comprised the chief business at the annual meeting of the Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church yesterday afternoon. There was a good attendance and much interest was shown in the business.

These officers were elected: President, Mrs. Leonard Smith; vice-president, Mrs. Charles M. Dolliver; treasurer, Mrs. A. B. Cole; secretary, Miss Winifred Rapalje.

The yearly report presented by Miss Gertrude Schlief shows that nine meetings were held. After definite interest in Arabia was assured, the band studied the religion and conditions of women in that neglected country for three consecutive meetings. The interest in Kentucky increased through Mr. VanZanten's talk of his summer's work among the mountaineers and by study of this field.

A practical application of the band's sympathy and help was shown in a sewing meeting when the domestic committee planned the little gingham dresses to be sent to McKee, Ky. The Mescalero and Winnebago Indians were the subject of one program and enthusiasm in home mission work was the result of a report from the stirring missionary meeting of the Young Women's Branch of Domestic Missions at Dr. Vance's church in Newark.

Many of the members and the sick of the congregation, as well as the shut-ins have been cheered and helped by the kindly visits and beautiful blossoms that have been carried to them by the flower and visiting committee. They have also worked with the C. E. Society in furnishing flowers to the church.

The birthday committee has done excellent work and added considerable money to the treasury. Under the direction of the foreign and domestic committee thirty little garments were made for Miss Sara Curry's work at Netherwood; fifteen children's dresses for the mountaineers; a barrel of clothing valued at $17 was sent to McKee; a box of Christmas gifts and candy valued at $13 was sent to Spring Valley Sunday school; two dresses and accessories, valued at $10 were sent to the daughters of a western missionary; by the gift of a friend the band sent $5 to Gray Hawk, Ky., for medical supplies.

Three-fourths of the extra pledge of $20 for Dr. P. W. Harrison was met by the penny-a-week system. The Forward Movement means that the entertainment committee has worked earnestly as figures will show. The Dutch Market added $91 to the treasury in 1909 and the one recently held netted $98, and the old-fashioned singing school in November realized $102. Of this amount $190 was divided equally between the foreign and home missions, making an increase of $40 over last year's appropriation.

Following the business meeting there was a social time and refeshments were served.

THE FORUM.

The City Court.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Owing to a great interest in children's courts I determined to visit the Saturday morning children's court in Plainfield. What was my surprise in arriving at the court house to learn that other than children cases were being tried. However, I was told that the children were in court and I thought that what children could stand would not hurt a grown woman. I went in to the trials. First a drundard was tried. Then a man who did not support his wife. Then came some disorderly lads, the scum of every city and town. At this point a woman who was present withdrew with her two children. This last case was dismissed without any investigation that children ought not to hear, but the fact remains that the children's court I had gone to visit was not a children's court at all.

Cannot Plainfield hope before long to have a special time set aside for the children? I have heard from many quarters of Judge Runyan's kindness to the children and I believe that in the future he will set aside a time and devote it entirely to the trial of their cases.

One point more struck the visitor to the court house. Kindness to the mother must not be identified with kindness to the children. The enlightened opinion of the present day requires (1) a juvenile court, (2) a judge that investigates thoroughly the mother's tearful excuses and works in sympathy with our public school system.

Martine Answers Hand.

Editor, The Daily Press:

In your "Forum" of Thursday, our esteemed fellow citizen, Charles H. Hand, courts a response to his article. As an argument against municipal ownership of the wawter plant. Mr. Hand lays great stress upon the fact that the present company pays the city $6,000 per year in taxes. But there is another side to this particular phase of the subject. The exact figure in taxes paid by the company to the city is $3,974.04 on plant, etc., and the further sum of $1,553.01 as franchise tax, making a total of $5,527.05.

This is all well as far as it goes, but what is the other side? We have 346 hydrants for which the city pays the sum of $5,790; the city pays a further sum of $579 for street sprinkling; also $727 for sewer flushing, making a total sum paid by the city to water company $6,436. So there is not much of this particular argument. But further the sum of $1,500,000 is mentioned as a probable price for the present plant, and seems to be verified as the asking price by the company from other sources. Well if this be the true value of the plant, then the water company is at present paying far too little taxes, for upon inquiry, I find that it is assessed the sum of $236,350. Surely if Mr. Hand's figures are correct the water company should pay about six and one-half times $3,974 or the total of $25,931 yearly in taxes.

Mr. Hand decries the city ownership of a water plant because of the issue of bonds, and yet in the same article he advocates the establishment of a garbage, ash and incinderating plant, which must surely involve a bodn issue. Most of our citizens will recall the experiment in this direction a few years ago, as a disastrous failure. No! Mr. Editor, to my mind it would be a step backwards to vote no! to the proposition to own and operate our own water plant. The history of other cities justify such a step. This city is as capable and honest as any other constituency in the land. There need be no bitter feelings or personalities on this matter. We are all citizens justly proud of our home town and only seek that which shall advance the best interests of all.

JAMES E. MARTINE.

Question for Taxpayers.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Do not be hoodwinked into anything you do not understand. Some people say: "Will you vote for or against the city owning its own water plant," not stating what your vote means. This is a very nice and easy way of putting the question.

To illustrate what this has done for us in the past I wish to call your attention to our sewer system. When this city wanted to place sewers in the street, the Mayor of the city employed me to obtain signatures of the property owners so that the city could apply to the State Legislature to have a law passed enabling us to have the sewers built. This matter was left entirely to the Common Council as to what system of sewerage should be installed; the people had nothing to do with it. First a set of sewer beds were built which were an absolute failure. At additional expense these beds were changed and have seemed to be all right until the present time; now the sewer question is being agitated again and probably at a lot more expense the beds will either have to be enlarged, another system put in or we will have to build a sewer to tide water. Don't you suppose that if this question had been left to the people, something more satisfactory than this has been, would have been the outcome?

I do not like the idea of giving up any rights that I may have as a voter and taxpayer, until I know how my agent or representative is going to act in my behalf. I think it would be all right to let the people decide by a vote at the coming election whether we want to own our water plant or not; if the votes agree in the affirmative, let the Common Council investigate and report their findings; after due consideration on the part of the voters hold another election to decide whether we want to build a plant, buy the one now supplying the city or make a new contract with the present water company. I believe and I think others do too, that the people who pay the bills should have something to say about how that same money should be spent.

I notice that a gentleman who lives entirely out of the city, does not vote here, whose name as a taxpayer does not appear upon our city books (that I can find) seems to have a great deal to say about "going ahead and adding the expense to the city debt;" this is a great deal like my going to a store and ordering everything I would like to have, sending the bill to some one else to pay. It makes all the difference in the world. This water question is for the voters and taxpayers of the city of Plainfield to consider and not outsiders.

I trust that the voters will take his advice like I do and like many others do, not with the proverbial grain of salt, but a whole spoonful.

Taxpayers large and small think well before you vote.

CHARLES H. HAND.

Price of Water Plant.

Editor, The Daily Press:

In the article contributed by Mr. Charles H. Hand, giving his views on the M. O. Water Company question, his second and third reasons for opposing municipal ownership are, first on account of a loss of $6,000 tax paid by the company to the city, second, the bonding of the city for at least $1,500,000. Now I am at a loss to know where or how he gets the figures. Of course the tax figure must be correct as that is a matter of record. This figure of a million and a half seems a very high figure to have to pay for the property, basing it on the amount of taxes paid, undoubtedly the assessor has consulted with the water company as to value for assessment purposes, the same as he does with others, and as our manner of assessing is on what is supposed to be full valuation—either the assessor and water company have made an error in valuation, or Mr. Hand has; but for argument sake we will admit Mr. Hand is correct (he was one of the assessors, he should know).

Now not to crowd the value up to what Mr. Hand says is a low figure for condemnation value, let us take it at $1,200,000 to be more conservative, at the rate of $1.68 the tax would be $20,160 or $14,160 more than they are now paying—and the city is loosing this amount of tax. Now I note in an article last evening that the city is paying about $11,000 to the Water Company for water used (I do not know if this figure includes water used by the schools or not). If this figure is correct, add this to the $14,160 loss in tax and we find the city's water cost us $25,160, plus the water bill of the schools, if not in the above figure.

Now it does not seem fair to the water company to give out such figures without Mr. Hand is absolutely sure he is correct, but if he is correct, then it seems that the city is not being treated fairly. This is tax assessing time and the city should see if they are correct figures or not. Now if I understand it correctly, the city cannot find out if this is a correct value or not and the only way is to vote FOR on April 19 and give the Council power to investigate.

THE MORALITY OF HEALTH

Topic of Intense Interest to All Humans Presented at All Souls' Church.

MRS. ANNA G. SPENCER SPEAKS.

Methods of Caring for the Body as Well as the Soul Needed—Other Lectures to Follow.

The first of a series of "social welfare services was held in All Souls' church last night, Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer being the speaker. A fairly large audience made up from the membership of various denominations listened with deep interest to the address which had for its topic, "The New Morality of Health."

Mrs. Spencer gave evidence of a close knowledge of social conditions and gave in detail some of the remedies which under the auspices of various societies here and elsewhere are being applied to relieve, upbuild and energize those who are ignorant of the relation which good health bears to correct living.

The fight being waged by modern students of social and ethical economics for the enlightenment of the people, the necessity for the propaganda against asceticism and uncleanness all were touched upon vigorously and with a clearsightedness which held the attention of all until the last sentence was spoken.

Mrs. Spencer related the conditions under which children are ushered into the world; the mortality of babies up to five years old; how the little ones are now being cared for among the poorer classes; how Dr. Josephine Baker, of New York, feels the pulses of all the tenement babies through her corps of physicians, and lastly how these little ones are catalogued so that their progress from week to week may be carefully noted and helped.

Even criminals are being looked after in these days of advanced thought. That is, their surroundings from a sanitary standpoint. The old prison walls of Sing Sing contain unlimited millions of germs of tuberculosis and fevers, according to the speaker, and these men and women should not be tortured although they must take their punishment. They have the inalienable right of protection against disease. Plagues and epidemics are all attributable to the sins of ommission and commission of men, but that should not condemn the whole social fabric; it should be remedied and that is what is being done. In this connection Mrs. Spencer said that the annual epidemic of typhoid fever in the city of Philadelphia is the direct result of graft. Pittsburgh, too, came in for a similar raking over.

The investigations which are being made in every city are disclosing strange and appalling facts regarding infant mortality. New Zealand shows the best death rate among children between the ages of one and five years, the figures showing that only one in thirteen male children dies while one in sixteen of female children dies between those years, but in New York and other localities it is vastly worse; one in six in New York.

Working girls whose average time behind the counter or at the machine is seven and a half years, generally bring into the home, if they marry, a broken down body unequal to the task of properly bringing up a family of children, or being mothers of healthy ones. These conditions are being remedied as fast and as much as possible. Premature old age is another of the troubles which have been investigated by the societies and remedies pointed out. Certain hours of rest, good healthy food and a certain amount of exercise are demanded for those whose sedentary habits and occupations make them grow old faster than nature intended them to do. A man instead of being old and laid on the shelf at forty-five should at that age be in the prime of life and even remain vigorous until he is eighty or ninety.

Then the matter of personal cleanliness has much to do with physical betterment. The speaker told of a case discovered by a school teacher in one of the new schools where shower baths have been installed. It was decided to let the children know that once a week all must have their bodies washed. One little girl refused three weeks successively to submit to the treatment. The teacher wrote to her mother telling of the girl's conduct which brought the reply that "my little girl is sewed up for the winter and I am not going to unsew her to get her skin wet as that will make her sick." Mrs. Spencer told what effect this would have on the child's after life if she learned then how wrong her mother was. Many other interesting things were told which enlightened the audience

MISSIONARY MEETING ON NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

Plans are completed for the Young People's Union Missionary meeting and conference to be held at the First M. E. church, Friday night. On that occasion all the Christian Endevor Societies, Epworth Leagues and independent societies, as well as the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A., have been invited to be present. The church congregations have also been included.

The meeting will be addressed by W. E. Doughty, a worker of the Young People's Interdenominational Movement, under whose auspices he comes to this city.

At 7:15 the executive officers of the various young people's societies, Sunday school officers, pastors and missionary committees will hold a conference in Vincent chapel to hear Mr. Doughty on "The World Responsibility of the Young People and Missionary Education in the Sunday schools."

After the conference those attending are invited to remain for the mass meeting in the main auditorium, where the same speaker, assisted by B. C. Bonnarjee, a native convert of India, will lecture and show moving pictures on "India and the Silver Bay Conferences." An offering to defray the necessary expenses of the enterprise will be reecived, but otherwise admission is free to all.

ST. JOSEPH'S FUND HELPED BY CONCERT

A splendid audience attended the concert given in Y. M. C. A. hall on Friday night for the benefit of the building fund of St. Joseph's church and those who were present will remember the great musical treat for many days to come. The artists whose names appeared on the program more than lived up to their reputations and the magnificent playing by Joseph A. Denny, a violinist, whose marvelous technique brought him the approbation of Ysaye the virtuoso, gave a remarkable interpretation of difficult music.

Miss Mathilde Bruguiere, soprano, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera house, New York, was another whose splendid accomplishments were applauded. Mr. Denny is undoubtedly a master of the violin. He played with a finesse and poise astonishing in one so young. Chopin's Valse, Opus 64 No. 2, by special request. Both these artists responded generously with encores and delighted the audience by their selections.

Mrs. Winser, who has pleased many audiences in Brooklyn, sang several numbers with marked ability. Mrs. F. M. Ward, whose splendid contralto voice has been heard by Plainfield audiences before sang with refinement and taste. Miss Ida Randolph Smalley, was heard to advantage in a Liszt Rhapsody as a piano solo and Herbert Smith's work on the 'cello received approbation. The entire program was splendid.

CHARGE AGAINST CODINGTON.

The Supreme Court at Trenton last Thursday ordered the suspension of Horace Codington, of Somerville, as a member of the New Jersey bar, pending a decision upon a writ of error taken out by Mr. Codington carrying his conviction to the Court of Errors. Mr. Codington was not convicted as stated in this paper at that time of embezzlement, the dispatch to that effect being erroneous. He was convicted under section 169 of the Crimes Act, 1898, the charge being that "as an officer of the township of Warren he did unlawfully obtain moneys from said township not then lawfully and legally due him as such officer." Embezzlement is a serious common law offense and no charge of that magnitude was made against Mr. Codington.

CLIMAX OF FARMERS' FEUD

George Underhill and Freeman Straight Cause Some Real Excitement.

CONSTABLE STOPS THE FRACAS.

Two Men Placed Under Arrest Will Have Chance to Air Grievances Before Justice Snape This Afternoon.

The peaceful village of Watchung was thrown into a state of excitement on Saturday night by a report that George H. Underhill was trying to hang former Game Warden Freeman Straight to an old apple tree. It is one of the unique cases in North Plainfield police history which will be aired before Justice Snape in the borough police station this afternoon.

According to information given out at borough police headquarters Underhill and Straight have been nursing "grudges" against each other for a long time. The climax came on Saturday evening about 7:30 o'clock when Mr. and Mrs. Straight were returning to their home from a shopping expedition to this city

The fracas occurred in a little lane or driveway that adjoins both properties. The grudge is the result of a dispute between the men as to who has a right away in the lane. While Mr. and Mrs. Straight were driving through the lane, it is alleged, that Underhill struck Straight's horse with a rake. Straight, it is said, retaliated by using his horse whip on Underhill.

The battle was progressing at a merry clip, when it is said, Underhill shouted to his young son to bring him a coil of rope from the barn. Young Underhill did as directed, and at the behest of his father, it is declared that he lassoed Straight while the latter was battling in his wagon.

Father and son, it is said, overpowered Straight, pinioned his arms and body with about one hundred feet of the rope. When this was accomplished Underhill, Sr., it is said, hurled the rope over the limb of an oldl apple tree, and was directing his efforts to string up the former game warden.

In the meantime, Mrs. Straight became frightened and hurried to the home of Constable Clemens. When the officer of the law arrived on the scene, it is said, Underhill was about to dangle Straight from the apple tree. The constable, however, ended hostilities, by placing both men under arrest.

At police headquarters Straight charged Underhill with trying to hang him and Mrs. Straight backed her husband's story up in every detail. Justice Snape heard the stories of all concerned and released the men on bail to appear in court this afternoon.

FORMER DUNELLEN GIRL WEDS PLAINFIELDER.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Beulah Stuckley, of Jamestown, N. Y., formerly of Dunellen, to A. E. Galloway, of this city. The ceremony was performed on Saturday, April 2, in the Bethany United Evangelical church, at Lehighton, Pa., by the Rev. H. E. Farsnacht, and the couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. George Gilbert. Mr. and Mrs. Galloway will reside on Leland avenue, this city.

Birthday Surprise.

Mrs. A. D. Diman, of 42 Lincoln place, gave a birthday surprise party to her mother, Mrs. Hill, Friday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock. Mrs. Hill was seventy-five years old, and there was a birthday dinner with a birthday cake bearing seventy-five candles. There were about twenty neighbors and friends in the vicinity present. Rev. Dr. Joseph Buchanan, father of Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, read an original poem on the occasion and those present presented Mrs. Hill with a comfortable mission rocking chair. The whole affair was a complete surprise.

Michael A. Hinton.

Michael A. Hinton, aged 22 years, son of Mrs. Ruffin Robinson and the late Thomas Hinton, died at his home on East Third street, last night. The funeral will be held from Bethel chapel tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

MRS. DUNHAM CUTS CORN; DIES OF BLOOD POISON

Mrs. Keziah C. Dunham, widow of Randolph Dunham, aged 81 years, of 425 Madison avenue, died at Muhlenberg Hospital Saturday from blood poisoning, following the pairing of a corn two months ago. Her foot and leg became infected. She was a life-long member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

Mrs. Dunham leaves two sons, F. A. Dunham and O. M. Dunham; also a daughter, Mrs. T. A. Lieber, of Carteret. The funeral will be held from the late home at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

CHARLES ZIMMER DIES IN HIS THIRTIETH YEAR

Charles Zimmer, twenty-nine years old, of East Orange, died at his home in that city yesterday afternoon after a five weeks' illness from an abscess on the brain. He leaves besides a widow several brothers in this city and his mother.

Mr. Zimmer was a member of Trinity Reformed church and a Mason and at one time was in the employ of the Aluminum Plate and Press Co. as stenographer. He learned the trade of printer in The Daily Press composing room, but had not followed the trade for some years. Recently he has been in the employ of an importing concern in New York city.

No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral, but the remains will be brought to this city for interment.

FIRE HYDRANT WORSTED IN SCRAP WITH AUTO

Notwithstanding the agitation which is prominent now in all the civic and other circles in the city there happened an incident, or it might better be called an accident, this morning which will cost the water company something and perhaps eventually somebody else a trifling sum and in which water will be the paramount issue.

When Michael Waldron lost control of an automobile he was driving this morning around the corner of Fourth street at Watchung avenue one of the fire hydrants stood in the way of his onward progress with the result that the hydrant, as well as the machine, was rendered hors de combat and in a jiffy a geyser was spouting five feet high and "the gift of nature" went swirling down both streets in an irresistible stream. It spouted for at least a half hour before an employe of the water company could turn it off and in the meantime some attention was given to the automobile.

The machine was "Mfrs., 72," the property of the Laing Automobile Company. The hydrant before giving way to the onslaught of the machine managed to put it out of business, puncturing the front of the radiator enough to show its indignation at being summarily knocked from its place of silent vigil in front of Marshall's laundry. Fortunately for the people who have their household linen at the cleansing establishment the slight deviation from the path of rectitude on the part of the automobile will not affect the water supply in that place of cleanliness and business is going on as usual.

JUNIORS PRESENT "OUR MUTUAL FRIEND."

"Our Mutual Friend" was presented by the junior class of the Plainfield High School, Saturday night, and won merited praise. Miss Thyra Stiles played the leading part of "Bella" with much ability. Everitt Smith, as "Rokesmith," fitted the part well and was an ardent lover. Miss Bertha Nelson and Nelson Ramsey, as "Mr. and Mrs. Boffin," furnished a whole evening of laughter. Miss Louise Bird as "Mrs. Wilfer," and Edward Van Housen, as "Mr. Wilfer," were capital. Sewall Ulrich and Miss Margaret Hutchinson male two excellent youthful lovers. S. B. Howe, Jr., received a gift between the acts in appreciation of his coaching work.

Presbytery to Meet Here.

The Elizabeth Presbytery will meet at Hope chapel Tuesday morning, April 19, at 10 o'clock. The Ladies' Aid Society will provide for the entertainment of the visiting ministers.

Beckstein Farm Sold.

William Jeffery has sold the A. C. Beckstein farm of ninety-two acres on Park avenue to Leffler and Co., of New York. The tract will be cut up into building lots.

TROLLEY RAMS AUTOCAR

Leonard W. Lott, of Fanwood, and F. O. Ball, of Mountainside, Injured.

LACERATED HEADS AND FACES.

Responsibility for Accident Not Yet Determined—Muhlenberg Hospital Gets One Patient, the Other at Home.

An accident which might have resulted more seriously occurred in Fanwood yesterday a little after noon and as a result F. O. Ball, a nurseryman, of Mountainside, is in Muhlenberg Hospital severely injured, and Leonard W. Lott, of Fanwood, is confined to the house with several stitches in his forehead. Mr. Lott and Mr. Ball were in the former's automobile and were driving slowly with the clutch in the intermediate speed, when trolley car No. 1923, in charge of Motorman James Donohue and Conductor John R. Low, both of Bound Brook, side swiped teh auto, throwing its two occupants out onto the road, and the automobile up against a telegraph pole, damiging the machine badly.

Mr. Lott, who was driving the car, escaped with a badly lacerated face and forehead and was taken to his home in a carriage, but Mr. Ball was less fortunate. He received a gash in the back of his head and had his arm severely injured though not broken. It was at first thought that he was injured internally, but after a thorough examination at the hospital it was found to be not so. Dr. F. W. Westcott attended both men.

As to the responsibility for the accident it will probably have to be decided by the courts. It is claimed, however, that the trolley car was going at such terrific speed that it was impossible for the motorman to bring it to a stop before traversing more than 300 feet beyond the scene of the accident. Mr. Lott states that he was going slowly and that if the motorman had used ordinary caution the accident could have been avoided. The road at the point where the accident happened, Forest and Westfield avenues, gives clear views in both directions, yet the motorman claims that the blame lies with Mr. Lott because of carelessness. On the other hand people living in the neighborhood claim that it is the rule that the trolley crews use this stretch of road to make up time and invariably hit up the pace at this point.

This is Mr. Lott's second accident since owning the machine. The car skidded several weeks ago landing against a tree, but on this occasion Mr. Lott was not injured, but the machine was damaged.

PRESBYTERIANS RAISE $2,600 FOR THE SUPPORT OF CHAPELS.

The annual appeal and offering for the chapels connected with the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, was made at the church yesterday morning, when Rev. Joseph McKelvey, of Warren chapel; Rev. L. R. Howard, of Hope chapel, and Rev. F. D. Tildon, of Bethel chapel, were present to assist the pastor of the home church, Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie.

Each one made an appeal for funds, telling of the work of the past year. The sum of $2,600 was raised, although $5,000 was asked for. Another appeal will be made later.

Dr. O'Hanlon at Grace M. E.

Rev. Thomas O'Hanlon, D. D., of Jersey City, former president of Pennington Seminary, preached to two large congregations at Grace M. E. church yesterday. "The Mystery of the Unseen" was Dr. O'Hanlon's subject at both morning and evening service. At each service subscriptions to the annual financial budget were received.

Entertained at P. C. C.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Righter gave a dinner-dance at the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday, in connection with the formal opening of the club. They entertained sixteen at dinner, which was served by Superintendent John Hilton, after which there was a dance. During the afternoon a number visited the clubhouse.

Received 1910 Hudson Touring Cars.

Burleigh; Spring Is Here, Edith A. Dick; Anvil Chorus from Il Trovatore, Giuseppe Verdi; Marguerite Valse from Faust, Gounod; march, Playmatse, Lincoln.

AN ALL STAR CAST FOR THIS CONCERT

Unusual interest is being shown in the concert to be given at the Plainfield High School tomorrow night for the benefit of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield under the direction of Joseph McIntyre. This is due largely to the fact that the entertainment will mark the first appearance here of Mme. Desmond, whose reputation as a singer is world-wide. Other noted artists will include Dr. Carl Dufft, who is always a favorite; Edward Strong and Hans Kronold, 'cellist.

The program:

(a), Robin Goodfellow (Puck's song), Morgan; (b), After, Elgar, Dr. Carl Dufft; (a), Before the Dawn, Chadwick; (b), Over the Dessert, Kellie, Edward Strong; (a), Beloved it is Morn, Aylward; (b), Love the Pedlar, German, Miss Mary Desmond; (a), Larghetto, Mozart; (b), Rondo, Boccherini, Hans Kronold; (a), The Paupers Drive, Homer; (b), Recompense, Hammond, Mr. Strong; (a), All Souls' Day, Strauss; (b), Summer Noon, Lang; (c), Slumber Song from "Jocelyn," Goddard, Miss Desmond; (a), Albnmblatt, Wagner; (b), Vito, Popper, Mr. Kronold; (a), The Land o' the Leal, Foote; (b), A Border Ballad, Cowen, Dr. Dufft; (a), Summer Night, with obligato for 'celio, Thomas, Miss Desmond.

GAMBLERS EVADE PRIEST AFTER WARNING FROM PULPIT.

It appears that certain youths of this city, disregarding the warnings issued by Father B. M. Bogan from the pulpit of St. Mary's church against gambling, have selected a spot outside the city limits where they congregate on Sundays and indulge in their favorite pastime.

Father Bogan is determined to break up the practice and yesterday, accompanied by a police official, both on horseback, tried to come up with the law-breakers. Unfortunately the effort was fruitless. But more Sundays are coming.

PUPIL SLIGHTLY BURNED AT THE WHITTIER SCHOOL.

Miss Claire Newman, aged 13 years, a pupil in the eighth grade of the Stillman School, was severely burned this morning while attending the cooking class at the Whittier School. Her waist caught fire from a gas flame, and her chest, arms and hands were considerably burned before the fire could be extinguished.

Dr. A. F. VanHorn was summoned and after dressing the burns, had the girl removed to her home. Her condition is not considered serious.

Rev. Dr. Herring Ill.

Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who is detained at home by illness, was unable to preach yesterday. In the morning the service was in charge of H. W. Herrman, and Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, of this city, preached in the evening.

Lecture for Parents.

Charles R. Scott, State secretary Boys' Work in the New Jersey Young Men's Christian Associations, will give a stereopticon lecture in the Y. M. C. A. hall Thursday evening, April 14.

WOMAN'S BURNS FATAL

Mrs. Fanny Van Cleef Meets Horrible Death at East Millstone.

BLAZING LAMP THE CAUSE.

Her Night Dress Caught Fire and After Suffering Terrible Agonies for a Day She Passes Away.

Mrs. Fanny VanCleef, widow of Freeholder Cornelius G. VanCleef, aged about sixty-five years, died at her home in East Millstone, last night, as the result of burns received on Saturday night while trying to throw a blazing hanging lamp out of the window. The lamp was suspended in a frame in the dining-room and in trying to release it from the frame, she upset some of the burning oil which set fire to her night clothes.

Before the flames could be extinguished, Mrs. VanCleef's feet and practically her whole body, arms and hands were burned terribly. As soon as the local physician was summoned he saw that Mrs. VanCleef's burns were fatal. She was only conscious at times and passed away about twenty-four hours after the accident.

Mrs. VanCleef had retired for the night, when her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Arthur VanCleef, in attempting to extinguish the lamp, turned the wick too low in the oil. In an instant the lamp was in a blaze.

Mrs. Arthur VanCleef's screams attracted her mother-in-law, who hastened to assist her inthrowing the lamp out of the window. The lamp was caught in some way and the burning oil set fire to her night clothes. The neighbors responded quickly, but Mrs. VanCleef was beyond help. All they could do was to put out the fire in the house.

Mrs. VanCleef's maiden name was Miss Fanny Rohrback VanPelt and she was a native of New York State. She removed to New Jersey when a child. When a young woman she was first married to Jehial VanCleef, of East Millstone, a brother of Tenadore VanCleef, of West End avenue, and Mrs. Garret Eick, of East Third street. He died in 1893, a few years ago she married Freeholder Cornelius G. VanCleef, also of East Millstone, who died three or four years ago. She is survived by one son, Arthur VanCleef, who is well known here. The funeral will be held from the late home, tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Rev. Henry Lockwood, pastor of the Reformed church, of East Millstone, of which Mrs. VanCleef was a member, will officiate.

HOUSE FLY'S WORK AS SHOWN IN PICTURES.

The life, origin and habits of the disease-breeding fly will be seen in motion pictures at Proctor's theatre at the first three afternoon and night performances this week. The Eclipse Film Company has secured pictures of unusual interest of this subject under the direction of Dr. W. A Evans, George Kleine, of Chicago; Edward Hatch, Jr., and eminent scientists.

The pictures show the fly laying its eggs in filth, each fly laying 120 eggs and in twelve days these are developed into full-fledged flies ready to begin the work of death. It is estimated that the progeny of a single pair in one season is one sextillion. The cost of the house fly annually in money is $350,000,000 and 170,000,000 years of human life.

These pictures have been exhibited in all the large cities of the United States and are endorsed by leading authorities. Housewives and mothers should see them, to learn how to prevent their children from catching contagious diseases and how to exterminate the pest.

AUGUSTUS FISK HURT; HIS INJURIES SLIGHT.

Augustus Fisk, son of Mayor and Mrs. Charles J. Fisk, of West Seventh street, was thrown out of a carriage as he drove into his yard at 6 o'clock last night, and received slight injuries, being scratched and bruised. He was unconscious for a half hour. The horse, broken to a saddle, was frightened by a motorcycle, and made a quick turn, throwing Mr. Fisk into the driveway. He will be detained at home for a few days.

Talked Temperance.

Rev. Hervey Wood, of New York, who is engaged by the Northern Baptist Convention to advance the cause of temperance in the denominational churches, occupied the pulpit of the First Baptist church yesterday morning and night.

Perhaps you are not aware that this basement section of ours contains as much stock as an ordinary store, but such is a fact, and such a vast collection of everything that is needed for household use. Spring supplies, such as Rakes, Hoes, Shovels, Forks, garden tools of quality and at lower prices than you can find elsewhere.

Step Ladders, Garbage Cans, Market Baskets, Mrs. Potts Sad Irons, Gas Plates, two and three burners, Jap-a-Lac in all colors, Clothes Baskets, Yacht Mops, Tea Kettles, nickled copper, Copper Bottom Boilers, Toilet Sets, Liquid Veneer, Bath Room Fixtures, Alarm Clocks, Wax Paper, Shelf Paper, etc., etc.

Screen Wire Netting, 15 to 42 inches, from 9c to 21c yard.

LADIES' FINE NECKWEAR

We are headquarters for everything new and novel in fine Neckwear. Such a magnificent collection it would be hard to beat. If it's new in neckwear you will find it at the "White Store," no matter what you may want in this line you can get it here, from the cheapest to the very finest.

LADIES' HOSIERY

Our new Spring line of Ladies', Misses' and Boys' Hosiery has just arrived. No better possible assortment can be shown anywhere, and such a variety of styles. We carry the best brands and makes for women, girls and boys, making this department at all times a very busy one.

Our Millinery Showing

Stands at the top. We have never been so busy in this popular department. So you must think there is a reason for it. Our styles are so different from the ordinary showing; they are not commonplace; in fact our milliners make it a study to see that our patrons are supplied with millinery that is in keeping with their individual wants, and then our prices are so very moderate we can supply you with a costly or medium priced hat to suit every pocketbook.

Children's Dresses

This year we have brought together the most perfect line of Children's Dresses to be found anywhere. This line embraces the ordinary ginghams and chambray materials to the elaborate white lawns, handsomely trimmed with lace and embroidery. Prices from

1.19 to 5.98

Corset Dept.

We carry every good make that the American market represents, in fact our corset business has so grown that we've had to give the department double the room it formerly occupied. Prices run from

50c to 7.50

And we make a specialty of corset fitting. Try us next time.

DISTINCTIVENESS AND WORTH ARE CHARACTERISTIC FEATURES OF OUR MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.

We go beyond the point of designing pretty and becoming hats—we bring the cost down to a basis that has won for us the reputation—"More For Your Money at Teppers."

We do not sacrifice style and we will not sacrifice quality. Our hats present the perfecting of both.

Our designers make appointed trips to New York and as soon as a new idea is introduced you'll find it displayed in our millinery department. A mother may come here and find a suitable cap for her infant babe while right across the aisle are bonnets which are the only style some good grandmother will wear—between these two extremes you'll find hats wide in shape trimmed with a mass of bright hued flowers—or the tailored hat or the new odd shaped turban. All trimmed with good materials and marked at a modest price.

Visit our Millinery Department today. There is much to interest you in viewing the new models.

TEN MILE MOTOR RACE FOR SATURDAY'S MEET

Plainfield's motorcycle race meet, which will be held on the Driving Association's track next Saturday afternoon, April 16, promises to be the real thing in motor racing. Entries are coming in rapidly and as it is Plainfield's initial try at motorcycle racing interest in the affair is keen. Crack riders from throughout the Metropolitan district will be on hand, they coming from Newark, New York, Brooklyn and other sections.

Six events will claim the attention of the riders and there is much variety to the program. Plainfield and nearby riders will be taken care of in two events in which they will be about the only contestants. The first is a two-mile novice and the second a five-mile handicap in which Plainfield riders only are eligible. They will also be free to compete in all other races. Particularly handsome prizes are to be offered, in each case a gold watch will be given to the winners.

The other events and the ones in which the stars will appear along with others are a five-mile handicap for twin cylinder machines, three-mile scratch race for single cylinder motors, one-mile novelty event and a ten-mile handicap for double cylinder motorcycles. This latter will be the big race of the day and track records are likely in the race. Most of the noted riders will be entered by the manufacturers throughout the East and they will be equipped with special racing machines.

Entries are being received at Plainfield by A. D. Honeyman, 112 Madison avenue, or by any of the Plainfield dealers. Claude E. Holgate, of 123 Union street, Newark, is taking the entries of the riders in his city as well as from the Metropolitan district.

GESANG AND TURN VEREINS GRAB A PAIR OF GAMES

The Gesang and Turn Verein ball-tossers made an auspicious start by winning its first two games. On Saturday they downed the Fanwood F. C. by the score of 6 to 5 and yesterday they took the Westfield A. C. into camp by a 6 to 3 score. Luthman secured twenty-seven strikeouts in the two games, fifteen against Fanwood and twelve against Westfield. The scores:

ASSEMBLYMAN THOMPSON DENIES THERE WAS ORGY.

Westfield, April 11.—Lloyd Thompson, Assemblyman from Union County, emphatically denied knowledge of the disgraceful scenes alleged to have taken place in the Assembly chamber during the closing hours of the State Legislature. In an interview Mr. Thompson declared that a practical joke upon a local option member may have been responsible for the reports. He was on the floor of the Assembly all night, he declares, and saw no disorder. If any was committed privately he says, an investigation will disclose the facts.

Mr. Thompson's statements is as follows:

"The accounts of what is alleged to have occurred during the closing hours of the session of the New Jersey Legislature will astonish most of the legislators as much as they have amazed the public. I was present on the floor of the Assembly during the entire night, expecting some of my own bills, and with the exception of a short recess, when all the members partook of a light luncheon, the Legislature was grinding out laws.

"Some practical joker had brought from outside a bottle of beer and placed it on the desk of a local option member. I imagine this incident gave rise to the story of scenes of drunkenness in the Assembly. I saw no drinking nor any man under the influence of liquor, nor any of the disgraceful things alleged to have taken place. There were a few women in the gallery, but outside of indulging in the scattering of bits of paper now and then over the heads of the members below there was no disorder. They left after a file case of House bills accidentally fell from the rail of the gallery.

"If any such scenes occurred privately in any room in the State house as are described in the newspapers a rigid investigation should disclose the fact and those guilty of committing them should be brought to book by the Governor."

AWOKE TO FIND BED AFIRE.

Elizabeth, April 11.—William Neill, who boards at 48 Sixth street, had a narrow escape from being burned to death Friday night in his bed. He went to sleep leaving a candle burning on the window sill. The candle set fire to the window curtain and the flames spread to the bedclothing.

Neill awoke and hurled the burning bedclothes into the street. A policeman hurried to the scene, but found there was no need for summoning the fire department. Neill got off with nothing worse than a slight scorching and a bad scare.

on questions relating to the reasons for the culture of cleanly habits, and it was declared that bigotry was one of the strongest enemies of the system in vogue to increase the desire to live a right life. The real new religion will be the one which will make the caring for the body equally as necessary as the care of the soul in fact it has already been demonstrated that both are entitled to the same careful consideration in order to perfect the race.

Next Sunday evening Rev. Thomas R. Slicer, of New York, pastor of All Souls' church, and prominent in civic reform in both Buffalo and Manhattan, will be the speaker. His topic will be "The Vain Hope of Socialism." Rev. Bernard J. Newman, pastor of the Willow Place chapel, of Brooklyn, will speak on the following Sunday evening on "The Housing Problem." The meetings are free to all and a large audience is expected to attend the next two lectures. The last lecture will be illustrated by stereopticon.

The Dutch Arms, the men's association of Trinity Reformed church, will hold its monthly meeting in the lecture room Friday night.

The Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church is preparing a barrel of magazines, papers and books to be sent to Captain George G. Benn, of the Mission Yacht Association, of Brooklyn, for use among the seamen.

The members of Trinity Reformed church are planning to send their missionary, Dr. Paul W. Harrison, the weekly medical magazine, "The Annals of Surgery." Further information may be secured from Mrs. F. W. Leitheusser, 712 East Second street, or the pastor, Rev. J. Y. Broek.

A Surprise Party.

A birthday surprise was tendered Mrs. Eugene P. Edwards at the home of Miss S. Etta Raybert, on East Second street, on Saturday night at which about fifteen guests enjoyed an evening of pleasure with vocal and instrumental music and refreshments. Among the guests was Mrs. Edwards' sister, Mrs. Woods, of Trenton. Mrs. Edwards was the recipient of many handsome gifts among which was a handsome diamond ring presented her by her husband.

Two Fires in the Borough.

The barn in the rear of W. J. Conroy's carriage shop on Somerset street, was on fire early this afternoon and the borough department was called out. Before the blaze was extinguished considerable damage resulted. The building caught from a bonfire which had been started by boys in the neighborhood. Later the department was called to Maple avenue to extinguish a wood fire which threatened the clubhouse of the Independent Gun Club.

Dry Cleaning Talk

Gentlemen's clothes cleaned by a Cleanery with the ability nad equipments to produce first-class work, will stay clean longer, as when done by an ordinary suit presser who only brushes the surface dust off and removes the most prominent spots from the surface.

With our process the garments are thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, the linings are cleaned and spots that are removed will stay removed and do not appear again the first time the garments are exposed to the dust and grim of the street.

In the beginning it may cost a little more, but will pay at the end, as the clothes don't have to be at the cleaners every two weeks.

Phone us and our wagon will call.

THE FORUM.

The Issue.

Editor, The Daily Press:

The election to be held on the nineteenth instant, will not determine the particular manner in which our municipal water problem is to be solved; it will not determine whether our water supply shall be owned by the city or whether a new contract shall be made with the Plainfield Union Water Company. These are questions which are to be determined by the Common Council, after the citizens have given them authority to act in the matter. Unless such authority is given we remain practically at the mercy of the water company.

Mr. Charles H. Hand seems to have made up his mind that he wishes things to remain as they are. I believe that most citizens, like myself, have not yet made up their minds on the subject, and they are not required to do so before the 19th instant. Theimportant thing to do now, and in my opinion it is very important, is to give the Common Council the power to investigate and determine what solution of the problem it thinks will best promote the interests of the city. I hope, therefore, that every voter will vote "for" the proposition to be submitted on the 19th instant.

I desire to call especial attention to the fact that he several boards of elecion will meet at their respective polling places on Tuesday next, the 12th instant, from 1 to 9 p. m, to revise the registry lists, and I urge every voter who did not vote last November or who has since then changed his residence to another district to see that he is properly registered. Tuesday nixet is the only opportunity to do this for the approaching election.

I also wish to call attention ot the fact that the polling place in the Second District of the Second Ward will be at No. 420 Richmond street, and not on Fifth street near Richmond, as in November last.

The mass meeting to be held under the auspices of the Plainfield Protective Association next Thursday evening will afford a valuable opportunity to citizens of obtaining information which will be of great help in forming an opinion on the merits of the question of municipal ownership, and every citizen should make a special effort to attend.

But, however strongly citizens may wish to vote after attending the meeting on Thursday, they cannot vote unless they are registered, and this must be attended to on Tuesday.

HOWARD G. TRACY.

Some Pertinent Questions.

Editor, The Daily Press—

I would like to ask through the columns of your paper if any friend of municipal ownership of water supply will settle a point that is not clear to me. Supposing that the city condemned the Plainfield-Union plant, won't the present company be compelled to carry out its contracts with the other towns is supplies? To do this, what will prevent the private corporation from locating a plant directly across our city limits, say in Fanwood township and from there carry on a general business with most all the rest of Union county. If this were done, could the city prevent the company from sinking wells in Fanwood township?

If we have a municipal plant, could we expect lower rates for private consumers? I am informed that in the judgment of the eminent men who investigated the water question for the city some two years ago that the rates would not likely be lowered. This I am told is to be found in the official report. If it is so, why should we assume so heavy a burden with no appreciable benefits? The man whose rate is $18. a year pays only five cents a day. Is this too much?

Another thing. If we vote "for" at the election, will we be giving the Common Council the right to go ahead and buy or build without our giving consent after the result of the investigation is published? If this is so, isn't it a mighty big power to place in the hands of eleven men when it means an unprecedented bond issue?

I mean no reflection on the honorable members of that body, but is it right for eleven men, whose combined tax assessments are less than $50,000 to do such a thing when it means that they will be acting for more than one man who owns several times that amount of property and he is given no right to object

Thanking you for the space for this letter, I am

CHARLES H. HAND.

Replies to Mr. Hand.

Editor, The Daily Press:

I have read Mr. Charles H. Hand's communication which appeared in your issue of April 9 with a great deal of amusement and interest. I am sorry that the good gentleman has not yet learned that one of the chief American attributes is the right of free speech, especially on American soil.

For his sake, I will assume that the gentleman to whom he referred is myself. In the first place, I admit having a good deal to say of things which interest the people of Plainfield, but this is an incident. I have had a good deal to say for the people of New Providence and Warren townships and in the latter place developments ensued with which even Mr. Hand must be familiar. In reference to the statement that I do not pay taxes in the city of Plainfield. Mr. Hand knows different than that and is trying to use the worn-out, old-fashioned, political, musty, crusty, mildewed method of blinding the people. Any man situated as Mr. Hand who says I don't pay taxes in Plainfield, is foolish.

To return to the point in question, I desire to inject into the head of my distinguished real estate contemporary the idea that water is used by everyone whether he be tenant or landlord and as the tenants pay the rent and the landlord is simply the go-between between those who pay the freight and the government, it is ridiculous to assume that only property owners should have the right to vote on the municipal water question. I am convinced that the tenants of the city of Plainfield will do the trick all right on the nineteenth of April. Mr. Hand's statements are not based on sound reasoning and he will find out later on that he made a mistake in trying to convince the people that they ought not to own what belongs to them

In announcing the appearance of "A Gentleman from Mississippi," which will be seen at the Plainfield theatre tonight, William A. Brady and Joseph R. Grismer, under whose direction five companies are now presenting the record-smashing comedy in various parts of the country, point to the fact that the cast to be seen in this city is identically the same, down to the last member, as took part in the run of thirteen months in New York and is still headed by Thomas A. Wise and Douglas Fairbanks, the co-stars whose reputations as comedians of the first rank have been firmly established by their 800 consecutive performances in this play.

"The Black Patti Show" in "A Trip to Africa," will be the next attraction at the Plainfield theatre on Saturday, matinee and night, April 16. "The Black Patti Show" will this year present the singing musical success in three acts, "A Trip to Arica," by "Jolly" John Larkins This company has always given the best of satisfaction and performance of its kind. The Company will tihis year excell all past eorts and is a continual performance of music, comedy, danceing, etc. The company has been greatly enlarged Madame Sissieretta Jones, the original "Black Patti," will be seen as the "Princess Lulu," and "Jolly" John Larkins as "King Rastus" of the Zamboo Tribe.

Proctor's New Show.

The Alrona-Zoeller troupe of comedy acrobats and pantomimists are the big attraction at Proctor's theatre this week. This is one of the best acts appearing here in some time. Edith Harche & Co., appear in a musical sketch, "In the Realm of Opera," that will please all, and King & Edwardes are a pair of clever comedians, bubbling over with wholesome fun and Tills' Marionette will amuse both young and old. The wonderful motion picture entitled "The Fly Pest," will be shown the first three days of the week.

Christian Endeavor Rally.

The Union County Christian Endeavor Union has planned for a rally to be held in Elizabeth tomorrow night to which all members of the society are invited and urged to attend. The meeting will be held in the parish house of the German Presbyterian church, Broadway and Third street.

The Consistory of Trinity Reformed church will meet in regular session at the church, Thursday night.

FIRST PRINTING BY STEAM

In these days, when the influence of the press is, one might almost say, paramount, it is interesting to recall the fact that on November 29, 1814, a newspaper appeared for the first time printed by steam instead of by manual labor, says the London Globe. The credit for having adopted the invention rests with the Times, which was the first paper to inaugurate the new system. In a leading article of the day the great event is referred to in the following terms:

"Our journal of this day presents to the public the practical result of the greatest improvement connected with printing since the discovery of the art itself. The reader of this paragraph now holds in his hands one of the many thousand impressions of the Times newspaper which were taken off last night by a mechanical apparatus. A system of machinery, almost organic, has been devised and arranged which while it relieves the human frame of its laborious efforts in printing, far exceeds human power in rapidity and despatch."

The article goes on to explain in more or less detail the process of the new machine, the work of the compositors, the supply of paper, the distribution of ink, the 1,100 sheets impressed in an hour, "which several operations leave little for man to do but watch the unconscious agent in its operations." With becoming modesty the writer of the article goes on to say that the Times only takes credit for the application of the discovery. The patentees of the new machine approached them and they adopted the invention.

As to the inventor, his work is compared to the noblest monument of Sir Christopher Wren—St. Paul's Cathedral. We are told that he was a Saxon by birth, by name Konig, who developed this wonderful invention, assisted by his "friend and countryman Bauer." Very soon the new machine gave place to another with vast improvements, invented by Applegarth and Cowper, and later still to another, even more ingenious the work of one Hoe, which has given place to the modern printing press. Everything changes; the most marvelous invention of one generation is superseded in the next, and what our grandfathers regarded as mechanical marvels we look upon today as clumsy tools. How long will it be before the present system of printing is discarded for a still more wonderful process.

The art of printing, as also that of engraving, existed long before the fifteenth century. Indeed there is good evidence to show that in the eleventh century it was practiced by kings and princes. Thus William the Conqueror had his monogram cut in metal, the impression of which may be seen on certain old charters. In the East printing was known long before Norman days. In China, for instance, as far back as the second century many of the most important classical works were ingraved on tablets, some of which have been preserved to this day.

Again, in Japan, the art of block printing was well known in the year 770; while as for copper types, the invention is attributed to the Coreans. Yet dispite all evidence that the East discovered and practised the art long before the West, trustworthy authority refuse to admit that Europe learned anything from China or Japan. But however, that may be, printing much as we see it today, was perfected at Mainz in the year 1454. As to when, where, and by whom the art was discovered the controversy raged for many years. An Italian, Costaldi by name, who lived in the middle of the fifteenth century, was for many years accepted as the inventor of the art. By others John Gutenberg, a native of Bohemia, was regarded as the true author. In other cities Johann Faust, Mentel of Strasburg and Nicholas Jansen all had their supporters.

When all the evidence, however, of the various claimants has been inquired into the result leads us to the conclusion that printing with movable metal types was the invention of Janszoon Coster, who displayed his skill at Haarlem in the year 1445. From this time onward improvements followed quickly. Thus the hand press is now superseded by the most wonderful of mechanical machines. In the olden days, and indeed until comparatively recent years, the old printers were entirely independent of every other craft, they carried on their work unassisted one man being able to do all that was required for the production of a document. He mixed his own ink and cast the type. In short, he was his own master and could produce everything necessary to carry on his trade. How different are things nowadays, when the staff of an important London paper numbers some hundreds of individuals.

In the fifteenth century, moreover, there were many itinerant printers who wandered through Europe and set up a press wherever they went. It follows form this that the plan required must have been very limited. In this respect it is curious to notice that as regards the shape of the actual types there is no great difference between the old and the modern. Thus the pureRoman type, such as is used today, is in reality nothing more than an improved edition of a particular writing well known in the eighth century.

In conclusion nothing has given a greater impetus to the art of printing or has tended more ot develop the printing machine than education. As people become more educated so they demanded more books, whereas in olden days a book was a luxury, owing to the expense of printing. So inexpensive has the process now become that whereas formerly the Bible—and not always that—constituted the entire library of a cottage, today the latest productions may be bought by those possessed of the smallest means. And for this change of affairs no journal is more responsible than the London Times, the first paper to introduce steam printing.

Cocoa Sponge Cake.

This is a small recipe, to be baked in a single-loaf bread pan lined with oiled paper. Beat two eggs separately. Sift together three times one cupful of flour, one-fourth cupful of cocoa and two scant teaspoonfuls of baking powder. To the beaten yolks add a cupful of sugar, then alternately the flour and stiff whites. Add a teaspoonful of vanilla and one-third cupful of boiling water. Bake slowly. Ice with plain boiled icing.

Two-Toned Mohairs.

In keeping with all the irridescence of other fabrics, everyday, reliable mohair has come out in quite a new and gay aspect. It is two-toned in a changeable effect. It gives quite a novel look to one of the most substantial spring and summer fabrics. It is admirable for young girls' coat suits or school frocks.

The Man in Lower Ten

Author of The Circular Staircase

(Copyright, by Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

"No. The nurses said her clothes came from a Pittsburg tailor."

"She is not conscious, I suppose?"

"No; she may be to-morrow—or in a week."

He looked at the thermometer, murmured something about liquid diet, avoiding my eye—Mrs. Klopton was broiling a chop at the time—and took his departure, humming cheerfully as he went downstairs. McKnight looked after him wistfully.

"Jove, I wish I had his constitution," he exclaimed. "Neither nerves nor heart! What a chauffeur he would make!"

But I was serious.

"I have an idea," I said grimly, "that this small matter of the murder is going to come up again, and that your uncle will be in the deuce of a fix if it does. If that woman is going to die, somebody ought to be around to take her deposition. She knows a lot, if she didn't do it herself. I wish you would go down to the telephone and get the hospital. Find out her name, and if she is conscious."

McKnight went under protest. "I haven't much time," he said, looking at his watch. "I'm to meet Mrs. West and Alison at one. I want you to know them, Lollie. You would like the mother."

"Why not the daughter?" I inquired. I touched the little gold bag under the pillow.

"Well," he said judicially, "you've always declared against the immaturity and romantic nonsense of very young women—"

"I never said anything of the sort," I retorted furiously.

"'There is more satisfaction to be had out of a good saddle horse!'" he quoted me. "'More excitement out of a polo pony, and as for the eternal matrimonial chase, give me instead a good stubble, a fox, some decent dogs and a hunter, and I'll show you the real joys of the chase!'"

"For heaven's sake, go down to the telephone, you make my head ache," I said savagely.

I barely know what prompted me to take out the gold purse and look at it. It was an imbecile thing to do—call it impulse, sentimentality, what you wish. I brought it out, one eye on the door, for Mrs. Klopton has a ready eye and a noiseless shoe. But the house was quiet. Downstairs McKnight was flirting with the telephone central and there was an odor of boneset tea in the air. I think Mrs. Klopton was fascinated out of her theories by the "boneset" in connection with the fractured arm.

Anyhow, I held up the bag and looked at it. It must have been unfastened, for the next instant there was an avalanche on the snowfield of the counterpane—some money, a wisp of a handkerchief, a tiny booklet with thin leaves, covered with a powdery substance—and a necklace. I drew myself up slowly and stared at the necklace.

It was one of the semi-barbaric affairs that women are wearing now, a heavy pendant of gold chains and carved cameos, swung from a thin neck chain of the same metal. The necklace was broken: In three places the links were pulled apart and the cameos swung loose and partly detached. But it was the supporting chain that held my eye and fascinated with its sinister suggestion. Three inches of it had been snapped off, and as well as I knew anything on earth, I knew that the bit of chain that the amateur detective had found, bloodstain and all, belonged just there.

And there was no one I could talk to about it, no one to tell me how hideously absurd it was, no one to give me a slap and tell me there are tons of fine gold chains made every year, or to point out the long arm of coincidence!

With my one useful hand I fumbled the things back into the bag and thrust it deep out of sight among the pillows. Then I lay back in a cold perspiration. What connection had Alison West with this crime? Why had she stared so at the gun-metal cigarette case that morning on the train? What had alarmed her so at the farmhouse? What had she taken back to the gate? Why did she wish she had not escaped from the wreck? And last, in heaven's name, how did a part of her necklace become torn off and covered with blood?

I Knew That Bit of Chain.

Downstairs McKnight was still at the telephone, and amusing himself with Mrs. Klopton in the interval of waiting.

"Why did he come home in a gray suit, when he went away in a blue?" he repeated. "Well, wrecks are queer things, Mrs. Klopton. The suit may have turned gray with fright. Or perhaps wrecks do as queer stunts as lightning. Friend of mine once was struck by lightning; he and the caddy had taken refuge under a tree. After the flash, when they recovered consciousness, there was my friend in the caddy's clothes, and the caddy in his. And as my friend was a large man and the caddy a very small boy—"

McKnight's story was interrupted by the indignant slam of the dining room door. He was obliged to wait some time, and even his eternal cheerfulness was ebbing when he finally got the hospital.

"Is Dr. Van Kirk there?" he asked. "Not there? Well, can you tell me how the patient is whom Dr. Williams, from Washington, operated on last night? Well, I'm glad of that. Is she conscious? Do you happen to know her name? Yes, I'll hold the line."

There was a long pause, then McKnight's voice:

"Hello—yes. Thank you very much. Good-by."

He came upstairs, two steps at a time.

"Look here," he said, bursting into the room, "there may be something in your theory, after all. The woman's name—it may be a coincidence, but it's curious—her name is Sullivan."

"What did I tell you?" I said, sitting up suddenly in bed. "She's probably a sister of that scoundrel in lower seven, and she was afraid of what he might do."

"Well, I'll go there some day soon. She's not conscious yet. In the meantime, the only thing I can do is to keep an eye, through a detective, on the people who try to approach Bronson. We'll have the case continued, anyhow, in the hope that the stolen notes will sooner or later turn up."

"Confound this arm," I said, paying for my energy with some excruciating throbs. "There's so much to be looked after, and here I am, bandaged, splintered, and generally useless. It's a beastly shame."

"Don't forget that I am here," said McKnight pompously. "And another thing, when you feel this way just remember there are two less desirable places were you might be. One is jail, and the other is—" He strummed on an imaginary harp, with devotional eyes.

But McKnight's light-heartedness jarred on me that morning. I lay and frowned under my helplessness. When by chance I touched the little gold bag, it seemed to scorch my fingers. Richey, finding me unresponsive, left to keep his luncheon engagement with Alison West. As he clattered down the stairs, I turned my back to the morning sunshine and abandoned myself to misery. By what strain on her frayed nerves was Alison West keeping up, I wondered? Under the circumstances, would I dare to return the bag? Knowing that I had it, would she hate me for my knowledge? Or had I exaggerated the importance of the necklace, and in that case had she forgotten me already?

But McKnight had not gone, after all. I heard him coming back, his voice preceding him, and I groaned with irritation.

"Wake up!" he called. "Somebody's sent you a lot of flowers. Please hold the box, Mrs. Klopton; I'm going out to be run down by an automobile."

I roused to feeble interest. My brother's wife is punctilious about such things; all the new babies in the family have silver rattles, and all the sick people flowers.

McKnight pulled up an armful of roses, and held them out to me.

"Wonder who they're from?" he said, fumbling in the box for a card. "There's no name—yes, here's one."

He held it up and read it with exasperating slowness.

"'Best wishes for an early recovery. A COMPANION IN MISFORTUNE.'

"Well, what do you know about that!" he exclaimed. "That's something you didn't tell me, Lollie."

"It was hardly worth mentioning," I said mendaciously, with my heart beating until I could hear it. She had not forgotten, after all.

McKnight took a bud and fastened it in his buttonhole. I'm afraid I was not especially pleasant about it. They were her roses, and anyhow, they were meant for me. Richey left very soon, with an irritating final grin at the box.

"Good-by, sir woman-hater," he jeered at me from the door.

So he wore one of the roses she had sent me, to luncheon with her, and I lay back among my pillows and tried to remember that it was his game, anyhow, and that I wasn't even drawing cards. To remember that, and to forget the broken necklace under my head!

Do you realize that Spring is here, and within a few days you will be forced to lay aside your heavy garments for those more suitable?

Why not prepare yourself for the change of climate, and place your order now for a strictly high-class tailored light weight suit or overcoat. It takes time to make good clothes and make them right; therefore, an early call will prove profitable to you.

If you are particular about your clothes, here is the place for you to get finest materials, keen craftsmanship, and perfect fit at a price in keeping with your purse.

Fancy striped blues, plain blues, conservative grays, and the much talked about cassimeres and tweeds are well represented amongst the complete line now awaiting your inspection.

Five Hundred Parlor Suites

Every Suite We Have on Our Four Great Floors

25% to 50% Below Regular Prices,

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday,

Adams Building—Third and Fourth Floors.

Summer is just around the corner and Parlor Suites don't sell when the mercury soars to 90. We prefer to sell these now when there's a good, stiff demand for them, when every sale will make a friend for this house, rather than to hold them until later, when your interest is slack.

So we have reduced all Parlor Suites in our enormous stock and put them in this sale.

The designs are all new, the frames are beautifully made and finished, and the upholstery is in silk damask, silk velour, beautiful and wonderful tapestries—what is known as panne silk plush and velvet.

This is probably the best opportunity that has ever been offered in New York to buy a thoroughly reliable Parlor Suite of furniture at so little a price.

Here are just a few examples of hundreds of ways prices will range during this sale:

$245	3-piece Gold Parlor Suite	$150
$232	3-piece Gold Parlor Suite	$150
$410.25	4-piece Panne Parlor Suite	$307.69
$90	3-piece Panne Plush Parlor Suite	$65
$38.50	3-piece Damask Parlor Suite	$25
$75	3-piece Panne Parlor Suite	$56.25
$78.75	3-piece Silk Plush Parlor Suite	$59.06
$95.25	3-piece Silk Plush Parlor Suite	$71.44
$74.50	3-piece Silk Plush Parlor Suite	$55.88
$78.75	3-piece Silk Plush Parlor Suite	$59.06
$70	3-piece Silk Plush Parlor Suite	$52.50
$101.50	3-piece Silk Velour Parlor Suite	$76.13
$30	3-piece Silk Plush Parlor Suite	$20
$60	3-piece Tapestry Parlor Suite	$40
$61.25	3-piece Silk Plush Parlor Suite	$45.94
$187	5-piece Tapestry Parlor Suite	$125
$243	3-piece Silk Damask Parlor Suite	$182.25
$97	5-piece Tapestry Parlor Suite	$65
$185	2-piece Gold Parlor Suite	$92.50

The Club Plan

Any of these Suites may be bought on the Club Plan by club members or by people who want to become club members.

Buying on the Club Plan is similar to buying a house—you pay something down and then, instead of paying rent, you pay the price of what you buy in weekly or monthly payments. This has this advantage:

No Interest Is Charged.

Club members are permitted to take advantage of reduced prices. In other words, club prices are the lowest prices at which we sell for cash, and you pay after you have the Furniture in use.

Before 12 o'clock each day we give double Surety Stamps, and single Surety Stamps are guaranteed to be worth 2½ per cent. on any purchase you make.

N.P.H.S. STARTS OFF WITH A VICTORY

North Plainfield High's baseball warriors opened the season on Saturday afternoon at Bound Brook with a 9 to 3 victory over the high school combination of that place. Despite the bad condition of the field the borough athletes put up a fast article of ball. C. Smith baffled the Bound Brook nine with a fine assortment of curves and Percy Bailey distinguished himself by rapping out a brace of doubles. Stine also caught a steady game behind the bat. PLAINFIELD HIGH IS BEATEN BY BROOKLYN

The Boys' High School baseball combination of Brooklyn visited town on Saturday and defeated the P. H. S. aggregation by the score of 7 to 5. The visitors won out in the ninth inning when they scored three runs on some timely hitting. The performances of the pitchers were especially meritorious, Deutsch, the Brooklyn twirler, fanning twelve men, and Van Zandt, the local flinger, striking out ten men. The line-up:

P. H. S.—Lidgate, catcher; Van Zandt, pitcher; Nash, first base; Bristol, second base; Zerega, third base; Clarke, short stop; Riffert, left field; Runyon, right field; Doane, centre field.

Brooklyn — Kincchey, catcher; pitcher; Kelly, first base; Bristol, second base; Selig, third base; Taber, shortstop; Leeds, left field; Van Reper, right field; Klubel, centre field.

Thirty horse-power—50 Miles an Hour—An ENGINEERING VICTORY

It is comparatively easy for a maker to build a car that will "do things" if he puts enough money and weight into it. But money is money, and weight is money, too—money for big and quickly worn-out tires, money for more fuel and expensive maintenance.

The Reo is a triumph of engineering. Mr. R. E. Olds is a genius at doing that very difficult but useful thing—making a car of very high quality at low cost. The Reo is full of cost where cost earns its money, and full of economy where economy counts. It has the remarkable get-there-and-back ability of every Reo ever built; it is powerful, light, buoyant, graceful, efficient, comfortable.—Let us demonstrate.

AGREED ON TAX BUDGET

Appropriations for the Various Departments Fixed for Year.

DETAILED GIGURES ARE GIVEN.

Exclusive of Fire, Poor, Library, School, State and County Taxes, the Combined Taxes Is $78.000.

The annual tax budget for 1910, which was presented at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council and passed on two readings, last night, was the principal business considered. Although increased amounts were granted in some instances, the general amount to be raised the coming year by general taxation, exclusive of all State, county, school, fire, poor and library, is $78,000, which is $1,000 less than last year.

The amount given the street department is $40,000, an increase of $5,000. The fire department is given $37,000, an increase of $3,000. The sum of $2,500 is appropriated for the Shade Tree Commission, an increase of $250. The police department will receive $28,000 the same at last year. The sum of $8,500 is appropriated to the poor department, but in this is included $1,500 for Muhlenberg Hospital for the care of the indigent poor, a contract having been made with the Board of Governors for that amount, and an extra $500 for the poor department. An extra $500 is given the street lighting department, the appropciation being $16,000.

The Board of Health is given $7,500, the same at last year, while an extra appropriation of $1,000 for the use of the Playground Commission is granted.

The detailed figures for this year and last year follow:

1910—general purposes, $38,000, decrease of $2,957.50; streets, $40,000, increase of $5,000; interest on brick pavement bonds, $1,395; interest on police bonds, $1,125, decrease of $22.50; principal on police bonds, $1,000, increase of $500; interest on fire house bonds, $675; sinking fund, account fire house bonds, $1,300, increase of $100; interest on school bonds, $11,853, increase of $100; principal on school bonds, $1,000; interest sinking fund, Darrow avenue school, $1,925, increase of $975; Shade Tree Commission, $2,500, increase of $230; Playground Commission, $1,000, extra appropriation. This totals $101,755, an increase of $6,945, in these specific items. In addition there are the following appropriations:

Street lighting, $16,000, increase of $500; principal sewer bonds, $6,000; interest on sewer bonds, $9,250, decrease of $2,250; poor, $8,500, increase of $500; public library, $7,500; fire department, $37,000, increase of $3,000; police, $28,000. At present it is not known what the local and State school and county tax will be and until that time the sum total cannot be determined.

1909—General purposes, $40,957.50; streets, $35,000; interest on brick pavement, $1,395; interest on police bonds, $1,147.50; principal on police bonds, $500; interest on fire house bonds, $675; sinking fund on account of fire house bonds, $1,200; interest on school bonds, $9,675; principal on school bonds, $1,000; interest on sinking fund, Darrow avenue school, $950; Shade Tree Commission, $2,270; which totals $94,770. The other items which go to make up the general budget are as follows:

Street lighting, $15,500; principal sewer bonds, $6,000; interest on sewer bonds, $11,500; poor, $8,000; public library, $7,500; fire department, $34,000; local school, $62,000; State school, $59,604; county, $73,403.

After the ordinance was passed on two readings it was ordered engrossed and advertised an will come up at the next meeting for final adoption.

For Shooting at Chickens $5.

Ralph Mathew, of 312 East Fourth street, was fined five dollars in the city court by Judge Runyon this morning for discharging firearms within the city limits yesterday. According to Mathew's story he has been annoyed by his neighbor's chickens and took a shot at them with a shot gun to the imminent peril of neighbors of East Fifth street. He will not repeat the performance.

Another Chimney Fire.

Hose Company No. 1 and the Hook and Ladder Company were called out at 7:45 o'clock last evening to put out a chimney fire at the home of George Meyer at 1433 Willover street. There was no damage.

THIS BLACK SNAKE WAS A GOOD SCRAPPER

Oh, you black snake! Here's the first serpent yarn of the season, and if there are any "Doubting Thomases" who desire to corroborate the tale, just call at the office of William Jeffery, and gaze on the dead reptile, which was a factor in a furious battle in the vicinity of Berkeley Heights yesterday afternoon. It measures eight feet five inches in length.

Michael Accunzi, who is employed by Mr. Jeffery, at Berkeley Heights, on his return to the Jeffery bungalow from the Bolton Hall colony, encountered the large snake. The snake was evidently in a vicious mood for it coiled and struck at Accunzi several times. At the sixth "strike" the reptile partly coiled itself around Accunzi's left leg, but fortunately the Italian had a stiff pair of leather leggings on, which prevented the snakes fangs from penetrating to the leg.

Accunzi in a state of fear made a desperate effort to free himself by stepping on a portion of the snake's body, and succeeded. The snake then started on a merry wiggle down the turnpike, but Accunzi, picking up a club started in pursuit, and after a sprint of fifty yards he dealt the reptile a telling blow and broke its back. That ended the battle.

Snake lovers who are interested will have an opportunity of seeing the reptile for the next three days at Mr. Jeffery's office.

ROUTINE TRANSACTIONS OF THE COMMON COUNCIL

It was exactly 8:30 o'clock last night when the adjourned meeting of the Common Council convened and after remaining in session a half-hour, the members took a recess which lasted nearly an hour, to discuss matters pertaining to the tax budget. Later in the evening another recess was taken to allow Mr. Buxton to prepare a resolution.

Among the unimportant business considered was a petition for sidewalks on Berkeley avenue, between Denmark and Ravine roads, which was referred to the proper committee. Adam Fritz in a petition, asked the Council to either lease or sell him the city garbage disposal plant on DeKalb avenue. He wants to use the place to raise chilckens. The matter was referred to the proper committee.

The Board of Directors of the Public Library and Reading Room certified that it would require $7,500 for the coming year and that amount was granted by a resolution offered by Mr. Buxton.

Rev. B. M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's church, asked for permission to remove some old buildings at West Sixth and Liberty streets in connection with new construction work at that place, and the petition was referred to the fire and building committee with power.

A communication received by the Board of Healthl from H. C. White, of the Plainfield Protective Association, relative to unnecessary noises made by the trolley cars, was referred to the Council and was referred to the committee on laws and ordinances.

Mr. Buxton presented the papers of agreement between the city and Muhlenberg Hospital in which the Board of Governors of the hospital offered to care for the city's indigent poor for the coming year for $1,500 and Mr. Buxton then offered a resolution which das adopted, accepting the offer.

During the recess taken to discuss the tax budget, considerable time was taken up considering the salary of Jacob Dunham, the janitor of the building. He was receiving $35 a month, but had informed the finance committee that he could not live on that wage. He asked for an extra $10 a month, and it was granted after the Council had a talk with Mr. Dunham. The increase dates from January 1 last. Later Mr. Dunham publicly thanked the Council for granting his request.

The bond of Tax Collector W. R. Townsend was presented by Mr. Buxton, having been approved by Corporation Counsel C. A. Marsh and was ordered recorded. On motion of Mr. Clay the hack ordinance was passed on the third reading, and is now in effect.

Dog Scratches Boy's Face.

Lawrence Bruce Force, the two and half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Force, of West Front street, was scratched in the face by a dog owned by W. J. Dealaman, a neighbor, while playing about his home yesterday afternoon. While the scratches were not considered serious, Mr. Force decided to be on the safe side and had Dr. P. B. Cregar cauterize the wounds.

LAND SYNDICATE WANTS ALBERT STREET EXTENDED

Notwithstanding the Plainfield Park associates have failed to come to an agreement with either the municipal authorities of the city or borough regarding the establishment of a public park in the West End of the city and borough, the Common Council, at its adjourned meeting, last night, received a petition from the syndicate, asking that Albert street be opened up across Green brook. It was stated that the freeholders are willing to erect a new bridge over the brook at this point, where the old one stood a few years ago.

The councilmen are not likely to favor the improvement, however, for there is a movement on foot to open up Dunellen avenue, and erect a bridge over Green brook at that point to connect Myrtle avenue in the borough.

Albert street has been closed and used for farming and pasturing purposes since 1881, the year that the old bridge was washed away and it has been fenced in on both Dunellen avenue and Greenbrook road. It seemed to be the opinion last night that the asked for improvement would be solely for the benefit of the park Syndicate. The petition was referred to the street committee.

FLY PEST ILLUSTRATED; DANGER MADE PLAIN

One of the interesting features of the moving pictures at Proctor's theatre yesterday was the set showing up the house fly in its most pernicious form as a disease carrying nuisance and menace. Magnified more than a thousand times the pest assumes a most repugnant form and easily convinces the observer that indeed the possibilities for spreading contagion have not been exaggerated.

From the laying of the eggs on putrid meat until the full grown fly is seen only eleven days elapse and the process of turnng from egg to maggots, through the pupae period, the first appearance wingless and lastly the full winged fly, potential with possibilities of danger to health, all were illustrated in a manner to make one shudder at what a decade ago would not have been believed possible. The heretofore harmless insect is seen taking syrup from a needle then the tongue with which the syrup is lapped up from the point was followed by a picture of the foot of the little fly, the foot which is so dangerous a conveyor of disease germs.

Shorn of all the technical names and attributes the common house fly is the most pernicious enemy of mankind in this country and knowing this people ought to leave nothing undone which will tend to eliminate the danger. Several remedies have been used in the past, but a good preventive is still better. Leave no garbage in or around your premises. Burn it. Do not let any of the food to be eaten by your family be exposed to the attacks of the fly. Then keep the flies out of the house altogether if you can possibly do it and never eat food that has been exposed to the visits of the insect.

OPPORTUNITY FOR SOME ONE TO RAISE SOMETHING.

Here is an opportunity for some one. A woman well known in this city and North Plainfield owns an acre of land at the head of Prospect avenue, on the Rahway road, and believing that this plot of ground could be profitably used by some deserving person has authorized the Daily Press to announce the fact that she will allow such a person to occupy the land for cultivation of garden truck, poultry raising, or some other good purpose without charge, the only stipulation attached to the offer is that the user of the ground shall be a resident of this city and in need of some such piece of land.

The applications for the piece of ground may be addressed to "Opportunity," in care of this office.

Charles C. Zimmer's Funeral.

The funeral services of Charles C. Zimmer, who died at East Orange on Sunday, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at his ate residence, 205 Amherst street, that city, the services being conducted by Rev. Warren Giles, pastor of the First Reformed church. The interment will be at the convenience of the family, the remains being laid to rest in Hillside cemetery.

YEAR'S INCREASE 2,000

Royal Arcanumites Hear Good News in Statistics of the Order.

MEETING IN COWARD'S HALL.

Entertainment and Refreshments at Enjoyable Meeting of Members and Their Families.

Greenbrook Council, No. 1125, Royal Arcanum, enjoyed a social time in their temporary quarters in Coward's hall last night at which there was a large attendance. Speeches were made by Grand Regent Theodore Class, of Westfield, and Deputy Grand Regent Colby, also of Westfield, in which the amazing growth of the organization was commented upon.

During the past year the Royal Arcanum in the State has made a net gain of over 2,000 members, and according to R. A. statistics this State is second to Illinois in point of membership.

Deputy Grand Regent Colby in his speech complimented Greenbrook Council upon its splendid showing and in fact was optimistic about all the other councils in the State. Nowhere, he said, has there been the enthusiasm shown as here. The interest of the individual members is shown by their work for the good of the order and the greater the influence brought to bear on the advantages of protection the larger will become the enrollment among the people who desire to see that their families are properly provided for in event of the catastrophe of death over-taking the breadwinner of the family. Mr. Colby's speech was received with cheers.

Grand Regent Class also spoke on the pre-eminent position among fraternal organizations which the Royal Arcanum has taken in recent years and brought to the attention of the members and their friends present the splendid record in which he personally took so much pride. There is no greater opportunity for a man to show his devotion to his offspring than to provide for their maintenance in event of his demise, and it not only shows good sense but a desire to do the right thing.

A fine program of musical entertainment followed the speeches in which Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shearer, William Force and others entertained the company. Refreshments rounded out one of the most enjoyable evenings in the history of the council.

$1,925,000,000 WILL EVANGELIZE THE WORLD

Henry W. Herrmann made an earnest appeal for support in the Layman's Missionary Movement at the First Baptist church last night where the Men's Club of that congregation entertained the members of the Men's Bible Class. Mr. Herrmann in the course of his remarks referred to the rapid growth of the movement and presented some interesting figures.

He declared that $55,000,000 annually is necessary to evangelize the world in one generation. He said that this would require thirty-five years, which he said would bring the tital cost of evangelizing the entire world up to $1,925,000,000.

Referring to foreign missionary work Mr. Herrmann declared that all of this country's churches should lend their financial support, as the United States owes its present standing among the countries of the world, as due to the results of foreign missions established here when the country was in its infancy.

John O'Hara, of Bound Brook, rendered several pleasing vocal selections, and Professor Phelps presided at the meeting.

An Extension to Telephone.

An extension telephone station will be installed at the Board of Health office, in accordance with a resolution offered at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council last night. The New York Telephone Company was instructed to make the improvement and the yearly rental will be $6.

The Bishop to Visit Here.

Bishop Scarborough will visit Plainfield on Sunday. In the morning he will confirm a class at Grace church, and in the afternoon he will confirm a class of fifteen at the Church of the Heavenly Rest. He will confirm another class at Holy Cross church in the evening.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY CASE IS PUT OVER

The assault and battery case of G. H. Underhill against Freeman Strait, the two Watchung men who engaged in a serious quarrel on Saturday night, was down for a hearing before Justice Snape yesterday afternoon, but was put over until Thursday afternoon at the request of Strait.

From what could be learned yesterday Underhill charges Strait with hitting him on the head with a horse whip. As soon as this charge is disposed of, Strait says he will assume the aggressive and have Underhill answer to the charge of trying to hang him. Strait declared yesterday that a Trenton lawyer will represent him at the hearing on Thursday.

Strait appeared at the hearing in company with his wife. He carried a cane and limped considerably. Strait claims that in the fracas on Saturday night Underhill was responsible for the dislocation of his right knee.

Underhill, in talking to a Daily Press reporter, did not attempt to deny the "hanging" charges of Strait. "Yes," said Underhill, to a question put to him by the reporter, "I called to my son, saying, bring the rope and we will rope this fellow and take him to Plainfield."

BUSINESS MEN ENJOY DINNER AT Y. M. C. A.

The semi-annual dinner of the business men's department of the Y. M. C. A., which was conducted in association hall last night was one of the most enjoyable "feasts" and social sessions yet held by the members of that department. Twenty-five members enjoyed the repast. George C. M. Smith was chairman of the committee of arrangements and the dinner was served under the direction of Mrs. Johnson.

Harry C. Runyon, president of the department, acted as toastmaster. Mr. Runyon was in a "knocking" mood, the members of the basketball teams coming in for a big share of his attention. Addresses were made by Secretary Herbert E. Parker, Physical Director George L. Listman, Rev. Edwin Shaw and Lindsley Best.

EXTRAORDINARY FEAT OF A NORTH PLAINFIELD HEN.

Will wonders never cease? Will hens ever stop putting forth freaks and undermining the credulity of man? No. Not so long as Jersey remains on the map and Charlie Ellis cultivates hen fruit. Mr. Ellis lives at 151 Duer street, "over the brook," and the product of one of his hens which Mr. Ellis found in the nest yesterday afternoon bids fair to beat the record for even Jersey hens.

An egg is an egg usually, but when an egg is not an egg has been demonstrated by this hen and from last accounts she is proud of it. An unusual cackling attracted Mr. Ellis to his henhouse last evening and upon investigating the cause discovered a rather matronly bird which, has never hitherto given evidences of being freakish, creating a tremendous rumpus near a nest over which she is supposed to reign supreme. Here, palpitating with emotion, and seemingly alive, Mr. Ellis found the most extraordinary specimen of an egg, or was it, or them, eggs, or both, egg or eggs? (Gee, but this is awful). Let us call it a pair, no not a pair, a dumbbell, that's it. An egg resembling a dumbbell. Neither end was hard shell, just a jelly-like combination joined together by what appeared to be ligament which was not hollow, and in one of the knobs of the "dumbbell" laid the yolk and in the other the white, or albumen of the egg, or was it, or were they eggs?

Funeral of Mrs. Reger.

The funeral services of Mrs. Augustine Reger were held privately yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman, on Third place. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, of this city, but formerly pastor of the Second Reformed church, Somerville, of which Mrs. Reger was a member, officiated. The burial was at Somerville.

Annual Parish Meeting.

The annual parish meeting of the First Baptist church and congregation will be held at the church tonight at 8 o'clock for the election of three trustees and the transaction of other important business. The term of service of T. S. Armstrong, J. H. Case and S. St. John McCutchen will expire at this time. A preliminary meeting of the board of trustees will be held at 7:30 o'clock.

TAXPAYERS INVITED TO WATER MASS MEETING

A mass meeting will be held Thursday night at the Plainfield theatre, West Second street, when the question of municipal ownership of the water supply will be discussed at length and explained by E. W. Bemis, deputy water commissioner of the city of New York, a man eminently qualified to discuss this question.

Inasmuch as this matter has been dangling before the citizens of the community for almost twenty years it would seem to be high time to settle it one way or the other. The election of 1905 at which time the question was presented to the people resulted in a fiasco because of a lack of intelligent appreciation of the subject ordinarily characterized as General Apathy. This cost the city a large amount of money, which was absolutely wasted, and every citizen who failed to vote on that day should be ashamed of himself and see to it that he performs his duty on Tuesday, April 19, by casting his vote.

The mass meeting is for the special benefit of those who wish to understand the questions they are to decide at the election. Creswell McLaughlin will also address the meeting and any one who fails of this opportunity to hear him will regret it. Let us all go to the mass meeting.

SEVENTY-FIFTH BIRTHDAY OF MRS. J. W. MURRAY, SR.

Mrs. J. W. Murray, Sr., was happier than ever yesterday when she passed the seventy-fifth anniversary of her birth in the company of her children and grandchildren. The event was celebrated at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. A. Tilney, 966 Central avenue who with Mrs. Townsend Rushmore and Mrs. J. W. Sandford, two other daughters, helped to make the event one to be remembered by the whole family.

Twenty-five of the children and grandchildren enjoyed the afternoon and evening at a dinner and a quiet celebration afterwards in which the younger members enjoyed a little dance and some music.

Mrs. Murray was the recipient of many beautiful floral remembrances from friends. The carnations and roses received during the day would easily have filled an ordinary room. At the dinner the dining room was resplendant in yellow and white and the whole scene was one to claim admiration. Mrs. Murray also received a handsome traveling bag from her family besides the many congratulations.

N. P. H. S. JUNIORS ARE REHEARSING FOR PLAY.

The Junior Class of the North Plainfield High School is rehearsing for the annual play which will be presented on a date to be fixed for the latter part of next month. The name of the production is Pygmalion Galetea.

In the cast are Percy Watson, Herbert Stine, Percy Bailey, Edward Bodine, Harry Jackson, Clara Runyon, Adelalide Stiglitz, Lena Rilling and Bessie Conroy.

CHICKEN RAISING A BIG INDUSTRY.

Harry Wolseiffer, of Dunellen, has just completed a census of poultry farms in New Jersey and finds that ten million dollars are invested in this enterprise.

In addition to those who have small capital invested, there are in New Jersey according to the figures of the experts, more large poultry plants than in any other State in the union, with the possible exception of California.

James Mottley's Funeral.

The funeral service of James Mottley was conducted at St. Mary's church this morning, the mass being celebrated by Father Sciola. The service was attended by delegations of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and the Plumbers' Union. Interment was made at St. Mary's cemetery. At the grave the service was in charge of the Eagles. The bearers were Hugh Reilly, Fred Winn, Michael Higgins, Louis Feiring, Fred A. Shepherd, Walter Chandler, members of the two organizations.

Will Give a Subscription Dance.

A subscription dance will be given Friday night at Truell Hall, under the auspices of Leo Kenney, Harry W. Nash, Clarence Hand, Roland Williams and George Seavers. The committee has planned for a good time and a large number of guests have been invited.

ACT ON A JOINT SEWER

Mayor Sends Special Message on Subject to the Common Council.

A COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED.

Messrs. Tolles, Mygatt, Taylor and C. C. Randolph to Represent City in Negotiations With the Borough.

Mayor Charles J. Fisk at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council last night called the attention of the members to the importance of the city joining with the borough in the establishment of a sewage disposal plant. In his communication Mr. Fisk stated that the matter of removal of the present sewage disposal plant has been under discussion and investigation for the past two years and called attention to the fact that the plant is located in its present place not from choice but for the reason that at that time the city was forced to locate the plant within its limits.

"It has up to the present time served the necessities of the city," said the Mayor, "but the time has come when the city must make extensive repairs and additions at a cost of a large amount of money in order to provide for the growing requirements. The time is coming when we will have to remove the plant to a distant place, owing to the growth of the city.

"We now have the opportunity to unite with North Plainfield and other communities to accomplish this removal and secure a more up-to-date and efficient plant at a saving in cost to the taxpayers."

Mr. Fisk called attention to the fact that Sherrard Dupue, representing North Plainfield; C. A. Marsh, representing the city, together with W. J. Buttfield, president of the North Plainfield Sewage Commission and F. E. Mygatt, chairman of the public affairs committee, and the Mayor, drafted a bill, entitled an act to authorize two or more municipalities to jointly provide, maintain and operate a trunk or outlet sewer.

In the opinion of Mr. Fisk it is to the interest of the city and taxpayers to take up this matter and decide it as soon as possible. He stated that the city has surveys and estimates and that North Plainfield is ready to go ahead and the matter must be brought to the attention of the taxpayers if Plainfield is to reap the benefits of joint action. He urged that a special meeting be held within a week or two for in his opinion Plainfield should join with North Plainfield and take advantage of the plan to remove the local plant.

In this connection a communication was received from W. J. Buttfield urging similar action on the part of Plainfield before May 6, when the borough will hold a special election on the question. Later in the evening President Tolles appointed a special committee comprising F. E. Mygatt, C. C. Randolph and D. W. Taylor, with himself as a member ex-officio, to take up the sewer matter, and the communications from Mayor Fisk and Mr. Buttfield were referred to that committee.

BOROUGH FIRE HORSE PUSHED THROUGH DOOR.

Lieutenant "Allie" Fritts, of the borough fire department, had a little session of thrills yesterday afternoon while responding to the fire in the rear of Conroy's wagon manufactory on Somerset street. When the tapper sounded the horses took their places in front of the apparatus and as Fritt's was about to open the door one of the horses got restless, bolted through the door to the street. The door was considerably damaged.

It was a trying moment for Fritts, but he remained cool, and had the team under control when the middle of the street was reached.

Annual Supper and Meeting.

In connection with the annual meeting of the Congregational church and society tomorrow evening, the annual supper will be held at 6 o'clock, served by the Women's Association. At 7:30 o'clock there will be a business meeting of the Men's Club, followed at 8 o'clock by the annual church meeting, when officers will be elected and reports presented.

Mayor Fisk to Make Address.

Mayor Charles J. Fisk will address the Men's Association of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, on Thursday night. He will speak on a popular subject and it is expected that a large number of men will be present to hear him.

—P. H. Latourette, auctioneer, will sell the real estate of the late N. W. West at 15 Elm place, on Thursday, April 14, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. See adv. 4 12 2

DUNELLEN FIRE DEPT. SAVES BURNING BARN

Alertness and quick work by the Defender Fire Company prevented flames from destroying a barn belonging to Mrs. Elston Lowrie yesterday. Sparks from a passing locomotive evidently set fire to the structure as the flames were first seen issuing from the roof. Two streams of water confined the blaze to this part of the building. The barn contained a quantity of house furniture belonging to J. Dick and it is estimated that his loss will be about $200. Water was responsible for a large part of the damage to Dick's belongings. The damage to the barn is placed at $100.

DISTINCTIVENESS AND WORTH ARE CHARACTERISTIC FEATURES OF OUR MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.

We go beyond the point of designing pretty and becoming hats—we bring the cost down to a basis that has won for us the reputation—"More For Your Money at Teppers."

We do not sacrifice style and we will not sacrifice quality. Our hats present the perfecting of both.

Our designers make appointed trips to New York and as soon as a new idea is introduced you'll find it displayed in our millinery department. A mother may come here and find a suitable cap for her infant babe while right across the aisle are bonnets which are the only style some good grandmother will wear—between these two extremes you'll find hats wide in shape trimmed with a mass of bright hued flowers—or the tailored hat or the new odd shaped turban. All trimmed with good materials and marked at a modest price.

AUTO SPEED TRIALS AT SATURDAY'S MEET

There will be an added feature to the motocycle race meet which will be held at the Driving Association Park next Saturday afternoon in the form of automobile speed trials. This will be the first time that track auto races have ever been billed for this city and interest among the autoists and others who like the sport is keen. Carlton C. Brown, president of the Plainfield Automobile Trade Association, is one of the entries to date, while Terry Manning is the other. Manning will drive the Herreshoff car which Monte Robertson drove in the hill climb last summer. Entries of other autoists are expected. The distances are to be from one to five miles.

Another feature will be record trials by Arthur Chapple on a seven and half horse power Merkle motorcycle. Chapple is at present holder of several world's records and he will try to establish new records here. According to the rules of the American Federation of Amateur Motorcyclists, under whose sanction the meet is to be held, a machine as high powered as Chapple's is not permitted to take part in the races owing to the track being only a half-mile. A special permit, however, has been secured for the exhibition and something thrilling is promised. Recent entries for the races are Percy Drummond, Karl Segelbach and Howard Hill, the New Jersey Motorcycle Club cracks, of Newark.

Work of preparing the track began today. The top is to be harrowed and scraped and put in the best of condition. It is to be finished by Friday. Workouts will be held there Saturday morning.

LAURELS BEAT OUT NETHERWOOD JUNIORS.

The Laurels defeated the Netherwood Juniors in a ten-inning game yesterday by the score of 17 to 15. The Laurels won out in the final round by scoring a pair of runs. The lineups:

Netherwood Juniors—Dodd, c; Hankerson, p; Walls, 1b; Henzel, 2b; Stebore, 3b; Luthman, ss; Caufield, lf; R. Hansen, rf; L. Stebore, cf.

The Grace P. E. church baseball team won its second game of the season on Friday, defeating The Marshes by a score of 5 to 4. The playing of both teams was good. Walls was pitted against Walker in the box work and both pitchers were in good form. Manley distinguished himself at third base for the church team.

Local Princeton men are enthusiastic over the bright lookout for the Tiger nine this season. Old Nassau's diamond warriors made a great showing against the New York Americans yesterday. The big leaguers had all they could do to down the collegians by the score of 5 to 2.

Manager George Stallings, of the New York Americans, is pleased with the showing made by his pitchers in the South.

CAMP BOWSER NINE HUMBLES P.H.S. TEAM

The Camp Bowser defeated the P. H. S. nine in a fast game of baseball at Crescent Oval yesterday with the score of 7 to 2. The Camp Bowser fellows led all through the game and held the High School boys down easily. Conover pitched for the Bowsers while Terry twirled the ball for P. H. S. Camp Bowser began scoring in the second inning by Conover and Peary each making a run on hits. They did not score again until the sixth when Dumont stole home. The High School boys made their first score in the seventh inning when Van Zandt stole home on an error. In the ninth Van Zandt made another run on Lidgate's hit, thus making the only two runs for P. H. S.

All through the game Lidgate and VanZandt starred for the High School, while Bristol played fine ball at second. Conover and R. Schoonmaker made themselves prominent for Camp Bowser, while Dumont played a pretty game at the initial sack. A great deal of the poor playing was due to the cold. The lineup:

P. H. S.—Terry, p; Lidgate, c; VanZandt, 1b; Bristol, 2b; Clarke, 3b; Ricketts, Zeraga, ss; Runyon, rf; Doane, cf; Riffert, lf.

Camp Bowser—Conover, p; Glenney, c; Dumont, 1b; W. Schoonmaker, 2b; R. Schoonmaker, 3b; Howard, ss; Daniels, rf; Peary, cf; Sharrots, lf.

Score by innings:
Camp Bowser .0 2 0 0 0 1 2 0 2—7
P. H. S.....0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 1—2
Umpire—Martin.

Manager Bill Dahlen, of the Superbas, intends to retain eight twirlers until May 10.

Infielder Mecherly, of the Phillies, is said to be slated for a job with Rochester.

Manager Griffith is now anxious to find out just what the Boston Americans intend doing next spring, as it will have considerable to do with the plans of the Cincinnati Club at Hot Springs. If Boston should go to the coast in the spring it would leave the ball park in full possession of the Cincinnati players. Griffith has had the buildings and bleachers well insured and will keep a caretaker.

Young Cy Young is being worked harder by Hughey Duffy than the Concord mechanic ever worked in his baseball life before.

Twirler Pat Ragon has joined the Rochester squad and is now touring Virginia with Ganzel's party.

Since McGraw took charge of the New York Giants, on July 19, 1902, they have played 1,120 championship games, winning 688, and losing 432 for a percentage of .614. They have won two pennants and one world's championship and finished second three times.

Troy, the giant twirler of whom so much was expected by the Phillie management, has been sent to the Worcester club for the season.

Petee Cassidy, the former Jersey City and Baltimore player, will play in the Big Four League of Chester, Pa., this season.

Jack Taylor, who formerly pitched for the Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals, will probably twirl but a few more games in his career. Taylor is now with the Kansas City American Association club. Recently Taylor injured his salary arm and since then the injured member has given him considerable trouble. Taylor brought his big league career to a close with the Chicago Cubs in 1906. He is a right-handed hurler and in his younger days was considered one of the best along the circuit. He was known to ball players as the brakeman pitcher.

Camp Bowser is still on the baseball map. The defeat given the P. H. S. nine yesterday was a bitter pill for the shcool boys to swallow. An improvement in team work is needed on the latter nine.

Lidgate, the P. H. S. catcher, is a candidate for first base job on the Y. M. C. A. nine.

Jack Martin made a pretty good "Ump" in the High School-Camp Bowser game yesterday.

Cliff Randolph's postoffice address is Binghamton, N. Y., now. Cliff left town for the summer yesterday to remain until sweet cider time.

Yale's poor showing against the Giants on Saturday has resulted in a number of shakeups in the Blue team. Loutrel has been deposed at shortstop and Dick Merritt is being tried out, and catcher Badger has been sent to the outfield.

PROPOSALS FOR COAL

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, N. J., at a meeting held April 4, 1910, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Monday, April 18th, 1910, at eight o'clock, at the Board room in the High School building, corner Ninth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for furnishing eight hundred tons (more or less) of the best anthracite coal for steaming and hot-air purposes; in the different sizes. The quantity required of each size can be obtained at the office of the Secretary of the Board, High School building, Ninth street and Arlington avenue.

Parties bidding will be required to specify in their bids the name of the coal and shippers of same.

All coal to be thoroughly screened over a seive fine enough to take out all dust and small particles of coal, and to be prepared acceptable to the Committee on Fuel, or their agent or representative.

All coal to be placed in the coal bins within the public school buildings without any extra expense to the Board for handling or trimming the coal in the bins, and to be delivered at such time as the Board may direct.

Bids to specify whether long or short tons.

Payment for all coal contracted for to be made after July 1, 1910.

All proposals to be endorsed "Proposals for Coal," and addressed to the Secretary of the Board.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Board will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided such parties or their agents choose to be then and there present; and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

No bids will be received until the day and hour above named, and none thereafter.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

THE DAILY PRESS.

Plainfield, N. J., April 12, 1910.

PURPOSE OF THE ELECTION.

As the Protective Association has endeavored to impress upon the voters in the display advertisements appearing each day in this paper, the purpose of the special election to be held on Tuesday, April 19, is to vest in the governing body of the municipality power to investigate the water question. Under existing conditions the city fathers are helpless; their hands are tied. Before they can have a free hand to solve the all important problem for the best interests of the community, the voters must give them the right. This is provided for by the Act of 1876 and only by the adoption of its provisions can the voters direct their agents, the Councilmen, to ascertain what is best for their interests individually and collectively.

If a favorable vote is obtained the city fathers may investigate the cost of purchasing the present plant either through condemnation proceedings or by mutual agreement. They may investigate the cost of an entirely new plant. Futhermore they may negotiate for a more satisfactory contract with the private company for a term of years.

In the report of the Water Investigating Commission will be found this paragraph explaining the purpose of such an election:

"If the statutes shall become operative it will then be possible for negotiations to be entered upon to ascertain the price for which the Water Company will sell, and if no price can be agreed upon, to proceed by condemnation to ascertain by award of commissioners the price for which the works can be acquired in that way. Then for the first time will the Common Council have trustworthy information upon this most important question of cost. It is not even possible to guess with any degree of approximation what the cost will be until a judicial determination as to what elements may properly be included by the Commissioners in making up their figures. Condemnation proceedings may be carried far enough to have these questions of what it will cost the city to acquire the water works, finally determined by the proper legal course, so that the figures may be in hand for the consideration of the Common Council in determining the questions which will have to be decided. If then, with all the other considerations fully in hand it shall be found that a contract can be made with greater advantage than to condemn, the condemnation proceedings may be abandoned at any time without prejudice to the city, or if thought desirable to acquire and operate the works after full knowledge of the cost, the condemnation may be consummated."

MILITARY MAY USE BALLOONS

Trenton, April 12.—An innovation for the National Guard is found in a semi-official communication from the department of military affairs of the War Department to the general officers of the militia of the State on the possibility of attaching balloons and a balloon corps to the infantry regiments for observation purposes.

The communication, while not an order notifying the State that the innovation had been adopted, is specific in detail, and leads the officers to believe that the New Jersey troops will be the first to have a try at balloon scouting and map-making from aerial observation. It states that the government has had in use in the regular service for some time a large number of gas balloons that have been used for scouting in maneuvres and for getting a general terrain of the country over which forces had operated, and that they have proved a success.

The communication came as a surprise to the general officers. It is understood that the brigade commandants will be acquainted with the contents of the letter and will be asked for an opinion and that then an answer will be sent to Washington.

STATE NEWS BRIEFS.

With but one graduate—a girl—it is likely that commencement exercises will be omitted at the Gloucester High School this year.

Stumbling from a bridge in Camden, Sunday, Antonia Menrick, fifty-four years old, of 227 New street, Philadelphia, had a rib broken and was taken to Cooper Hospital.

Philip Mingin, of Medford, formerly of Woodbury, is threatened with blood poison. Last summer he ran the tines of a pitchfork in his leg and the wound never healed.

When a box of canned goods fell on him, William Campbell, fourteen years old, of 1012 Carpenter street, Camden, had his left hand badly injured and was cared for at Cooper Hospital Sunday.

Dry Cleaning Talk

Gentlemen's clothes cleaned by a Cleanery with the ability nad equipments to produce first-class work, will stay clean longer, as when done by an ordinary suit presser who only brushes the surface dust off and removes the most prominent spots from the surface.

With our process the garments are thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, the linings are cleaned and spots that are removed will stay removed and do not appear again the first time the garments are exposed to the dust and grim of the street.

In the beginning it may cost a little more, but will pay at the end, as the clothes don't have to be at the cleaners every two weeks.

Phone us and our wagon will call.

Women's Sailor Pump,

Cuban heel, broad grograin ribbon bow, welt sole, short forepart. Leathers — Gun Metal, Patent Colt. The nobbiest number of the season. Just one of the many styles to select from.

The Men's Oxfords

This season's wearing are almost as varied in style and pattern as are the women's. Higher heels, almost a military, are exceedingly popular, while of course there are the "soberer" styles for the more conservative dresser; a look at the windows will give you a fairly good idea of the extensiveness of styles and materials.

Wants Water Rights Protected.

Editor, The Daily Press:

In response to your request for communications on the water question, I, as one of the taxpayers of this city and interested in its growth and welfare, would state that I am very desirous that the voters should place in the hands of our Common Council the power to settle and control the question as they in their judgment may deem for the best interests of the city.

I am not in the least frightened by the figures given by Mr. C. H. Hand in his numerous articles on this question. They are none of them new and in fact they have formed the stock arguments of the water company for years past in every struggle we have had with them on the question; their strong point being in every case to work on the fears of the taxpayer.

There appears to be a change pending in the legal position of this corporation and I doubt if its franchise will be so valuable after a time. The courts show a tendency to apply the law governing surface streams and waters to subterranean streams where their depletion is causing injury and loss to surface water rights.

Those engaged in driving wells in our city tell us that the water line has gone down nearly three feet since the water company began pumping out waters to Elizabeth and out of town places, and that this water line is constantly falling. We all know the present condition of Cedar brook, once a stream two feet deep and flowing rapidly with a pure clear stream, now absolutely dry. Great injury is therefore done to all our people by this diversion and it may be that some remedy will still be open to us to prevent it. There is a serious side to it as well. Sanitary engineers agree that in cases similar to Plainfield's where there is a sand filter underneath us through which the water percolates and flows, if the level of the water in this sand filter is reduced so that any portion of it becomes dry, such dry portion becomes a menace to the health of the community, as no way remains by which the water can carry off the contamination of the soil.

This seems to be what is happening now with us, and if for no other reason every voter in the city should turn out on election day and by his vote place in the hands of the Common Council the power to regulate and control this question for the health of our city may be at stake, in a few years, if the present deplorable diversion of our under-ground and surface waters is not stopped or regulated

WM. M. STILLMAN.

Parent-Teacher Ass'n Ideas.

Editor, The Daily Press.:

The executive committees of the Parent-Teacher Associations of the Franklin, Irving, Whittier and Stillman schools heartily approve of the establishment of a special session of court where only children's cases will be allowed, and we urge that the newspapers omit in their reports the names of juvenile offenders.

M. TRAVELL,
The Secretary of Franklin School Parent-Teachers' Association.

PRESIDENT TOLLES' BIRTHDAY REMEMBERED.

Councilman George S. Clay interrupted the proceedings of the Common Council for a few minutes last night for the purpose of presenting a large and handsome bouquet of roses to President Ralph I. Tolles, in recognition of his birthday anniversary, which occurred yesterday. Mr. Clay in making the presentation on behalf of his colleagues, said that he hoped that Mr. Tolles would continue to preside over the body for many years to come.

In accepting the roses, President Tolles said that the surprise was so great that he could not express his feelings. He thanked the members for the gift, however, expressing his appreciation for the kindly regard shown. The little pleasantry was accompanied with hearty applause.

AUTOMOBILES FOR CHIEF DOANE AND COMM'R GAVETT.

The Common Council at its adjouhned meeting, last night, purchased an automobile for Chief T. O. Doane, of the fire department, and one for Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett, in accordance with plans decided upon recently.

Mr. Gloak offered a resolution, which was adopted, authorizing the street committee to purchase an automobile for Mr. Gavett at a cost not to exceed $575, and Mr. Taylor, chairman of the fire committee, offered a similar resolution which was adopted, authorizing that committee to purchase an automobile for Chief Doane at a cost not to exceed $600. The names of the machines were not announced, the committees desiring to keep that information until after they are purchased.

Funeral of Mrs. Dunham.

The funeral services of Mrs. Randolph Dunham were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the late home on Madison avenue, and were largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, of which Mrs. Dunham was a life-long member, officiated. The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the pallbearers were two sons, O. M. Dunham and F. A. Dunham; a son-in-law, T. A. Lieber, of Carteret, and Asa F. Randolph and Lewis Titsworth.

Special Election Notice

To the Legal Voters of the City of Plainfield.

Public notice is hereby given that in accordance with the resolutions presented to the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, and adopted on the 7th day of March, A. D. 1910, and approved by the Mayor of said city on the 8th day of March, A. D. 1910, and of which the following is a true copy:

Resolution providing for the submission to the legal voters of the City of Plainfield, of the question of the adoption of the provisions of an act entitled, "An Act to enable cities to supply the inhabitants thereof with pure and wholesome water," approved April twenty-first, eighteen hundred and seventy-six, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Resolved, That the question of the adoption of the provisions of an Act entitled, "An Act to enable cites to supply the inhabitants thereof with pure and wholesome water," approved April twenty-first, eighteen hundred and seventy-six, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, be submitted to the legal voters of the City of Plainfield at an election to be held in said city on Tuesday, the 19th day of April, A. D. Nineteen hundred and ten; that the City Clerk of said city be and he hereby is directed to cause public notice of the time, place and purpose of holding the election to be given by advertisements signed by himself and set up at least eight days prior to and within thirty days next preceding the day of election, in at least five of the most public places within said city, and published in two newspapers printed therein, to wit, The Daily Press and The Plainfield Courier-News, for at least six days previous to the day of such election; that the said City Clerk shall provide for each voter voting at such election ballots, upon which ballots shall be printed the following words: "For Against the adoption for this city of the provisions of an act entitled "An Act to enable cities to supply the inhabitants thereof with pure and wholesome water, approved April twenty-first, eighteen hundred and seventy-six," and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto." If the word "For" be marked off or defaced upon the ballot, it shall be counted as a vote against the adoption for said city of the provisions of said act; if the word "Against" be marked off or defaced upon the ballot, it shall be counted as a vote in favor of the adoption for said city of the provisions of said act; and in case neither the word "For" nor the word "Against" be marked off or defaced upon the ballot, it shall not be counted as a vote either for or against such proposition, nor shall the person depositing in the ballot-box a ballot on which neither the said word "For" nor the said word "Against" is marked off be counted as a voter or as voting in respect of or upon the question or proposition submitted. If voting machines shall be used at such election, all voting by means thereof shall be conducted in the manner specified by the statute in such case made and provided:

It is Further Resolved, That the polls for such election shall be held at the usual places of holding the annual general election in said city, and shall open at six o'clock in the morning, and close at seven o'clock in the evening, and shall be kept open during the whole day of election between the hours aforesaid; provided the Board of Election may adjourn such election from one o'clock until two o'clock in the afternoon, or for such shorter time between those hours as they shall see fit; and such election shall be conducted by the proper election officers of said city for the time then being, and in the manner as may then be prescribed by the Ordinance of said city, if any, regulating elections therein, and such officers shall return to the Common Council of said city, a true and correct statement in writing, under their hands, of the result of said election, the same to be entered at large upon the Minutes of said Common Council.

an election will be held in said city of Plainfield, New Jersey, on Tuesday, the 19th day of April, A. D. 1910, and the polls for such election shall be held at the usual places of holding the annual general election in said city, that is to say:

First Ward, 1st District, No. 138 North Avenue;
First Ward, 2nd District, No. 545 East Third Street;

CHAPTER XIII.

Faded Roses.

I was in the house for a week. Much of that time I spent in composing and destroying letters of thanks to Miss West, and in growling at the doctor. McKnight dropped in daily, but he was less cheerful than usual. Now and then I caught him eyeing me as if he had something to say, but whatever it was he kept it to himself. Once during the week he went to Baltimore and saw the woman in the hospital there. From the description I had little difficulty in recognizing the young woman who had been with the murdered man in Pittsburg. But she was still unconscious. An elderly aunt had appeared, a gaunt person in black, who sat around like a buzzard on a fence, according to McKnight, and wept, in a mixed figure, into a damp handkerchief.

On the last day of my imprisonment he stopped in to thrash out a case that was coming up in court the next day, and to play a game of double solitaire with me.

"Who won the ball game?" I asked.

"We were licked. Ask me something pleasant. Oh, by the way, Bronson's out to-day."

"I'm glad I'm not on his bond," I said pessimistically. "He'll clear out."

"Not he." McKnight pounced on my ace. "He's no fool. Don't you suppose he knows you took those notes to Pittsburg? The papers were full of it. And he knows you escaped with your life and a broken arm from the wreck. What do we do next? The commonwealth continues the case. A deaf man on a dark night would know those notes were missing."

"Don't play so fast," I remonstrated. "I have only one arm to your two. Who is Trailing Bronson? Did you try to get Johnson?"

"I asked for him, but he had some work on hand."

"The murder's evidently a dead issue," I reflected. "No, I'm not joking. The wreck destroyed all the evidence. But I'm firmly convinced those notes will be offered, either to us or to Bronson very soon. Johnson's a blackguard, but he's a good detective. He could make his fortune as a game dog. What's he doing?"

McKnight put down his cards, and rising, went to the window. As he held the curtain back his customary grin looked a little forced.

"To tell you the truth, Lollie," he said, "for the last two days he has been watching a well-known Washington attorney named Lawrence Blakeley. He's across the street now."

It took a moment for me to grasp what he meant.

"Why, it's ridiculous," I asserted. "What would they trail me for? Go over and tell Johnson to get out of there, or I'll pot at him with my revolver."

"You can tell him that yourself." McKnight paused and bent forward. "Hello, here's a visitor; a little man with string halt."

"I won't see him," I said firmly. "I've been bothered enough by reporters."

We listened together to Mrs. Klopton's expostulating tones in the lower hall and the creak of the boards as she came heavily up the stairs. She had a piece of paper in her hand torn from a pocket account-book, and on it was the name, "Mr. Wilson Budd Hotchkiss. Important business."

"The Stains You See and the Hole Left by the Dirk."

"Oh, well, show him up," I said resignedly. "You'd better put those cards away, Richey. I fancy it's the rector of the church around the corner."

But when the door opened to admit a curiously alert little man, adjusting his glasses with nervous fingers, my face must have shown my dismay.

It was the amateur detective of the Ontario!

I shook hands without enthusiasm. Here was the one survivor of the wrecked car who could do me any amount of harm. There was no hope that he had forgotten any of the incriminating details. In fact, he held in his hand the very note-book which contained them.

His manner was restrained, but it was evident he was highly excited. I introduced him to McKnight, who has the imagination I lack, and who placed him at once, mentally.

"I only learned yesterday that you had been—er—saved," he said rapidly. "Terrible accident—unspeakable. Dream about it all night and think about it all day. Broken arm?"

"No. He just wears the splint to be different from other people," McKnight drawled lazily. I glared at him; there was nothing to be gained by antagonizing the little man.

"Yes, a fractured humerus, which isn't as funny as it sounds."

"Humerus—humorous! Pretty good," he cackled. "I must say you keep up your spirits pretty well, considering everything."

"You seem to have escaped injury," I parried. He was fumbling for something in his pockets.

"Yes, I escaped," he replied abstractedly. "Remarkable thing, too. I haven't a doubt I would have broken my neck, but I landed on—you'll never guess what! I landed head first on the very pillow which was under inspection at the time of the wreck. You remember, don't you? Where did I put that package?"

STATE HOUSE SCANDAL SUBJECT OF CONFERENCE

President of the Senate Frelinghuysen and Speaker of the House Ward went to Trenton this morning and had a short conference with Governor Fort concerning what action should be taken with reference to the charges of disgraceful conduct between members of the Assembly and a party of women in the State House during the closing hours of the Legislative session. Owing to the Governor being very busy in disposing of the bills left for his consideration by the Legislature work which he must clean up tonight, nothing definite was decided upon as to the best course to pursue in dealing with the legislative scandal.

At noon Speaker Ward said that he had nothing to say on the subject, but that later in the day he would probably issue a statement. Senator Frelinghuysen has been advised by Attorney General Wilson that he has no right to appoint a committee to conduct an investigation unless specially authorized to do so by vote of the Senate and such action cannot be brought about except by a special session of the Legislature.

"ARABIAN KNIGHTS" FUND FOR DR. P. W. HARRISON.

Dr. Paul W. Harrison, the missionary of Trinity Reformed church to Arabia, who is planning a trip of exploration with Rev. Dr. S. M. Zwemer, has reecived the encouraging news that the University Club, of Chicago, has appropriated the money for the trip, $300, which will provide the entire outfit, including camels, food, etc. The trip, which is quite an extended one, will take Dr. Harrison and Dr. Zwemer into parts of the country yet unexplored.

The members of the University Club, of Chicago, who have contributed the $300, call themselves the Arabian Knights. The trip planned will extend from the East Coast of Arabia to Mecca and the two missionaries believe that it will afford an excellent opportunity to do mission work.

TWO GOVERNORS RESIGN FROM HOSPITAL'S BOARD.

The resignation of George A. Beaton as a member of the body was received at a meeting of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital last night. Notice was given that Samuel Huntington would also retire June 1.

Dr. P. J. Zeglio was transferred to the department of surgery to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. M. B. Long. Dr. W. H. Anthony was appointed attending physician.

A bequest of $5,000 from the Arthur W. Talmadge Estate was acknowledged.

Funeral of Michael Hinton.

The funeral services of Michael Hinton will be held at Bethel chapel at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. F. D. Tildon, the pastor, will officiate. The burial will be in Hillside Cemetery.

FOUR-CYLINDER REO $1,250

Thirty horse-power—50 Miles an Hour—An ENGINEERING VICTORY.

It is comparatively easy for a maker to build a car that will "do things" if he puts enough money and weight into it. But money is money, and weight is money, too—money for big and quickly worn-out tires, money for more fuel and expensive maintenance.

The Reo is a triumph of engineering. Mr. R. E. Olds is a genius at doing that very difficult but useful thing—making a car of very high quality at low cost. The Reo is full of cost where cost earns its money, and full of economy where economy counts. It has the remarkable get-there-and-back ability of every Reo ever built; it is powerful, light, buoyant, graceful, efficient, comfortable.—Let us demonstrate.

FORT'S ACTION ON BILLS

When Governor Cleared His Desk He Had Disposed of 206 Measures.

FIFTY VETOES ALTOGETHER.

Child Labor Act and Contributory Negligence Bill Are Approved by Him—Some Other New Statutes.

At exactly 9:30 o'clock last night Governor Fort walked out of his office at the State House at Trenton with his desk cleaned of all the 206 bills left for his disposal by the Legislature when it adjourned last Thursday morning. His final official act was to file without his approval thirteen bills originating in the Senate and twenty-six originating in the Assembly, these thirty-nine measures thereby failing to become laws. As he had previously advised the Legislature when in session of about a dozen vetoes. This brings the total of bills that were disapproved of by the Governor up a half hundred. The Governor yesterday made public the reasons for seventeen of his vetoes since the Legislature adjourned, and on Thursday will give out for publication the reasons for disapproving of the other tabooed bills.

One bill in which there is great interest and the fate of which is in his hands the Governor did not last night make public, is the Ramsey bill aiming to regulate the practice of osteopathy. "I have disposed of this bill," said the Governor as he left the State House last night, "but I shall not announce my action until tomorrow."

The last bill disposed of by the Governor was the annual appropriation bill. The only cuts he made in the appropriations were eliminations of five items, totalling $25,300, from the money which the Legislature authorized for the State Fish and Game Commission. The Governor believes that as the commission is now receiving about $60,000 annually from the gunners' license law, it does not need all the appropriations fixed by the Legislature.

The Governor also vetoed Senate bill 243 which authorized the Game and Fish Commission to increase the number of wardens from twenty-five to twenty-eight, and also increasing their pay from $500 to $800 annually. His chief objection to this bill was that it proposed to take out of civil service the game wardens. The Governor said that he would not stand for any attack on the civil service system.

One of the last measures approved was the Edge bill authorizing the continuance of the work of revaluing railroad property in the name of the State Board of Assessors, for which $100,000 is appropriated. The actual work is to be performed under the direction of one of the special commissioners appointed by Governor Fort, who is to be chosen by the State Board with the aprpoval of the Governor.

Two bills about which there was some apprehension as to their proper delivery to the Governor—the Olwell child labor measure and the Moore bill allowing juries to determine the question of whether there is contributory negligence on the part of plaintiffs in demands for damages from accidents at unprotected railroad crossings—reached the executive chamber at 2 p. m. and Mr. Fort promptly signed both of them.

Another bill of general State interest signed by the Governor late in the afternoon was the one introduced by Assemblyman Thompson, of Union, which requires slaughter houses and abbatoirs to secure a license from the State Board of Health.

By signing House bill No. 507, by B. H. White, of Camden, the Governor gives the State Water Supply Commission jurisdiction over all well, sub-surface or percolating water supplies furnished to municipalities. Senator Prince's bill enabling a municipality by its governing body to acquire lands for park purposes, was approved. The McCran bill authorizing municipalities to join together in acquiring property and establishing systems of water supply, designed to help Paterson, Passaic and several neighboring places, also was approved.

Besides the vetoes mentioned, the Governor also disapproved of these bills: Senate 123, by Mr. Prince, increasing the salaries of judges of the courts of common pleas in fourth class counties; House 415, by Mr. McCran, permits shade tree commissions to pass ordinances; House 400, by Mr. Radcliffe, prohibits increase or decrease of salaries of municipal officials during term of office; House 420, by Mr. Coldingay, authorizes use of Military Park in Newark for a sub-surface station for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

APPLAUD MARY DESMOND

Prima Donna Contralto of Manhattan Company is Heard Here.

OTHER ARTISTS ON PROGRAM.

Dr. Carl Dufft, Hans Kronold and Edward Strong Take Part in the Ballad Concert Benefit.

The ballad concert given at the Plainfield High School last night for the benefit of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Plainfield and North Plainfield was a great success from a musical point of view and the audience, a thoroughly appreciative one, enjoyed every number of the fine program which was arranged by Joseph McIntyre, of this city.

The artists included Miss Mary Desmond, prima donna contralto of the Manhattan Opera Company, who made her first appearance here; Dr. Carl E. Dufft, basso cantante, who is always a favorite; Hans Kronold, 'cellist, whose artistic work has won for him many friends here, and Joseph McIntyre, pianist, who long ago endeared himself to the hearts of the music-loving public.

Edward Strong, tenor, of New York, who was to have taken part, sent word at the last moment that he had been drawn on a jury in New York, and it would be impossible for him to appear here. Mr. McIntyre very kindly consented to fill in his two numbers with piano selections, and while Mr. Strong's absence was regretted, the audience seemed more than pleased over the change judging by the hearty applause which greeted the announcement of the substitution of Mr. McIntyre.

The appearance here for the first time of Miss Desmond was of more than usual interest. Her gracious manner and desire to please made for her a lasting friendship and her singing will not be forgotten in the years to come. Many expressed the hope that another opportunity to hear Miss Desmond would be offered in the near future.

Miss Desmond has a perfectly endowed contralto voice of exquisite quality and training; most pleasing in timbre, sensitive and appealing. She has the musical temperament of the great artist coupled with a judgment in its control most rare and satisfying.

The great singer was generous in responding to encores. Her two first numbers were "Beloved, It Is Morn," Aylward, and "Love the Pedlar," German. These were followed later by a group of three songs, "All Souls' Day," Strauss; "Summer Noon," Lang, and "Slumber Song," from 'Jocelyn," Godard, the last named being with obligato for 'cello. The audience was loth to let her go and to these numbers she gave an encore. Her concluding number was "Summer Night," Thomas, with obligato for 'cello, which called forth long and hearty applause.

Dr. Carl E. Dufft fully sustained his reputation as a great singer. Always a favorite with Plainfield audiences, he was greeted with much applause. He opened the program with "Robin Goodfellow," Puck's Song, Morgan, and "After," Elgar. His other numbers were "The Land o' the Leal," Foote; "A Border Ballad," Cowen, while for an encore he sang that old favorite Scotch song, "Turn Ye to Me."

Hans Kronold fully measured up to the reputation he made in his appearance here with Campanari early in the winter. He is a master of the 'cello and his work last night left nothing to be desired. He fairly captivated his audience with his exquisite rendition and in the obligato for 'cello, he shared with Miss Desmond and Mr. McIntyre in the honors. He played "Larghetto," Mozart; "Rondo," Baccherini; "Albumblatt," Wagner; "Vito," Popper, and for an encore he favored with Tanhausser's "Evening Star."

In substituting for Mr. Strong, Mr. McIntyre first played "The Trout," Schubert; then "The Nightingale," by Alabieff, and for an encore he rendered "Mazurka Caprice," which was written for and dedicated to Mr. McIntyre by Krouse. His rendition was exquisite and round after round of applause was given.

Too much praise cannot be given Mr. McIntyre for his efforts in bringing Miss Desmond to Plainfield, and in the arrangement of the superb program which was perfect.

BIRD GETS FOURTH TERM

President Taft Re-appoints Plainfield's Efficient Postmaster.

HAS SERVED TWELVE YEARS.

Business of Office Has Doubled Since Present Competent Official Took Charge of the Local Business.

Announcement was made today that Elias H. Bird had been re-appointed by President Taft as postmaster of Plainfield for another four-year term to begin on May 1. The appointment is considered a deserved one. Mr. Bird was first appointed postmaster by President McKinley in 1898 and was re-appointed twice by President Roosevelt. Upon the completion of his present term he will have served as postmaster sixteen years. During that time the business of the local postoffice has increased rapidly.

When Mr. Bird assumed the office the yearly receipts were $30,000. The staff comprised eleven letter-carriers and four clerks. Today the receipts are $70,000 and the staff, including three rural carriers, numbers twenty-five and in addition there are ten clerks. Not alone in the clerical force has there been advancement, but there have been great improvements in the office. Much additional room was secured, giving greater floor space, and the latest equipment has been added to the office making it possible to hand outgoing and incoming mail in the quickest possible manner. Whenever Mr. Bird has desired additional help in the carrier force or extra clerks, the government has always been quick to grant his request. The postoffice in every respect compares favorably with those of the same class in any part of the country and with the prospects of a new Federal building Plainfield will undoubtedly have one of the best equipped post offices in the country.

ORCHESTRAL DIRECTOR FOR TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

The final concert of the Y. M. C. A. orchestra which has been carded for Tuesday night, May 10, will mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of Mr. Korff as an orchestral director. Mr. Korff has rendered service in this capacity at the local association for the past eight years. A marked feature of the anniversary concert will be the presentation of Haydn's Symphony Militaire. It will also be the final concert of the season.

A large audience was present at the concert given last night and critics expressed it as the best of the season.

A large audience was present at the concert given last night and said is was the best of the season. The soloists were Mrs. L. R. Howard, soprano, who was accompanied by Miss Elsie Knowlton, and Vincent B. Minor, who was accompanied on the piano by S. Frederick Smith.

PARENT-TEACHER ASS'N. WANTS A CHILDREN'S COURT.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Irving School met yesterday afternoon, there being nearly one hundred members present. The most important item of business was the adoption of a resolution in which the association heartily endorsed the plan to establish a special session of the court where only children's cases will be allowed and it was urged that newspapers omit in their reports the names of juvenile offenders.

The association decided to meet in the future on the second Tuesday in every other month. The annual meeting will be held Tuesday, April 26, for the election of officers and presentation of reports.

Mrs. F. T. Ostrom was elected as the representative of the Mothers' meeting to the Parent-Teacher Association, in place of Mrs. I. W. Travell, who has removed from the city. After the business refreshments were served.

Vetoes Osteopathy.

Governor Fort left the State House this afternoon to go to Rahway to attend a meeting of the Board of Managers of the Rahway Reformatory without announcing officially what action he had taken in reference to the Ramsey bill passed by the Legislature to regulate the practice of osteopathy. Unofficially, however, it is known that the Governor has vetoed the bill. As the bill had not been approved before midnight last night, when the time limit expired for the Governor to act on bills left in his hands by the Legislature, it is a foregone conclusion that it has failed to become a law.

JEREMIAH CALLAHAN WEDS MISS TERESA FINNEGAN

Jeremiah Callahan, of Brook avenue, the borough, and Miss Teresa Finnegan, daughter of James Finnegan, of 334 Fulton street, Elizabeth, were married at 9 o'clock yesterday at the Holy Rosary church, Elizabeth, the Rev. James J. Smith officiating, assisted by Rev. William H. Miller, pastor of St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield.

Only relatives and intimate friends were present. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Callahan were given a reception at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Edward O'Day, at 438 Franklin street, Elizabeth, where a wedding breakfast was served.

Miss Anna Finnegan, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Jeremiah Callahan, a cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. The bride was gowned in white crepe de chine with a white veil. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Finnegan wore a pink silk gown and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Patricus Finnegan, a brother of the bride, and John Hasson were ushers.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Callahan left Elizabeth on their wedding trip. They will visit Washington and other cities of the Middle South. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Whelan, Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Walsh, Mrs. J. P. Owens and the Misses Kittie and Mary Leahy and Kate Whelan, all of Plainfield; Mrs. Mary Gorman, of Monticello, N. Y., and the Misses Belle and Maggie Quinn, of Newark. Mr. and Mrs. Callahan will reside on Arlington avenue.

ONE DAY'S RECORD IN THE POLICE COURT

Vicente Calamino, an Italian fifty years old, caught stealing bags from a house in the Netherwood section yesterday afternoon, was discharged with a warning this morning by City Judge Runyon in the police court, after the complainant, B. F. Tallamy told the judge that he did not want to prosecute the charge. Calamino told the judge through an interpreter that he saw the bags lying upon the ground and as he was in need of a bed he thought the gunny sacks would make an ideal couch. He hid the bags in a nearby wood and intended to take them home after his day's work was done. He was arrested by Detective Sergeant Flynn.

Mrs Margaret Bimford, seventy years old, of College place, was remanded until tomorrow by Judge Runyon this morning to allow her family to make some arrangements for her care in an institution. She was drunk yesterday and created a disturbance among her neighbors.

NEW YORK "SPORTS" TRY TO SHOOT UP VILLAGES

Residents of Stony Hill, Watchung and other communities in the Watchung mountain district, have been terrorized for the last few days by a gang of New Yorkers, who have been having "a good time" and incidentily displaying their exuberance by the indiscriminate shooting of revolvers. Somerset county game wardens and law officers are on the trail of the men and arrests are expected.

According to residents at the above mentioned places hundreds of robins have been slain, women and children frightened by pistol shots, dogs and cats shot at. From all accounts the visitors from Gotham, if corraled by the law officers will have an opportunity to recreate behind steel bars and incidentally pay some fines for the indiscriminate slaying of birds and dogs.

COUNSELOR R. N. CRANE WINS CASE AND BOUQUET.

Robert Newton Crane won a verdict for his client and also a press compliment on a recent trip to Clinton, where he was interested in a case. Here is what the Clinton Democrat says of the matter:

"Robert Newton Crane, of Plainfield, was the prosecuting lawyer in the suit brought by Mrs. Edith Cleveland against Charles D. Pope in Justice Apgar's court on Monday. The plaintiff was fortunate in such able counsel in her behalf."

Police Salary Bill Vetoed.

Governor Fort put the sign of disapproval on Assemblyman Ford's bill, regulating the salaries of patrolmen in cities other than first class, yesterday. He said he was strongly opposed to the principles involved.

HOSPITAL IMPROVEMENTS

Refrigerating and an Electric Light and Power Plant for Institution.

ORDERED BY THE GOVERNORS.

Reports Are Received at Monthly Meeting of Muhlenberg's Trustees—Two Governors Resign.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital at its meeting Monday night, authorized the expenditure of a sum not exceeding $3,000 for the immediate installation of a refrigerating plant, and the expenditure of a sum not exceeding $4,000 for the immediate installation of a complete electric light and power plant at the hospital. It is believed that these improvements will mean a great saving in operating expenses over and above depreciation, interest charges and a substantial sinking fund to pay off the cost of these improvements.

The receipt of a bequest of $5,000 from the Arthur W. Talmadge estate, as reported yesterday, is for the purpose of endowing a bed in perpetuity. The treasurer also reported the receipt of $560.58 from the Patrolmen's Association and $334 raised by the children of the Hartridge School at a fair on March 19. The latter sum was donated to the hospital for the purpose of starting a fund for the erection of a children's ward. The donation from the Patrolmen's Association was given without restrictions and can be used for general purposes. A vote of thanks by resolution was extended for these gifts.

The governors learned with regret as told in this paper yesterday, that Samuel Huntington will retire on June 1. He has served as a member of the board continuously for twenty-nine years and has been a valuable official. Efforts were made to persuade Mr. Huntington to remain on the board but without success. The removal of George A. Beaton from Plainfield compelled him to resign, as told in yesterday's paper.

The medical report for the past month follows:

Patients remaining on March 1, 35; admitted during the month, 70; discharged cured, 61; discharged improved, 8. There were two deaths, leaving 34 patients remaining April 1. The total number of patients treated was 105, with 67 operations. Eight contagious cases were reported for the month, four patients being discharged and four remaining on the first of the month. The total number of dispensary patients was 88 and there were 117 daily visits to the dispensary. The total number of hospital days for the month was 1,284.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF MRS. FANNY VAN CLEEF

The funeral services of Mrs. Fanny Van Cleef, widow of Freeholder Cornelius G. Van Cleef, who died Sunday night as a result of terrible burns received twenty-four hours before, were held yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock from the late home in East Millstone. There was a very large attendance of relatives and friends, including a number from this city. Practically the whole village was present at the obsequies. Mrs. Van Cleaf had lived in East Millstone for a great many years and was highly esteemed.

Rev. Henry Lockwood, pastor of the Second Reformed church, of which Mrs. Van Cleaf was a member, conducted the services and spoke words of sympathy to the bereaved ones and especially of the self-sacrificing life of the departed. The floral tributes were beautiful, coming from the host of relatives and friends of Mrs. Van Cleef. The burial was in the cemetery at East Millstone.

Fireman Falls From Train.

Edward Kelley, a P. & R. fireman, while riding a freight train on his way to his home at 322 Madison avenue, Dunellen, at 6 o'clock this morning fell off the train and sustained severe lacerations of his limbs. He was attended by Dr. Pittis and later sent to his home in a passenger train. Kelley fell from the train at Lincoln.

Higher Restaurant Prices.

Local restaurant proprietors will meet on Monday night for the purpose of deciding on the advisibility of raising the rates on eatables. The meeting has been called by E. H. Cleverely, of North avenue. Owing to the advances made in all kinds of food the restaurant keepers feel that they are obliged to take this step.

BANQUET OF MEN'S CLUB

Crescent Avenue Church Men Elect New Officers and Enjoy Dinner.

JUDGE F. E. CRANE SPEAKS.

Eminent Brooklyn Jurist Decries Hero Worship—S. S. Swackhamer and Others Heard.

The first dinner of the Men's Club of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church was held last night at Truell Hall, and so great was its success that in all probability an affair of a similar kind will become an annual fixture with the club. The occasion also marked the annual meeting and election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Henry J. Cochran; vice-president, Henry F. DeForest; secretary-treasurer, George H. Davey. The executive committee will be made up of the these officers and Lindsley Best, O. E. Hovey, DeWitt Hubbell and C. L. Wilson. It required but one ballot deposited by the secretary to make the nominations by the nominating committee effective. President Cochran immediately took the chair and a vote of thanks was extended to Lindsley Best, the retiring president. This formal meeting preceded the banquet and was held in the ball room.

Just prior to the adjournment of the business meeting D. M. Van Vliet made a short speech in which he urged the members of the club to vote at the special election on the water question to be held on April 19 giving some very cogent reasons why every voter should do his duty on that day. His speech was received with applause.

Some forty members and guests adjourned to the prettily decorated tables in the private dining room of the hotel where a splendid menu was appreciatively discussed, after which the floods of oratory were opened and from 10 until nearly 12 o'clock the diners were highly entertained by some good speakers. The speeches of Supreme Court Justice Frederick E. Crane, of Brooklyn, and Samuel S. Swackhamer were masterpieces of eloquence and the results of deep thought.

Dr. Ellis W. Hedges made an ideal toastmaster and his preliminary remarks to each speech provoked great laughter and induced the orators to preface their addresses with some humorous stories well calculated to incite the bluest of the blue to mirth. Dr. Hedges was presented by former President Best and immediately got to the business of making everybody welcome and at ease. Judge Crane in speaking of the great number of Brooklynites he had found in Plainfield said that he believed if his judicial duties did not interfere he would be inclined to remain here and become a citizen. His speech had to do with the "General Law of Average." He believed that the great guide and power of the nations lies in their people and that hero worship is a mistake. None of the great men of history have shown that they represented the feelings of the people of their times. They tell us nothing of the measure of the people of their day. Neither do the great men of later days tell us anything of the common people of their day. Judge Crane said that it was not so very long ago that ministers of the Gospel had their private bottles on their shelves, but a good man then would be a bad man now.

Hero worship, said the speaker, has always existed, but no great deed has ever been created by any man. The opportunity has always been thrust upon him and he seized the psychological moment and the deed went down into history and the man became a hero. The people create the opportunity and the opportunity finds the man. Lincoln did not create the condition which confronted him and which he successfully faced and for which he sacrificed his life, but he rose to the situation and while nothing is to be detracted from the glory of it the fact remains that he was not responsible for his own opportunity.

The law never made a man good, the speaker said, nor will any statute ever accomplish that. Only when you can get a man to change his thoughts will you get him to change at all. Because a law is made and written on the books it does not signify that the law is going to be obeyed. None of those present could possibly evade jail if they obeyed all the laws implicitly.

Reference was made to Morley's life of Oliver Cromwell by Judge Crane and upheld by him as one of the greatest of books of history and in commenting upon the character of the great reformer said it was the influence of his life which actuated thinking men to say and believe that it is by the great momentum of the

FIRE DESTROYS HENNERY

Otto Arens Loses Buildings, 5,000 Chicks and 6,500 Eggs But is Insured.

LOSS IS PLACED AT $9,000.

Although Handicapped in Their Work Firemen Did Splendid Service and Saved $5,000 Worth of Machinery.

Fire, of an unknown origin, almost completely destroyed the big poultry farm plant of Otto Arens, on Rahway road, early this morning. Two large henneries, an ice house, numerous small coops, a portion of the incubator house, about 6,500 eggs and about 5,000 chicks were wiped out by the flames. The loss, it is expected, will foot up to about $9,000. In the incubator house, which was partially destroyed 1,000 chicks had made their advent into the world yesterday.

While a portion of the incubator structure was destroyed, the firemen managed to save the chicken hatching machinery in the building which was rated as worth $5,000. Flames were discovered in one of the hen houses by Mr. Arens about 2 o'clock. He telephoned Fire Chief Doane, at the latter's home, and the chief notified headquarters. An alarm was afterward turned in from Box 29.

Mr. Aren's place is situated on a hill and the firemen experienced considerable difficulty in reaching the scene of the fire. On their arrival two of the largest buildings and the ice house were wrapped in flames, while a number of the smaller buildings were threatened.

In trying to locate the steamer near the pond to get water the apparatus became stuck in the mire and the firemen were obliged to pull it out by hand. When a stream was finally secured from the pond the efforts of the firemen were directed towards saving the incubator house and other buildings, on which the flames were encroaching and in this the fire fighters were successful. The firemen battled for three hours and it was not until 5 o'clock that the flames were extinguished and the return to headquarters made.

Before departing to New York this morning Mr. Ahrens told a Daily Press reporter that 3,000 chicks were burned to death in Brooder House No. 2 while 2,000 perished in Brooder House No. 3. Both of these houses were totally destroyed. A total of 6,500 eggs were also destroyed. Mr. Arens estimates that his loss will be between $8,000 and $9,000 which is covered by insurance in the Herbert Buxton agency.

Mr. Arens also paid a fine compliment to the fire department for its efficient work in checking the spread of the flames to other buildings

WOMEN'S GUILD PLAN A SERIES OF DIME SOCIALS.

The Women's Guild of the Church of the Heavenly Rest has adopted a novel method of raising funds for church work. The plan includes a chain of dime socials in charge of three leaders—Mrs. E. B. Bennett, Mrs. Charles E. Borden and Mrs. W. B. Grannatt. Each one has a group of ten women, as a committee, who must give a social. In this way the women hope to raise $100.

Mrs. E. B. Bennett gave the first social at her home on West Sixth street, yesterday afternoon. During the afternoon Miss Jane Bennett rendered a number of pleasing piano selections and refreshments were served. The next social will be held at the home of Mrs. N. H. Saxton, 1122 West Eighth street.

C. W. BINGEMAN DELEGATE TO Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE.

C. W. Bingeman, director of boys' work at the Y. M. C. A., will represent the local association at a conference of adult boys' workers to be held in Pittsburg on April 26, 27 and 28. The theme of the conference will be "Helping Boys to Live." Several of the country's prominent men in boys' work will be among the speakers, including Professor Fiske, of Oberlin University; Professor Scares, of Chicago University, and Judge George S. Adams, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Funeral of Michael Hinton.

The funeral of Michael A. Hinton was held from the Bethel chapel yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. F. D. Tildon being in charge. The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the bearers were N. Wyatt, I. Turman, S. H. Smith, C. Webb, F. Chapman and G. Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hanaford and son, Harry Hanaford, have returned to their home on Randolph road, after an extended visit with relatives in Lynn, Mass.

DISTINCTIVENESS AND WORTH ARE CHARACTERISTIC FEATURES OF OUR MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.

We go beyond the point of designing pretty and becoming hats—we bring the cost down to a basis that has won for us the reputation—"More For Your Money at Teppers."

We do not sacrifice style and we will not sacrifice quality. Our hats present the perfecting of both.

Our designers make appointed trips to New York and as soon as a new idea is introduced you'll find it displayed in our millinery department. A mother may come here and find a suitable cap for her infant babe while right across the aisle are bonnets which are the only style some good grandmother will wear—between these two extremes you'll find hats wide in shape trimmed with a mass of bright hued flowers—or the tailored hat or the new odd shaped turban. All trimmed with good materials and marked at a modest price.

GOVERNOR SIGNS 100 BILLS IN A SINGLE DAY

Governor Fort has established a new record in the Executive office by signing nearly a hundred bills in a single day. Among the measures thus made laws Monday is the Senate joint resolution introduced by Mr. Ackerman authorizing the Governor to appoint a commission to consider the provisions of the employers' liability acts of Great Britain, Germany and other foreign countries, and to report at the next session of the Legislature.

The commission is to consist of two who are representatives of employers' interests, and one member of the Senate, to be named by the President, and one member of the Assembly, to be named by the Speaker.

It is likely that at least part of the commission will visit Europe and that Mr. Ackerman will be named as the Senate member. Senator Ackerman goes to Europe every summer and on such trips devotes much time to the study of governmental problems. He is a wealthy man and gives his time without cost to the State. Mr. Ward will name some wealthy member of the House who will be willing to pay his own expenses on a European investigating tour. Other members of the commission may be taken along at the expense of the State.

Mr. Minch's bill authorizing the parole in the custody of his parents or guardian of any male committed to any institution in this State for the maintenance of deaf, dumb, blind and feeble minded persons, and empowering the Commissioner of Charities to order a recommitment for violations of the terms of parole.

Mr. Cornish's bill authorizing incorporated towns to appropriate not more than $2,000 for the celebration of their fiftieth anniversaries.

Mr. Brown's bill supplementing the act of 1909 creating a State Highway Commission and changing the name of the proposed Ocean Boulevard to the Ocean Highway, also authorizing the Commissioners of Roads to expend not more than $50,000 of the receipts from motor vehicle fees in repairs of the highways.

Mr. Brown's bill authorizing freeholders of counties in which there is no hospital to contribute to the support of any charitable hospital in such county and to erect buildings for its use. This measure is intended to benefit Monmouth Hospital, at Long Branch.

Mr. Huegel's bill fixing the salary of the clerk of the Mayors of Newark and Jersey City at $3,500 a year.

Mr. Wolfarth's bill authorizing cities to make appropriations for the incorporation of dental associations which conduct dental clinics for the free treatment of indigent persons.

Mr. Tumulty's bill, the "sane Fourth" bill, authorizing governing bodies of cities to regulate by ordinance the sale and use of fireworks, firecrackers and other explosives.

Mr. Kissam's bill prescribing the method by which married women may give proper title to property when their husbands have been fugitives from justice for two years or more.

BIG BOWLING MATCH IS ON TOMORROW NIGHT.

Local pin knights are looking forward to tomorrow night when Johnny Campbell and William Garrabrant will roll the last series in their home and home match. In the first clash at Newark last week each bowler won five games and the series stands even up.

Local sports like Campbell's chances and a pile of cash will go down for him to win out. Accommodations will made for an overflow crowd which will include a big delegation from Newark.

CLIMAX GUN CLUB TO HOLD CLAY BIRD SHOOT.

The Climax Gun Club will hold its opening shooting at Scott Terry's farm on Saturday. Shooting will begin at 10:30 o'clock. The program will consist of ten events ranging from ten to twenty-five birds. A squad of noted professionals are expected to take part in the competition. Shells will be on sale at the traps and luncheon will be served to gunners. To reach the grounds take the Netherwood trolley and get off at Woodland avenue. From that point it is a fifteen-minute walk.

Watchungs Easy Victory.

The Watchung A. C. trounced the North Avenue A. C. yesterday on Ring's field by the score of 26 to 12. Russell Feiring and J. Cody twirled for the Watchungs and F. Murphy and J. Gleason did the pitching for the North Avenues.

$20 and $22 Smart Cloth Suits

For Women and Misses—Never in the history of the house have we done such a suit business, superinduced by the fact that our suits are superior in every way to any sold in Newark at equal prices. Those offered Monday at $17.50 are fashioned of splendid light weight serge or choice mixtures, light effects. All the new coats, that button at side below belt line, low roll shawl or notch collar. Skinner satin or peau de cygne lined, women's and misses' sizes $17.50

Man Tailored Misses' & Junior Coats

You will observe the nicety of workmanship when you examine them. Note the fit and shape of the collars, which are silk velvet; materials very light tan, shepherd check or gray mixture; double or single breasted, semi-fitting, sizes 13, 15 and 17; all mohair lined, big value $9.50

The Celebrated "DIX" Tub Dresses

The name "Dix" is synonymous with correctness in every feature of a dress. This dress is no exception, a square low neck model with eyelet embroidery on edge of yoke, and cuff in contrast. The skirt is side plaited, but stitched down to hip line, a great value at $4.50

Pure Linen Dresses; Surprising Value

We say surprising because they transcend. Many we've seen at several dollars more. In white only—model that is always pleasing; entire waist tucked, open at side and has pinked lace edged ruffle, removable; new skirt opened in front at side to knee.. $6.75

Women's Suits of Super Excellence

So superior are they in every detail that custom tailors would not produce their equal under $45 to $50. We are positive they cannot be duplicated anywhere in Newark at the price. Half dozen models, as smart and distinctive as any produced this season, made of only the best of materials and silk linings; some plaids, others embroidered, one or two button side fastening coats, low or high roll collar and other smart features of recent innovation..... $35

Women's Dainty Veranda Dress

Dozens of styles to select from; made of fast color percales, trimmed with embroidery $5

SULLIVAN-KILRAIN BATTLE RECALLED

The impending battle between Jack Johnson and Jim Jefferies, which is slated for July 4, is causing much reminiscent talk among old time prize ring followers. Professor Mike Donovan, who is now engaged in writing a book, on noted ring battles has included the following interesting incidents of the famous battle between John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain. In part he says:

Charlie Mitchell caused the Sullivan-Kilrain fight. The ambitious Englishman tried to get John L. out of his way, for Sullivan, so he thought, stood between himself and the world's championship.

Mitchell had done his best to conquer Sullivan. In Madison Square Garden in 1883, he and Sullivan fought three rounds when the police interfered. I have always believed the honors were even in that fight, though Billy Maloney, master of ceremonies, and a friend of Sullivan's jumped into the ring ten minutes after the fighters reached their dressing room and declared Sullivan winner.

Again, in France, the two fought thirty-four rounds to a draw, London prize ring rules, the fight lasting three hours and fifteen minutes.

Mitchell hoping Kilrain could beat Sullivan and believing the latter a sick man because of his manner of living, urged Kilrain on. I was in Kilrain's corner that day, and the minute I laid eyes on Sullivan I knew Jake was a beaten man. Sullivan was in splendid trim.

Mitchell promised to take Kilrain to England if he won, and they had their baggage packed for the trip. They intended to go direct from the ring to the steamer.

Mitchell was Kilrain's other second, and he was heartless and cruel. In the last few rounds he paid no attention to Jake's physical condition On the other hand, I looked him over between rounds helping him to his seat and to his feet. I saw his condition was pitiful, and that he was in danger of being killed.

I begged Mitchell to throw up the sponge, but he refused. I begged Kilrain to quit, saying: "This fellow will kill you, Jake. Think of your wife and children."

"I'd rather die than quit," Kilrain replied.

"But I didn't intend to have a killing in the ring, so after the seventy-fifth round I picked up the sponge and threw into the air. Then I turned toward Sullivan's corner and saw Mitchell talking to John L.

Mitchell was saying, "John, if you'll make a present of $2,000 to Jake, he'll throw up the sponge."

"That don't go," said the Sullivan backers. "Donovan has thrown it up already."

Mitchell then came over to me and said, "You've made me lose $2,000."

"Well, I wasn't going to have anybody killed in the ring," I answered.

"The difference between Mitchell's act and mine, was that Mitchell was greedy and would have sacrificed Kilrain, while I was trying to save him for his family.

"On the train afterward, I cared for Jake. He suffered greatly. Mitchell came into the car and asked how he felt.

"Pretty well," said Kilrain.

"If Jake had whipped the big fellow you'd be sitting beside him where I am," I told Mitchell. He only smiled scornfully and went out.

Bound Brook will open the season on Saturday with the crack Seventh Regiment team of New York. Doescher and Wahoo are billed as the big league battery for the soldier team, while Harney and Graham will be the local battery.

Always pull for the home club until they show by July that they are "muts," then get out the old hammer if you care to. Never condemn a club until you are sure it cannot play baseball. A fair trial means at least two months of baseball.

A baseball scorer should not be a fan. He should treat both teams alike, and a fan cannot do that, because he is predjudiced in favor of the home club. If a visiting team wins it is liable to be as good a game as when the home club wins.

If Manager Dahlen, of Brooklyn, can play one more season he will have outlasted all the infielders who broke into fast company in 1891.

Laurels Win Again.

The Laurel A. C. is managing to win a game every day. Yesterday they deefated the Netherwood Juniors again, the score being 15 to 9. P. Loughlin and Feiring was the battery for the Laurels and Hankinson and Stebor were in the points for the Netherwoods.

JUDGE WM. N. RUNYON TO START THE MOTOR RACES

Judge William N. Runyon has consented to act as starter in the motor cycle races to be held at the Plainfield Driving Park on Saturday afternoon. The committee of arrangements has carded six events and it is probable that a special race will be arranged for runabouts, the entrants to be local dealers in small cars. The first race on the program will be started promptly at 2:30 o'clock. Stages will be on hand to convey the public from the end of the trolley line to the track. This is the program:

Event No. 1, 2-mile novice for amateur private owners; event No. 2, 3-mile open; event No. 3, 5-mile handicap; event No. 4, 2-mile novelty race; event No. 5, 5-mile handicap, open to riders of Plainfield, Metuchen, Westfield, Dunellen and Bound Brook; event No. 6, 10-mile open candidate.

The five-mile handicap is sure to abound in interest as the squad of local speeders will be entered. The final number on the program, the ten-mile open handicap, is also sure to furnish a keen contest as all of th visiting experts will compete.

SON OF A MILLIONAIRE TO PITCH FOR PHILLIES.

Another millionaire's son will break into the big leagues as a professional baseball player this season. Abe Rachlin, the Newark boy, who was taken to Southern Pines with a half dozen other southpaws for a tryout by the Philadelphia Nationals, is reputed to be the son of a millionaire, and while his family is not anxious to have him play the game for coin, they want to see him make good at anything he attempts. And he is stuck on baseball. It is said his father has offered him $200 for every game he wins if he makes good.

Rachlin is 20 years of age and played in the Newark City league last season. He has lots of speed and good curves. Johnny Miller, the Pittsburg second baseman, claims that Abe is a better hitter than he is, and says that if he doesn't make good as a pitcher he can play the outfield.

Rachlin will be the second millionaire on the team. Lew Moren's father has a barrel of mintage and gets $100 every time he wins a game.

Abe was so anxious to go south with the Phillies for a trial that he told Fogel he would pay his own way but Horace has decided to furnish him with his expenses.

Bud Sharpe and Jack Flynn, who are rivals for the first base position on the Pittsburg nine, are running an even race, and up to date the former Newarker seems to have a shade on th former Holy Cross player. The man who held down the initial sack for the Indians last season is suffering a little with a lame back, but Bud has shown great improvement in his hitting. Since the first week, however, both Flynn and Sharpe have shown remarkable improvement. The advancement of Sharpe is particularly noticeable in his work around the base. He is fielding with snap and vim, and justifying the reports which preceded him from the Eastern League that he is a wonderful fielder. He has hit fairly well and has shown speed on the bases. Flynn is fifty per cent. better than he was during the first week.

Twenty thousand balls are used annually by the major league clubs during the training trips and championship campaigns. John Arnold Heydler, secretary-treasurer of the National league, reports that last year the teams in his organization called on the manufacturers to furnish them with 800 dozen spheres. The Cincinnati Reds used the most balls, and then came the Pittsburg Pirates, the Chicago Cubs, the New York Giants, the Phillies, the Boston Doves, the Brooklyn Superbas and the St. Louis Cardinals.

The watchdog of the National League treasury will not tell what price the clubs pay for the official balls, but one closely associated with one of the manufacturers insinuates that persons who guess that a major league club spends about $1,000 a year for spheres are not far out of the way. Each ball, therefore, costs probably 80 cents. The price of the spheres varies from year to year.

Pitcher Reulbach, of the Cubs, is quoted as saying: "The only way for a pitcher to handle Hans Wagner is to outguess him." If this is the case the vast majority of the pitchers have been poor guessers in view of the fact that Wagner has clouted his way to the top as regularly as a clock for 13 years.

The good sportsman fears no man and gives everyone a square deal.

THE DAILY PRESS.

Plainfield, N. J., April 13, 1910.

No communications on the water question will be accepted for any issue later than Saturday's.

When brought before the court for burning the wooden leg of her "better-half" yesterday, a Wilkesbarre, Pa., wife made the novel plea that it was the only way to keep her hubby at home nights and that the leg belonged to her as much as to him. Moral: Don't be a wooden man.

The Daily Press invites the taxpayers to express their opinions regarding the merits and demerits of the purposes of the general election to be held next Tuesday on the water question. The only conditions asked by this paper are that the communications be brief, to the point and not "glittering generalities" or in other words "hot air." No exception will be made to the rule that communications must be signed by the writer for the opinion of the man who says he does not care to have his name appear but who really is too cowardly to let the public know what his ideas are is not wanted. There has been a noticeable absence of expression of opinion among the representative men of the city and this is much regretted.

The Trenton State Gazette yesterday voiced the opinion of editors who aim to give "all the news that's fit to print," when it declared that "when you find a newspaper that loves to revel in muck, it is a good one to keep out of the house." There are from time to time certain unfortunate happenings too filthy in their nature to chronicle in a newspaper that goes into the home and is eagerly read by the young. For that reason the policy of this paper like that of all reputable papers is not to publish anything that will contaminate the minds of the young. To the morbidly curious, who love to delve into impurity, this may appear to be a suppression of "news," but The Daily Press has a higher aim than to satisfy such creatures. If you want a paper that prints filth, don't read The Daily Press. It will be a waste of your time.

VOTE IN FAVOR OF D., L. & W. STRIKE

Hoboken, April 13.—It was learned yesterday from an authoritative source that up to Monday night ninety-nine per cent. of the conductors of the Lackawanna Railroad have voted in favor of a strike.

The dissatisfied men ask for a sliding scale of from ten to forty per cent. increase, and likewise demand a ten-hour day instead of eleven hours as now required.

The polling of the vote on the different divisions will be completed this afternoon, and the result will be sent to General Superintendent T. E. Clarke, of the Lackawanna, whose headquarters are at Scranton, Pa.

Enough votes have been tallied, however, to show that but one per cent. of the employes refuse to express their desire.

Whether the Erdman act of 1898 will be taken advantage of has not yet been announced, but there is reason to believe that meditation of the sort provided by the statute may be resorted to.

The Erdman act neither requires men to work for unsatisfactory wages nor is there anything compulsory as regards the railroads. The law simply affords a judicial bearing and decision of the merits of a dispute.

Provisions are made for calling on the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the United States Commissioner of Labor to act as mediator—and if that fails those officials may appoint two arbitrators representing each side, and they, if necessary, will act as a board of arbitration.

The discharge of men by a railroad if dissatisfied with the result is expressly forbidden. The law does not require that advantage be taken of its provisions, and the dissatisfied men have the option of ignoring it if they choose.

THE FORUM.

The Juvenile Court.

Editor, The Daily Press:

A recent letter in your paper made rather a false impression, in stating that Plainfield needed a Juvenile court. The writer of that letter apparently did not know that there is a Juvenile court under the jurisdiction of the county justice and held in Elizabeth, to which all juvenile delinquents from this city are sent.

As to the preliminary hearings before the local judge, an effort is always made to hear all other cases first, and the children are not brought into the court room until their own cases are called; when such cases are of a serious nature, the present writer, as Agent of the Society to protect children, is called upon to interview the girls in private, and this evidence is not brought into the police court at all.

Of course, the Society to protect children welcomes all attempts to improve the present system of dealing with juvenile delinquents. We recognize that advances must be made along these lines. In due time a separate room in which to hear children's cases will be arranged for, and the probation officer, who has his hands full in Elizabeth, will be given a Plainfield assistant to help him with the Plainfield cases; but with the present equipment, this community is not provided with a juvenile court, and those who are brought into contact with the work now, with all the officers of the court, are conspicuously in sympathy with the children, and are doing all that they can do to advance the facilities and efficiency of the Juvenile court.

Why More Burdens?

Editor, The Daily Press:

In your paper last night I noticed that the Common Council had fixed on a budget that will keep up the taxes. A year ago we were given assurances that the rate—the highest I have heard of here— would only be temporary and that it was due to unusual demands for current needs. If I am a judge of figuring on tax rates, I know that this uncalled for high rate, $1.68 on the $100, is not going to be reduced.

On the same page last night I saw that the Common Council, acting on the Mayor's message, appointed a committee to arrange for a joint sewage disposal plant for this city with North Plainfield. We have already spent a pile of money on a sewage investigation and we had spent about $250,000 on a plant that we are told must be abandoned. In other words that $250,000 is to be lost to the taxpayers who must dig down in their pockets for some new fangled system to suit the whims of the present government of affairs. How much will have to be spent in this way, I confess I don't know but you can't buy anthing for nothing and I suppose the taxpayer will have to bear the burden.

Now this is why I am opposed to the water proposition. We have already had one most thorough investigation of it. This investigation was made about two years ago by the most able men in the city assisted by eminent engineers. It cost the taxpayers money but the money was well spent. They told us that public ownership would not lessen the rates. That was what we wanted to know. I also learn on good authority that the water company will stop selling water to other towns if there appears any risk that Plainfield's supply will be endangered. I have read a good deal about what municipal ownership is alleged to have done in this or that place. It is said that the rates have been reduced but the account always neglects to give the figures as to how much more the taxpayer is assessed for the public burden. Personally I wouldn't want any rate reduced if I knew that my taxes were going to be increased. From past experiences here I believe that that would be the case. Therefore, I am going to vote against this investigation which in my mind means only that the city will buy or build a plant and we will have to bear heavier burdens.

Temperance Essays.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Students are making inquiries relative to the temperance essay contest. During 1909 above 800,000 such essays were written. Long Beach, California, with a population of 20,000, gave me eight hundred essays from the high school and the seventh and eighth grades.

The value of prohibition is so well understood there and they intend to preserve their record for no saloons, no license and no houses of vice since 1900. During this period the population increased 721 per cent. Bank deposits were increased 2,500 per cent. During the first six years of prohibition, and a business college, nine public schools and ten new churches were built.

Pasadena schools sent in 650 temperance essays. In Los Angeles eighty-six schools with 4,500 high school students, and 44,600 seventh and eighth grade pupils entered the contest with the entire co-operation of the board of education and a mass meeting was arranged for the public reading of the prize winners, and each cash prize was accompanied by a three minute speech upon such topics as "Alcohol" and "The Problem of Making a Living," "Alcohol and Patent Medicines," "Alcohol and Crime." No Two Opinions.

Editor, The Daily Press:

The special election which is to be held on April 19th to determine whether the city of Plainfield shall have the ordinary powers which municipalities of its size enjoy in regard to water supply, has given rise to the discussion of a large number of irrelevant topics. The task of determining precisely what the voter has to pass upon is not easy, since the statutes of New Jersey relating to municipal water supply are in great confusion and have been amended almost annually since they were first enacted, so that even a lawyer might be pardoned for getting confused. The issue, however, can be stated simply:

At present Plainfield is supplied by a water plant and distributing system owned by a private corporation. This private corporation has the power to determine the location of the plant and the quantity of land needed—in, fact, most of the questions in regard to the water supply of this city. All the city has the power to do is to make a contract as to the rates and for the quantity of water supplied for municipal purposes, such as fire-fighting, etc. The city has no power to acquire and operate a water plant and distributing system. It must be perfectly plain from this, that the whip hand of any contract which the city may make for the supply of water with a private company is held by the company and not by the city. The city must make a contract; it has no alternative.

The statute in regard to the power of cities over water supply in New Jersey is so ingeniously framed that the ordinary city would have no power at all over this great question as compared with municipalities in other States. There is, however, a statute giving the cities of New Jersey full powers, equal to those enjoyed anywhere, but this statute contains a proviso that no city shall enjoy the powers conferred by it until a special election is held and a majority of votes cast in favor of conferring these powers on the city. For years Plainfield has been without these powers. A special election has now been called for the nineteenth of April to give the voters of Plainfield an opportunity to confer upon their city these powers and bring Plainfield up to date. Plainfield, is, as it were, an infant, insofar as its powers over its water supply is concerned, and if this special election does not bring out a majority of intelligent voters, our city will never reach its majority.

Every voter should vote at the election in favor of the proposition, no matter what his personal views may be in regard to municipal ownership in general. It seems to me that there can be no two opinions as to whether the city should have the full powers over its water supply, so that if it cannot make a favorable contract it can adopt some other alternative, and that is the sole question presented.

Sees Raise in Taxes.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Regarding the important water question now under discussion, I submit the following for consideration of our citizens in case it should be thought necessary to bond the city for purchase of water works. Our tax rates, including county, State and everything else, for the last ten years were as follow:

1900, $2.46; 1901, $.2.50; 1902, $2.50; 1903, $2.52; 1904, $2.52; 1905, $2.48; 1906, $1.35; 1907, $1.47; 1908, $1.40; 1909, $1.68.

In 1906, and since, the valuations on some of our real estate have been about doubled by the assessors, but the tax rates were not reduced fifty per cent. in consequence, as can be readily seen by the above figures. We could hardly expect an immediate reduction in water rates under municipal ownership and our tax rate might have to be considerably moved up again in case bonds were issued for the water works. Those whose real estate consists only of the dwellings in which they live, may not want to have the taxes on them increased unnecessarily.

WM. H. SAMPSON.

One Man's Reasons.

Editor, The Daily Press:

The practical side of the water question is that it is to the interest of every man, woman and child for the city to operate a water plant.

First. It is practically the only available local public utility that will bring in an income and liquidate its cost.

Second. As the bonds for water are paid off, the water rates can be reduced.

Third. That the cost of extensions will be taken care of by the additional customers for water.

Fourth. That the city will have satisfactory water pressure for the fire department.

Fifth. That if a good fire got a start in the city today, the present pressure of water would render the fire department helpless and people's lives would be sacrificed.

Sixth. No one wants to pump water and many hundreds of homes in the city would take city water if the rates were popular.

Seventh. That the city ownership of a water plant will not affect the tax rate at all, so tenants and owners need have no fear, the water department of the city will carry and clear itself from debt in a short time. Bonds for a water plant cannot be added to the city debt, water being a public necessity.

Eighth. That a vote in favor of water on the 19th should mean FOR or AGAINST—no compromise, and the Council made to feel that the people are in earnest.

Ninth. Every little child and those unborn, will contribute a lifelong toll to private water interest unless the city owns its plant.

Tenth. That the people should properly reserve the right to enter into possession of its water and now is the time or never.

Eleventh. That the people of Plainfield, workingmen, those who are tenants or owners of property or prospective owners of property, and all other persons in voting against city ownership, vote against themselves.

WILLIAM JEFFERY.

people that great results are obtained. "You can't get above life," he said, "it goes on and on forever and progress in this life in not because of its conspicuousness, but in the common, plodding, quiet, earnest effort."

Samuel S. Swackhamer spoke on the theme of righteousness and gave a splendid oration concluding his remarks with the thought that "if we would scale the heights of life we must retreat into the silence of the Eternal. Man's will backed by determination will accomplish good ends and this should be the immortal principal of man."

E. E. Parvin and E. A. Stevenson were the other speakers.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

No more fertile subject of comedy has ever been afforded the American author and playwright than that furnished by the Afro-American. Black-faced comedy is put on the country over by men and women of more or less ability in this line and when ably presented never fails to make a hit. On Saturday, matinee and night, the patrons of the Plainfield theatre will be given an opportunity to see the comedy of the Afro-American nature together with something of its more serious side, portrayed by the members of this race. The play is entitled "A Trip to Africa," and has for its leading lady, Madame Sissieretta Jones, the original Black Patti.

Baked Cauliflower.

Boil the cauliflower till tender, but not until it breaks. Split it in half with a sharp knife. Lay the vegetables flat side downward in a baking dish, pour over it a cupful of cream sauce, sift fine crumbs on top and set in the oven until it begins to brown. Serve in the dish in which it was baked. Garnish with lemon.

SCRIBE HAS A DREAM

The scribe had grown weary of everlastingly tearing off "copy."

His eyes were heavy, and his pencil had lost its customary rapidity with which it scrawled across sheet after sheet of paper, grinding out imaginary incidents that revolve around the every-day actions of Stamford's heroes.

The drowsy glow of the electric bulb above him seemed to grow drowsier. The 'phone at his elbow rang harshly, but 'twas only as in the far-distance.

Again the 'phone rang, but—what was the use?— the son-of-a-gun was asleep!

A lake, shimmering like a great opal, lay just to the westward. It was cool and clear, in the shadows and glowing with fiery hues where the sunbeams struck the surface. The trees on the island rose majestically into the crystalline air, and their reflection sank deep and smooth down below the blue and glass-like surface of the water.

Little boats glided here and there, shooting across the sun-lit spaces, and then vanishing into the infinite cool depths of the shadow at the side.

But one boat did not vanish.

Instead, it drew near to the spot where the Scribe, on the shore, rested, plucking absently at the tiny delicate flowers that grow in the turf.

Presently it grazed on the pebbles, and from it there arose—a woman.

She was a vision of beauty, this dream girl. The bloom of her cheeks was exquisite, like the heart of the freshest rose, and was in deep contrast to the velvety darkness of her eyes and her rich clustering hair.

Without hesitation, she approached the wonder-stricken Knight of the Pencil.

"I am the Godess of Wishes," she murmured, in self - introducion "Knowing of your presence, and of your toil and trooble, I thought I might at least be of some service to you."

Here, she made a low, sweeping courtsey, that caused the scribe to spring to his feet, and then to do a double-flip backwards in an attempt to perform a similar stunt.

"Well," he said, as he brushed the moss from his pair of $1.35 trousers, "this is rich. I believe you're only kidding me."

"I don't understand you, sir" she responded, her brows lowering.

"This fairy dope," he answered. "This line of talk about wanting to do something for me. If you had said you hoped to do me for something, I might have tumbled.".

"But you did tumble?" the Goddess remarked, smiling.

"Sure," he acknowledged; "I forgot. Say, what kind of a cinch is this? I know I fell asleep, but I never thought I was a somnambulist. Where to—say, am I anywhere near Coscob?"

"Coscob?" she repeated in visible surprise. "I never heard of Coscob. Is he any relation of 'Ty' Cobb, the baseball man?"

The scribe roared with merriment.

"Little girl," he managed to gasp, between chuckles, "this is the first time I've ever met Miss Innocence. You're all to the merry, just the same. But, doggone it, I wish you'd put me wise to which is which, and what is what."

"Haven't you heard of the Goddess of Wishes?" she asked of him.

He shook his head.

Suddenly he gazed at her triumphantly.

"Surest thing you know," he ejaculated. "You're a sister of Geo. Close, the fellow who's always wishing for a million."

"Don't be silly," she pouted. I have command over the fairies of power. When I choose, I can make possible any wish ever made. We believe in the granting of desires in this Never-Never Land, and I am wielder of the wand. Whatever you may wish for, I will give you."

"Moldy hoses!" thought the Scribe "If Tom Hoyt was only here now!"

"Let me see" he mused, this time aloud. "Dutchmen are easy 'marks,' and Frenchmen are always very 'franc.' I wish I had 'em all skinned to death with a bank account of fifteen billions; and I wish I had a big, fat, juicy cheroot."

Like a flash, all was over.

In his hand was a bank-book, crediting him with the amount mentioned, while between his teeth there was the slickest cigar imaginable.

"Talk about luck?" he chewed, delighted, as the smoke curled lazily up among the branches, "Some folks claim Noah has them all going, when it come to slick financial methods. He is the only man on record who was able to float a company when the whole world was in liquidation. At last he is outclassed!"

"Have I got to stop now?" he asked, a moment later.

"Certainly not," was the reply. "So well have you succeeded in past endeavors, that I shall grant you three more wishes. What are they to be?"

He glanced at her shyly out of the corner of his eye, and then lost himself, in silent reflection.

Patiently she waited. The glade was full of deep emerald shadows and the cool breath from damp mosses and ferns added to the enchantment.

There was a stillness all round them. Nature's own stillness, in which infinities of tiny voices rise upon the listening air, in such a choir of perfect harmony that it seems like silence.

Quietly the golden moments floated by, until suddenly, jarring upon the sweet, joyous sounds of the wood, the voice of the Scribe made answer.

"I'll not be selfish," he admitted frankly. "My three wishes will be confined to 'Stamford the beautiful.' First, I wish to see a vision of the new Hallowe'en Park as it will look when finished."

This was granted.

Words could not describe the splendor of the sight. The crystal lake seemed to vanish, and in its place the park, with its winding walks, its rustic bridges, its lily-ponds, its magnificent playground. And every corner was filled with people, satisfied, delighted.

"Now," drawled the Scribe, "I wish to gaze upon a vision of Stamford's new buildings finished—the library, the postoffice, the hospital and the rest.

This was also granted.

My! how swell the old town did look!

It seemed as if fifty years had gone by, leaving Stamford like a new city a wonderfully strange burg. Everything longed for had been erected, and stood up stately and strong, like a modern Hercules. There was even a new hotel!

"You have one more," warned the Goddess, smiling at the Scribe's amazement. "One more wish before I say farewell."

"You mean 'kiss farewell,' don't you?" he queried, softly, edging closer.

"I mean what I say," she replied, icily.

Her coldness sent a shiver down his spinal column, despite his recent acquaintance with the northern winter weather.

"In that case" he said, hesitatingly, "I wish to see a vision of Stamford, with Dr. Rowell as mayor."

This was never granted— she had vanished!

* * * * *

The scribe rubbed his eyes, and yawned.

Then he yawned, and rubbed his eyes!

"Oh, you kid!" he sung out "Come on back and make up. I didn't—I didn't—who the duce—say where am I, anywhere?"

With a start, he came to, and then sank back in his cane-bottomed chair, as the electric light dazzled his peepers, and he realized what had happened.

"Stung again!" he growled. "I must have been dreaming."

And once more his hand was chasing the pencil through the never-ending series of newspaper 'copy!"

KEEPING CHAMOIS SOFT.

The secret of keeping chamois skin soft and supple is to hang it up to dry while still soapy. Remember this when washing chamois gloves.

Not everyone knows that if the edges of graniteware are brushed inside and out with shellac, and melted solder immediately applied, it will mend as easily as tinware.

An excellent cleaner for common woodwork, mirrors, windows, fingermarks and grease spots is made by dissolving four tablespoonfuls of soft soap in a bucket of hot water. Add a tablespoonful of paraffin while the mixture is boiling. If added later there will be a disagreeable odor.

Hot salt water poured around the casings of frozen windows will thaw them quickly.

Suede-Lined Satin Shoes.

The velvet and satin pumps and slippers continue in favor. To prevent footwear of this style stretching out of shape there is a lining throughout of kid.

HERE AND THERE.

"Truth is stranger than fiction," runs the old adage. This was perhaps true in the days of the old-fashioned novelist and playwright But fiction has grown stronger with the passing years. Writers of the modern "thrillers" of literature and the stage seem to write with a determination to go beyond the utmost possibilities of truth. The opium-pipe fiction in plays and romances today may be stranger than truth.

But a story comes out of Texas which proves that truth is still in the race, and that, if it is no longer stranger than fiction, it is, once in a while, equally as strange.

The dramatic sequence of the tale is remarkable. A master dramatist could not have marshalled the incidents in more effective order. The episode is one of life's made-to-order dramas which falls naturally into five acts in this way:

Act I.—Bernard Carter and Rexer Williams are cowboys on the Texas ranges. While following a cattle trail they quarrel. Williams stabs Carter. Believing his unconscious victim dead, Williams rolls the body into the Pecos River.

Act II.—Carter regains his senses and crawls to the bank. He is found and sent to a hospital in El Paso. When he recovers he leaves the country. Williams, believing himself a murderer, flees. Weeks after the stabbing a decomposed body is found in the river. It is identified as that of Carter. Williams is caught. He is tried and sentenced to forty years for murder.

Act III.—Carter remains in ignorance of his supposed death and of the fate that has befallen Williams. He drifts to Central America. He grows rich. He settles in Seattle ten years ago. In the meantime for twenty years Williams is a convict in the Texas Penitentiary. He believes his sentence a just one. He does not know Carter is alive.

Act IV.—There is a prison investigation in Texas. The exposure of cruelties is telegraphed to newspapers all over the country. Carter, the wealthy citizen of Seattle, notes the name of Rexer Williams in the list of convicts who testified. It is an unusual name. He never heard of but one man of that name in his life. He writes a letter of inquiry to the warden of the prison in which Williams is confined. He is astonished to learn that Williams is serving forty years for the murder of Bernard Carter.

Act V.—Carter hurries to Texas. He proves that the report of his death has been "greatly exaggerated." He obtains a pardon for Williams. He hakes him to Seattle. He establishes the formed convict in his own comfortable home for the remainder of his life. (Curtain).

Is there anything in the plot dreams of Louis Tracy, Gaston Leroux, Anna Katharine Green or George Barr McCutcheon stranger than this? Has Augustus Thomas, William Gillette or Lincoln J. Carter ever staged a more thrilling melodrama than this strange, true story from life?—Chicago Inter Ocean.

What He Got.

A good many years ago in the State of Iowa there was a small boy hoeing potatoes in a farm lot by the roadside. A man came along in a fine buggy and driving a fine horse. He looked over the fence, stopped and said; "Bub, what do you get for hoeing those potatoes?"

'Nothin' ef I do," said the boy, "and hell ef I don't." — Saturday Evening Post.

Foulard and Chiffon Taffeta Silk Dresses $12.75

Just 200 of Them in an Early Season Sale

You won't imagine what pretty dresses these are until you see them. Like the writer, you will expect something of the usual "run of shad" until you see what really beautiful dresses they are, how well they are made, and feel of the silks to know their quality—then you will marvel at the price we ask and wonder how we managed to make such a price. We've been gathering these dresses for weeks—taking them as we could get them—until we had enough to "make a noise"—and now we fire the gun with 200 dresses for ammunition—enough to make things lively for a day or two—tho they should really not last the day out.

Imagine getting charming, new, fashionable silk dresses of prettiest Foulards and Chiffon Taffetas—which our silk man marvelled at—made with exquisite yokes of lace, round or V shape, with knife plaiting finish; three-quarter length sleeves with lace cuffs; skirts good and full; most carefully stitched; in such good shades as Violet, Cadet, Bronze, Green, Catawba, and other of this season's best shades in so many patterns, especially dotted effects, that we cannot describe them; in all wanted sizes—petite women, misses and extra large sizes included; Dresses that would be cheap at $20 to $22; at the price we name for Thursday $12.75.

NO SPECIAL ORDERS TAKEN.

Damascus of Marvelous View.

The view of Damascus from the mountain where Mohammed made his great renunciation is one of the marvelous views of the world. Again and again I deserted the mosques, the bazaars, the marble baths, the courts of the fountains, the shadowy khans and the gardens by the streams, for that bare height on which Abraham is said to have had the unity of God revealed to him.—Century.

The Sabbath.

The change from the seventh to the first day of the week as a day of worship came with the change from Judaism to Christianity and commemorates the resurrection of Christ. For a time Jewish converts observed the Jewish Sabbath, but before the end of the apostolic period Sunday had thoroughly established itself as a day to be sanctified by rest from secular labor and public worship.

A Doctor's Wooing.

When Dr. Johnson asked the Widow Porter to be his wife, he told her candidly that he had no money and that his uncle had been hanged. The widow replied that she cared nothing for his parentage; that she had no money herself, and that, though she had no relation hanged, she had 50 who deserved hanging. So they made a match of it.

Burn Requires Care.

Do not neglect a burn as soon as the first sting is passed. Should there be the least sign of inflammation or of pus accumulating call in a doctor at once. In case of bad burns it is sometimes necessary to wrap the victim in cotton to keep out all air. In such case the doctor would naturally be in charge.

Never In This State.

What heartless creatures some men can be! News comes from Ohio that the dean of a girls' school has been starving the dears in order to apply the board money to the school's debts. That could never happen in Texas or Maine. We didn't say anything about New Hampshire.—Kennebec Journal.

Rise to the Occasion.

It is a commonplace that we cannot answer for ourselves before we have been tried. But it is not so common a reflection, and surely more consoling, that we usually find ourselves a great deal better and braver than we thought.—R. L. Stevenson.

Value of Friendship.

True friendship is one of the greatest blessings upon earth. It makes the cares and anxieties of life sit easily; provides us with a partner in our afflictions, and is a sure resort against every accident and difficulty that can happen to us.

Fighting Forgery with Fire.

To prevent the alteration of checks or other valuable papers an inventive genius has brought out an electric apparatus which burns holes in the paper as the inscription is written. In other words, to fight forgery literally with fire.

Will Tattooed on Body.

A Mexican miser who died not long ago was found to have his will tattooed on his breast. It caused his heirs no end of bother, as the document had to be copied before the man could be burned.

Nor of the Containers.

A Chicago man says the love germ is located in the center of the nervous system. Recently somebody declared the liver to be the seat of affection. There is no end of opinions.

Japanese Chopsticks.

Japanese chopsticks are delivered to the guests in a decorated envelope. The two sticks already shaped from one tongue-like piece of wood are broken apart by the guest.

Nations of Seamen.

In proportion to its population, more people earn a livelihood by seafaring in Norway than in any other country. Britain comes next.

Uncle Ezra Says:

"If you don't know much about a subject, keep still, an' if you do know a lot about it keep still also, or folks will think you don't."—Boston Herald.

Isolation in Great City.

In every rank and every condition men and women find themselves more isolated in London than anywhere else. —Archbishop of Westminster.

Don't Let 'Em.

The defects of the understanding, like those of the face, grow worse as we grow older.—Rouchefoucauld.

Ninety per cent. of the population of Western India depends upon fish for sustenance.

Ready for a Bargain.

Pat (reading sign, "Umbrellas 75 cents, up")—"What will yez charge me for one of thim closed?"—Judge.

Originated Idea of Velocipede.

The velocipede was invented by Drais in 1817.

Dutch Proverb.

It is bad coursing with unwilling hounds.

Usefulness Imperative.

Unless what we do is useful, our glory is vain.—Phaedrus.

MEETING AN EMERGENCY

"The only thing to do is to have it on Wednesday afternoon," declared Patty, her pen poised in air. "A third of the girls will want to go to bargain matinees and so I can ask everybody, since I can count on half of those invited failing to come."

"But suppose they should all prefer your bridge party?" suggested Patty's best friend, dubiously.

"Now, Rita, don't rush clouds into my perfectly clear sky," remonstrated Patty. "I've just got to ask almost a hundred to my party and our apartment will hold 60 at a tight squeeze. Even then I've got to use the dining room and smoking room for the card tables and serve at the individual tables. But I've got it all worked out with my usual foresight and ingenuity. Don't faint, dear; it's bad form.

"How have I worked it out? Well, I find that Wednesday is the day of the alumnae luncheon and still again that the alumnae cards went out yesterday. So you can see for yourself that there isn't a ghost of a chance of more than half the girls coming."

"Well, let's get the cards written," said Rita. "The sooner we get them out the sooner we'll know who isn't coming."

The replies to the invitations came in fast. Regret followed regret until Patty almost feared the number of acceptances would not be large enough to give her party the desired air of importance and elegance. The evening before the time set for the affair Rita came over to help number the tallies and tie up the prizes.

"My dear," gurgled Patty. "did you ever hear of anything working out so beautifully. There are just 58 girls coming. Of course everybody thinks I am a sweet thing for inviting her and nobody but you knows what a clever person I am. I reiterate, Rita, it is brains, not luck, that makes the world go round."

The ringing of the telephone interrupted Patty's eulogy of herself and she hastened to answer the insistent summons. Rita didn't wait for her to explain when she returned. Her crestfallen look indicated woe.

"I know it all," said Rita. "Somebody is so sorry, but a dreadful sore throat and cold in the head will keep her at home to-morrow. That throws a whole table out."

"It throws a whole table in," moaned Patty. "Helen Cook finds that her cold is much better, so if I would like to have her and if it won't inconvenience me ,she'd love to come. There's the phone again!" She ran to get the message.

"It was Luvera Snow," she announced somberly on her return. "She just got into town and if I'd like to have her and it won't inconvenience me she'd love to come. 'Don't tell me that's the phone again!" Patty grabbed her hair distractedly as she made a dash for the instrument.

Rita nervously picked up the evening paper, glanced at it a second, and then drew it down in a panic. "Don't answer! Don't!" she cried, pulling Patty back. "It's all those alumnae people. The luncheon's been postponed. I've just seen it in the paper."

The telephone continued to ring furiously.

"What shall I do?" gasped Patty in consternation. "They'll have to play on the kitchen stove or the refregerator!"

"We've got to muffle the telephone bells so we won't go crazy and then we mustn't go near the telephone until after two o'clock to-morrow afternoon," declared Rita, grimly.

Suiting the action to the word, she proceeded to stuff the offending bells full of crumpled paper.

All that evening and all the next morning there was a protesting whir from the disabled transmitter of messages. It was only when the clock had sounded half past two and all the guests were deep in the first game of bridge that Patty and Rita made a rush for the telephone. They pulled away the paper from the bells and then hugged each other deliriously. The telephone bells started ringing at once. Patty hastily took down the receiver.

"Telephone company," a voice announced.

"A great many persons have been reporting your telephone out of order, but we haven't been able to locate the trouble."

"Why, it rings all right now," declared Patty, innocently. "Maybe something was just a little twisted. Thank you so much for letting us know."

Founder of New York Ferry System.

Cornelius Dircksen was the first official ferryman on the island of Manhattan. The mooring place on the New York side was about where Water street crosses the present Peck slip. He started the system in 1637. Passengers who wanted to be rowed over blew a horn for the skipper, if he chanced to be absent when they arrived. From Dircksen's skiff grew the present ferry system of the city.

No Chance.

"He likes to hear himself talk, I guess."

"That's not so."

"How do you know?"

"Why, he never keeps still long enough to give himself a chance to hear himself."

FOUR YEARS AS HEAD OF RUTGERS

New Brunswick, April 13.—The 144th commencement exercises of Rutgers College, to be held June 19, 20, 21 and 22, will mark the fourth anniversary of the inauguration of Rev. Dr. William H. S. Demarest as president of that institution. The college has made rapid strides under the leadership of President Demarest, and so faithful have been his efforts to build up the institution in the way of attendance that the entrance classes during his four years have surpassed in numbers those of previous years. The best result was accomplished last fall, when old Rutgers received the largest freshman class in its history.

This is only a small part of the great work being done "on the banks of the old Raritan" by Rutgers' president. He has been instrumental in putting up several handsome new buildings during those brief four years and has greatly improved the college property and has done much to beautify that section of the city where the institution is located. He has also been of service in a public way, being honored on several occasions by appointments of various kinds from the Governor of the State. At present he is president of the general synod, the highest office in the Reformed (Dutch) church in America.

President Demarest succeeded Austin Scott, now professor of history and political science at the college, who had served as the head of the institution from 1891. Previous to going to Rutgers, President Demarest occupied the chair of ecclesiastical history and church government at the New Brunswick Theological Seminary.

President Demarest is the son of the late Rev. Dr. David D. Demarest, for thirty-three years professor of pastoral theology and sacred rhetoric at the New Brunswick Seminary. His mother was Catherine L., daughter of James Schureman Nevius, justice of the Supreme Court of this State. He is the first alumnus of Rutgers College to become its president.

Ancestrally, his connection with the college is almost co-extensive with its history. He has himself been a trustee since 1899, and was secretary of the board from 1904 until the time he was made president. His father was a trustee from 1858 until his death in 1898, and secretary of the board from 1866. His maternal grandfather was a trustee from 1825 until 1858, and secretary from 1825 until 1830. His great-grandfather, Rev. Henry Polhemus, was trustee from 1800 until 1816, and his great-great-grandfather, Hon. John Schuerman, was a trustee from 1782 until 1795. Thus, the members of this family have given to the institution more than a century of faithful service. President Demarest was born at Hudson, N. Y., May 12, 1863.

At the annual commencement the baccalaureate sermon will be preached in Kirkpatrick chapel, Sunday, June 19. On the following day the glee and mandolin club will give a concert and class day will be celebrated. On Tuesday will be held the junior exhibition. The busy day will be Wednesday. In the morning the trustees will meet at 10:30 o'clock, followed by the annual meeting of the alumni. At 12:30 o'clock another meeting of the alumni will be held, at which time addresses by prominent speakers will be heard. At 1:30 o'clock the alumni dinner will be held. In the evening the college season will come to a close with the commencement exercises.

Rev. John Hart, of Philadelphia, will deliver the address at the seminary commencement, to be held in the First Reformed church, Thursday evening, May 19. President J. Preston Searle will speak, representing the faculty.

Lodge Gave a Euchre Party.

Friendship Degree Lodge, Daughters of Rebecca, gave a euchre party in its rooms, last night. There were about fifty present. The honors were presented to Mrs. O. P. Crane, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Smith, of Westfield; William N. Tier and E. E. Ripley. Refreshments were served.

Miss Mary Davis.

Miss Mary Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Davis, died this morning at her home, 426 West Sixth street, following a long illness. She was a member of the First M. E. church.

Timbo's Annual Outing.

The annual outing of the Timbo Social Club will be held in June at Atlantic City. A committee is now engaged making arrangements with the railroad company.

Mr. and Mrs. John King and son have removed from 663 West Fourth street to 414 West Fifth street.

INGENUITY FOR THE HOUSEKEEPER.

It may be that the ordinary girl's education does not make for the application of ingenuity and common sense to everyday problems. Otherwise, we would have solved the domestic servant problem before now by the simplification of domestic labor. I do not wonder that servants grow disheartened and sullen, restless and even aggressive under a daily course of monotonous duties, half of which are unnecessary; that good servants are not to be procured because they are drifting into other trades, where there hours' leisure can be depended upon out of twenty-four.

Domestic service as it exists at present is doomed. In future the hours for housework, as with other trades, may be restricted by legislation, and mistresses compelled to regulate their requirements so as to provide their servants with a decent opportunity for rest and recreation.

If ever the economic improvement of servants is assured, then necessity will force the domesticated woman to apply her ingenuity to the reorganization and recreation of the home. She will abolish curtains and carpets, superfluous ornaments and all unnecessary articles of furniture which at present offer harborage to the dust.

She will have parquet flooring and cork carpets in every part of the house, with the fewest possible rugs, which can be lifted daily. She will burn her dusters and brooms and buy a patent cleaner to collect the dust, which will be destroyed.

SPRING COMPLEXION HELPS.

Our grandmothers, with their dosing of sulphur and molasses each spring, were not so cruel as we thought them. They knew the need of purifying the blood and getting it and the whole system in trim to sustain the intense heat of our summers.
